In a 2-quart rectangular plastic food container, mix flour with thyme, salt and pepper. Toss in beef then chicken, a few pieces at a time, turning to coat. Set aside. In a large Dutch oven, cook bacon over medium high heat until crisp. With a slotted spoon, remove bacon to paper towels. Remove 2 tablespoons of bacon drippings and set aside. In the remaining drippings, brown beef and chicken in three batches and drain on paper towels. Add additional drippings if necessary to make 2 tablespoons. Stir in garlic, and cook 1 minute, scraping brown bits from bottom of skillet. Add bell peppers, mushrooms and onion; continue cooking about 4 minutes or until crisp-tender. Return beef, chicken and bacon to Dutch oven; stir in all of the remaining ingredients except the parsley. Bring mixture to a boil, reduce heat to medium-low, cover, then simmer 2 hours or until beef is tender, stirring occasionally. Remove bay leaves and top with the parsley. If desired, spoon into a tight-sealing food container and tote to trailside in cooler.

Makes 10 servings.

OATMEAL-RAISIN BACKPACK SNACKS

These high-energy cookies are ideal snacks for the backpack, the camper, the fishing boat.

- 1 cup sweet butter or margarine, softened
- 3/4 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1 large egg
- 1-1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1-1/2 cups old-fashioned rolled oats, uncooked, not quick-cooking or instant
- 1-1/2 cups dark raisins
- 2 cups coarsely chopped walnuts
- 1 tablespoon vanilla extract

Heat oven to 350° F. Butter 2 cookie sheets. In a large bowl, beat butter with electric mixer on high speed until creamy. Add the brown sugar plus the granulated sugar, then the egg, beating until light yellow and creamy. In small bowl, stir together flour, soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg; stir into butter mixture. Stir in oats, raisins, walnuts and vanilla. Roll in balls, then in additional granulated sugar, if desired. Place on cookie sheets, flattening cookies slightly. Bake 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Let stand 2 minutes on cookie sheet; remove to wire rack to cool. Store in tight-sealing plastic food cylinders.

Makes about 9 dozen cookies (2-inches in diameter).

TRAILSIDE BEANS and TOMATOES with FRESH BASIL

This dish serves as both salad and vegetables, all in one. Fresh green beans, tomatoes and cucumbers marinate in a balsamic vinaigrette, flavored with fresh basil. Toss and tote in the same food container.

- 1 pound fresh tender green beans, ends snipped
- 1 pound ripe large tomatoes, peeled and cut into wedges
- 1 small unpeeled cucumber, sliced thin crosswise
- 1/2 cup slivers of red onion
- 1/2 cup fresh basil leaves, slivered or 2 teaspoons dried basil leaves, crumbled
- 2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
- 1/3 cup balsamic vinegar
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 cup virgin olive oil

Bring 6-inches water to a boil in a large saucepot. Drop beans into water; blanch 2 to 3 minutes until bright green. Rinse immediately with cold water; place in a 2.5-quart round tight-sealing plastic food container. Add tomatoes, cucumber, onion and basil; toss well. In a medium-sized bowl, whisk mustard with vinegar and sugar. Add oil slowly, whisking until slightly thickened and well blended. Pour over vegetables and toss to coat well. Seal tightly and refrigerate until serving time. Best if toiled to trailside in a cooler.

Makes 6 servings.

FRESH CATCH

A pecan-cornmeal mixture gives the catch of the day a crispy, flavorful coating. Tote the coating from home in a food container. At campsite, coat the fresh fish fillets, then pan-fry over the campfire. The flavors of this coating work well with trout, perch or red snapper. It's the perfect ending to a lazy day of fishing.

- 1 cup pecans or walnuts
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup yellow cornmeal
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 2 whole brook trout (about 12 ounces each), cleaned, heads and tails left on if desired. (Perch or red snapper may be used.)
- Salt and black pepper to taste
- 1/2 cup milk or water
- 6 tablespoons peanut or other vegetable oil
- Fresh lemon slices

In food processor, place pecans, flour, cornmeal and baking powder; process until fine. Place mixture in a 2-quart rectangular tight-sealing plastic food container and tote to campsite if desired. About 20 minutes before serving time, salt and pepper each trout or other catch of the day. Dip in milk, then dredge the outsides plus the inside cavities of the fish with pecan mixture, pressing lightly to coat well. Heat oil in large skillet over medium-high heat. Sauté the fish, about 8 minutes until crisp and golden, turning once. Garnish with the lemon slices.

Makes 2 servings.

WESTERN HO! STEAK

Marinate a sirloin steak in a barbecue sauce inside a tight-sealing food container then grill it to perfection at the picnic site. Serve with red onion butter, also toiled in a small food container.

- 1/2 cup butter, room temperature
- 1/4 cup finely chopped red onion
- 1 boned sirloin steak (about 2 pounds), 2-inches thick
- 1/2 cup hickory-smoked bottled barbecue sauce
- 1/4 cup bottled chili sauce
- 2 tablespoons finely grated fresh horseradish or 1 tablespoon bottled horseradish
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 2 teaspoons minced garlic

In a 10-ounce tight-sealing plastic food container, stir onion into butter. Cover and refrigerate at least 30 minutes. Place steak in a 13x9-inch rectangular tight-sealing plastic food container. In a medium-sized bowl, mix remaining ingredients and pour over steak. Cover and marinate in a cooler or refrigerator at least 30 minutes, turning once. Grill or broil 4 inches from source of heat until desired doneness, about 20 to 25 minutes for medium doneness. Serve with flavored butter.

Makes 4 servings.

GOOD HEALTH INCREASES HAPPINESS

It is difficult to enjoy real happiness if pains, aches and other miseries of poor health plague you. If you are continuously tired, sleep poorly or generally feel run down you need professional help.

If you have any health problem which keeps returning, why take home remedies which may mask warning signals, hiding a possible growing ailment? Let your physician check your body and with the possible help of x-rays, diagnostic tests and his own skilled observation, the odds are you will find permanent relief.

HALLOWED GROUND

A grassy field in Gettysburg; muddy trenches slithering through European soil; a stretch of beach in Normandy; the dense and rugged terrain of Korea; the steaming jungles in Vietnam; the arid deserts of the Middle East... all soil consecrated by the blood of those who died for democracy. Abraham Lincoln expressed it so eloquently: "We cannot hallow this ground. The brave men (and women) who struggled here have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract."

However we choose to commemorate this significant day, may the offering of prayers for a world united by peace and love be our living memorial.

"Turn ye even to me with your heart... and with weeping, and with mourning... and turn unto the Lord your God: for he is gracious and merciful."

STEVE'S BEAT

Scott Bakula leaping into other acting projects

By Steven Alan McGaw

Scott Bakula, Hector Elizondo and Robert Loggia recently started work on the football comedy Necessary Roughness. Bakula has also signed to star in An Eye for an Eye as a highly decorated cop ostracized by fellow officers when he opposes the death sentence for an accused cop killer. That movie is set to air next season on NBC.

It appears ABC will be first out of the gates with a telefilm about the war in Iraq. Titled The Heroes of Desert Storm, the project will be scripted by respected writer Lionel Chetwynd. Lt. General Thomas Kelly (Ret.) will serve as technical director.

Julie Andrews and recent

Oscar-winner Jeremy Irons will host this year's live CBS telecast of the Tony Awards on June 2. Incidentally, this airing marks the 25th year for the Tonys to be carried live on a major network.

In the works is a remake of Alfred Hitchcock's Blackmail. One of those working on the script is 91-year-old Charles Bennett, who scripted the original film. A good idea and proof that older artists needn't be out-of-work artists.

Look for Kim Basinger and Richard Gere in the upcoming film Final Analysis.

Bravo to all those fans and supporters behind the ongoing celebration of the 50th anniversary of Citizen Kane. A great film is always worth remembering.

PERSONALITY PORTRAIT

Kathie Lee Gifford raised without an ounce of shyness

By Lisa Otupal

On the kind of show that would give many performers ulcers, Kathie Lee Gifford successfully brings warmth, humor and charm to millions of viewers as the co-host of Live With Regis & Kathie Lee.

Gifford says her success in surviving a live show is largely because of her upbringing. She was born in Paris and lived there five years before her family relocated to Maryland. Kathie, her brother and her sister constantly put on plays and carnivals. With her parents' encouragement, she and her sister organized a folk group.

At 17, Kathie Lee became Maryland's Junior Miss. She got her first commercial by winning the Kraft Hostess Award, a national competition. After studying drama, arts and communications in college, she moved to Hollywood. Within a day she was an extra on Days of Our Lives.

In 1977 she was a singer on Name That Tune and then co-starred in Hee Haw. She appeared on A.M. Los Angeles (Regis Philbin's old show) and was spotted by the producers of Good Morning America. Within five weeks Gifford was substituting for Joan Lunden.

When not spending time with their son, Cody, Kathie and her husband, sportscaster Frank Gifford, are involved with the Special Olympics and The Children's Charity.

CHILDREN'S CHOICE

CBS adds four new cartoons to Saturday morning lineup

By Christy Bergslien

CBS has announced it will add four new children's shows to its Saturday morning lineup this fall. Back to the Future: Where's Waldo?, Riders in the Sky and Mother Goose and Grimm will join the network's already top-rated Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles on the lineup kicking off Sept. 14.

Back to the Future capitalizes on the popular film series of the same name starring Michael J. Fox. The animated show will feature likenesses and voices of Fox and his co-stars Christopher Lloyd and Tom Wilson.

And where do you find Waldo on the CBS schedule? You find the vanishing character airing at 11:30 a.m. Eastern. Where's Waldo? is based on the fastest-selling children's book in history, written by Martin Handford.

Mother Goose and Grimm is based on Pulitzer Prize-winning Mike Peters' syndicated comic strip. "Grimmy" is a rambunctious dog who lives with a thoroughly modern Mother Goose and a variety of other offbeat characters.

Riders in the Sky combines the performances of live singing cowboy stars with puppetry, animation and claymation for a western children's show.

Also returning to the lineup are Jim Henson's Muppet Babies, Garfield and Friends and CBS Storybreak, hosted by Bob Keeshan.

MOVIE MARQUEE

Drama, horror headline ABC, CBS and Fox films

By Kate Ironside

NBA action leaves NBC off the TV-movie list this week. However, ABC, CBS and Fox have a handful of films lined up.

Kicking things off for ABC is Plymouth, a futuristic space drama. After a small logging town in the Pacific Northwest is devastated by a toxic accident, the residents are determined not to be torn apart by the disaster — but to re-establish their community on the moon. Once settled on the lunar landscape, they are faced with various aerospace challenges of everyday existence in the harsh environment. Cindy Pickett plays Plymouth's town physician, and actor Dale Midkiff is a devil-may-care space engineer in the movie, which airs

Sunday, May 26.

Fox unleashes a band of vampires into the TV night with Blood Ties, Monday, May 27. The original telefilm follows the immortal lives of a family of vampires.

CBS has three rebroadcasts on its lineup. On Sunday Cheryl Ladd stars in the two-part miniseries Bluegrass about an outsider trying to break into high society. Friday, May 31, John Lithgow and Mary Beth Hurt play parents determined to decide the fate of their premature underdeveloped infant in Baby Girl. Saturday, June 1, Academy Award-winner Whoopi Goldberg plays a mother-turned-professional-pool player in Kiss Shot.

SUNDAY

Cindy Pickett and Dale Midkiff play a physician and aerospace engineer who re-establish their community on the moon in Plymouth, Sunday on ABC.

MONDAY

Jason London (standing) and Salvador Xueeb enjoy the fast-paced, reckless lifestyle they lead as young vampires in Blood Ties, debuting Monday on Fox.

TUESDAY

Matlock (series star Andy Griffith) agrees to defend a judge's son, a biker accused of murder, on NBC's popular defense drama Matlock, Tuesday.

WEDNESDAY

On again off again? The romance between Marty (Richard Lewis, left) and Hannah (Jamie Lee Curtis) is on again Wednesday on ABC's Anything But Love.

THURSDAY

FRIDAY

Mary Beth Hurt and John Lithgow fight for the right to decide the fate of their premature infant in Baby Girl, rebroadcasting Friday on CBS.

Nick Nolte and Eddie Murphy (from left) reprise their roles for the action-packed comedy sequel Another 48 Hours, telecasting Saturday on HBO.

'Nuts' raises questions that linger a while

By Steven Alan McGaw

Nuts (1987). This dark, provocative film never found the audience it deserved, probably because of the grim subject matter. Be advised, this movie is no walk in the park. (Well, maybe a really dangerous park.) If, however, you're looking for a film featuring an intelligent, thought-provoking story, sensitive direction and fine performances, give it a try.

Barbra Streisand is electrifying as the main character, a foul-mouthed, difficult, sometime-prostitute (she's in it mostly for the kicks), accused of murdering a john. Richard Dreyfuss plays her agitated legal aid defense attorney who must try to prove his client is competent to stand trial.

running counter to the state's opinion and the testimony of her mother and stepfather, played with hypnotic conviction by Maureen Stapleton and Karl Malden. James Whitmore is a powerful, restrained presence as the judge who tries to sort out this mess.

The story is fascinating on a surface level, but even more engaging for the troubling questions it raises about how "we" determine what is, or isn't, sane. Is Streisand, because she's profane and disagreeable, because she chooses to turn tricks when she doesn't have to, "nuts"? If you like movies with longer intellectual staying power than the time it takes to change the channel, take a good look at Nuts.

Desert Storm Troops Speak To SHS Class

Three local servicemen, who served with the military in Operation Desert Shield Storm, were recent featured speakers in the Career Employability Maryland's Tomorrow Classes at Southern High School. Speaking were Pfc. Shawn Groves, U.S. Army; Sgt. Neal Stoner, U.S. Air Force, and Capt. James Schreiner, U.S. Air Force. The talks focused primarily on their experiences in the Middle East crisis, and of career possibilities in the military.

Pfc. Groves, who served with the U.S. Army's 101st Airborne Division in Saudi Arabia, Iraq and Kuwait, was involved in ground actions and was, at one point, located approximately 35 miles from the Iraqi capital city of Baghdad. A 1989 graduate of Southern High School, Pfc. Groves relayed some positive advice concerning career planning through proper education for future high school graduates. Groves is the son of Maxine Groves, Oakland.

Sgt. Neal Stoner spoke of the months he spent in Saudi Arabia with the Air Force, and stressed the importance of a good education. He told the class that America's "large technological edge was the reason for the overwhelming military victory." He noted that the men and women who designed our superior weaponry once "sat in classrooms just like the many students at Southern High."

Sgt. Stoner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Stoner, Gorman, and is a 1975 graduate of Southern High School. Capt. James Schreiner has just recently returned from a seven month deployment during the conflict.

SUPERIOR TECHNOLOGY AND A GOOD EDUCATION were cited by Capt. James Schreiner, shown above, as the reason for America's success in the Persian Gulf conflict. He was one of three Desert Storm troops who spoke to classes at Southern High School recently.

ment in the Middle East, where he served as an F-4 jet pilot. He flew a total of 33 combat missions over Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and Iraq, and was featured in a book published by USA Today.

"Superior technology" and the importance of a good education were discussed by Capt. Schreiner with the class. He urged the students to "go as far as they could with their schooling." He is the son of Herb and Mary Sutcliffe, Deep Creek Lake.

All three men were the recipients of packages, cards and letters from the Career Employability classes while stationed in the Persian Gulf. Several pen pals were able to meet each other for the first time. The men thanked the students for their support during the conflict.

Students from other classes joined the Career Employability classes for the presentations.

First United Bank Employees "Being Watched"

First United National Bank & Trust has invited 20 business students from Northern High School to "shadow" bank employees at their Main Office in Oakland, today, May 16.

Ms. Donetta Nice and Ms. Ann Sallie, business educators at Northern High School, have been teaching these senior business skills and are now going to let them see how they could be put to use.

Judy Giffin, First United's Personal Economics Program coordinator, recently completed a successful shadow day in Allegany County. Ms. Giffin is currently working together with Ms. JoAnn Vent, Garrett County Board of Education, to coordinate a similar program for Northern High School.

"We are extremely excited about Shadow Day," stated Ms. Giffin. "When a young person is asked if they would like to start a career in banking, many times the student is unaware of all the possibilities. This will give them a change to see the various customer service and backroom functions available in banking."

Ms. Giffin met with the students to present information about the various different departments they will "shadow." This gave the students a chance to ask questions and glean information to enhance their learning experience. Ms. Giffin also directed the students to dress in business attire as if they were actually employed by First United. Confidentiality was also addressed, since it is always a major concern of First United.

The students will arrive as a group at the bank for their simulated work experience. They will be required to "punch a time clock" just as any other employee would. After their welcome and orientation to First United, they will be divided into small groups to meet with the office supervisors of specific departments.

The students were asked to make two choices of areas in the bank they would most like to shadow. Some of those included teller and customer service, marketing, bookkeeping, computer, proof, finance, trust, loan administration, collections, and deposit administration.

The students will get an opportunity to share with their peers the following day. They will examine the experiences they had when Ms. Giffin follows up with an open discussion period.

Ms. Giffin feels that shadowing is a good supplemental program to the Personal Economics Program, an ongoing series of presentations available to help educators inform students about various different aspects of banking.

Ms. Giffin, through First United, is one of the many national volunteers who works directly with teachers to enhance the curriculum offered to young people about banks, banking services, and financial management skills. She creates and presents programs to area students in kindergarten through college classes. Ms. Giffin is available to give banking presentations to school groups and community organizations upon request. She works directly with teachers and group leaders to tailor programs to meet specific participants' needs. More information is available by contacting Ms. Giffin at First United's Bel Air Office at (301) 729-2320.

Motorists Urged To "Buckle Up" During Holiday

Colonel Elmer H. Tippet, superintendent of Maryland State Police, is calling on motorists to use their safety belts during the long Memorial Day holiday weekend in support of a nationwide highway safety campaign entitled Operation Buckle Down. The campaign will feature strict enforcement of Maryland's safety belt and child safety seat laws as part of an effort to increase safety belt use to 70 percent by 1992.

"The chances of survival for motorists involved in collisions increase substantially among those who are properly protected by safety belts, air bags and child safety seats," Colonel Tippet stated. "Safety belts also provide some of the best protection against drunk and drugged drivers."

Federal, state and local highway safety experts have timed the announcement of Operation Buckle Down to coincide with C.A.R.E., the Combined Accident Reduction Effort, which officially marks the beginning of the summer driving season.

"Operation Buckle Down will be augmented by strict and aggressive enforcement of all of our traffic laws including Maryland's 55 mile per hour speed limit," Colonel Tippet warned. "We will also deploy members of our Special Traffic Enforcement Unit in search of drunk drivers and drug traffickers."

Eliana Almeida To Be Guest Speaker At Aglow Meeting

Eliana Almeida, Grantsville, a native of Brazil, will be the guest speaker at the Oakland Aglow Fellowship meeting slated Saturday, May 25, at 9:30 a.m. at the Mtn. Lake Park Campground dining hall, located off Md. Rt. 135.

Almeida ministered to children in uneducated areas and helped to start several churches there before coming to the United States, where she hopes to "find new challenges and continuous work for the Lord."

She speaks her native language of Portuguese only, so she will be interpreted by her husband, Milton, who is pastor of Christian Faith Fellowship in Grantsville.

An Aglow spokesman stated, "Come and hear her testimony of how God recently healed her of colon cancer and how she continues to use her to minister to those with physical and spiritual needs."

All area women and men are welcome. More information may be obtained by calling 334-8891 or 387-9352.

HEARING AIDS

DO YOU HAVE FEEDBACK OR WHISTLING WITH YOUR HEARING AID?
ARE YOU CONTINUALLY ADJUSTING THE VOLUME?

This is a common complaint that we hear from many hearing aid users. With the new Clearone hearing aids you will not have feedback once the hearing aid is completely in your ear. You will not have to continually adjust the volume control, because the hearing aid will automatically reduce the loud noises for you.

We have found that it even helps those who have Tinnitus "ringing ears."

Come in today for a no-cost hearing evaluation and demonstration of the hearing aid!

Stamps Removed From Bottles Of Distilled Spirits

Beginning this summer, consumers and retailers will see bottles of distilled spirits without the Maryland state tax stamps which have been required on bottles of liquor since the end of prohibition in 1933.

"The $1.50 per gallon state tax on distilled spirits has been collected by selling the stamps to wholesalers, who were responsible for having them affixed to bottles to be sold in Maryland," says State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein.

The local subdivisions receive approximately 50 cents of the $1.50 per gallon distilled spirits tax for each gallon of liquor delivered to retail licensees within their jurisdiction.

"Because of the new procedure, the state will save about $42,000 a year in printing costs for the stamps. We still have a tight check on tax revenue as every wholesaler is audited each year and a physical inventory is taken of his distilled spirits stock," Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that a total of $523.7 million in distilled spirits tax revenue has been collected since 1933. Over the past decade, distilled spirits sales have declined. In fiscal year 1981, the distilled spirits deliveries to retailers in Maryland amounted to 11,053,349 gallons, while by fiscal year 1990 the retail deliveries had declined to 9,005,481 gallons.

Local government's share of distilled spirits tax revenue has declined, reflecting the reduced consumption. In fiscal year 1981, the 24 counties and Baltimore City received $5.5 million, while for fiscal year 1990, the local share amounted to $4.5 million.

NEW ASSISTANT ADMINISTRATOR -- The Board of Trustees of Goodwill Mennonite Home recently appointed David E. Bohnert as assistant administrator of the home. He will be assisting R. Henry Diller, administrator, in the day-to-day operations of Goodwill. A resident of Greenfield, Ohio, Bohnert entered the nursing home arena after retiring from a successful career as a high school teacher and later a high school principal. He worked in two nursing homes during his training period, and he worked in another nursing home as part of a management company administrative team. Bohnert expressed delight with the "pastoral setting" of Western Maryland, as well as with Goodwill Mennonite Home. "The quality of care at Goodwill is outstanding. I'm very happy to be a part of the team here, and I look forward to working with the Board of Trustees, Mr. Diller, the residents, and the staff to continue to provide quality care for the benefit of all our residents and the entire community," he said. Bohnert and his wife, Joan, will be establishing a home in the area soon. They have two sons, Scott, 21, a senior voice major at Ball State University, Muncie, Indiana, and Kevin, 18, who is studying at United World College, Collage of the Atlantic, at St. Donat's Castle, which is on the south coast of Wales.

Praise Quartet To Perform At Baptist Church

The Praise Quartet from Pensacola Christian College will present a program of inspirational music this Friday, May 24, at 7:30 p.m. at Mt. Lake Independent Baptist Church. The ensemble consists of four young people, a piano accompanist, and a college representative. The program will feature music with a message and a multimedia presentation about the College.

Located on the sunny Gulf Coast of Northwest Florida, Pensacola Christian College offers over 50 liberal arts programs on the undergraduate and graduate levels. Situated on a new campus, the College has grown from 80 students to over 2,700 students in just 17 years.

The Praise Quartet is one of seven groups representing the College during the summer months. These ensembles will hold services in nearly 600 churches throughout the United States and Canada.

There is no admission charge for this program.

Gabriele Warns About Fireworks Buying By Mail

The Office of the State Fire Marshal is reminding Marylanders not to order fireworks through the mail for use in the State of Maryland. A variety of fireworks companies, located outside of the State, entice Marylanders to purchase fireworks through catalogue sales.

However, State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele reminds Marylanders that only gold labelled sparklers, "snakes" and "snap-n-pops" are allowed for use by citizens in the State, and all fireworks are illegal in the jurisdictions of Baltimore City, Montgomery, and Prince George's County.

In 1990, more than a dozen Marylanders suffered injuries as a result of fireworks during the Fourth of July holiday period. The most serious injury resulted in a 3-year-old child in Baltimore County who suffered severe and permanent damage to her hand when a "M-80" explosive device detonated in her hand.

The Office of the State Fire Marshal reminds citizens that any person possessing or discharging fireworks is guilty of a misdemeanor and can be fined up to $250 for each violation of the law. A person selling fireworks can be fined up to $1,000. Additionally, the State Fire Marshal or other law enforcement officers shall seize and remove all fireworks which may be used or sold illegally in the State.

For further information on fireworks laws, citizens

History Workshops To Be Held During Highland Festival

The Fourth Annual McHenry Highland Festival will be held Saturday, June 1, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

As part of this festival, "From the Old Country to the New Country" workshops will offer visitors the opportunity to learn firsthand about the culture and heritage of the British Isles. Workshops to be held are "Hammered Dulcimer Music of the British Isles and Appalachia: A Culture Linkage," "Harps of the British Isles: A Historical Perspective," "History of the Highland Bagpipe," "Celtic Traditions," "Life for the British Immigrants in Lonaconing, MD," and "Stories from Ireland, Reflecting the Cultures of Ireland and America." These workshops begin at 10:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day.

The workshops are funded by the Maryland Humanities Council through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. The festival is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

Md. Students Honored Tuesday By Gov. Schaefer

Twenty-four "Bright Stars" of Maryland's Tomorrow were recognized Tuesday at an awards dinner celebration with Governor William Donald Schaefer at the Annapolis Holiday Inn. This group of students, chosen because of outstanding accomplishment in Maryland's Tomorrow, represent the significant achievement of many other youngsters across the state who have benefited from this program.

Representing Garrett County at the event was Lisa Towne, a student at Southern High School.

The students were individually honored by the Governor, State Superintendent of Schools Joseph Shilling and Marion Pines, a Senior Fellow at the Johns Hopkins University Institute for Policy Studies, who is the project director and a leader in the campaign to lower the dropout rate. The students each received a certificate from the Governor and a $100 savings bond donated by C&P Telephone.

Along with the students, teachers, and support staff who have worked in the Maryland's Tomorrow program will be cited for their dedication to the program and the youngsters it serves.

The Governor initiated Maryland's Tomorrow in 1988 to help high school students who are at risk of dropping out of school. The program operates under a partnership arrangement between local private industry councils and the public schools. Maryland's Tomorrow is a long term, year-round commitment of support and assistance that brings together existing services as well as new strategies to deal with the specific needs of at-risk students. Maryland Tomorrow's students receive intensive basic skills instruction, and spend time with mentors who serve as positive role models. Students also participated in activities to develop leadership skills and have opportunities to apply their skills in work experience.

MAKING A POINT — Sgt. Robert Truban made many points while talking to Doug Buckley's world history class at Southern High School last Friday. He recently returned from Saudi Arabia to visit with his wife, Kerri, and their daughter, Shanda, Hagerstown, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Toby Truban, Oakland. Sgt. Truban has returned to Boston, Mass. for further training and will be stationed at Fort Meade, near Baltimore, later this year.

Students who qualify for the program are usually identified in the eighth grade and have a history of low academic achievement, have often repeated grades, and demonstrate other characteristics associated with dropping out. Maryland's Tomorrow, in its first year, served approximately 3,000 students, growing to over 5,000 students in the second year, and approximately 6,650 students in 80 secondary schools in the third year.

Maryland's Tomorrow was funded its first year with $3 million of state general funds distributed to local jurisdictions for Maryland's Tomorrow programs. Funding increased to $5.1 million the second year and $6.8 million the third year. In addition to support from the General Assembly, Maryland's Tomorrow leveraged funding from the Job Training Partnership Act, as well as state and local educational resources.

Military Heritage Group To Perform During Festival

The Scottish Military Heritage Society, representing 300 years of the Scottish soldier, will participate in the 4th Annual McHenry Highland Festival on Saturday, June 1, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, McHenry.

Living history groups will represent the Scottish soldier in various periods of history, revealing Scotland's heritage of music, dance, literature, uniforms, and equipment. This encampment will portray wars and campaigns from the English Civil War of the mid-1600's to World War II. Women accompany some units, especially the earlier ones, to commemorate the crucial role women played in maintaining the cleanliness, health and well being of the troops and the willingness in which they often suffered the same hardships as the men. The group will offer a salute to the flag at the opening ceremonies and perform several drills and exhibitions during the festival.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Masons To Meet

Oakland Lodge No. 192, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, will have a regular communication Tuesday, May 28, in the Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple, 3 South Wilson, St. It will be Strawberry Night and Worshipful Master Theodore Raynovich III invites all Master Masons to attend.

Governor Calls For Adjustments To 1990 Census

Governor William Donald Schaefer has urged U.S. Department of Commerce Secretary Robert A. Mosbacher to adjust 1990 census numbers to obtain more accurate population figures for Maryland and its local jurisdictions.

"This is an issue of fairness and equity for the state and its local governments," Governor Schaefer explained.

"The 1990 census missed a great many people in all jurisdictions of the state. An adjusted census count would be the best possible way to correct those mistakes," he said.

If the census is adjusted, the impact on Maryland could be:

1. An adjusted population figure of 4,925,000 (preliminary estimate), an increase of 143,532 over the 1990 census count of 4,781,468.

2. An increase of $62.2 million in direct federal assistance, based on Maryland having a larger percentage of the U.S. population.

3. Moving Maryland closer to having greater representation in the U.S. House of Representatives. Maryland's ranking for a ninth Congressional seat would move from the 446th position to the 411st position. By law, there are only 435 seats in the House of Representatives.

4. Fairer representation in the Maryland General Assembly for local governments, based on one-person one-vote.

5. Provide a fair and equitable method of counting the missed disadvantaged populations in urban and rural areas.

6. Provides a more accurate base for public and private sector decision-makers throughout the decade of the 1990s.

Adjusted census counts have been under public consideration since the U.S. Bureau of the Census, an agency of the Department of Commerce, agreed to conduct a post-enumeration survey following the 1990 census. Preliminary results of that survey revealed 5.3 million U.S. citizens may have been missed in the 1990 census.

Secretary Mosbacher has until July 15 to decide whether or not to issue the adjusted population counts.

Local Students Earn Theatre Awards At FSU

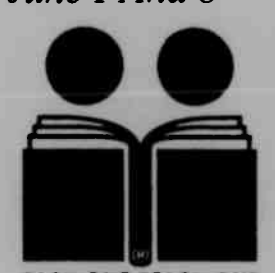

Several outstanding students in the Frostburg State University Department of Communications and Theatre Arts, including two from Garrett County, were recognized at a recent banquet and awards presentation ceremony, according to Dr. Gary Cook, chair.

Roundabout Theatre Awards (for children's plays) were presented to Fred Holliday, Grantsville, director, 13 Bells of Boglewood; and Greg Holtschneider, Friendsville, director, The Unwicked Witch.

Holliday also received the lead actor award for his role of Wayne Foster in The Wake of Jamey Foster.

Both Holliday and Holtschneider were also named recipient of mass communications scholarships.

Iona To Perform At Festival

Barbara Ryan, Bernard Argent, and Diana McFadden, who together comprise the musical trio, "Iona," will perform for the Fourth Annual McHenry Highland Festival on Saturday, June 1, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry.

Ms. Ryan, who provides lead vocals and plays the bodhran, (Irish drum), guitar, and bones, has performed in South Africa, Europe, the British Isles, and the Eastern United States. Argent harmonizes, plays tin whistle, 12- and six-string guitars, and flute, and Ms.

McFadden, Iona's newest member, provides a whole new dimension for the group with her cello, mandolin, and bouzouki playing. The group plays traditional folk music from Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Cornwall, the Isle of Man, and Brittany, drawing on a repertoire of more than 150 songs. Many are performed in their original languages and are interspersed with jance music and anecdotes from the group's travels in the British Isles.

All three members of the group met at the Maryland Renaissance Festival, where Barbara and Bernard are Tavern Keepers, and they perform at fairs and festival throughout the eastern U.S., including the Baltimore Folk Festival and the Southern Maryland Celtic Festival, and participate in numerous concert series.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and admission is $4.00 for anyone 12 years of age and over. "Iona" will also perform at the Ceilidh (party) at 8 p.m. Saturday evening in the McHenry House at Wisp, hosted by the Wisp Ski Resort (admission $3.00), and will conduct a workshop on "Celtic Traditions" during the festival.

The festival is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, and funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council, Maryland State Arts Council, and the Maryland Humanities Council, through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. For more information, persons may contact the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1948.

Maryland To Host Six Aquaculture Experts From USSR

In the first exchange of its kind in the United States, the Maryland Department of Agriculture will be hosting six Soviet aquaculture experts from May 21 until June 29. The six will visit and work at aquaculture facilities across the state.

"We have a growing aquaculture industry in Maryland and now, with this visit, we have an opportunity to exchange ideas with experts in other countries," said Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer.

The exchange is the result of an agreement between Maryland and the USSR Ministry of Fisheries signed in August, 1990. The program also involves the University of Maryland and the Maryland Aquaculture Association.

A return exchange visit by six Maryland aquaculturists is being planned for early September.

In 1988, Governor Schaefer presented an action plan for aquaculture development in Maryland to the General Assembly. Since 1989, the state has research, promotion and education strategies in place to help get aquafarming off the ground. In the state, there is a 21 member Aquaculture Advisory Committee and aquafarmers qualify for the same sales and use tax exemptions on equipment as traditional farmers.

Already Maryland production includes catfish, trout, tilapia, striped bass, crawfish, oysters, hard clams, soft shell crabs and many ornamental fish species. The Soviets have extensive experience with salmonidae, carp and sturgeon.

For more information on the Maryland-Soviet aquaculture exchange program, those interested may contact the Maryland Department of Agriculture, Aquaculture Office, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401, phone 301-841-5724.

Corn Flea Beetle

The Corn Flea Beetle has an oval-shaped body. The beetles over-winter in litter and trash around fields, become active on weeds in early spring and then move to corn seedlings during May and June. The adult beetles leave numerous, small circular feeding holes and bleached out spots or strips on the corn leaves. On field corn there is very seldom economic damage, unless large numbers cause the plant growth to stop. On sweet corn they are a different story. They carry the Stewart's Bacterial Wilt disease. This disease first appears in early June and becomes progressively worse on susceptible sweet corn varieties. Check with your seed supplier for susceptibility of Stewart's disease. If you need to spray, you may use one of the following insecticides: Asana XL, Lannate, Ambush, Pounce, or Sevin.

W.Va. Technician Receives Award From John Deere

Donald Ritchey Jr., parts manager for Bryce's Equipment Limited at Bruceton Mills, W.Va., has received a special award from John Deere Company in Columbus, Ohio, for participating in the Pathfinder-In-Dealership Training Program. He was awarded a Pathfinder watch for successfully completing tests in 80 different areas of study.

The Pathfinder Review Program consists of tests which are sent to participating John Deere Dealers. The technicians view videotaped training programs at their dealership, complete the tests, and send them to John Deere Company, Columbus, for grading. In order for a test to be considered successfully completed, the technician must attain a score of 80 percent or better.

Wheat, Barley Crop Certifications Due

The 1991 farm program sign-up period ended April 26. Farmers who enrolled in the wheat and feed grain acreage reduction programs should now prepare to certify their program acres. Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson of the Garrett County ASC Committee, said:

Maryland producers have until June 1 to report the acres and intended uses of their wheat, oats, barley, rye and other fall-winter crops to ASCS. Those who fail to report by this deadline will be ineligible for program benefits.

Before reporting their 1991 acreage, Bachtel said farmers can request measurement service from ASCS. The ASCS measurements are furnished at cost, and guaranteed for the crop year. He said the service is not only valuable to program participants but to any producer who needs an accurate acreage for any reason.

Farm program participants are required to correctly certify their entire farm after planting to be eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other benefits on their program crops. The acreage reports contain crops and acres planted, the uses to be made of these crops, and cropland acres to be devoted to the acreage conservation reserve. The reports are used to determine compliance with farm programs and also for history purposes. ASCS official Bachtel said.

Producers who have not certified their fall-seeded crops are urged to do so as soon as possible.

Soybean Planting Underway In State

By May 19, 21 percent of Maryland's soybean acreage was planted, slightly ahead of last year's 16 percent and the five year average of 10 percent. An average of 6.1 days was suitable for fieldwork during this past week according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, five percent of the topsoil was very short of moisture, 33 percent was short, 62 percent was adequate and none was surplus. Subsoil moisture ended the week as follows: none was very short, five percent was short, 95 percent was adequate, and none was surplus. All the small grams were in good condition across the state. Hay supplies were adequate. Pastures were in good condition.

Maryland's progress for the week ending May 19, was as follows, listing the item, the percentage for this year, the percentage for last year, and the percentage for the five-year average.

Nominate Your Favorite Cow To Be Featured During Dairy Month

"Get the Scoop on Dairy Foods" is the theme for the 1991 celebration of June Dairy Month. As part of that celebration, The Republican would like to get the scoop on your favorite dairy cow. Dairy cows are the basis of the industry and each dairyman, his wife and children or hired help has their favorite cow. The Republican News Service would like to recognize your favorite cow during June Dairy Month.

To nominate your favorite cow, send the following information to The Republican, c/o Bernice Kepple, farm editor, P.O. Box 326, Oakland, MD 21550. Information needed includes the cow's name, production record, reason for nomination, owner's name, address, and phone number.

All nominations must be producing dairy cows; however, high producing cows will not be the only ones picked to be featured. Your reasons for nomination may be that the cow was the first heifer calf born on your farm, or your child's pet cow, or a cow with unusual markings, or a variety of other reasons.

The owners of the cows chosen will be contacted and an appointment made for a photo to be taken. That photo and information about the cow and her owners will be used in The Republican's farm section sometime during the month of June. A 5" by 7" black and white copy of the photo used in the newspaper will be mailed to the owners of the cow as a keepsake.

Cows to be featured will be chosen by The Republican's editorial staff. All nominations should be mailed to The Republican by June 15.

All dairymen in Garrett and the surrounding West Virginia counties are invited to give their "gold medal" cows some recognition. Mail your nomination today.

AURORA & EGLON

where he had been a patient recently. Services were conducted Wednesday, May 22, at the Amboy United Methodist Church.

A covered dish dinner on Sunday at the Maple Spring Church celebrated the recent return of Tom Lewis to his home in Eglon.

Eldean and Claude Poling, of Shepherdstown, have visited on the past two weekends with her brother-in-law and sister, Herb and Jean Starr, Stemple Ridge. Other visitors of the Starrs were Linda Ayers and Dan Liston, of Farmington; and Lyle and Mary Ann Harsh, of Rootstown, Ohio.

Marguerite Dawson, of Kitt miller, has been visiting with Harold Harsh, Stemple Ridge.

Florence Hardesty spent the winter months in Texas with her daughter, Judy, and visited relatives in California during that time. She has now returned to her Mt. Top home after visiting another daughter, Doris Drenning, and her husband, in the Baltimore area.

Homer and Marguerite Myers, of Aurora, visited in Virginia this weekend with their children, Alan and Mary Myers, at Springfield; and Jim and Carol Myers and family, at Herndon.

Accompanying a Central Cab tour to Michigan Wednesday through Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bachtel, Mr. and Mrs. David Teets, Horse Shoe Run; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Teets, Virginia Martin, Martha Bolyard, Aurora; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bachtel, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Harsh, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters, all Eglon. Headquartered in Flint, they visited in Midland at the Dow Gardens, Frankenmuth, Holland, Toledo, and Aurora, enjoying seeing the Lawrence Weik Stars show while in Holland, and a presentation of

"Oliver" while in Toledo.

In a pulp exchange program sponsored by the West Marva District Church of the Brethren, the Rev. Marshall Woods and his family were at Maple Spring Church on Sunday. Rev. Woods is pastor at the Pine Grove Church near Swallow Falls.

Ida Shaffer remains quite ill at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Deloris and James Slawter, Mt. Top.

Completing the CPR classes, held May 6 and 9 at Aurora, were Mary Jane Hanline, Dove Stemple, Carl and Betty Flint, Dean Sialer, Virginia Martin, and Wilda Wilt.

A number of people from the Maple Spring Church went Friday and Saturday to Pickens, where they helped in the construction of a new home for a family which lost its home in a fire late this winter, and during which two of their three children died. Those working on Friday and Saturday were J. Rogers Fike, Ellis Teets, and Orval Kight. On Saturday, they were joined by Mark and LaDeana Teets, Tommy and Lindsey.

PTO FESTIVAL JUNE 1
The Aurora PTO will sponsor a festival on June 1, from 2 until 6 p.m., at the school. There will be games and food, including chicken dinners.

ELECTS NEW SLATE
A new slate of officers has been elected to lead another school year at Aurora School. Elected as president of the PTO was Linda Snyder, with Janelle Harsh serving as vice president. Mary (Mrs. Adrian)

Stemple will serve as secretary, while Sandra Callahan has assumed the post of treasurer.

The meeting was held May 14 and began with a presentation of "A Collage of a Midsummer Night's Dream," the Shakespearean drama presented in the state festival. Carolyn Wolting directed these junior high students. On display was art from the elementary school in which all classes participated.

A dedication of the new playground improvements will be held June 3 or 4 during school time. Aurora PTO has given two scholarships of $250 each to the Eam Preston Scholarship Fund. It is hoped that a water treatment system will be installed this summer.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED
David and Diana Stonelifer, Oakland, announce the birth of their first child on Monday, May 20, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The baby, a boy, weighed six pounds, eight ounces, and has been named Cody David.

The mother is the former Diana Kinser. Benjamin and Mary Kinser, Aurora, are the maternal grandparents. Paternal grandparents are Glen and Barbara Stonelifer, Oakland. Lee and Maxine Martin, Aurora, are great-grandparents.

OAKLAND FIRE FIGHTERS RECOGNIZED—The Oakland Fire Department recently held its anniversary dinner at the Deer Park fire hall and a number of the members were recognized for various forms of achievement. The Milton Fike Memorial Award, presented to the member of the department who best served the organization in all areas during 1990.

Canan. Bessie Canan was a Saturday evening dinner guest of Cathy and Roy Sanders. On Friday morning, John Canan accompanied his grandmother, Mrs. Canan, to Location, where they visited her sister, Mrs. Vernon Lantz.

Mary Miller, Egion, W. Va., spent the weekend with her aunt, Marie Knotts, near Gortner. Other guests during the week were Wilma Knapp, Amboy, W. Va.; Dave and Bobbi McRobie.

On Saturday, Mrs. Knotts' sister-in-law, Bessie McRobie, and her husband, Joe, of New Jersey, who were visiting other relatives in the community, visited Mrs. Knotts. She accompanied them to Oakland where they were joined by Vida McRobie and daughters, and Janet McRobie for a surprise birthday dinner at Hillman's Towne Restaurant, with Mrs. Knotts as the guest of honor.

Other neighbors visiting Mrs. Knotts included Mrs. Hershberger and Mr. and Mrs. Peachey who presented a strawberry cake in her honor.

On Sunday afternoon, a large group of family, relatives, and friends assembled at the home of Dennis and Carol Shaffer for a reception and surprise birthday party for his mother, Mrs. Okareda Shaffer. The occasion was also hosted by her other children, Rocky Shaffer, and Betty Lou Towan and their families.

Kent and Mary Lee returned home Friday morning from a vacation and visit with their daughter, Lisa, and husband and family, near Tucson, Ariz. A brother, Don Lee, and a friend, of Mission Hills, Calif., joined them there for a visit. Lefty Stonebreaker and son, Kent, accompanied them on the trip. A son-in-law and daughter, Allen and Beth Streets, and daughter, Courtney, tended the home place while they were away.

Md. Forests Assn. Continue Plans For Field Day

Members of the Maryland Forest Association (MFA) planning committee for the second annual Loggers/Forestry Field Day met recently at the Point View Restaurant in McHenry to continue plans for the field day, scheduled for June 14-15 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds.

There are currently 27 exhibitors and 27 information and education groups scheduled to take part in the event. There are also special events, such as horse logging demonstrations, cross-cut saw and lumberjack skills demonstrations, and more on the program. There will also be various crafts groups with crafts for sale.

The Loggers/Forestry Field Day is designed to provide information and education for loggers, landowners and the general public on the management of our natural resources.

Members of the M.F.A. took part in an effort to insure Deep Creek Lake State Park would open this Spring. These "park savers" cut and felled over 200 hazardous trees in the state park, reducing the threat to the general public using the park facilities. M.F.A. personnel that took part in this effort will be recognized for their efforts at the field day.

The Logger/Forestry Field Day is open to the public. Admission is $5. This fee gives the purchaser and his family access to the field day on both days and qualifies them for door prize drawings each day. In addition, the first 1700 people purchasing advance tickets will receive a baseball cap with the words, "Western Maryland Loggers/Forestry Field Day."

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Promoted To Staff Sergeant

George L. Beckman, a member of Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion, Maryland Army National Guard, Oakland, was recently promoted to the rank of Staff sergeant.

SSG Beckman has been a member of the National Guard for 18 years. His job is a heavy equipment operator and he is now a squad leader in the support platoon.

SSG Beckman resides in Pleasant Valley with his wife, Linda, and two children, George W. and Angela. He is employed by the Garrett County Roads Department.

Marine Pfc. David R. Sisler, son of Richard D. and Shirley L. Sisler, Friendsville, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with Marine Corps Detachment, Army Armor Center/School, Fort Knox, Ky.

A 1990 graduate of Northern High School, he joined the Marine Corps in September 1990.

G.C. Forestry Board Hosts Park Meeting

The Garrett County Forestry Board recently hosted a cookout at Herrington Manor State Park for the Maryland Association of Forestry Boards Executive Committee. The executive committee members present were Billie Laws, Worcester County; Larry Sharp, Frederick County; John Forman, Garrett County; and Jim Klunk, DNR Resource Management Forestry, Annapolis office.

The Forestry Board Executive Committee scheduled its bi-monthly meeting for Garrett County in order to attend a forestry board tour of the U.S. Forest Service Fernow Experimental Forest near Parsons, W.Va.

The Garrett Board then held a brief business meeting to discuss the School Reforestation Program, the Forestry, Conservation & Natural Resources Week, and the M.F.A. Field Day.

Eight schools participated in the School Reforestation Project and planted approximately 120 balled and burlapped trees.

Two students have been selected by the Garrett Board to attend the Forestry, Conservation & Natural Resources Week. Information will be sent to these students within the next week.

4-H Citizenship Tour Scheduled

The 1991 Garrett County 4-H Citizenship Tour planned for June 15 will include visits to the National Zoo and the National 4-H Center. Both are located on Connecticut Avenue, near the Maryland/Washington, D.C. border.

All 4-H members, leaders, and their families may invite other interested individuals (youth 12 and under must be accompanied by an adult) to join them for the day. The $10 cost includes bus (school) transportation. Admission to the National Zoo and National 4-H Center are free. Participants will be responsible for their own meals and souvenir.

Plans are to leave Oakland area approximately 6 a.m. and return by 11 p.m. For more information and to register, persons may call 334-1990. Reservations are due to the Extension Office by June 1.

Tammy Ferguson, daughter of Philip and Monica Ferguson, Deer Park, received the English Student of the Month Award. Tammy is a freshman at Southern. She attends the Kurtz Chapel where she is a member of the church youth group.

Jason Barr, a freshman, received the Social Studies Student of the Month. The son of Allen and Nancy Barr, Mtn. Lake Park, Jason is involved in the marching band, the concert band, the tennis team, and is a high honor roll student. He is a member of St. Paul's Methodist Church where he is involved in the youth group. After graduation, he plans to attend the University of North Carolina and major in math or science.

Larissa DeWitt, daughter of Stanley and Karen DeWitt, Deer Park, received the Math Student of the Month Award. A freshman at Southern, she is a member of the marching band, the concert band, and the honor band. While at Broad Ford Elementary School, she was selected as the band student of the year and was a finalist in the spelling bee. This year at Southern, she was nominated to Who's Who Among American High School Students. She is a former Brownie and Girl Scout member, and is an active member of the Creilin Assembly of God Church and the church youth group. She plans to enter the medical field and work with children.

Carrie Newcomb, daughter of Gary and Beth Newcomb, Oakland, received the Science Student of the Month Award. A freshman, she is a member of the junior varsity basketball team, the track team, and is a high honor roll student. She attends St. Peter's Catholic Church. She was a participant in the 1990 Youth Triathlon. Carrie plans to become an elementary school teacher.

Brian Tasker, son of Clifford and Judy Tasker, Deer Park, received the Machine Tool Student of the Month Award. A junior, Brian likes to hunt, fish, and play softball in his spare time. After finishing high school, he plans to gain employment in a machine shop after graduation.

Ulrich Kroner, a senior, received the Driver's Education Student of the Month Award. Ulrich is an exchange student from Belgium, and resides with Tom and Sue Peterson, Oakland. He is a member of the track team and is on the honor roll. After finishing high school, he plans to attend college and major in psychology.

Posthumous Degree To Be Conferred On Andrew S. Wensel

The University of New Orleans will present a masters degree in psychology on May 25 to Andrew S. Wensel who died suddenly of heart disease on January 25, 1991.

At the honors convocation at UNO on May 6, the psychology department presented the Andrew S. Wensel Distinguished Graduate Student Award. The award will now be presented annually to a graduate student who has the most outstanding record of accomplishment.

Wensel was a 1984 graduate of Wheeling Central High School, Wheeling, W. Va., and a 1988 graduate of Wheeling Jesuit College. He is the son of Floyd and Dianne Wensel, former Oakland residents. He is the grandson of Margaret Fay Sheeche, Cumberland BOOK SET DONATED -- In honor of the recent 40th anniversary of the Ruth Enlow Library, Bob Dahl of Dahl's Ford Sales, Grantville, has donated the Gateway To Imagination book club set from Discovery Toys to the Grantville Branch of the Ruth Enlow Library. The book club is a unique collection of 30 of the world's finest, most beautifully illustrated books that have been carefully selected to address the development and interests of children two and one-half through five years, according to a spokesman from Discovery Toys. Each book comes with a newsletter that gives a detailed explanation of each story theme, along with child development information and suggestions for other types of play activities for sharing with children. Kim Lahlia, branch manager at the Grantville library, expressed her appreciation to Dahl for the donation, stating that the books will certainly be used. She especially liked the emphasis on the developmental themes featured in the series. A complete listing of the book club by age will be kept at the front desk. Dahl said that he was glad to make the books available for the reading enjoyment of the children in the community. The book club was purchased through Sheila Edwards, educational consultant with Discovery Toys. The Grantville branch is open Monday from 10:30 a.m. until 8 p.m.; Tuesday through Friday from 10:30 a.m. until 5 p.m.; and Saturday from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. During the summer months, a reading club for children ages pre-school to 12 years is offered. Pictured above is Kim Lahlia, left, accepting the books from Bob Dahl.

ented to the Scouts. They were: Truck Transportation — Paul Chevalier, Jason Reed, Danny Sweitzer, Doug Mayle, and Aaron Miller; Swimming — Danny Sweitzer; Skiing — Tim Williamson, Lee Collins, Jason Herman, and Jason Reed; First Aid — Jason Reed; Citizenship in the World — Lee Collins; Communications — Paul Chevalier and Jason Reed; Space Exploration — Doug Mayle; Sports — Lee Collins; Camping — Jason Reed; and Stamp Collecting — Jeremy Reed.

A special presentation was made to Robert Pike in recognition of his 50th anniversary as an Eagle Scout. Pike received his Eagle rank on January 7, 1941, as a member of Troop 212 in Silver Spring. Pike gave an overview of the steps leading up to Eagle rank.

Ms. Rita Knox, of the National Park Service, presented a program on the C&O Canal. Two films were shown which gave the background of the canal and showed the canal in operation. A question and answer period followed. This summer, the troop is planning to bike the entire distance of the canal.

Canoe Trips Set On Potomac River

Maryland's Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will sponsor two weekend canoeing trips along the Potomac River in Western Maryland next month as part of the Outdoor Adventure program of DNR's State Forest and Park Service.

Overnight trips are scheduled for June 1-2 and June 15-16 for experienced paddlers who will depart from DNR's Green Ridge State Forest in Allegany County.

Trips are planned to cover 12 miles per day while traveling through a special wildlands area of the Potomac River and viewing points of interest such as Chesapeake and Ohio (C&O) Canal National Historical Park, West Virginia's Paw Paw Tunnel, and the 38,811-acre Green Ridge State Forest.

Experienced paddlers will pay a registration fee of $60 which will cover all meals, transportation and canoe rentals for the overnight, weekend trips. For more information on the Outdoor Adventure trips, persons may call DNR's Green Ridge State Forest in Flintstone, (301) 777-2345.

Outdoor Adventure trips sponsored by DNR's State Forest and Park Service also include backpacking, hiking, and bicycling trips in addition to the canoeing outings.

For more information on Outdoor Adventures, persons may contact DNR's State Forest and Park Service in Annapolis at (301) 974-3771 (TDD 301-974-3083) or write to the Service, Tawes State Office Building, 580 Taylor Avenue, Annapolis, MD 21401. Attention: Outdoor Adventure Trips.

Sebold Honored For SAT Score

Paul Sebold, son of Don and Charlotte Sebold, McHenry, and a seventh grade student at Northern Middle School, was honored recently by the Johns Hopkins University Center for Academically Talented Youth. The student was praised for scoring well on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT).

Public and private schools in Maryland and the District of Columbia identified more than 4,000 students last fall who qualified for a talent search and took the SAT in January. Approximately 10 percent of these students were invited to the ceremony, which was held May 12 at the Johns Hopkins University. The parents and teachers of the selected students were invited as well.

Paul scored well above the mean for college bound high school seniors, and received a certificate of merit at the state and regional awards ceremony.

Governor To Sign New Child Passenger Law

Governor William Donald Schaefer will sign the Child Passenger Protection measure into law this Friday, May 24, in ceremonies to begin at 10:15 a.m. in the Governor's Reception Room, State House, Annapolis.

The new measure, proposed by the governor, supported by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) and a coalition of safety agencies, and passed by the 1991 General Assembly strengthens the previous Child Passenger Protection Law by requiring any child under the age of four and weighing 40 pounds or less to be secured in a safety seat.

A child who is between 4 and 10 years old and weighs more than 40 pounds must be secured in a safety seat, seat belt or seat/belt shoulder harness.

Last year, seven children under the age of 5 were killed in motor vehicle crashes in Maryland; hundreds of children under the age of 15 were injured. It is estimated that correct use of safety seats reduces a child's fatality risk by 71 percent and serious injury risk by 67 percent.

BITTINGER-GLADES

CHURCH NEWS

Holy Communion was celebrated in all three churches of the Bittering Parish on Sunday. By rite of confirmation on Sunday, the following became members of their congregations: Jason Lee O'Brien, St. John's; Kandice Renee Buckel, Alex Virgil Lowery, and Aaron Neal Stanton, Emmanuel. Sponsors were Carole Peck, Robert Buckel, Robert Legeer, and Ferne Beachy.

St. John's congregation welcomed Tom Gnegy into membership on Sunday, by transfer from St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland.

Emmanuel's altar flowers were given in honor of the confirmation of Kandice Buckel, Alex Lowery, and Aaron Stanton by their parents.

Flowers on Zion's altar on Sunday were in memory of Mrs. Norman Baker's birthday anniversary.

A congregational meeting will be held at Emmanuel next Sunday, May 26, to decide whether or not to proceed with the construction of a new building.

Donations of clothing and items for health kits for Lutheran World Relief should be at the church at Emmanuel by Sunday, June 9. A list of needed items is on the bulletin board.

Films by Dr. Dobson are being shown at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church for the next six weeks. The theme of the series is "How to untangle the knots in your family ties." The public is invited to attend.

ST. JOHN'S WOMEN MEET

St. John's Women of the ELCA met at the church on May 16, with five members and Pastor Louise Knott present. Shirley Harkins presented the topic "Sharing Lutheran Brotherhood's Resources." Lutheran Brotherhood provides many services such as disaster relief, church loans, congregational matching funds, and member scholarships.

Thanks were expressed for those who donated items to a Lutheran Home.

Vacation Bible School is scheduled for June 24-28. Any help for that week will be appreciated. There will be a general cleaning of the church on July 9, beginning at 9 a.m.

The next meeting will be on June 20, with Helen Beckman leading the program.

Local Student Wins Scholarship To DeVry Inc.

Richard Hetrick, a graduating senior from Southern High School, is the recipient of a 1991 DeVry Inc. half-tuition scholarship to DeVry Institute of Technology in Columbus, one of the system's 11 post-secondary campuses.

Hetrick is the son of James and Ann Hetrick, Oakland.

The announcement was made by Richard Czerniak, president of DeVry/Columbus. The scholarship, valued at up to $11,165, covers tuition payments for the Electronics Engineering Technology program. Students earn a bachelor of science degree upon successful completion of all coursework.

Finalists for the DeVry scholarship competition were selected from a group of more than 660. Scholarships are granted on the basis of college board scores (SAT, ACT, or WPCT), high school academic records, and an essay written by the students. Hetrick's topic was "The Role of Modern Technology in the Success of Operation Desert Storm."

A committee of local high school principals, counselors, and DeVry/Columbus administrators evaluated the student's essay and high school records and made final selections.

In addition to the 30 scholarships awarded at DeVry/Columbus, other DeVry Institutes in the U.S. are presenting a total of 90 scholarships to graduating high school seniors. Value of the 120 scholarships to be awarded in 1991 is approximately $1.7 million.

The Amazon River has 1,100 tributary streams.

"George's Creek Works" To Be Held Saturday

A group of area artists will host what has been called "a family day of arts collaborations, workshops and performances" this Saturday, May 25, in Midland, on the grounds of St. Joseph Roman Catholic and Grace United Methodist Churches, from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The "George's Creek Works" project coincides with the "Artists Among Us" exhibition at Frostburg State University.

Following is a schedule of activities for the event: "Connections," to be held from 11 a.m.-3:30 p.m., will employ found and recycled objects to decorate a hillside in "a harmony of patterns," according to the artist. "Clay Workshop" will be held from 11 a.m.-12 noon, and from 2:30-3:30, and will feature the use of individually created clay tiles for the design of a ceramic wall relief. "Sheet Metal Sculpture Workshop," from 12:30-1:30 p.m., will involve the design and creation of handbuilt metal sculpture. "Puppet Workshop," from 1:30-2:30 p.m., will consist of puppet-making, along with an original presentation. "Puppets in Search of a Storyteller," "Memorial (Homefires)," an installation project featuring George's Creek resources, will be on view from 1:30-3:30, and from 3:30-4:30 p.m., Jane Avery will present "Open Forum" with the participating artists.

Besides Avery, those participating artists include Jackie Brown, Don Cook, Sandra Hunnerson and Gerry Snelson.

All activities of the day are open to the public and free of charge. Food and beverage concession will be available throughout the day.

In the event of rain, activities will be held at the site's indoor facilities, from 12 noon to 3:30 p.m. The "Artists Among Us" exhibit at FSU's Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery, runs from May 17-31. Both events have been made possible by grants from the Maryland State Arts Council, The Painted Bride Art Center's New Forms Regional program and by donations from local contributors.

ACCEPTED INTO SUMMER PROGRAMS -- Several Southern Middle School students were recently accepted as participants or alternates for the 1991 Summer Centers Programs, sponsored in part by the Maryland State Department of Education. Pictured, left to right, are Lorrie Filsinger who will participate in the Introductory Experiences in Leadership Program at Washington College, Chestertown, in late July and early August, focus on individual skill development with communication skills, leadership roles and styles, presentation skills, generating ideas, finding facts, planning projects, planning roles of group members, and organizing and conducting meetings; Jaime Jacoby, accepted for the Theatrical Experience Program at Goucher College, Towson, in late June and early July where he will discover, through vocal and physical exercises and games and storytelling, the fundamental language of the stage and skills of acting; Asya Simak, to attend the Creative Writing and Historical Perspective Program at Washington College, Chestertown, in July in which she will explore writing as a creative means of describing the events that shape our lives and reflect our past; and alternates, Eric Bender, Bay Studies - Bay Itinerary Program; Meghan Dabney, Creative Writing and Drama Program; and Janette Slagle, Photography Program.

Local Woman Honored On 95th Birthday

Mrs. Anna Greaser, Kitzmiller, was recently honored on the occasion of her 95th birthday, with a surprise open-house party given by her grandson and granddaughter-in-law, Ken and Bev Greaser, Deer Park.

Mrs. Greaser was born April 5, 1896, in Midland. She is the daughter of the late Otha and Ellie Evans, and has ten children, four of whom were present at the celebration.

She also has several grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild. Approximately 30 relatives were in attendance.

Cynthia Guthrie Becomes Bride Of John Tichinel In March 9 Ceremony

Cynthia A. Guthrie and John A. Tichinel were united in marriage in a March 9 ceremony at the Deer Park Church of God.

The bride is the daughter of Randall Guthrie Sr., Swanton, and Susan Killen, Winchester, Va. The groom is the son of Stan and Naomi Tichinel, Swanton.

The Rev. George Tichinel, uncle of the bride, officiated. Organist was Virginia Tichinel, aunt of the bride. Burns and Cathy Smith who sang The Wedding Song, We've Only Just Begun, and You Light Up My Life.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father who wore a black and white tuxedo.

The bride wore a white satin gown that featured a v-neck bodice encrusted with sequins and was styled with a Basque waistline and a deep v-back, bordered with sequins. The full skirt was accented with a candy bow and a cathedral train with ruffles. The headpiece featured a comb of dainty flowers, pearl sprays, and lily of the valley streamers with a waist-length veil.

She carried a cascading bouquet with yellow and white roses, accented by pearl sprays and yellow and white ribbon.

Dawn Tichinel, Swanton, cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor. Donna Butler, North Potomac; Vicky Elliott, Swanton; and Terri Tichinel, Oakland, served as the bride's attendants. They all wore yellow satin, tea-length gowns which were accented with a candy bow. Yellow satin shoes accented their gowns.

Santana Guthrie, sister of the bride, and Amber Sharpless, cousin of the groom, served as flower girls. They wore yellow satin Cinderella dresses which were accented with white lace and bows.

The bride's attendants all wore wreath headpieces fashioned of yellow and white flowers and accented with pearl sprays. The matron of honor and the bridesmaids carried smaller versions of the bride's bouquet, while the flower girls carried white lace baskets which held yellow rose petals. All bouquets and flowers were fashioned by Virginia Tichinel.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with tails.

Serving as his brother's best man was Dan Tichinel. Groomsmen were Rocky Guthrie and Bill Harvey, both of Swanton; and Dave Paugh, Oakland. They were attired in black and white tuxedos with tails, accented with yellow bows and cummerbunds.

The ceremony began with the lighting of the unity candles by the couple's mothers.

The reception was held at the VFW, Deer Park. A three-tiered cake decorated with yellow and white flowers which featured a fountain was served by Cheryl Paugh, Oakland. Heart-shaped side cakes accented the wedding cake.

Entertainment was provided by Jeff Taylor from GO 106 radio station.

The couple established residence in Swanton.

Failing-Busky Vows Exchanged

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Failing, Westernport, announce the marriage of their daughter, Ann, to Dr. Stephen M. Busky, Baltimore. The wedding took place April 14 in a private ceremony at Deep Creek Lake.

The bride is a graduate of West Virginia University and the University of Maryland Law School. She is a vice president at Church Hospital in Baltimore and is a member of the Maryland Bar Association.

Dr. Busky is a graduate of Hamilton College and the New York University School of Medicine. He completed his urology training at the Johns Hopkins Hospital. He is a board certified urologist in private practice in Baltimore.

The couple resides in Towson.

Birthday Party Held May 7 For Bertha Smith

A surprise party for Bertha Smith was held May 7 in celebration of her 77th birthday at the home of her daughter, Frances Moorehead. Mary Smith, daughter-in-law, also assisted with the party.

Mrs. Smith resides at Grandview Apartments in Westernport. She is the mother of five children, 14 grandchildren, and 20 great-grandchildren.

Nearly 30 people attended the party and several others who were unable to attend sent gifts.

The cake was baked and decorated by Mary Smith and Frances Moorehead. Tonia and Randy Baker sang "Happy Birthday."

Pratt Couple Honored On 50th

A surprise 50th wedding anniversary celebration was held Sunday, May 19, in honor of Fred and Jennie (Avona) Pratt. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt were married in Thomas, W.Va., on February 22, 1941, and resided in Kitzmiller for 44 years. They currently reside on Clifton Drive in Deer Park.

The Pratts are the parents of three children: Rosalee Sines, Fred M. Pratt, and Paul J. Pratt. They are the grandparents of six.

The reception was hosted by the children at the Deer Park Fire Hall where approximately 200 guests were in attendance.

DCL Fire Dept. Auxiliary Notes Spaghetti Suppers

Beginning Friday, May 31, the Deep Creek Lake Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary will be serving spaghetti suppers from 5-8 p.m. at the McHenry Firehall.

The cost of the dinners is $4 for adults and $2.75 for children. The auxiliary plans to serve the dinners throughout the summer on the last Friday of May, June, July, August, and September. Carryouts are welcome.

A spokesman for the group said they added the month of September by popular demand. Proceeds from the dinners benefit the fire department for new equipment.

Martin Couple To Celebrate 20th

The families of Joe and Sally Martin are planning an open house in honor of the couple's 20th anniversary.

The celebration will be held on Sunday, May 26, from 2-4 p.m. at Broad Ford School cafeteria.

All family and friends are welcome to attend the celebration.

Purchasers will be issued a certificate of sale at the time of said sale, which may be recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County. The holder of any certificate of sale, his heirs or assigns, may at any time after the expiration of six months from the date of sale, file a bill of complaint to foreclose all rights of redemption of the property to which such certificate relates. Unless a proceeding to foreclose the right of redemption is filed within two years of the date of the certificate of sale, the certificate shall be void and all rights to the holder of the certificate shall cease and all money received by the Treasurer on account of said sale shall be deemed forfeited. Upon foreclosure and payment of the balance of the purchase price and all taxes, interest, penalties and costs, which have accrued, in the meantime, the Treasurer will execute a deed which will vest in the purchaser an absolute and indefeasible title in fee simple in the property, free and clear of all alienations and descents.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR STRIP MINE PERMIT RENEWAL

Notice is hereby given that BUFFALO COAL COMPANY INC., P.O. Box 282, Bayard, West Virginia 26707, in compliance with Maryland's Federally approved Strip Mine Control and Reclamation Program, has submitted an application for renewal of surface coal mine permit No. SM-86-409. This application is for renewal of an existing permit only. The application does not add any area to the existing permit. The operation is located near Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. The operation is located on the east side of Glade Run, in Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and the State of Maryland to Timothy J. Sanders.

All that lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being in Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, containing 2.50 acres, more or less, and being the same as conveyed by Herbert Ray Sykes to Clifton William Carter and Cynthia Dian Carter, his wife, by deed dated September 29, 1971, and recorded in Liber No. 330, folio 594, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The complaint states, among other things, that title to said property was vested in the above named defendants at the time of said tax sale and still so remains, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six months from persons interested in said property to be and appear in this Court by the 22nd day of July, 1991, and redeem the property herein described and answer the Complaint, or thereupon a final decree will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property and vesting in the Plaintiff a title free and clear of all encumbrances.

hearing on May 30, 1991 at 7:00 p.m. in the Oakland Town Hall (Town Council Meeting Room). The Board will review two applications. The first application is made by Karen Reckner for a Variance from the terms of the Oakland Zoning Ordinance as it affects the rear yard setback requirement. Ms. Reckner wishes to construct a building on her prospective property which will extend to the rear property line. The required rear yard setback is ten (10) feet. The property is located on Alder Street in a CBA-Central Business Area Zone. The second application is made by Les Bittiger for a Special Exception to allow the establishment of an insurance office, as a home occupation, on his property at 321 North Third Street. The property is located in a TR-Town Residential Zone. Interested citizens are urged to attend.

of John F. Beard, Deceased
Late of Pike County, Kentucky
Defendants

ORDERED: by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland Defendant, Elbo Coals, Inc., a Kentucky corporation whose charter was revoked by the Secretary of State of Kentucky on October 15, 1987, and any unknown trustees, successors, assigns or creditors of said former corporation, and

Any heirs, devisees or personal representatives of John F. Beard, who died on March 10, 1984 while a resident of Pikeville, Pike County, Kentucky.

Notice is hereby given that Fred K. Leary, Plaintiff, has filed an action in this Court for the purpose of quieting title to certain real property situated in Garrett County, Maryland, containing 345 acres, more or less, described in a deed to Plaintiff recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 378, folio 763.

The substance of the complaint is that Plaintiff granted a mortgage to Defendant on the real property described above securing an original indebtedness in amount of FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($50,000.00); that said indebtedness was forgiven by the said John F. Beard, the sole shareholder and officer of said mortgagee, on or about June, 1982, but no release of the subject mortgage was recorded.

The substance of the relief sought is a judgment that the aforesaid indebtedness was in fact forgiven as stated above and an order that a release of the subject mortgage be recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Defendant, and/or any other persons described in the caption hereto, are hereby warned that failure to file a response on or before the 12th day of July, 1991, may result in a judgment by default or the granting of the relief sought.

Gov. Schaefer To Visit New Germany Park

Governor William Donald Schaefer will launch a Western Maryland tourism promotional campaign Friday, May 31, with a bus tour through the region. He is scheduled to be in Garrett County at New Germany State Park between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. for a demonstration on adventure sports and outdoor recreation.

The theme of the promotional campaign, "Western Maryland - More Than You Can Imagine," is designed to promote tourism destinations in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties. "All of the counties of Maryland are special," stated Governor Schaefer, adding, "But we are focusing on Western Maryland this summer since 1-88 will open in August, connecting the region by interstate to the rest of Maryland and to West Virginia for the first time in history."

The campaign is being coordinated by the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, and the Maryland Department of

Daring Water Rescues Save Two Lives At New Germany, Savage State Parks

Two persons were rescued from separate water mishaps occurring over the holiday weekend. One rescue occurred at the Savage River Dam in Bloomington, where a man reportedly fell 50 feet from the top of the dam, while the other was performed by a Cumberland YMCA volunteer lifeguard at New Germany State Park.

A harrowing rescue of William Hess (age and home not available) occurred on Sunday evening at the Savage River State Park. According to Larry Maxim, manager of the park, the victim was standing on a log which had come down the river and was perched on the edge of the breastworks of the dam. Hess apparently slipped from the log, and fell 50 feet onto the concrete spillway.

Park Rangers Rick Lewis and Chuck Thomas responded to the accident, and attempted to contact both Garrett and Allegany Civil Defense, but because of the low-elevation location were unable to reach either. Thomas then repelled down the dam wall and reached the victim, whom he then died into a Stokes litter, a cage-like stretcher designed to protect the patient from the elements.

ger Lewis was finally contacted more help by phoning the Allegany Civil Defense, and members of Bloomington and Savage fire departments as well as the Tri-Towns Rescue and Elk District volunteers responded to the MEDEVAC helicopter arrived, but because of the steep slopes on both sides of the dam, the aircraft was unable to hook onto the litter to lift Hess out. The victim was then manually lowered down the dam.

New Germany Rescue: Dante Shannon, 16, Baltimore, was swimming near the west beach of the New Germany lake on Saturday when he began to struggle approximately 40 yards out. Shannon Adams, a volunteer lifeguard from the Cumberland YMCA, acted quickly, according to Jim Rogers, park manager. Adams retrieved Shannon from the lake, and found him to be semi-conscious and breathing with difficulty.

Park Ranger Joe Stevens, assistant manager of the park, administered oxygen to the teenager until the

Trust Fund Begun For Swanton Youth Recently Injured

A trust fund has been established for Jimmy "Jimbo" Paugh, 16, Swanton, son of James and Joyce Paugh, who was critically injured last Thursday when he drove his four-wheeler into the path of a car on Md. Route 135, near Chestnut Grove Road.

Paugh was flown by Medevac to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted to the intensive care unit. A family spokesman told The Republican this week that "Jimbo" remains listed in "critical condition with possible brain damage."

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 23, Westernport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident.

Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers'/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers'/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forestry Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chainsaws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

"Man of La Mancha" To Return To GCC Stage In July

If you missed "Man of La Mancha" in April, never fear! It will return to the Garrett Community College stage for four performances in July. Among the actors, pictured left to right above, are Lori Heginbotham as the Housekeeper, Nate Motz as Sancho, Richard Hill as Don Quixote, and Tom Peterson as the Padre.

McHenry Highland Festival To Be Held June 1 At Fairgrounds

The fourth annual McHenry Highland Festival will be held Saturday, June 1, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds on U.S. Route 219, McHenry, in the highlands of Western Maryland.

Festival hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and a wide array of entertainment and activities are scheduled, including Open Athletic Games, Open Solo Piping Competitions, massed band concerts, sheep shearing, Celtic harp and vocal music, Scottish country and highland dancing, sheepdog demonstrations, highland marketplace, Scottish foods, and clan tents.

"From the Old Country to the New Country" workshops which include British and local history, storytelling, the origin of the Gaelic language and music, and harp, bagpipe, and hammered dulcimer workshops will be made possible with funding from the Maryland Humanities Council through a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Admission to the festival is $1 for persons age 12 and over. Motorcoach groups are welcome and there will be ample parking. The festival has been sanctioned by the Eastern United States Pipe Band Association and is a member of the Association of Scottish Games and Festivals.

The festival will include a ceilidh (Scottish party with entertainment) at 8 p.m. Saturday at the McHenry House at the Wisp Ski Resort. Admission is $3. A Kirkin' O' the Tartans will be held Sunday, June 2, at 10:30 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church on Md. Route 135, Deer Park, with the Vicar Margaret E. Custer officiating.

The festival is sponsored and hosted by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council and Wisp Ski Resort. It is also funded in part by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

More information or advance tickets may be obtained by contacting the McHenry Highland Festival, Courthouse, Oakland, Md. 21550, or telephoning 1-301-334-1918.

"DISORDERLY CONDUCT," will be performing at the Garrett County Fair on August 12 with two shows, one at 8 p.m. and one at 9:30 p.m., with their slapstick comedy show. They will present a show entitled "Without A Net," the tale of "an average married couple and their absurd struggles through a variety of unicycle mishaps, breathtaking bullwhip displays, highstrung ropewalking feats, comic juggling routines, simulated driving lessons, perpetual pratfalls, and preposterous comic situations, all the while interacting with the audience," according to a spokesperson for the group. The couple has received rave reviews from all over the country and the world, from Tokyo to Quebec to Atlanta.

New Germany Raucous Dante Shannon, 18, Baltimore, was swimming near the west beach of the New Germany lake on Saturday when he began to struggle approximately 40 yards out. Shannon Adams, a volunteer lifeguard from the Cumberland YMCA, acted quickly, according to Jim Rogers, park manager. Adams retrieved Shannon from the lake, and found him to be semi-conscious and breathing with difficulty.

Park Ranger Joe Stevens, assistant manager of the park, administered oxygen to the teenager until the

Trust Fund Begun For Swanton Youth Recently Injured

A trust fund has been established for Jimmy "Jimbo" Paugh, 18, Swanton, son of James and Joyca Paugh, who was critically injured last Thursday when he drove his four-wheeler into the path of a car on Md. Route 135, near Chestnut Grove Road.

Paugh was flown by Medevac to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted to the intensive care unit. A family spokesman told The Republican this week that "Jimbo" remains listed in "critical condition with possible brain damage."

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 23, Westernport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident.

Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers'/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers'/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forestry Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chainsaws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse-logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival Presents: The Symphony at Deep Creek

Four concerts dedicated to the matching beauty of the magnificent and rustic surroundings of Western Maryland's lakes and mountains will be presented August 21st through the 24th at the Garrett Community College in McHenry. The Symphony at Deep Creek's 1991 season promises to be an outstanding one of classical entertainment, enjoyable for all ages.

Featured during the music festival will be the following offerings: a surprise performance by the legendary violinist Erick Friedman (returning after a five-year hiatus), The West End Opera Trio, a world premiere performance night complete with an elegant buffet dinner, a cello competition/master class led by Mr. Aldo Parisot, master cellist; and a grand finale night including a chance drawing for a recreational rowing shell.

Music of Mozart, Corelli, Haydn, Tchaikovsky, and many more will serenade audiences throughout the music festival, providing listeners with a wonderfully diverse four-day program. All concerts will be held in the air-conditioned auditorium of GCC, and each is scheduled to span approximately 90 minutes with an intermission.

The Symphony at Deep Creek
1991 Program

Wednesday, August 21:

An Evening of Classical Vignettes with The West End Opera Trio -- A delightful presentation of vocal entertainment will open the music festival as New York City's West End Opera Trio performs several scenes from famous operas. The trio members, who are Kathryn Sincell, soprano; Lenora Eve, mezzo; and Dan McComas, baritone, will talk with the audience as they segue from one scene to the next, explaining the costumes, make-up, and scenery of today's opera stages. The performance promises to be entertaining and engaging for the entire family.

A Meet the Musicians Reception will be held in GCC's Bausch & Lomb Art Gallery immediately following the show, to which all are invited.

Thursday, August 22:

World Premiere Night -- An elegant buffet will precede tonight's performance, held at the Wisp Resort in honor of Western Maryland's own accomplished composer, Jon W. Bauman, as well as the return of violin virtuoso Erick Friedman. The menu has not yet been finalized, but organizers promise a delectable meal.

After dining, audience members will then make the one mile trip to the college, where they will hear the premiere of a work written by Bauman, Professor of Music at Frostburg State University, and a surprise presentation of the Bach E Major Violin Concerto by the legendary Erick Friedman.

Jon Bauman has composed numerous orchestral, choral, chamber, band, opera, and a variety of other musical pieces in his career. His "Theme and Variations on a Fiddler's Tune" will be performed this evening.

After a five-year hiatus from performing as a soloist, Friedman has chosen to return to the concert arena during this music festival, much to the surprise and delight of festival organizers. The virtuoso's performance of the Bach violin concerto promises to enthrall and delight the audience.

Friedman is a former protégé of the legendary Jascha Heifetz, and has performed as a guest violin soloist with nearly all of the world's great orchestras, including the New York Philharmonic, the National Symphony, the Berlin Philharmonic, and the London Symphony. He has recorded for RCA, and has collaborated with such international conductors as Karajan, Previn, Steinberg, Stokowski, and many others.

Other offerings this night will include the popular W.A. Mozart Adagio and Fugue; C.P.E. Bach's Sinfonia, in addition to pieces by A. Copland, C. Nielsen, and H. Villa-Lobos.

Manning To Serve 10 Years; Other Sex Cases Heard

Judge Fred A. Thayer of the Garrett County Circuit Court sentenced convicted child abuser Roberta Manning, 34, Oakland, on Thursday to ten years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. Mrs. Manning was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff after sentencing, and will receive credit for time served (197 days).

Manning pleaded guilty to the child abuse charge at a February hearing, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Thayer at that time. Other charges against the defendant that were not prosecuted included second degree rape, second degree sexual offense.

Gov. Schaefer To Visit New Germany Park

Governor William Donald Schaefer will launch a Western Maryland tourism promotional campaign Friday, May 31, with a bus tour through the region. He is scheduled to be in Garrett County at New Germany State Park between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. for a demonstration on adventure sports and outdoor recreation.

The theme of the promotional campaign, "Western Maryland - More Than You Can Imagine," is designed to promote tourism destinations in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties. "All of the counties of Maryland are special," stated Governor Schaefer, adding, "But we are focusing on Western Maryland this summer since 1-68 will open in August, connecting the region by interstate to the rest of Maryland and to West Virginia for the first time in history."

The campaign is being coordinated by the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, and the Maryland Department of

Daring Water Rescues Save Two Lives At New Germany, Savage State Parks

Two persons were rescued from separate water mishaps occurring over the holiday weekend. One rescue occurred at the Savage River Dam in Bloomington, where a man reportedly fell 50 feet from the top of the dam, while the other was performed by a Cumberland YMCA volunteer lifeguard at New Germany State Park.

A harrowing rescue of William Hess (age and home not available) occurred on Sunday evening at the Savage River State Park. According to Larry Maxim, manager of the park, the victim was standing on a log which had come down the river and was perched on the edge of the breastworks of the dam. Hess apparently slipped from the log, and fell 50 feet onto the concrete spillway.

Park Rangers Rick Lewis and Chuck Thomas responded to the accident, and attempted to contact both Garrett and Allegany Civil Defense, but because of the low-elevation location were unable to reach either. Thomas then repelled down the dam wall and reached the victim, whom he then lowered into a Stokes litter, a cage-like stretcher used to protect the patient in an air-lift rescue. Ranger Lewis was finally able to contact more help by phoning the Allegany Civil Defense, and members of the Bloomington and Savage River fire departments as well as the Tri-Towns Rescue Squad and Elk District Divers responded to the

A MEDEVAC helicopter arrived, but because of extreme slopes on both sides of the dam, the aircraft was unable to hook onto the litter to lift Hess out. The patient was then manually

Circle) -- Tonight's performance will feature the master cellist Aldo Parisot, who graciously agreed to give four master classes throughout the festival week, dedicated to promoting young cellists of unusual ability and promise. One student will be chosen from the classes as the Parisot Prize Winner. This student will be awarded $1,000 and will perform the Haydn C Major Concerto this evening with Mr. Parisot as guest conductor.

Aldo Parisot has long been known to the music world as a great cellist of his generation, and has appeared regularly with such orchestras as the London, Berlin, and New York Philharmonics, and the Chicago Symphony, under such eminent conductors as Monteux, Stokowski, Hindemith, and Bernstein. The Symphony at Deep Creek is truly fortunate to have the opportunity to host a musician of Mr. Parisot's high calibre.

Tonight's performance will be followed by the Champion's Circle, held in the Bavarian Room and featuring an array of delightful desserts prepared by the master chefs of the Wisp Resort. The Champion's Circle will provide an opportunity for audience members to congratulate the Parisot

Manning To Serve 10 Years; Other Sex Cases Heard

Judge Fred A. Thayer of the Garrett County Circuit Court sentenced convicted child abuser Roberta Manning, 34, Oakland, on Thursday to ten years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. Mrs. Manning was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff after sentencing, and will receive credit for time served (197 days).

Manning pleaded guilty to the child abuse charge at a February hearing, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Thayer at that time. Other charges against the defendant that were not prosecuted included second degree rape, second

Gov. Schaefer To Visit New Germany Park

Governor William Donald Schaefer will launch a Western Maryland tourism promotional campaign Friday, May 31, with a bus tour through the region. He is scheduled to be in Garrett County at New Germany State Park between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. for a demonstration on adventure sports and outdoor recreation.

The theme of the promotional campaign, "Western Maryland -- More Than You Can Imagine," is designed to promote tourism destinations in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties. "All of the counties of Maryland are special," stated Governor Schaefer, adding, "But we are focusing on Western Maryland this summer since 1-68 will open in August, connecting the region by interstate to the rest of Maryland and to West Virginia for the first time in history."

The campaign is being coordinated by the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, and the Maryland Department of

Daring Water Rescues Save Two Lives At New Germany, Savage State Parks

Two persons were rescued from separate water mishaps occurring over the holiday weekend. One rescue occurred at the Savage River Dam in Bloomington, where a man reportedly fell 50 feet from the top of the dam, while the other was performed by a Cumberland YMCA volunteer lifeguard at New Germany State Park.

A harrowing rescue of William Hess (age and home not available) occurred on Sunday evening at the Savage River State Park. According to Larry Maxim, manager of the park, the victim was standing on a log which had come down the river and was perched on the edge of the breastworks of the dam. Hess apparently slipped from the log, and fell 50 feet onto the concrete spillway.

Park Rangers Rick Lewis and Chuck Thomas responded to the accident, and attempted to contact both Garrett and Allegany Civil Defense, but because of the low-elevation location were unable to reach either. Thomas then repelled down the dam wall and reached the victim, whom he then

New Germany Rescue
Dante Shannon, 16, Baltimore, was swimming near the west beach of the New Germany lake on Saturday when he began to struggle approximately 40 yards out. Shannon Adams, a volunteer lifeguard from the Cumberland YMCA, acted quickly, according to Jim Rogers, park manager. Adams retrieved Shannon from the lake, and found him to be semi-conscious and breathing with difficulty.

Park Ranger Joe Stevens, assistant manager of the park, administered oxygen to the teenager until the

Trust Fund Begun For Swanton Youth Recently Injured

A trust fund has been established for Jimmy "Jimbo" Paugh, 16, Swanton, son of James and Joyce Paugh, who was critically injured last Thursday when he drove his four-wheeler into the path of a car on Md. Route 135, near Chestnut Grove Road.

Paugh was flown by Medevac to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted to the intensive care unit. A family spokesman told The Republican this week that "Jimbo" remains listed in "critical condition with possible brain damage."

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 28, Westport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident.

Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers'/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers'/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forestry Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chainsaws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse-logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

Proceeds from the drawing will benefit the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. Chances may be purchased ($2 per chance and $5 for three) from any GLAF representative until the time of the drawing.

All those who wish to be wonderfully entertained this August should make plans now to enjoy the Symphony at Deep Creek.

The Symphony at Deep Creek is presented by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, which is made possible in part by the Garrett County Arts Council as well as the Maryland State Arts Council. The symphony is under the musical direction of Erick Friedman and the executive direction of Kathryn Sincell.

Ms. Sincell, lyric soprano, is a native of Garrett County, and has been the executive director of the music festival as well as a lead vocalist since its inception in 1987. She currently resides in New York City and studies under the former NYC opera performer, Eva Likova. Ms. Sincell has been featured as a guest soloist at various musical events, including the Seoul Festival in Korea, the Monomoy Festival in Cape Cod, and the Arrady Festival of Maine.

Bennington Puppets To Tell Story of Hansel And Gretel

The Bennington Puppets will delight young and old at the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival on July 26-27 at 10 a.m. in the GCC gymnasium with their production of Hansel and Gretel, which incorporates the score of Engelbert Humperdinck's opera.

In this story, Hansel and Gretel are sent into a forest to pick some berries after the only bit of food in the house, a jug of milk, is accidentally knocked over. They become lost and have to spend the night in the woods. The next morning, they find the gingerbread house and are captured by the witch who wants to turn them into gingerbread cookies.

Through their own resourcefulness, they are able to outwit the witch and bake her in her own oven. Her previous victims are released from the spell and turn back into children. The parents, who have been searching for Hansel and Gretel and fear the worst, arrive and join in the rejoicing.

There are two themes in this story of special significance to children. The first is the fear of getting lost. The second is the resourcefulness of children, using what one has to not be helpless.

THE FAIRY TALE

The brothers, Jacob (1785-1863) and Wilhelm (1786-1859) Grimm were law students when they became interested in writing down and publishing folk stories. They toured the country, writing down the stories as told by the common people and preserving the oral tradition in a permanent way. Theirs was different from other similar efforts because the Grimms did not edit the stories (or "Marchen," as they were called). Instead, they took the stories down exactly as told, usually having the teller repeat the story several times to ensure accuracy.

Many of these stories were not as we know them today. The stories then were for everyone, not just children, and were more brutal than the versions we are familiar with. When Adelheid Wette wrote the libretto for Hansel and Gretel, she made several changes. Instead of a wicked stepmother, the story has parents who were too poor and discouraged to properly care for their children. Instead of the witch being a cannibal, she enchants children, transforming them into gingerbread, which never actually appears to get eaten.

THE MUSIC

Engelbert Humperdinck (1854-1921) made a name for himself while he was a music student for the academic prizes he won. One of these prizes allowed him to travel to Italy, where he met Wagner and made such a good impression that Wagner invited him to assist in the production of Parsifal. Although Humperdinck was not a prolific composer, he did compose about a half-dozen operas. Hansel and Gretel was his first opera and is also the only one that is popularly known.

The opera had a humble birth. Humperdinck's sister, Adelheid Wette, asked him to write a few songs for her dramatization of the Brothers Grimm story to be performed by her children in their doll's theatre. One of the guests who saw this performance convinced Humperdinck to expand it to a full-length opera. The opera opened on December 23, 1893, with Richard Strauss conducting. One of the famous pieces in the opera is Dream Pantomime. Although the opera does include four folk tunes, there is purely Humperdinck's creation.

Gov. Schaefer To Visit New Germany Park

Governor William Donald Schaefer will launch a Western Maryland tourism promotional campaign Friday, May 31, with a bus tour through the region. He is scheduled to be in Garrett County at New Germany State Park between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. for a demonstration on adventure sports and outdoor recreation.

The theme of the promotional campaign, "Western Maryland -- More Than You Can Imagine," is designed to promote tourism destinations in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties. "All of the counties of Maryland are special," stated Governor Schaefer, adding, "But we are focusing on Western Maryland this summer since I-68 will open in August, connecting the region by interstate to the rest of Maryland and to West Virginia for the first time in history."

The campaign is being coordinated by the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, and the Maryland Department of

Daring Water Rescues Save Two Lives At New Germany, Savage State Parks

Two persons were rescued from separate water mishaps occurring over the holiday weekend. One rescue occurred at the Savage River Dam in Bloomington, where a man reportedly fell 50 feet from the top of the dam, while the other was performed by a Cumberland YMCA volunteer lifeguard at New Germany State Park.

A harrowing rescue of William Hess (age and home not available) occurred on Sunday evening at the Savage River State Park. According to Larry Maxim, manager of the park, the victim was standing on a log which had come down the river and was perched on the edge of the breastworks of the dam. Hess apparently slipped from the log, and fell 50 feet onto the concrete spillway.

Park Rangers Rick Lewis and Chuck Thomas responded to the accident, and attempted to contact both Garrett and Allegany Civil Defense, but because of the low-elevation location were unable to reach either. Thomas then repelled down the dam wall and reached the victim, whom he then hoisted into a Stokes litter, a cage-like stretcher used to protect the patient in an air-lift rescue.

Ranger Lewis was finally able to contact more help by phoning the Allegany Civil Defense, and members of the Bloomington and Savage River fire departments as well as the Tri-Towns Rescue Squad and Elk District divers responded to the accident. A MEDEVAC helicopter arrived, but because of the extreme slopes on both sides of the dam, the aircraft was unable to hook onto the litter to lift Hess out. The patient was then manually hoisted to safety.

Trust Fund Begun For Swanton Youth Recently Injured

A trust fund has been established for Jimmy "Jimbo" Paugh, 16, Swanton, son of James and Joyce Paugh, who was critically injured last Thursday when he drove his four-wheeler into the path of a car on Md. Route 135, near Chestnut Grove Road.

Paugh was flown by Medevac to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted to the intensive care unit. A family spokesman told The Republican this week that "Jimbo" remains listed in "critical condition with possible brain damage."

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 28, Westernport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident.

Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers'/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers'/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forests Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chainsaws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse-logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

Sought distinction to their medals in the Maryland age. Khyatis Browning, or her dials and a bronze medal in the 800-meter race. Rabacca Fritz, a silver medal in the shot

"Trapezoid" To Bring Unique Musical Blend To GCC Stage

The unique vocal and instrumental ensemble, Trapezoid, will bring its uncommon blend of talents to Garrett County for a concert at Garrett Community College, Thursday, July 11, at 8 p.m., as part of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival line-up.

A gifted alliance of songwriters, vocalists and musicians, Trapezoid will reacquaint its dedicated fans with the artistry that prompted The New York Times to describe the group as "a delightful musical melange."

The five-member group, led by founding member Paul Reisler, will also introduce music from its new recording for Narada Equinox, Moon Run. The new album, Trapezoid's sixth career recording and the first for the Narada label, is a collection of music that adds a refined contemporary touch to the group's rich musical tradition.

Trapezoid blends contemporary acoustic instrumentals with graceful classical flourishes, interweaving atmospheric vocals with impeccable ensemble work. The group taps into the roots of the musical past and sends it soaring on wings into the future.

Joining Reisler, who plays guitar, bass and hammer dulcimer, are Bob Read (winds, keyboards and vocals), Anne Louise White (keyboards and vocals), Cheryl Hurwitz (violin and vocals), and Tim Valdes (percussion, drums, mandolin, and dobro).

In a concert setting, the five members of Trapezoid play with radiant soul and vigorous heart, taking their audiences along on an enjoyable musical odyssey.

"Our musical territory is somewhere outside the borders of world music, classical, new age, pop and folk," says Reisler, "but it's a place where all these genres might find they speak the same language." Or, as the Washington Post says, "The tunes climb up the Blue Ridge and down to the bayou and back up the Himalayas."

This nationwide concert tour coincides with the release of Moon Run and with Trapezoid's 15th anniversary as a group. During that time, Trapezoid has performed more than 1,600 concerts worldwide and earned abundant critical acclaim. Said the Oakland Tribune, "If ever a band succeeded in merging old and new worlds into a musical performance, Trapezoid is the one. The musicianship is impeccable."

Manning To Serve 10 Years; Other Sex Cases Heard

Judge Fred A. Thayer of the Garrett County Circuit Court sentenced convicted child abuser Roberta Manning, 34, Oakland, on Thursday to ten years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. Mrs. Manning was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff after sentencing, and will receive credit for time served (197 days).

Manning pleaded guilty to the child abuse charge at a February hearing, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Thayer at that time. Other charges against the defendant that were not prosecuted included second degree rape, second and third degree sex offenses.

Manning To Serve 10 Years; Other Sex Cases Heard

Judge Fred A. Thayer of the Garrett County Circuit Court sentenced convicted child abuser Roberts Manning, 34, Oakland, on Thursday to ten years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. Mrs. Manning was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff after sentencing, and will receive credit for time served (197 days).

Manning pleaded guilty to the child abuse charge at a February hearing, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Thayer at that time. Other charges against the defendant that were not prosecuted included second degree rape, second

Gov. Schaefer To Visit New Germany Park

Governor William Donald Schaefer will launch a Western Maryland tourism promotional campaign Friday, May 31, with a bus tour through the region. He is scheduled to be in Garrett County at New Germany State Park between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. for a demonstration on adventure sports and outdoor recreation.

The theme of the promotional campaign, "Western Maryland -- More Than You Can Imagine," is designed to promote tourism destinations in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties. "All of the counties of Maryland are special," stated Governor Schaefer, adding, "But we are focusing on Western Maryland this summer since 1-88 will open in August, connecting the region by interstate to the rest of Maryland and to West Virginia for the first time in history."

The campaign is being coordinated by the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, and the

Daring Water Rescues Save Two Lives At New Germany, Savage State Parks

Two persons were rescued from separate water mishaps occurring over the holiday weekend. One rescue occurred at the Savage River Dam in Bloomington, where a man reportedly fell 50 feet from the top of the dam, while the other was performed by a Cumberland YMCA volunteer lifeguard at New Germany State Park.

A harrowing rescue of William Hess (age and home not available) occurred on Sunday evening at the Savage River State Park. According to Larry Maxim, manager of the park, the victim was standing on a log which had come down the river and was perched on the edge of the breastworks of the dam. Hess apparently slipped from the log, and fell 50 feet onto the concrete spillway.

Park Rangers Rick Lewis and Chuck Thomas responded to the accident, and attempted to contact both Garrett and Allegany Civil Defense, but because of the low-elevation location were unable to reach either. Thomas then repelled down the dam wall and reached the victim, whom he then ped into a Stokes litter, a cage-like stretcher used to protect the patient in an air-lift rescue. Ranger Lewis was finally able to contact more help by honing the Allegany Defense, and members of Bloomington and Savage fire departments as well as the Tri-Towns Resquad and Elk District divers responded to the ally pulled up the side of the dam, and the helicopter immediately flew him to the Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where he was originally listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit, and later upgraded to serious condition, which was his status as of this morning.

New Germany Rescuer Dante Shannon, 16, Baltimore, was swimming near the west beach of the New Germany lake on Saturday when he began to struggle approximately 40 yards out. Shannon Adams, a volunteer lifeguard from the Cumberland YMCA, acted quickly, according to Jim Rogers, park manager. Adams retrieved Shannon from the lake, and found him to be semi-conscious and breathing with difficulty.

Park Ranger Joe Stevens, assistant manager of the park, administered oxygen to the teenager until the

Trust Fund Begun For Swanton Youth Recently Injured

A trust fund has been established for Jimmy "Jimbo" Paugh, 16, Swanton, son of James and Joyce Paugh, who was critically injured last Thursday when he drove his four-wheeler into the path of a car on Md. Route 135, near Chestnut Grove Road.

Paugh was flown by Medevac to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted to the intensive care unit. A family spokesman told The Republican this week that "Jimbo" remains listed in "critical condition with possible brain damage."

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 28, Westernport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident. Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers'/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers'/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forests Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chainsaws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

Manning To Serve 10 Years; Other Sex Cases Heard

Judge Fred A. Thayer of the Garrett County Circuit Court sentenced convicted child abuser Roberta Manning, 34, Oakland, on Thursday to ten years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. Mrs. Manning was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff after sentencing, and will receive credit for time served (197 days).

Manning pleaded guilty to the child abuse charge at a February hearing, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Thayer at that time. Other charges against the defendant that were not prosecuted included second degree rape, second

SUMMER SENSATIONS 91

"Hammers And Strings" Will Entertain For GLAF July 13

Hammers and Strings is a local group comprised of eight -- and sometimes 10 -- performers, depending on the type of performance. They will be performing at the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival on July 13 at 8 p.m. at the Garrett Community College gymnasium with caller Bill Wellington. The audience will be invited to participate in the square dancing.

The group performs a variety of music to please nearly every taste, including concerts on special historical themes, gospel, old time fiddle and square dance tunes, ballads, and seasonal tunes. They use such instruments such as hammer and lap dulcimers, banjo, auto-harp, guitar, mandolin, stand-up bass, harmonica, washboard, limberjacks, and flute.

Hammers and Strings has entertained at local festivals including Mtn. Lake Park Days, Pike Festival, and Rocky Gap Festival. They have also performed at GCC, for travel groups at the Wisp, for churches, schools, and senior citizens. The group organized Old Time Music Festival held at New Germany State Park.

It is a diverse group of performers. Betty Mattingly, organizer, works for the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Tom Mattingly works for Manor Home Center and Richard Hill is an artist and a printer. Tom Tressler is a businessman and Ellis and Hollis Wilt are retired and make crafts. Patty Looman is a retired drama teacher who spends most of her time teaching dulcimers and researching the history of music. Cara Shaffer is a student and Mary Reisinger teaches computers.

The group has recorded one tape and is planning another. They all agree that they enjoy getting together and playing for the love of music. They delight in bringing back some of the old songs that have been forgotten or never heard of by young people.

Many people have become interested in the lap or mountain dulcimer and currently classes are being given for the instrument.

Mattingly stated, "We have been playing together now for about four years. Originally, we did not plan to form a group -- it just happened."

Gov. Schaefer To Visit New Germany Park

Governor William Donald Schaefer will launch a Western Maryland tourism promotional campaign Friday, May 31, with a bus tour through the region. He is scheduled to be in Garrett County at New Germany State Park between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. for a demonstration on adventure sports and outdoor recreation.

The theme of the promotional campaign, "Western Maryland -- More Than You Can Imagine," is designed to promote tourism destinations in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties. "All of the counties of Maryland are special," stated Governor Schaefer, adding, "But we are focusing on Western Maryland this summer since 1-88 will open in August, connecting the region by interstate to the rest of Maryland and to West Virginia for the first time in history."

The campaign is being coordinated by the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, and the

Daring Water Rescues Save Two Lives At New Germany, Savage State Parks

Two persons were rescued from separate water mishaps occurring over the holiday weekend. One rescue occurred at the Savage River Dam in Bloomington, where a man reportedly fell 50 feet from the top of the dam, while the other was performed by a Cumberland YMCA volunteer lifeguard at New Germany State Park.

A harrowing rescue of William Hess (age and home not available) occurred on Sunday evening at the Savage River State Park. According to Larry Maxim, manager of the park, the victim was standing on a log which had come down the river and was perched on the edge of the breastworks of the dam. Hess apparently slipped from the log, and fell 50 feet onto the concrete spillway.

Park Rangers Rick Lewis and Chuck Thomas responded to the accident, and attempted to contact both Garrett and Allegany Civil Defense, but because of the low-elevation location were unable to reach either. Thomas then repelled down the dam wall and reached the victim, whom he then roped into a Stokes litter, which is a cage-like stretcher designed to protect the patient in an air-lift rescue. Ranger Lewis was finally able to contact more help by honing the Allegany Defense, and members of the Bloomington and Savage River fire departments as well as the Tri-Towns Resquad and Elk District divers responded to the scene.

A MEDEVAC helicopter arrived, but because of extreme slopes on both sides of the dam, the aircraft was unable to hook onto the litter to lift Hess out. The patient was then manually

Dante Shannon, 16, Baltimore, was swimming near the west beach of the New Germany lake on Saturday when he began to struggle approximately 40 yards out. Shannon Adams, a volunteer lifeguard from the Cumberland YMCA, acted quickly, according to Jim Rogers, park manager. Adams retrieved Shannon from the lake, and found him to be semi-conscious and breathing with difficulty.

Park Ranger Joe Stevens, assistant manager of the park, administered oxygen to the teenager until the

Trust Fund Begun For Swanton Youth Recently Injured

A trust fund has been established for Jimmy "Jimbo" Paugh, 16, Swanton, son of James and Joyce Paugh, who was critically injured last Thursday when he drove his four-wheeler into the path of a car on Md. Route 135, near Chestnut Grove Road.

Paugh was flown by Medevac to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted to the intensive care unit. A family spokesman told The Republican this week that "Jimbo" remains listed in "critical condition with possible brain damage."

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 28, Westernport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident.

Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers'/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers'/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forestry Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chainsaws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse-logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

Bill Wellington To Present Folklore Via Music, Stories

Master musician, storyteller, dance leader and performer, Bill Wellington, is a virtual ambassador of folklore, and has charmed thousands with his creative and original presentations, one of which will take place on the stage at Garrett Community College, Friday, July 12, at 8 p.m., as part of the Heritage Weekend Events of this summer's Garrett Lakes Arts Festival.

"I believe folklore is something parents and children can share on equal ground," said Wellington in a recent interview. "Children actually live in a world of folklore. Their jump rope rhymes, ghost stories, playground games, riddles and songs about school are all part of a great oral tradition that their parents shared when they were young. Each family, in turn, has its share of legends and anecdotes that can be called their own folklore. By drawing on these sources and including folklore from the wide world over, I seek to celebrate through song and story the wonderful way traditions have enlivened."

people for centuries."

Bill Wellington's engaging narratives capture audiences as he intertwines tunes with tales in this presentation of traditional folk music. The music of Appalachia, New England and Ireland is performed on the flute, fiddle, banjo and guitar. Bill's stories illustrate the resourcefulness and humor of the American character.

Wellington moved to the mountains of West Virginia in the mid 1970's to follow an uncontrollable interest in fiddle and banjo music. There he was welcomed by the older musicians who had seen the decline of community interest in old-time music, who taught Bill not only the tunes but the spirit of the music, as well. Soon he found himself taking the music and spirit into local schools as artist-in-residence in many West Virginia communities. Along the way, Bill was named "Old Time Banjo Champion of West Virginia," in 1987.

While in the mountains, Bill became impressed with the power and importance of storytelling. He soon began to tell many of the "Jack Tales" and expanded his repertoire to include stories from cultures the world over. He now combines his talents as a musician, storyteller and enthusiastic humorist to create unique and unforgettable performances.

It was while working in a school in early 1990 that Bill hit upon a brand new way to bring folklore alive: through the school intercom system. This led to the creation of Radio WOOF, which was first the title of his morning intercom show and, more recently, the title of a cassette of songs, tales and tunes especially for children and their families. This recent release has been named to the American Library Association's highly selective list of 1991 Notable Children's Recordings.

Gov. Schaefer To Visit New Germany Park

Governor William Donald Schaefer will launch a Western Maryland tourism promotional campaign Friday, May 31, with a bus tour through the region. He is scheduled to be in Garrett County at New Germany State Park between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. for a demonstration on adventure sports and outdoor recreation.

The theme of the promotional campaign, "Western Maryland -- More Than You Can Imagine," is designed to promote tourism destinations in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties. "All of the counties of Maryland are special," stated Governor Schaefer, adding, "But we are focusing on Western Maryland this summer since 1-88 will open in August, connecting the region by interstate to the rest of Maryland and to West Virginia for the first time in history."

The campaign is being coordinated by the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, and the

Daring Water Rescues Save Two Lives At New Germany, Savage State Parks

Two persons were rescued from separate water mishaps occurring over the holiday weekend. One rescue occurred at the Savage River Dam in Bloomington, where a man reportedly fell 50 feet from the top of the dam, while the other was performed by a Cumberland YMCA volunteer lifeguard at New Germany State Park.

A harrowing rescue of William Hess (age and home not available) occurred on Sunday evening at the Savage River State Park. According to Larry Maxim, manager of the park, the victim was standing on a log which had come down the river and was perched on the edge of the breastworks of the dam. Hess apparently slipped from the log, and fell 50 feet onto the concrete spillway.

Park Rangers Rick Lewis and Chuck Thomas responded to the accident, and attempted to contact both Garrett and Allegany Civil Defense, but because of the low-elevation location were unable to reach either. Thomas then repelled down the dam wall and reached the victim, whom he then hoisted into a Stokes litter, which is a cage-like stretcher designed to protect the patient in an air-lift rescue. Ranger Lewis was finally able to contact more help by honing the Allegany Defense, and members of the Bloomington and Mac fire departments as well as the Tri-Towns Rescue Squad and Elk District Divers responded to the rescue. The MEDEVAC helicopter arrived, but because of the extreme slopes on both sides of the dam, the aircraft was unable to hook onto the victim. The victim was then manually hoisted by a rope.

Youth Rescued Into Workshop

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 23, Westernport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident.

Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers'/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers'/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forestry Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chainsaws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

RAFTING ON THE "UPPER YOUGH" -- Garrett County offers some of the finest whitewater rafting in the eastern United States on the challenging Youghiogheny River, or "Upper Yough." The river drops an average of 1 1/2 feet per mile through an untouched wilderness canyon, for a memorable and exciting rafting experience. The intoxicating trip will give even the most seasoned rafter a tremor of delight as the raft winds its way through huge boulders, for a day to recall for years to come. Several rafting companies offer safe, guided trips down the "Upper Yough." For more information on rafting trips in Garrett County, contact the Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council. Photo courtesy of Precision Rafting, Friendsville.

RIISING STAR of country music, Nancy Wiles, Frederick, will be performing at the Garrett County Fair on Thursday, August 15, at 8 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Wiles is one of those rare country artists who has the ability to bridge the gap between country and city with her songs. She has long been regarded as one of the premier club singers in her tri-state area. Wiles studied music education and music theory at Montgomery College where she was also involved in theatre work. Most recently, she played an extra in the HBO movie, Sweet Dreams, about the country legend Patsy Cline, starring Jessica Lange. Wiles delivers an exciting vocal performance with a variety of musical styles. She plays keyboard bass as well as piano and organ. Her albums include Nashville Jukebox and Tribute to Patsy Cline.

Manning To Serve 10 Years; Other Sex Cases Heard

Judge Fred A. Thayer of the Garrett County Circuit Court sentenced convicted child abuser Roberta Manning, 34, Oakland, on Thursday to ten years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. Mrs. Manning was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff after sentencing, and will receive credit for time served (197 days).

Manning pleaded guilty to the child abuse charge at a February hearing, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Thayer at that time. Other charges against the defendant that were not prosecuted included second degree rape, second

BEST OF THE WEST TRIATHLON

AUGUST 24, 1991

The "Best of the West" Triathlon (Tri-Fed sanctioned) now in its fourth year will once again be held in Oakland, Maryland with 325 racers from all over the Mid-Atlantic States. Distances for this race include a .4 mile swim, a 16 mile bike, and a 4 mile run. "This event, held each year in Western Maryland is an excellent race for both the beginner and the experienced racer," said Steve Prosser, who is this year's race director. "The beauty and coolness of Western Maryland in August, mingled with the resort community of Oakland and Deep Creek Lake, have consistently drawn a full complement of racers." For information, call 895-3315. Sponsored by the Garrett Sports League, Wisp Resort Hotel, and the Greater Oakland Business Association.

In addition to the race on Saturday, the Best of the West Youth Triathlon (Tri-Fed sanctioned) is held on the very next day at the Wisp Resort. This race is modified to accept children from 7-14 years old. The 7-10 year olds negotiate a 80-yard swim, a 2-mile bike, and a 1/2-mile swim. The 11-14 year olds negotiate a 120-yard swim, a 2-mile bike, and a 1/2-mile run. "The idea for a youth triathlon is fun," explained Nancy Railey, co-producer of the event. "We want to show kids the enjoyment of a multi-discipline event. Although it is important that the kids practice and work up to the challenge, it is more important for the parents to remind themselves that it is not how fast or hard the children go. The important thing is that the kids are working to complete a physical challenge."

Trust Fund Begun For Swanton Youth Recently Injured

A trust fund has been established for Jimmy "Jimbo" Paugh, 16, Swanton, son of James and Joyce Paugh, who was critically injured last Thursday when he drove his four-wheeler into the path of a car on Md. Route 135, near Chestnut Grove Road.

Paugh was flown by Medevac to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted to the intensive care unit. A family spokesman told The Republican this week that "Jimbo" remains listed in "critical condition with possible brain damage."

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 23, Westernport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident.

Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers'/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers'/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forests Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chainsaws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

GRANTSVILLE DAYS IS FAST BECOMING A GARRETT COUNTY TRADITION -- Now in its 14th year, the annual Grantsville Days Celebration offers a three-day family weekend, June 28, 29 and 30 at the Grantsville Town Park, and the whole thing begins with a Fireman's Parade, followed by fireworks and entertainment at the park. Featured at the event will be bluegrass music, games, talent shows, vesper services and locally-prepared food, as well as horse- and tractor-pulling contests.

THE SEA CHANTERS, the dynamic chorus of the United States Navy Band in Washington, D.C., will present a free concert to kick off the 1991 season of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. The program will be held Sunday, June 23, on the lawn of Garrett Community College, beginning at 7 p.m. The performance is being sponsored by the Mountaintop Chamber of Commerce for the Arts Festival. The 18-voice chorus is directed by Master Chief Musician Ronald M. Chiles, pictured at right.

U.S. Navy "Sea Chanters" To Kick Off GLAF Season

The Sea Chanters, the dynamic chorus of the United States Navy Band in Washington, D.C., that performs a variety of music ranging from traditional sea chanteys to Broadway musicals, will kick off the 1991 summer season of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival with a free concert on Sunday, June 23, on the lawn at Garrett Community College, McHenry.

Organized in 1956 as an all-male chorus specializing primarily in songs of the sea, the group was named by Adm. Arleigh Burke, then Chief of Naval Operations. Later, female voices were added and the chorus' repertoire expanded.

Today, the group also features the "Fair Winds" vocal quartet which performs madrigals, musical excerpts, and pop and jazz favorites.

Master Chief Musician Ronald M. Chiles of Osceola, Ark., is the chorus' director and is piano accompanist for both the chorus and quartet.

The Sea Chanters have appeared throughout the United States, and perform frequently at the White House, the Vice President's house, and for Washington dignitaries. The 18-voice chorus performed at the Kennedy Center Honors for Bob Hope in 1986, and appeared with the Boston Pops Esplanade Orchestra on the ABC television network during Liberty Weekend festivities in New York City.

In 1987, the chorus sang the "Challenger" Astronauts Memorial Service in Ft. Myer, Va., and performed on the U.S.S. Constitution in Boston, Mass. for the Constitution Bicentennial Celebration. The group recently appeared on the nationally televised NBC special "From The Heart," which also featured Crystal Gayle, Lauren Bacall, and Gary Morris.

Manning To Serve 10 Years; Other Sex Cases Heard

Judge Fred A. Thayer of the Garrett County Circuit Court sentenced convicted child abuser Roberta Manning, 34, Oakland, on Thursday to ten years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. Mrs. Manning was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff after sentencing, and will receive credit for time served (197 days).

Manning pleaded guilty to the child abuse charge at a February hearing, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Thayer at that time. Other charges against the defendant that were not prosecuted included second degree rape, second

Extension Services Offers Outdoor Food Safety Tips

It's summertime and the living is easy -- for you and all the bacteria that can ruin that long-awaited picnic or softball game. "Summer weather is ideal for microbial growth," says Dr. Mark Kantor, a nutrition and food safety specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service University of Maryland System. "Harmful bacteria multiply very quickly in temperatures between 60 and 125 degrees F. So it's extremely important to handle and store food properly when going on a warm-weather outing."

Kantor offers the following advice to help you avoid foodborne illness when having fun in the sun:

*Slow the growth of bacteria by keeping perishable food in a well-insulated ice chest or cooler packed with ice or a freeze-pack insert. Cold or frozen drinks also can help keep other items cool.

*Transport the ice chest in the passenger area of your car; it's much cooler than the trunk.

And when you reach your destination, place the cooler in the shade and keep the lid on as much as possible.

*Wash your hands before preparing any food, and after handling raw meat or poultry. If you don't have access to a restroom, you can use moist hand wipes to keep your hands clean.

*When cooking meat, fish or poultry on a grill, be sure to cook it thoroughly -- until the fish flakes, there is no red in the joints of the chicken, and the pink is gone in beef or pork. This will kill any harmful bacteria, like salmonella or campylobacter.

*Use a clean plate and utensils for handling cooked meat to avoid cross-contamination (transferring bacteria from raw meat to cooked meat).

*Put perishable leftovers back in the cooler as soon as you finish eating. If you are away from home no more than four or five hours, and your perishables were kept on ice except when being cooked and served, you should be able to save the leftovers for later consumption.

For answers to food safety questions, call your local Cooperative Extension Service office. Phone numbers are included in county (and Baltimore City) listings in the blue pages of the telephone directory.

You also can call the toll-free Meat and Poultry Hotline operated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The number is 1-800-535-4555. If you live in the Washington, D.C., area, call (202) 447-3333. Hotline operators are on duty from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Eastern Time, Monday through Friday.

CISSIE LYNN, DAUGHTER OF LORETTA LYNN, will be a special guest at this year's Garrett County Agricultural Fair. The country singer and her band, The Coalbusters, will perform twice on Wednesday, August 14, at 8 and 9:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds. Touring with her mother for several years, Cissie has made quite a name for herself by appearing at Harrah's both in Lake Tahoe and Reno, the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., and a U.S.O. tour to Germany and Egypt in 1985. Ms. Lynn has gained national recognition for her performance on the Loretta Lynn Christmas Television Special, as well as on the Loretta Lynn Live album, which was recorded at Wheeling, W.Va. She is also seen regularly on Crisco commercials. Cissie has her own style of country music, and believes that good country music is entertainment for the whole family. She recently released a single entitled "Letter To Loretta." Cissie Lynn is one of several very special guests scheduled to appear at the fair.

Classical guitarist James Ferla, a founding member of Dear Friends, has performed solo and ensemble concerts throughout the United States and South America. He teaches at the University of Pittsburgh and in the Extension Division of Carnegie-Mellon. His interest in 19th-century American guitar music has led to lecture-recitals and published articles.

Gov. Schaefer To Visit New Germany Park

Governor William Donald Schaefer will launch a Western Maryland tourism promotional campaign Friday, May 31, with a bus tour through the region. He is scheduled to be in Garrett County at New Germany State Park between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. for a demonstration on adventure sports and outdoor recreation.

The theme of the promotional campaign, "Western Maryland -- More Than You Can Imagine," is designed to promote tourism destinations in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties. "All of the counties of Maryland are special," stated Governor Schaefer, adding, "But we are focusing on Western Maryland this summer since I-68 will open in August, connecting the region by interstate to the rest of Maryland and to West Virginia for the first time in history."

The campaign is being coordinated by the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development.

Daring Water Rescues Save Two Lives At New Germany, Savage State Parks

Two persons were rescued from separate water mishaps occurring over the holiday weekend. One rescue occurred at the Savage River Dam in Bloomington, where a man reportedly fell 50 feet from the top of the dam, while the other was performed by a Cumberland YMCA volunteer lifeguard at New Germany State Park.

A harrowing rescue of William Hess (age and home not available) occurred on Sunday evening at the Savage River State Park. According to Larry Maxim, manager of the park, the victim was standing on a log which had come down the river and was perched on the edge of the breastworks of the dam. Hess apparently slipped from the log, and fell 50 feet onto the concrete spillway.

Park Rangers Rick Lewis and Chuck Thomas responded to the accident, and attempted to contact both Garrett and Allegany Civil Defense, but because of the low-elevation location were unable to reach either. Thomas then repelled down the dam wall and reached the victim, whom he then pped into a Stokes litter, which is a cage-like stretcher designed to protect the patient in an air-lift rescue.

Ranger Lewis was finally able to contact more help by phoning the Allegany Civil Defense, and members of the Bloomington and Macomb fire departments as well as the Tri-Towns Res Squad and Elk District divers responded to the scene.

The MEDEVAC helicopter arrived, but because of extreme slopes on both sides of the dam, the aircraft was unable to hook onto the litter to lift Hess out. The patient was then manually

"It's a real page-turner," she said, adding that this young "really knows how to tell a

New Germany Rescue
Dante Shannon, 16, Baltimore, was swimming near the west beach of the New Germany lake on Saturday when he began to struggle approximately 40 yards out. Shannon Adams, a volunteer lifeguard from the Cumberland YMCA, acted quickly, according to Jim Rogers, park manager. Adams retrieved Shannon from the lake, and found him to be semi-conscious and breathing with difficulty.

Park Ranger Joe Stevens, assistant manager of the park, administered oxygen to the teenager until the

Trust Fund Begun For Swanton Youth Recently Injured

A trust fund has been established for Jimmy "Jimbo" Paugh, 16, Swanton, son of James and Joyce Paugh, who was critically injured last Thursday when he drove his four-wheeler into the path of a car on Md. Route 135, near Chestnut Grove Road.

Paugh was flown by Medevac to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted to the intensive care unit. A family spokesman told The Republican this week that "Jimbo" remains listed in "critical condition with possible brain damage."

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 28, Westernport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident.

Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers'/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers'/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forestry Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chain saws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

GCC's 20th Anniversary Events Slated

As Garrett Community College (GCC) heads toward its 20th birthday in September, plans are underway to mark the anniversary with a year-long series of special events.

The anniversary celebration will kick-off with an evening reception to be held September 14 at the college, followed by a formal dance sponsored by the GCC Alumni Association at Silver Tree Inn.

Each month, a special event will be planned and carried out by faculty and staff representing a particular discipline at the college. Most of these activities will be open to the community.

Special activities commemorating the anniversary are being planned for Garrett County Fair week and for Autumn Glory week.

THE INDIAN STANDS FREE AND UNCONSTRAINED IN NATURE -- So says Henry David Thoreau, and the ninth annual American Indian Intertribal Cultural Organization Pow Wow will be a testament to that statement, as Indian tribes from throughout the United States convene, once again, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. The gathering, featuring tribal dancing, singing and demonstrations by native American artists and craftspeople, will be held July 5-7, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily. Admission is $4 for adults, and free to children under the age of 12.

In November, a 2010 Convention has been scheduled, at which time participants will plan and dream about what GCC might become in another twenty years," according to Joan B. Crawford

Trust Fund Begun For Swanton Youth Recently Injured

A trust fund has been established for Jimmy "Jimbo" Paugh, 16, Swanton, son of James and Joya Paugh, who was critically injured last Thursday when he drove his four-wheeler into the path of a car on Md. Route 135, near Chestnut Grove Road.

Paugh was flown by Medevac to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted to the intensive care unit. A family spokesman told The Republican this week that "Jimbo" remains listed in "critical condition with possible brain damage."

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 23, Westernport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident.

Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forests Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chainsaws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse-logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

Manning To Serve 10 Years; Other Sex Cases Heard

Judge Fred A. Thayer of the Garrett County Circuit Court sentenced convicted child abuser Roberta Manning, 34, Oakland, on Thursday to ten years in the Maryland Department of Corrections. Mrs. Manning was remanded to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff after sentencing, and will receive credit for time served (197 days).

Manning pleaded guilty to the child abuse charge at a February hearing, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Thayer at that time. Other charges against the defendant that were not prosecuted included second degree rape, second and third degree sex offense, and unnatural and perverted sex practice.

The charges stemmed from incidents involving a 13-year-old male, which occurred during the months of January through October of 1990.

Defense attorney for the defendant was John R. Toston.

Donald W. Manning Sr., 37, Oakland, husband of Roberta Manning, pleaded guilty to a child abuse charge during the Thursday proceedings. The plea was accepted by Thayer, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Other counts against this defendant include second and

GLAF Gala Committee Women Explain Why They Volunteer

For the past five years, a Renaissance of the performing arts has been occurring in Garrett County. Residents are re-discovering the pleasure of theater, orchestra, and ballet in a local setting much as their forbearers did in the heyday of the thriving Mountain Lake Park at the turn of the century.

Much credit for the growing success of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival is due to three local women who are orchestrating this year's Festival Gala which will be held Saturday night, June 22, at Wisp Resort's McHenry House. Deep Creek Lake neighbors Diane Thayer and Ferne Belmonte agreed five years ago that a benefit to raise additional funding for the Festival was a must and enlisted the help of their good friend, Ann Englander, Oakland. Single Handedly, with little more than their enthusiasm, talents, and the blessings of GLAF founders, the three pioneers recruited friends to help stage the first benefit. From a variety show, the fund-raiser has evolved over the years into an annual dinner and art auction.

Why do these three women devote so much of their time each year to the benefit? From mid-winter until the party is held in late June, they volunteer countless hours planning the event. The three co-chairs coordinate the work of the GLAF Benefit Committee which includes Pam Holloway, Charity Janssen, Ginny Moran, Nancy Nemith, Eleanor Plachta, Cindy Stacy, and Jenianne Stitt.

As a GLAF volunteer and as a former chairman of the Performances and Program Committee, Diane Thayer knows firsthand the community support the Festival requires to meet its demanding agenda. "I do it because GLAF brings live, quality performances to Garrett County and our lives, I believe, are enriched by exposure to music, theater, and dance." The transplanted Canadian notes that there is "economic value" to the local tourism industry in providing cultural as well as outdoor recreational activities for visitors to the county.

PARADES AND SOLOMN CEREMONIES were employed once again throughout Garrett County over the Memorial Day weekend to honor and remember veterans of all wars. Above, a color guard from Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, Oakland, leads Monday's procession in downtown Oakland.

Among the parade participants was Richard Maroney, pictured below, who is one of Garrett County's few living veterans of World War I. Similar events were held in Accident, Grantsville, and other local communities.

Holiday Travelers Flock To County During Memorial Day Weekend

Garrett County seemed to thrive this past Memorial Day weekend with holiday travelers in search of mountain scenery, cool weather, and relaxation.

The Information Booth located along U.S. Route 219 at Deep Creek Lake, opened for the season on Friday, May 24. From Friday through the Monday of the Memorial Day weekend, the staff greeted 506 travelers who stopped at the booth seeking information about accommodations, restaurants, recreation, and historical sites in Garrett County. These numbers represent a 44% increase in travelers over the 1990 Memorial Day weekend. The booth is staffed by William Stemple, Mtn. Lake Park, and Harry Dunkin, Oakland.

The Youghiogheny Overlook Information Center along U.S. Route 48 three miles east of Friendsville was visited by 1,943 travelers over the Memorial Day weekend, representing a 10% increase over the 1990 Memorial Day weekend. These visitors were seeking information about the State of Maryland as well as Garrett County. This center is staffed by Supervisor Robin Smith, Oakland, Hazel Klotz, Grantsville, and Lee Tackett and Joan Dixon, Friendsville.

While the Information Center on Route 48 is open year-round, the Information Booth on Route 219 on the shore of Deep Creek Lake is open Memorial Day through Labor Day weekend. Both are open seven days a week and are managed by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council.

Recycling Bins Now In Place At Two Sites

The Garrett County Commissioners this week announced that two of the seven compartmentalized recycling containers have now been moved into place and are ready for use at two of the county's dumpster sites -- one at the Weber's location, about one mile south of Oakland on Rt. 219, and the other at the Bumble Bee Road location, between McHenry and Accident.

According to Garrett County Commissioner Brenda J. Butcher, the other containers are expected to be in place within two to three weeks, or as soon as Perry's Solid Waste Disposal, the contractor supplying the bins, accepts delivery of them.

A total of seven containers will be placed throughout the county, at the six dumpster sites, with one container to be used as a rotational one.

The 28-cubic yard, roll-off containers consist of five separate compartments for six different recyclable materials. Those materials are aluminum and steel cans, clear, green and brown glass, and newspaper. Each door to the container will be labeled with the name of the recyclable item to be placed there.

According to Lee Thorne, coordinator of the county recycling program, participants in the program are being asked to perform the certain functions in order to limit the contamination of the recyclables and to "ensure a good, marketable product."

Rabies Clinics Set June 3-7 By Health Dept.

Dr. Rex Archer II, Garrett County health officer, announced the second series of low-cost rabies clinics for the vaccination of cats and dogs beginning Monday, June 3, and concluding Friday, June 7. Area residents are encouraged to check the following schedule for exact times and locations of the clinics in their area: Longstretch, Route 40 School, Monday, June 3, 5-6 p.m.; Crellin Elementary School, Tuesday, June 4, 5-6 p.m.; McHenry, Garrett Community College Maintenance Bay, Wednesday, June 5, 5-6 p.m.; Deer Park Fire Hall, Thursday, June 6, 5-6 p.m.; Bittering Fire Hall, Friday, June 7, 5-6 p.m.

Cost of the vaccination is $4 per animal at the clinics. Dogs should be brought to the clinics on a leash and under the control of a responsible individual. Cats should be brought to the clinics in a wire cage or tightly secured box with air holes.

According to Dr. Archer, the vaccination of dogs and cats is one of the most critical measures which can be taken by pet owners in protecting their families and themselves from possible exposure to the rabies virus. "As the number of reported cases of wildlife rabies in Garrett County increase, the vaccination of pets becomes even more important," he said.

As of May 24, 1991, the

Gov. Schaefer To Visit New Germany Park

Governor William Donald Schaefer will launch a Western Maryland tourism promotional campaign Friday, May 31, with a bus tour through the region. He is scheduled to be in Garrett County at New Germany State Park between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m. for a demonstration on adventure sports and outdoor recreation.

The theme of the promotional campaign, "Western Maryland -- More Than You Can Imagine," is designed to promote tourism destinations in Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick Counties. "All of the counties of Maryland are special," stated Governor Schaefer, adding, "But we are focusing on Western Maryland this summer since I-68 will open in August, connecting the region by interstate to the rest of Maryland and to West Virginia for the first time in history."

The campaign is being coordinated by the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, and the Maryland Department of Transportation. The campaign also involves cooperative efforts by a number of other state agencies, including the Department of Natural Resources, the Department of Agriculture, the "Maryland, You Are Beautiful" program and the Mass Transit Administration.

The promotion includes print advertising highlighting tourist attractions in the four counties, television ads featuring the governor in Western Maryland, a specially designed road map, and a guide to agricultural attraction and outdoor adventure sports in the region.

Local Student Accepted Into Warner Bros. Writers Workshop

Fred Holliday, a junior at Frostburg State University, has been accepted into Warner Bros. highly competitive Writers' Workshop to be held May 29 through June 1, in Baltimore. Holliday, the son of Fred and Joan Holliday, Grantsville, was invited to participate after having submitted two original teleplays to a Warner Bros. open call for scripts in March 1991. Holliday wrote these scripts for FSU's Writing for Television classes, taught by English professor Dr. Betty Favre.

Holliday is one of ten people selected from more than 200 who applied for this prestigious workshop. As a participant, he will receive intensive training from writers and producers of such notable television hit series as Cagney and Lacey, Fresh Prince of Bel Air, and Marphy Brown.

Participation in the Warner Bros. workshop represents the second major phase in Holliday's training to become a staff writer for primetime entertainment television. He began the first phase this year at FSU where he studied under Dr. Favre, who established the connection with Warner Bros.

Daring Water Rescues Save Two Lives At New Germany, Savage State Parks

Two persons were rescued from separate water mishaps occurring over the holiday weekend. One rescue occurred at the Savage River Dam in Bloomington, where a man reportedly fell 50 feet from the top of the dam, while the other was performed by a Cumberland YMCA volunteer lifeguard at New Germany State Park.

A harrowing rescue of William Hess (age and home not available) occurred on Sunday evening at the Savage River State Park. According to Larry Maxim, manager of the park, the victim was standing on a log which had come down the river and was perched on the edge of the breastworks of the dam. Hess apparently slipped from the log, and fell 50 feet onto the concrete spillway.

Park Rangers Rick Lewis and Chuck Thomas responded to the accident, and attempted to contact both Garrett and Allegany Civil Defense, but because of the low-elevation location were unable to reach either. Thomas then repelled down the dam wall and reached the victim, whom he then strapped into a Stokes litter, which is a cage-like stretcher designed to protect the patient in an air-lift rescue.

Ranger Lewis was finally able to contact more help by telephoning the Allegany Civil Defense, and members of the Bloomington and Potomac fire departments as well as the Tri-Towns Rescue Squad and Elk District scuba divers responded to the scene.

The MEDEVAC helicopter also arrived, but because of the extreme slopes on both sides of the dam, the aircraft was unable to hook onto the Stokes litter to lift Hess out. The patient was then manually pulled up the side of the dam, and the helicopter immediately flew him to the Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where he was originally listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit, and later upgraded to serious condition, which was his status as of this morning.

New Germany Rescue Dante Shannon, 18, Baltimore, was swimming near the west beach of the New Germany lake on Saturday when he began to struggle approximately 40 yards out. Shannon Adams, a volunteer lifeguard from the Cumberland YMCA, acted quickly, according to Jim Rogers, park manager. Adams retrieved Shannon from the lake, and found him to be semi-conscious and breathing with difficulty.

Trust Fund Begun For Swanton Youth Recently Injured

A trust fund has been established for Jimmy "Jimbo" Paugh, 16, Swanton, son of James and Joyce Paugh, who was critically injured last Thursday when he drove his four-wheeler into the path of a car on Md. Route 135, near Chestnut Grove Road.

Paugh was flown by Medevac to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted to the intensive care unit. A family spokesman told The Republican this week that "Jimbo" remains listed in "critical condition with possible brain damage."

The youth was injured when he drove his four-wheeler from private property onto the roadway and collided with a car operated by Glenn Kimble, 28, Westernport. Upon impact, the youth was ejected from the vehicle onto the windshield and over the top of the Kimble vehicle.

The Maryland State Police reportedly investigated the accident.

Persons wishing to donate to the trust fund for the Paugh youth, whose injuries are not covered by insurance, may direct contributions to the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington.

Loggers/Forestry Field Day Set For June 14-15

The second annual Western Maryland Loggers/Forestry Field Day will be held Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds, on Rt. 219, in McHenry.

Show hours will be from noon - 8 p.m. on Friday, and from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Maryland Forests Association.

Last year, more than thirty forestry industry suppliers displayed and demonstrated the latest in trucks, skidders, loaders, chainsaws, and forestry related equipment. In addition to the equipment displays, there will be demonstrations and exhibits for the entire family. Music, food and educational displays will also be featured both days.

Among the many events will be a chainsaw safety and maintenance workshop. The Maryland Department of Transportation will demonstrate its inspection programs and answer questions pertaining to truck safety inspections. Professional and technical experts will be on hand to answer questions from landowners and sportsmen on such topics as reforestation, wildlife, hunting, and soils.

Special attractions include a chainsaw competition for professional loggers, horse logging demonstrations, antique equipment displays, and Maryland hunting and trapping tips, as well as fisheries exhibits.

WIN MEDALS IN STATE MEET - Two Garrett County athletes brought distinction to their county and respective high schools Saturday as they each won two medals in the Maryland State Track and Field Championships, held at Waldam Maryland College. Khyria Browning, a senior at Southern High School, won a silver medal in the 100-meter hurdles and a bronze medal in the 300-meter hurdles in the Class 2A girls' competition. Jarry Buckal, of Northern High School, captured the silver medal in the 3,200-meter run and the bronze in the 800-meter run in boys' Class 1A competition. Also winning medals were Northern's Rabacca Fritz, a bronze in the high jump, and Mike Fika, also of Northern, who won the silver medal in the shot put. See story.

Sheriff's Office Arrests Noted

The members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office logged several arrests this week on charges including battery, disturbing the peace, driving while intoxicated (DWI), and falsifying a theft report.

Charles W. Bow, 22, Mt. Storm, W. Va., was arrested on the charge of battery and telephone misuse and harassment. The warrant was served to the defendant on Monday.

Donald R. Shifflett, 27, Swanton, was arrested for battery on Sunday. He reportedly hit and kicked the victim, who later pressed the charges.

Milton D. Holland Jr., 27, Terra Alta, W. Va., was arrested on the strength of a warrant for one count of battery. Holland apparently struck the victim with his fist on May 17. The defendant was arrested on May 21.

Two women were arrested early in the week for disturbing the peace, according to a press release. Teresa L. Welch, 25, and Linda L. Welch, 19, Kitzmiller, were cited after sheriff deputies responded to a loud party complaint in Kitzmiller Sunday at midnight.

Both women were later released.

Dana R. Humberson, 27, Friendsville, was arrested on May 22 and charged with DWI. According to the report, Dep. J. Murphy observed Humberson operating a motorcycle without proper eye protection, and directed him to pull off the road. The defendant sped up instead, apparently attempting to elude the officer.

Murphy then succeeded in stopping the driver and charged him with DWI, speeding, and attempting to elude a police officer. The arrest took place on Rt. 42 near Blooming Rose Road at 8:45 p.m.

RED CROSS DINNER A SUCCESS - A large number of local residents recently attended a special dinner at Deer Park Inn to benefit the Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Some 120 tickets were sold and over $800 was raised for the chapter. Serving as waitresses and bus boys for the event were local Red Cross volunteers. Taking an order in the above photo is Cindy Kutchman, chapter executive. Other volunteers pictured below are, in the second row, same order, are Debbie Frantz, Norma Hasen, board chairman; and Ms. Kutchman. In the third row are Barb Speicher, Rose Baker, and Donna Haginbotham, dinner chairman. In the back row are Artie Dixon, Lucy Burnett, Ralph Burnett, and Connie Beachy.

James M. Thomas, 22, Oakland, was charged with falsifying a theft report after he told police that some one had stolen the wheels and tires from his truck on May 22.

Upon investigation, Cpl. R. Sines determined that the report was untrue, and that the defendant had made the report apparently to claim the insurance coverage.

In other Sheriff's Office news, a body attachment order was issued for Richard M. Resh, 35, Grantsville. Resh was issued the attachment for failing to appear in district court on May 21. He was arrested on May 25.

Edward Friend, 30, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a warrant for failure to appear in circuit court on May 23. Friend was to attend a hearing concerning child support, according to the police record. He was served with the warrant on May 24.

A body attachment order was issued from circuit court for James E. Edgel, 30, Mtn. Lake Park, for failing to appear in court in April. Edgel was to be present at a child support case hearing at that time. He was served with the attachment on May 24.

Anthony D. Hinebaugh, 37, Deer Park, was arrested on the strength of a warrant for violation of an ex parte order. The warrant was served on May 21.

Theft, DOP
Two persons reported stolen and/or damaged property to the Sheriff's Office this week.

Wendell B. Nix, Springfield, Va., told police officers that an unknown person or persons entered his secondary residence on Pergin Farm Road and removed a Craftsman radial arm saw and cabinet. Extra blades were stolen as well.

The total loss in the theft has been estimated at $300. There was no sign of forced entry, according to the report.

In a separate case, Tammy J. Helms, Oakland, reported that someone shattered the passenger side window of her 1988 Ford Escort. The car was parked in her driveway on the night of May 18, and in the morning, Ms. Helms noticed that the window, which was facing her house, had been broken.

The cost to repair the window has been estimated at $150. Investigations are continuing in these cases.

Rabies Clinics

Environmental Health Services section of the Health Department has documented five positive cases of rabies in Garrett County raccoons. While there were 15 positive cases as of this date in 1990, the total thus far is one case short of the total positive cases for 1989.

Because of the wide geographical distribution of rabies seen thus far in 1991, no dog or cat being kept in Garrett County can be considered safe from exposure to the disease, Dr. Archer said. The fifth positive rabies case involved a raccoon from Main Street in Grantsville. Pet owners are highly encouraged to check the expiration date on their pet's certificate to determine the need for revaccination at one of the upcoming clinics at a local veterinarian's office. While Maryland law requires dogs and cats over four months of age to have the required vaccination against rabies, animals at least three months of age can be brought to the clinics and adequately protected by vaccination.

The county commissioners are requesting that everyone cooperate in making the recycling program as effective as possible.

Parkland Funds Hardest Hit In Budget Balancing

Attempts by Maryland legislators to balance the 1991 state budget -- most recently estimated to be at a $109 million shortfall -- has resulted in the taking of $30 million from Project Open Space funds, according to District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards. That amount, he said, would have gone to reimburse the local jurisdictions for either parkland projects pending but not yet approved by the Board of Public Works or for projects not officially on line for funding.

Delegate Edwards was one of two Maryland legislators instrumental in the parkland program, designed for the purpose of acquiring and improving parkland, and, last year, was successful in convincing state officials to lift the cap on funds going into the program in a five-year phase-out manner.

Edwards did state, however, that legislators will go into a special budget session June 26 and may then learn that the budget deficit is not quite as high as current estimates indicate. If that's the case, he said, the first thing that will be re-instated into the 1991 budget will be $14 million into the Program Open Space projects pending category.

Also hard hit in the budget balancing process was the governor's emergency fund, known as the "Rainy Day Fund," from which $27 million has been taken in the latest round of cuts.

The latest deficit estimate is reportedly the result of the continuing loss of revenue from individual income tax and sales tax receipts.

Following is a list of other categorical funding cuts in the state, according to Edwards: $11 million from "reversions of appropriations," which is basically certain departments dealing with data or maintenance; $6.5 million from housing funds; $5.5 million from capital projects; $5 million each from corporate income tax (excess in refund account), the state insurance fund and the Maryland deposit insurance fund; $3 million from the waterway improvement fund; $1.6 million from natural resources special funds; $1 million from the "Sunny Day" fund, money set aside for special economic development projects; $700,000 from the Maryland Food Center Authority, and $23,700 from agency reversions.

Gov. To Visit

"We have designed the promotional campaign to increase awareness among Maryland residents and those living in nearby states of the many wonderful attractions of Western Maryland," said George Williams, director of the Office of Tourism Development.

"Although the tourism industry pumps more than $3 billion into Maryland's economy every year, our four Western Maryland counties receive only $300 million from tourism. Unlike Maryland's more mature tourism destinations of Baltimore, Ocean City, and Annapolis, Western Maryland is a growth market. This gives us the opportunity to promote the endless, virtually undiscovered wonders of the region," added Williams.

Thanks for the prayers, phone calls, flowers, food and many other things that came our way at the time of the death of my mother,

MRS. HILDA F. STRAYER

Special thanks to brother Dell Towson for his support and help with the funeral and the folks from the Deer Park Church of God of Prophecy for their help in providing the food and preparing the dinner the day of the funeral and the many other things they did. May the Lord richly bless you! Thanks again.

Garrett County Health Advisory Committee Meets

The first meeting of the Garrett County Health Advisory Committee took place last week at the Garrett County Community College. Approximately a dozen other citizens also attended.

During the meeting, Dr. Rex Archer, health officer of Garrett County, conducted a slide presentation to illustrate the process the committee and community will use to create Garrett County health objectives for the Year 2000. He also presented some preliminary Garrett County data relating to smokeless tobacco and injuries.

Following the meeting, committee member Dr. Alta Schrock, Grantsville, said "This has been an excellent beginning. We need to get a handle on what is happening in our county before we can make plans for the future."

Lois Ayers, committee member from Oakland, indicated that the attendance at this meeting "points out how enthused the group is to move forward with this process."

The committee will meet again in September. At this time, the Garrett County Health Status Report will be compiled and plans will be made to divide into sub-committees.

These task forces will meet to discuss and recommend specific objectives in the following areas: physical activity and fitness; tobacco; alcohol and other drugs; family planning; mental health and mental disorders; violent and abusive behavior; educational and community-based programs; unintentional injuries; environmental health; food and drug safety; oral health; maternal and infant health; heart disease and stroke; cancer; and diabetes and chronic disabling conditions.

Further community participation will occur when sub-committees are formed and the Status of Health Report to be released this fall is presented to Garrett County community groups. "It will be very important to have broad-based community involvement," Dr. Archer said. "Only then will we be able to develop objectives that most people feel are important."

To volunteer for the above mentioned task forces or to obtain further information, persons may call the Garrett County Health Department at 334-8116.

Five Precautions for Oral Medicines

Many of the oral medicines (tablets, capsules, or liquids) we take are powerful compounds that modify the body's normal chemical reactions. While some medicines are relatively free of serious side effects, unwanted reactions can occur under certain circumstances. In order to minimize the chances of having reactions to oral medicines, a few precautions are important to remember:

1. Do not take medicine from containers that show signs of tampering.
2. Never give your medicine to someone else. What may be good for you, may not be good for another person.
3. Some medicines should not be taken at the same time alcohol is being consumed. Ask your pharmacist about your medicines.
4. Do not take medicines in the dark. Read the label of all medicines before they are taken to make certain you take them properly.
5. In general, oral tablets and capsules are best taken with a full glass of water. Sometimes it is advisable to take oral medicines on an empty stomach or with food. Ask your pharmacist if you have questions about how your medicines should best be taken.

Two Found Guilty On Drug Charges In Garrett County District Court

Two area men were found guilty on various drug charges in separate cases last week in Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Louis G. Rowe, 29, Mount Claire, W. Va., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and to driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs. In a plea agreement, a third charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the state.

Judge Jack R. Turney accepted Rowe's pleas of guilty and sentenced him to 90 days (all but 48 hours suspended) in jail, fined him $100, and placed him on 18 months of supervised probation on the possession charge. For the DWI charge, he was given one year in jail (all but 30 days was suspended), fined $1000, and placed on 10 months of DWI monitoring.

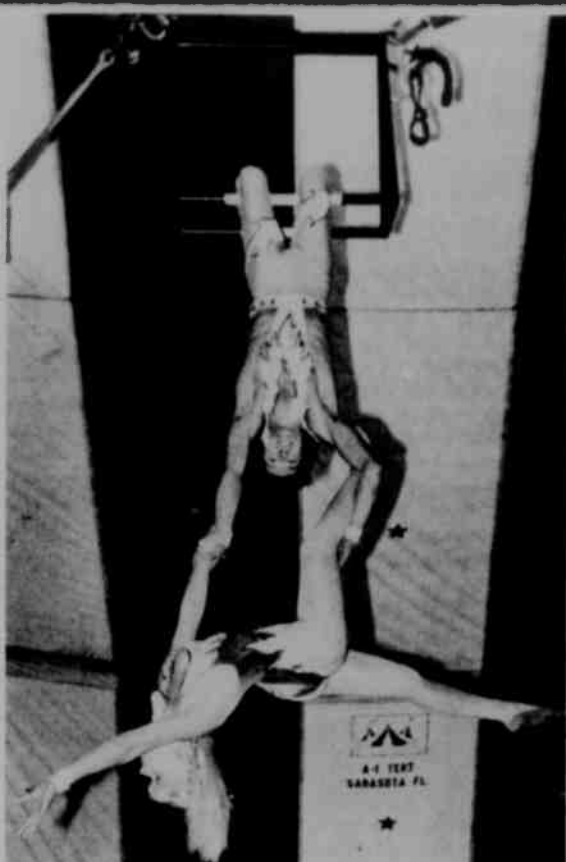

Rowe had been arrested on January 25 by the Maryland State Police for traffic violations. A subsequent search of the defendant and his vehicle revealed marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

In a separate drug case, a Mt. Lake Park man pleaded not guilty to two counts of drug possession and one count of drug paraphernalia possession. Judge Turney found James A. Blount, 47, guilty of one count of drug possession and one count of paraphernalia possession.

Blount was given a one year suspended jail term for the drug possession charge and fined a total of $200 for both counts against him. He had been arrested on December 21, 1990, following an extensive investigation by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. A search and seizure warrant was executed at his summer home at Deep Creek Lake where marijuana and drug paraphernalia (with suspected cocaine residue) were found.

In other District Court news, a Gypsy, W. Va. man was found guilty of three counts of felony theft.

Judge Turney ordered a pre-sentence investigation for David J. Gallo, 18, who had pleaded guilty to all three counts.

THE ROBERT BROTHERS CIRCUS IS COMING TO Oakland on Wednesday, June 5, at the Mid-Town Plaza. Show times are 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. Pictured above are the Murillos, Nino and Jody, trapeze artists who are among the many performers of the three-ring circus, which also includes clowns, musicians, and trained animals such as a dancing bear and a performing elephant. The circus is sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA), and the proceeds will be used to provide funds for projects of the association. Persons may obtain tickets for the circus by calling 334-3016, and will also be available at the door. The price of advanced tickets is $5 for adults and $3 for children.

Gallo had been charged following a February 20 incident when he stole two pairs of skis and one snow board from the Wisp Resort.

In a related case, the driver of the vehicle in which the stolen skis and snow board were found, was found not guilty of possession of a handgun.

Richard P. Domas, 18, was charged after a search of the vehicle revealed a fully loaded .22 caliber handgun in the glove compartment of his vehicle. The gun was remanded to the Maryland State Police for disposition. Defense counsel said police had no cause to search the glove compartment of the Domas vehicle since they were searching for skis and a snow board that would not fit in such a small place.

A Deer Park man was found guilty of seven bad check charges and one petty theft charge in court proceedings last week.

Roger Simmons Sr., 28, Deer Park, was found guilty of those charges while two counts of bad check charges against him were not prosecuted.

cut in a plea agreement with the state. He had been arrested after complaints were filed by four local businesses.

Simmons was given a 90-day suspended jail term and fined $10 for each count against him. He was also placed on six months of supervised probation.

In an unrelated case, Simmons was also found not guilty of one count of animal cruelty and three counts of animal abandonment.

He had been charged with those offenses on October 10, 1990, by the Garrett County Humane Society after they learned that he had allegedly failed to properly feed and care for a mixed terrier male dog and for allegedly abandoning the dog and two cats when he moved from his previous address in Pleasant Valley.

The Humane Society had provided a home for the dog and the cats had been put to sleep at the animal shelter shortly after they were reported abandoned. A Humane Society spokesman indicated that Judge Turney ordered them to return the dog to Simmons.

Drug charges against a Swanton man were not prosecuted by the state, according to court documents.

Marvin S. Bowman, 33, faced one count of CDS possession and one count of paraphernalia possession against him before charges were dropped. He had been charged by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department following a traffic stop. Police records indicated that a search of the Bowman vehicle revealed two small metal pipes and a small plastic baggie containing suspected marijuana.

Roger L. Keiper, 37, Oakland, who was found guilty of battery was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail. All of that sentence was suspended except for 10 days which he will serve on weekends. He was also fined $250 and placed on 12 months of supervised probation.

Keiper was charged on February 15, 1991, after being found disorderly. While in the patrol car of Cpl. E. L. Alexander of the Oakland City Police, Keiper struck Cpl. Alexander. Keiper contended he "wanted to go to jail."

A charge of felony theft against James Tortice, 32, Deer Park, was not prosecuted by the state on the grounds that he had the proper interest in the vehicle he had allegedly stolen.

Tortice had been charged with the theft by Rhonda Westbrook on February 16. The couple had jointly purchased the vehicle, although she alleged the car was in her name and that she made the payments on it.

Alfred E. Naumann, 43, Grafton, W. Va., also had a charge of felony theft against him not prosecuted by the state. He was ordered to pay restitution. He reportedly had returned all the items he had allegedly taken from Frank R. Lancelotta, Swanton.

Michael C. Amoroso, 29, Westernport, was found not guilty of eight counts of petty theft and one count of conspiracy.

He had been charged by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department following numerous reported coat thefts at Brodak's Resort Club on December 11, 1990.

Band-Aids Or Bonds...

We are pleased that one of our three county commissioners (John Braskey) finally came to the realization that floating bonds just might be a necessary and feasible thing to do in order to properly finance the budget of the board of education. Of course, such a measure is too late for this year and the ramifications of the commissioners' demand that the board cut its proposed budget by more than 14 percent remain to be seen.

For too long our county commissioners have operated under the philosophy that if you don't have the money in the bank, don't buy it. If all of us utilized a similar approach, few of us would own a house or a car. Few of us would have been able to go on to college (unless one were lucky enough to be elected county commissioner, misinterpret the county policy to his benefit, and have the county foot his bill).

Not only does financing via mortgages or conventional loans or bonds spread out our payments and make things affordable for everyone, but there is another advantage that our county government has that makes floating bonds an even wiser decision. Our tax base is growing significantly every year, even with the present recession. By floating bonds now, making those annual payments will become easier and easier each year into the future. Projects of today, whether they are board of education related or otherwise, will be paid for not just by present Garrett County residents, but also by those who will be moving here in the future as part-time or full-time residents. While we would still support a tax rate increase to adequately fund the board of education budget, we think floating bonds may well be a better long-term solution.

We also hope that, if the county commissioners decide to float bonds, they have the intestinal fortitude to just do it, and not send the issue to referendum, which is the kiss of death for any proposal to raise taxes or borrow money.

The Band-Aid, buy-it-only-when-you-have-cash approach may be prudent under certain conditions and in the short term, but it should never be employed on a long-term basis.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I don't understand how the "law system" works in this county. Week after week I read about people found guilty of child abuse, child molestation, D.W.I.s, and C.D.S. charges, yet the amount of bond, fines and sentencing are so different.

A few weeks ago a couple was fined $50.00 apiece and placed on 18 months supervised probation for child abuse, yet a young man was fined $800.00 in citations and held on a $5,000 bond for riding a dirt bike on Vinex Road. He may have accelerated to elude the officer and struck at Deputy Sowers, but he did not sexually abuse or assault this officer.

Then there are individuals who have spent from 90 days to three years behind bars for possession and intent to distribute marijuana. Is it more acceptable to society to abuse a child than it is to ride a dirt bike on an old, back country road or, to smoke a joint?

Why are guys with long hair looked upon as "dirt-bags?" Through history paintings, pictures, and images of Christ are all with long hair and He wasn't so bad, now was He?

Everyone is supposed to be treated equal and just and I for one do not feel that happens with the law officers of this county. Respect is what they want and I was taught to respect all people - common courtesy to other, yet when a law officer pulls you over for a D.W.I. and says, "I smell dope," ripe your car apart, and searches your person to try to find pot and finds nothing, is that common courtesy?

It seems that instead of law enforcement, it's a business or a game. Anvino. It's like a tally board. To them it's like, "Hey I cuffed and stuffed another dirt-bag last night," whereas it should be stated, "well we got another D.W.I./C.D.S. before he/she got hurt or hurt someone else."

I think it's time some of these officers get off of their high horse. No one (including an officer of the law) is above the law.

For example: A coal miner and a deputy end their shift at 3:10 p.m. and decide to stop at a bar on the way home for a few beers to relax. Now is it right for the deputy to drink a six pack or more at the bar and not be bothered for D.U.I. D.W.I.? Yet the coal miner could drink the same amount, leave, and get pulled over and charged with D.U.I. D.W.I.? It's going to be law enforcement then the deputy is no better than the coal miner.

If it's against the law to drink and drive, to pull off along the highway to ur-nate, is it anymore decent to let a person under arrest urinate from the police barracks porch or to refuse a female the right to close the bathroom door after the room has been searched and cleared for drugs? If you were at a friends house and three law officers came there on a noise complaint and proceeded to search for "drugs we know are here," and you had to go to the bathroom which the officer checks for drugs and there was nothing to be found, yet he refuses to allow you to close the bathroom door, how would you feel? Angry? Humiliated? Pushed to the limit? Well it happens, does happen and will continue to happen unless people take a stand.

I would like to observe two deputies and two Maryland State Police officers drink a few fifths of whiskey or a couple cases of beer to see how they act, and then take the same four officers on another day and have them smoke a few joints. Why? To record their behavior on booze and then on pot. Pot isn't as bad as people believe it to be. If it was, why would doctors tell their patients with glaucoma to purchase some marijuana if possible because it relaxes and relieves the tension of the eyes?

I'm not backing up drugs, but I will back up marijuana. If it's not laced with anything it can't be beat to relax the more tense individual. Yet if you are caught with it, you are automatically a drug pusher, user and abuser. Give me a break. I have never read or heard of someone killing an individual by using pot alone. To me it should be legalized and whiskey be illegal. I don't know about you, but I'd rather deal with the non-threatening person on pot than with the whiskey, bad attitude dude.

The subjects of child abuse, beer, liquor and drugs have been and will always be controversial. I did not write this to make enemies or to score some points. The main reason I wrote this is because the law officers need to think about the individual and situations when apprehending someone.

I realize the law officers do not make the judgments handed down, but they do make the arrests, fill in the tickets, write up the reports, and appear in a court of law where the judgment takes place. If you're gonna do the job, do it fair and by the book.

It should be one for all and all for one, not one for all and all for one unless you're the law and this is the way it's done.

Sincerely,
J. Tasker
Swanton

To the Editor:

I was just sitting here thinking of how great it was to see all of the American people get behind our forces in the Middle East. I am stationed aboard the aircraft carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt. The time we spent in the Persian Gulf was very trying for all of us on the T.R. But thanks to the people of my hometown, and the surrounding Garrett County area, my time in the war was a lot more bearable. At times we worked over 48 hours straight. My ship was responsible for 12,000 sorties and we delivered more than 3.5 million pounds of light explosives. In my job as an ordnance man, I felt as though I handled every pound. I got letters from people telling me "good job," "way to go," and even people who said "I wish I could have helped." But what they don't realize is that they did help. The American people played a big role - a quick outcry with a minimal loss of life and limb. No matter how long the day or how hard the task in front of me, I knew I had all of the people from home behind me 100%. That's what got me through it.

The war is over. My ship has moved up into the northeastern Mediterranean where we are currently operating off the coast of Turkey in support of the Kurdish refugees. Most of the American forces have returned home to a hero's welcome. I would like to thank the American people, for they are the real heroes of Desert Storm. Yes, I am proud to be an American! Our country has its share of problems, but when we pull together on a common goal, results come quickly and completely. Let's remember this feeling of pride and use it to our benefit.

Once again, thanks

To the Editor:

The article by Mary Sincell McEwen in the May 16th Republican seems to use a useless exercise in bashing one's head against the wall. The article was about grammatical errors.

Fortunately, there will always be some who will maintain very high quality spoken and written American English. But many people don't know they are making errors, and couldn't care less, and no amount of head bashing is going to change that. Some tend to regard people who speak excellently in normal conversation as high hat, and sometimes maybe rightly so. Isn't it some kind of ego trip to be constantly noting the other fellow's grammatical mistakes and being irked by them? If you understand what people mean, isn't that effective communication, -- and yes, his tool -- aren't their characters just as good?

Seems to me there are much more urgent social matters to work one's self into a lather over -- oh no! -- change that to read "over which to work one's self into a lather."

Yours sincerely,
Ellinor Benedict

Editor's Note: This letter was sent to Mary Sincell McEwen in response to her column in the May 23 issue of The Republican, concerning grammar and word usage. The writer asked that it appear, as written, in this column.

Dear Merry Ruth: I be pleased to read your article, pacifically the direct quote you done. As I set hear at my word processor, I can't help but nod my head in agreement with you're point. It be sad that them very same people who your quote be products of are educational system.

Ewe wonder if they be takin the time to hear what it be that they am sayin.

Its a shame that are elected official is presentin such a poor example for all are young children.

Perhaps a amendment should be considered that would require elected officials and public speaker-sons to have a IQ greater than their shoosie.

Charlie Teets
P.S. I probly shouldn't had to oughta written this.

To the Editor:

A note by Beverly Murphy on the front of the May 24 Weekender intended to catch the eye of the public states, "I'm disappointed that the commissioners are unable to see the importance of education."

This statement raised great concern about better education. It seems the only recognized way to have better education is to pour in more tax money. The education department is now receiving 44.4% of every tax dollar. It is easy to observe gross waste that is entirely under the supervision of the education department. In their effort to keep their meetings secret, one is made to wonder what will be next.

Basic education of the three R's is being fazed out. Sex education, evolution, new age one worldism, and science of mind control have taken their place, and they call it higher education. Sex education has done much to lower the moral standards of our nation. Evolution is the height of ignorance, and teaching creation is being fazed out. The new age one worldism is Satan preparing the world for a one world government, a one world electronic money system with the 666 mark of the beast, and a one world church headed by the anti-Christ. Mind science by way of powerful thinking to make people believe they can become as God's "reincarnation." This was Satan's lie in the Garden of Eden that damned the whole world.

These are all the things that have come down from the National Education Association and are designed by Satan. Our school board should become informed of these things and realize that a nation that turns from God will be judged by God and by His standards. Prayer and Bible have been removed from our schools. Godly principles have become obsolete. Beverly, as a professing Christian, these matters should be your top concern.

I am glad our commissioners finally got courage enough to draw a line. I hope they will tighten the purse strings still more.

God built a great American empire. Now the sons of men are having problems to main-

The Mind Wanders

Jasper and Me
by John R. McEwen

I have been fortunate enough of late to begin, albeit at a snail's pace, a lifelong dream of mine. To break the surly bonds of earth; to fly. I have wanted to learn for many years - since I first flew, I think. I was so enthralled with the sights, sounds and feelings of soaring up above the ground, looking down on the beauty of the landscape, and seeing nothing of the seedy, up-close side of life. From up there, one can see little, perfect toy houses, but without the dirt, or the sagging roofs, or the broken windows. They all look clean and perfect, like those on a model train set. Cars look like the Matchbox toys I played with as a child; there are no dents or scratches, bad paint jobs or rust, no idiot drivers, just shiny, colored toys propelling themselves without the clumsy hand of a little boy. And the landscape is so much more expansive! One can see farther than on any mountaintop; one can see the universe ... from up there.

As I got older, as a teenager and a young adult, I chartered many sightseeing flights (fifteen-minute excursions over whatever town I happened to be living in at the time), and read about the subject until I felt so familiar with it that I believed I could hop in a plane and fly without any instruction. I understood all the controls and what they did, how the wings, flaps, rudder and propeller acted on the plane aerodynamically; surely, I thought, this must be easy!

Then I took my first lesson. Jasper is the name of the man who took me for my first lesson, and every lesson after that. Jasper is a tall, easygoing fellow whose patience and sense of humor make up for his slight lack of ease with the English language. Jasper is from the Netherlands.

This unnerved me at first. How can he give me clear instruction if he can't find the right word, I thought, in a panic. Worse yet, what if he chooses the wrong word? That could be extremely unfortunate! But Jasper has proven himself to be an excellent teacher, and if I ever misunderstand him, he always reassures me: It's all right, he says, it doesn't matter.

Every time I touch the rudder, Jasper says, "Don't use the rudder too much!" Instantly, I jerk my foot back, as if I just came perilously close to sending the plane into a spinning dive.

"Sorry," I stammer.

When I am concentrating on keeping the plane at a certain altitude, Jasper says, "You should be looking out the window, don't focus on the controls too much. This is visual flight, not instrument flight. You're supposed to be learning what it looks like to fly at this altitude."

"Right," I say, looking out the window at the beautiful landscape. A moment later, Jasper says, "you're gaining altitude; try to keep it at 5000 feet." I have an annoying habit of constantly pulling back on the wheel (it's actually called the "yoke") whenever I am not concentrating on it, and sometimes when I am.

"Right, of course," I wittily return, limiting my conversation to one-syllable words. It cuts down on wind resistance.

"What's your heading?" he says, gently nudging me into realizing that I have strayed off course.

"Whoops" is my cunning retort, looking at the heading indicator and turning the plane back in the direction we were originally flying.

"Small corrections," says Jasper. He means, don't jerk on the yoke, just gently turn. And stop pulling back, dammit. And not too much rudder, for goodness' sake.

"Okay," I counter.

"Don't concentrate so much on the controls," he reminds me.

"Oh, yeah," I say.

And so it goes. Jasper seems to have unlimited patience with my lack of ability to maintain control of eleven things at once, while still ignoring the panel and looking out the window. And with my seemingly having more trouble with the language than he does, at this altitude. Jasper is a good teacher, and I'm going to stick with him. So what if he sometimes says "up" when he means "down."

tain it. The best place to cut spending is to cut the big spenders. This can be done. Commissioner Butcher has vowed to keep taxes down, but she must have cooperation; she can not do it alone. Why not join her, Commissioners Groves and Braskey?

A word to Dr. Ryscavage; our educational system is increasing in knowledge and not in wisdom. Knowledge without wisdom is dangerous.

Respectfully,
Homer Mellotti

Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad arrived on the scene.

Shannon was then transferred to Frostburg Community Hospital, where he was treated and released some time later.

"It's a good thing we had the volunteer here," Rogers said. "We just never expected to have a crisis like this on the first day of the season (which was Saturday)."

"These Cumberland YMCA members come to the park every day to help out, either by lifeguarding at the beach, or by cleaning up picnic areas and cabins. We won't have paid positions here until the new budget comes in next month, so these volunteers are very valuable to us," the park manager said.

Sheila Wilt, local coordinator of the "Save the Parks" effort for New Germany, Big Run, and Casselman Bridge State Parks, stated that the life was saved through the volunteer efforts of the YMCA, and those efforts were appreciated.

Gov. Schaefer Speaks Out

WHY I VETOED THE 65 MPH BILL

By Governor William Donald Schaefer

This month I had a tough decision to make - whether or not to sign legislation adopted by the General Assembly this year that would have allowed the state to raise the speed limit in some areas of Maryland. Both the proponents and opponents felt strongly about their respective sides. From the letters and calls I received at the State House, and in an hour-long hearing in Annapolis, I heard some compelling arguments. I also talked with the State Police superintendent and law enforcement officials in charge of patrolling the highways, to hear their thoughts. After a great deal of review, I chose to veto the bill because I feared for the safety of Marylanders and others who travel the state's roads and highways.

The legislation would have authorized two things: allowing the State Highway Administration to raise the maximum speed limit on specific rural highways from 55 miles per hour to 65 miles per hour, or allow the Highway Administration to raise the speed limit in selected areas as part of a pilot project to study the impact of a higher speed limit.

About 40 states already allow some traffic to travel at 65 miles per hour. Many studies have been conducted in states that already have higher speed limits, so I was able to benefit from the statistics and figures available on what other areas have experienced with the faster rate. A report from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, as well as other independent studies, made it clear to me that higher speeds cause more traffic fatalities and more serious injuries. Doctors working in the Shock Trauma Center told me they were worried not only about increased fatalities, but about an increase in the number of people who suffer crippling injuries. Even under a pilot project, people could die as a result of an experiment. I really didn't feel like we should conduct experiments like that.

I understand the argument by supporters of a higher speed limit that Marylanders already are driving faster than the allowable speed limit. But I'm worried that if we raise the speed limit, then drivers will begin exceeding it, too. I made a point in April of visiting the scene of two traffic accidents on Interstate 95 in Harford County, where eight people died. Excessive speed was a contributing factor in both wrecks - it's difficult for me to forget that, or to forget the waste of those lives.

In Maryland, we have gone to great lengths to promote highway safety. We have campaigns urging people to wear their seat belts, to not drink and drive, and to make sure their vehicles are safe for the road. I felt strongly that sanctioning a higher speed limit would hurt our efforts to keep motorists safe on the highway, and send the wrong message on safety.

A second, perhaps lesser, reason I vetoed the higher speed limit authorization was to save fuel. The Persian Gulf War reminded us how important access to energy sources are for our future. We are taking steps on several fronts to conserve energy in the state, and to urge Marylanders to conserve as well. The faster cars are driven, the more fuel they burn. We simply can't ignore the energy savings.

Perhaps this issue will come up again. If it does, I will look at the pros and cons again and decide on its merits. Perhaps I will see some conclusive findings that will change my mind. But for now, I firmly believe that Maryland should continue to have 55 miles per hour as the maximum speed limit on highways. If it saves one life, the policy is worth it.

If you have thoughts on the speed limit, or another issue that's important to the state, please write me. Governor William Donald Schaefer, State House, Annapolis, MD 21401.

Local Soldier Reflects On Experience In Persian Gulf

by Sherry Frantz

Pfc. Shawn Groves returned home to Oakland from the Persian Gulf following his six and one-half month long participation in the Desert Shield/Storm effort from August 1990 to March 1991, "just happy to be home."

But the 19-year-old, 1989 graduate of Southern High School, who joined the U.S. Army just out of high school in order to receive money for his college education, has gained considerably more than he probably bargained for. Not only did he gain a better understanding of world affairs than most typical 19-year-olds, but he has also recently been given the distinction of being nominated "Soldier of the Year" at Ft. Bragg, N.C., where he is currently stationed among 50,000 other servicemen and women.

Pfc. Groves received his basic training at Ft. Sill, Okla., and served with the 82nd Airborne, the 101st Airborne and the 61st I.F. French Divisions after he landed in Saudi Arabia. While in the Persian Gulf, he was assigned to a field artillery tank.

The following is an interview conducted with him by The Republican Newspaper in further observance of Memorial Day.

Q: What was it like when you were first deployed to the Persian Gulf?

A: Besides the tremendous heat we felt when we first arrived (which was in the middle of the night), we were faced with a shortage of water. In fact, the supply was real bad at first.

When we first arrived, we were in a holding unit and doing field training and exercises with the 24th. I'm in a field artillery tank unit. Q: When you were deployed to Saudi Arabia, did you feel that a war was inevitable?

A: Yes, I did.

Q: And when it did begin, were you mentally prepared for it?

A: Well, we were constantly being told by our commanders to make our peace -- with the Lord, or wherever.

Q: Were you adequately trained -- physically?

A: Oh yes, because from the time we got there until the war broke out, that's all we did.

Q: Did you get news about the U.S. involvement regularly before the war started?

A: News was real hard to get. It was real rough. Every now and then we'd get lucky and a short wave radio would come on. As soon as the peace talks fell through, we were put on high alert status and we weren't allowed to listen to the news at all. We wondered what was going on.

Q: Why weren't you allowed to listen to the news?

A: It was probably for the sake of our nerves. Tactical communication had to be cut off from the rest of the world.

Q: What was the psychology behind that, do you think?

A: So the troops wouldn't be too hopeful or too devastated if the peace talks fell through.

Q: How long after the war started were you moved into combat positions?

A: Immediately following the announcement, we mobilized our howitzers.

Q: Did you have a sense of how the U.S. was doing on a daily basis after the war was more advanced?

A: Yes, we got intelligence reports so we'd find out how many prisoners had been captured and how many tanks and planes had been knocked out.

Q: Did you have good communication with your immediate leaders and battalion commanders?

A: They let us know what they absolutely had to let us know, I think.

Q: Are you now taking advantage of the counseling services being provided by the Army?

A: There are a lot of problems readjusting -- especially for the married ones. Me, I'm single and I'm fine. I'm just glad to be home.

Q: Were you ever faced with an encounter with Iraqi troops during the war?

A: After we started going across the lines, we kept going in for two straight days and we didn't encounter a single soul. They didn't even know we were there -- it was that bad. They had tunnel networks and, once, I encountered an Iraqi man inside.

Q: What happened to him?

A: We got him out and gave him food and water. He was kissing the soldiers' cheeks.

Q: Did you have a clear feeling of who your enemy was?

A: Yes. We knew it wasn't the Iraqi soldiers. We knew it was Saddam Hussein.

Q: Did the U.S. make the right decision in going to war in the Persian Gulf?

A: Yes. We've been friends with Kuwait for years and we weren't going to sit by and let them get picked on. I personally wish the peace talks had gone a little further with Iraq. People were starting to get worried about the troops.

Q: Did the war end too soon?

A: Not for me. I was ready to come home. On the other hand, we were only 35 miles from Baghdad. We had 25,000 prisoners of war, and we were within range. There was a feeling of, 'Let's go ahead and do this.' We were firing and they were fleeing. They were trying to get out of it without their tanks being destroyed. We wanted to get into Baghdad real bad, and we were ready by that time because not a single person in our battalion got hurt out of close to 1,000 guys.

Q: Did you witness a sense of pride among everyone there?

A: Yes.

Q: How so?

A: We knew how America felt about the Vietnam conflict. They had no confidence in the troops then. That's why we went over there -- we were out to prove that we were still we weren't out to rape and pillage. We were out to show this is an Army you can be proud of.

Q: Was that objective worth the price of war?

A: Well, it was a combination of things that sent us to war. It was partly the oil and partly that Kuwait was our friend. And it was partly that we wanted to show the world we were still strong.

Q: But what about the other countries who are being bullied and need our help.

A: Well they have to understand, we just got back from the Persian Gulf. Going into a third world country is different because there is opposition from both sides.

Q: Do you think the U.S. has followed through properly?

A: Yes. The war relief effort has brought food and medical supplies.

Q: What do you think is going to happen in the gulf now?

A: With talks between Israel and the rest of the countries there, Iraq will be quiet now.

Q: And Saddam Hussein?

A: He will be removed.

Q: By whom?

A: Either by his own cabinet or someone else. You can't sit here and believe that the U.S. does not have somebody out to get him. He has too many enemies.

Q: Why did we choose to go to war instead of just get rid of Hussein?

A: That would have given us a bad image. What would the world think? People would have said, 'if the U.S. doesn't like a leader, they just get rid of him.' And that's no better than some of these third world countries -- that's what they do.

Q: And how important is it that we are the strongest?

A: It's good because we can arbitrate in foreign countries. In fact, there was recent news that we are sending delegates to South Africa. What it shows is that we've got nothing to prove. We've already shown what we can do.

Q: What would you say to a Vietnam veteran today who might resent so much glory being bestowed on the veterans of the Persian Gulf War when they were spat upon after they served?

A: I would say they did their job the best way they knew how. We're all veterans who served in the same army.

Q: Do you have a hero?

A: Well no, not really. But I do look up to the way the Army is run, the way we do our job. We're never lax.

Q: Do you think politics played too big a role in the decision about the war?

A: Yes. I'm just glad politics didn't get in the way

HOME AGAIN -- Spc. Richard Evick returned home recently from southern Iraq and received a warm welcome from his hometown mayor, David Turney, Mtn. Lake Park, and Garrett County Commissioner Branda Butachar. Spc. Evick was with 1/37 AR as an infantry airborne mortarman. Evick stated, "I'm glad to say I had no casualties in my platoon. I'm glad to be back home and see everyone. There couldn't have been more support back home. It was great. I would like to thank everyone who wrote me letters and showed their support."

after the war started, because that would have ruined it for us. The politics were going on before the war started. When you're over there, you don't want to be hearing there is disagreement with the president. You don't want to do that.

Q: What about your future plans?

A: I have two years left in the Army. My main reason for going was to get money to go to college. I plan to go to Garrett Community College and then transfer to Frostburg State University, although I still haven't decided what my major will be.

Shawn is the son of Maxine Groves, Oakland, and has a twin brother, John, who is employed at Bausch & Lomb. Shawn will be returning home for a visit on the Fourth of July.

GLAF Women

Thayer claims "it isn't work, it's a pleasure" to work with all the women on the Benefit Committee and an opportunity to contribute to the community.

Marrried to the Honorable Judge Fred A. Thayer and the mother of a son, Rick, now a banker in Washington, she also finds time to aid GLAF by working in the box office, housing performers, and on occasion cooking for the group. In addition to her hours with the Festival, Thayer is an active member of St. John's Episcopal Church, Mountain Laurel Garden Club, and a director of The Ruth Enlow Library.

Ferne Belmonte explains that big fund-raisers are necessary to the operation of Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. They are the province of a has been a GLAF volunteer for over four years.

The mother of seven and grandmother of three, she is the wife of Clinton W. Englander, retired Oakland pharmacist and businessman. A native of Oakland, she began her volunteer work at the Blue Barn Theater on Deep Creek Lake where she utilized her student background in costume design. She also gained firsthand experience fund-raising when she worked with Audrey Feld and the late Ruth Durst staging annual charity balls at the armory.

When not raising money for GLAF, Englander is busy as a charter member of Mountain Laurel Garden Club and has served on The Ruth Enlow Library Board. Her hobbies include gardening, needlework, and Kate, her four-month-old King Charles spaniel.

Belmonte sums up the feeling of the three co-chairmen when she states, "The price of tickets never covers expenses. The ticket cost for a performance, whether it be at Carnegie Hall in New York City, Heinz Hall in Pittsburgh, Cumberland Summer Theater, or GLAF productions in the Garrett Community College auditorium, doesn't cover expenses of great performances."

Angels, she says, is a good word to describe those who contribute financially to GLAF. Such gifts, couple with modest state and local grants, and proceeds from the benefit, are what make reasonable theater tickets possible.

G.C. Red Cross Disaster Team Completes Training

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross has trained a disaster team for the first time in the chapter's history. The team, consisting of several local volunteers, is now ready to assist victims in Garrett County who are in need of disaster relief, according to Cindy Kutchman, chapter executive.

Training sessions were taught by Jack Averill, disaster chairman from Morgantown, W. Va., and included Introduction to disaster, Damage Assessment, and Shelter Management. Those participating in the training were Bill Heise, Sandi Moreland, Sharon Collins, Clara Gauer, Connie Beachy, Donna Heginbotham, Bea Crocco, Leona Beckman, Carl Rebele, Janet Freeland, Kenneth Denner, Barb Englander, Ellen Zimmerman, and Cindy Kutchman.

Through this preparedness program, the Red Cross chapter maintains its capability to take immediate action in providing emergency assistance to people affected by disaster or the threat of disaster.

The volunteers have been

RED CROSS DISASTER TEAM TRAINED - The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross recently trained a disaster team ready to assist victims in the county in need of disaster relief. The team members have been taught techniques which will enable them to take immediate action to provide assistance in the form of fixed or mobile feeding stations, clothing, shelter, first aid, or the provision of other basic needs. The members of the new disaster team are pictured above in front of a disaster services vehicle which is currently located in Morgantown, W. Va. Kneeling from left to right are Bill Heise, Sandi Moreland, Ellen Zimmerman, Janet Freeland, and Barb Englander. trained to provide assistance in the form of fixed or mobile feeding stations, clothing relief, mass or individual shelters, cleaning supplies, comfort kits, first aid or other supplementary medical care, or the provision of other basic needs.

The Red Cross provides blood and blood products for victims when needed, and handles welfare inquiries from anxious relatives outside of the disaster area. Simultaneously, or as soon as possible, the relief team provides help to individual families with their most urgent needs so that they can resume living in a home rather than in a shelter. Assistance to families is given on the basis of verified need.

Help may include money for food, clothing, housing, fuel, cooking and eating utensils, bed and bedding, cleaning supplies, linens, rent, necessary furniture, medical and health care, prescription drugs, dentures and other prosthetic devices, eyeglasses, personal occupational supplies and equipment, transportation, and minor house repairs to make the home livable again.

In performing this assistance, the Red Cross utilizes all available resources, including those of the family, if possible, the resources of federal, state, and local government, and private agencies' disaster relief capabilities, in addition to the resources of the Red Cross.

In those instances where other resources are not available to the family or prove inadequate to meet basic disaster-caused needs, the Red Cross may provide additional recovery assistance in the form of repair or rebuilding of homes, the replacement of essential household contents, or other needs. This is done by working with each family or individual.

Whenever possible, the Red Cross assistance is channeled through normal commercial establishments in the community to help restore the disrupted local economy. Families are given purchase orders which they may take to the merchant of their choice.

All help provided by the Red Cross is a gift. No repayment is required or requested. No disaster supplies are sold.

For more information about the disaster team, persons may contact the local Red Cross chapter at 334-3916.

Miss Slagle Is Semi-Finalist In Disney Program

April D. Slagle has been selected as a semi-finalist in the Walt Disney World National Dreamers and Doers program for the Maryland State "Dreamer and Doer" position.

According to a spokesman for the program, April was selected because of her participation in interscholastic programs, her contributions to the community, and her demonstration of curiosity, confidence, courage and constancy. "These character traits were particularly admired by Walt Disney and form the cornerstone of this national student recognition program," the spokesman said.

April is an eleventh grade student at Northern High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Slagle.

Miss Bittinger To Attend A-B

Elonda Bittinger, Route 2, Grantsville, has been accepted for admission to Alderson-Broaddus College for the Fall 1991 Semester. Her parents are Willard and Lois Bittinger, Grantsville. She will graduate with the Class of 1991 from Northern High School.

While in high school, Elonda has been a member of the band, chorus, Silks and Silks club, and Woodmen of the World Rangerettes. She also has been a cheerleader. She attends the Meyersdale, Pa., Church of the Brethren, where she is a member of the Youth Group. She has been selected for inclusion in Who's Who Among American High School Students and was named as a "Student of the Month."

Miss Bittinger plans to major in nursing at A-B.

Alderson-Broaddus College is a four-year undergraduate liberal arts institution in Philippi, W. Va., that offers bachelor's degrees in a wide variety of liberal arts majors. Over 750 students enrolled at A-B, which is affiliated with the American Baptist Churches.

AAA Employee To Be Workshop '91 Presenter

Mrs. Lorene Dodge, of the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, will be a presenter at Workshop '91, Western Maryland College, Westminster, next Thursday. She and two other site managers from other counties will be presenting a workshop titled "Crafts That Seniors Love."

Crafts that Mrs. Dodge will be demonstrating are: paper quilting, plastic canvas needlepoint, and church bulletin necklaces. Mrs. Dodge is currently the center manager at Oakland Senior Center, Mtn. Lake Park. She began working for the Area Agency on Aging in November 1988 as activities programmer, Oakland Center. Since that time, she has been instrumental in the growth of the center.

She resides with her husband, Robert, in Gortner. They have four children and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Dodge attends St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House.

Senior Citizen Creative Writers Are Recognized

An awards luncheon for the 4th Annual Maryland You Are Beautiful Senior Citizen Creative Writing Contest was held at the Oakland Senior Center, Mountain Lake Park, last Wednesday, May 22. Russell Bowser, Oakland Center representative and current chairman of the Commission on Aging, gave the invocation, which was followed by the Senior Nutrition Program meal.

Jane Sickler, contest coordinator, introduced the guests to the senior citizens. They included Director of Agency on Aging Adina Brode; County Commissioner Barbara Butcher and Pat Vetter from the Commissioners' office; a contest judge, Joan Crawford; Garrett County grand winner, Emma Jane Shaffer; and other contest entrants, Nita Ridder, Verna Davis, and Louise Bell.

SENIOR WRITERS HONORED - Oakland area senior citizens who participated in the recent Maryland, You Are Beautiful senior citizen creative writing contest were recently honored at an awards luncheon at the Oakland Senior Center in Min. Lake Park. Emma Jane Shaffer was the Garrett County winner in the contest and will travel to Annapolis next week to attend a luncheon with Governor William Donald Schaefer. Pictured left to right above are: Jane Sickler, program coordinator; Adina Brode, director of the Area Agency on Aging; Pat Vetter, of the Garrett County commissioners' office; Mrs. Shaffer, the county winner; Louise Bell, Nita Ridder, and Verna Davis, other contest participants; and County Commissioner Brenda Butcher.

Pat Vetter announced the names of those to be recognized, Ridder, Davis, and Bell, to whom Commissioner Butcher presented certificates. Then Ms. Vetter introduced Mrs. Shaffer and Commissioner Butcher presented her with a large plaque. Ms. Brode presented her with a Get-Away Weekend to Prince George's County. She also received a floral centerpiece from Jan Florists.

Sharolett Shaffer, the grand winner's daughter, read her mother's winning essay, "Maryland Through My Eyes During My Lifetime."

Mrs. Shaffer will travel to Annapolis next Wednesday to attend a luncheon at St. John's College with Gov. Schaefer and the other county winners. Pat Vetter will accompany her to the luncheon and will represent the program sponsors, Area Agency on Aging and the Garrett County commissioners.

All the entrants received a "Maryland, You Are Beautiful" key chain as a memento and the Oakland Center handcrafted and presented corsages.

Earns Degree At WVU Med School

Susan Capelle, Deer Park, was graduated from the West Virginia University School of Medicine May 11 with a doctor of medicine degree.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roland and Erika Capelle. She is the recipient of the E.B. Flink Award in Medicine and was a member of Alpha Omega Alpha. Dr. Capelle will serve a residency in obstetrics and gynecology at Magee Women's Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Miss Hutzel Will Attend Girls State

Janet Diane Hutzel, a junior at Northern High School, has been selected by Riverview Unit 681 of the American Legion Auxiliary to attend Keystone Girls State.

In line with the National Girls State Committee's theme of "America, We Remember," this "experience in government" will be held at Shippensburg University, Shippensburg, Pa., June 16-22 and will be the 46th session sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. About 300 girls are brought together through sponsorship of local Auxiliary Units and other organizations to study city, county, and state government.

During the week the girls will elect city, county, and state officials, including governor, Lt. governor, other officers, an outstanding citizen, and two senators who will attend Girls National in Washington, D.C., later in the year.

Janet is the daughter of Glenn and Karen Hutzel, Grantsville. She is active in the school band, National Honor Society, is president of the Science and Ecology Club, 1991 State Citizen Bee Finalist, 1991 NHS Math Team Member, 1991 NHS Chemistry Team Member, and is named to Who's Who in American High School Student. She is a member of Oak Grove Mennonite Youth Group, vice president of the Grantsville 4-H Club, and past president of the WOW Rangers (Grantsville).

GCFT Presents Dewey Award To John Bambacus

The Garrett County Federation of Teachers has announced that former Senator John Bambacus is the recipient of the 1989-90 John Dewey award. The John Dewey award is given annually by the Federation to a person nominated by a member who contributes toward education in an exceptional way. The nominee receiving the most members votes is then presented the award.

This year's list of nominees included Diane Martin, a Garrett County resource teacher for eight years; Harold Swauger, assistant in facilities and construction for the Garrett County Board of Education and employee since 1974; Jim Panther, retired Garrett County teacher of 15 years and retired U.S. Navy Commander; and Bambacus, a member of the Frostburg University faculty for almost 22 years and state senator for eight years.

The award was presented at a dinner held at the Silver Tree Restaurant to honor the recipient and nominees.

According to a GCFT spokesman, Dr. John Dewey was perhaps the most important educational philosopher of this century. He held membership card #1 in the American Federation of Teachers. Dr. Dewey, who died in 1952 at the age of 93, was the professor of philosophy at Teachers College, Columbia University. He was a staunch advocate of the schools as a social force and of teachers allying themselves with organized labor for their own good and the good of education.

significant achievement. Dr. Favre explains, because the Hollywood industry is a closed club.

"It's all in who you know," she added, "as to whether you can even get your foot in the door."

Holiday's "foot in the door" and his big break came about directly because he participated in FSU's Writing for Television program.

"Preparing students to make their own connections with Warner Bros. is one of the primary objectives of our TV-writing program," Dr. Favre said. "Fred's acceptance into the Studio's workshop, therefore, represents a major achievement for FSU too."

When asked how the FSU-Warner Bros. connection came into being, Dr. Favre explained that last summer she and a small group of other writing professors from around the state were invited to participate in the development of the Studio's pilot academic outreach project.

She says, Warner Bros., through the Maryland Film Commission, came to us, asked us to help them create the project, and then trained us in their own methods for developing writing talent. They suggested ways to incorporate writers into our own TV-writing classes, supplied us with all the materials, and asked that, in return, we send them our best students for evaluation of their work and possible future training that eventually could lead to employment by the Studio.

FSU is one of the very first schools in the nation to use the Warner Bros. model. Beginning in the fall 1990, Dr. Favre taught the first course (episodic comedy) in what is to become a four-course sequence. In spring 1991, she followed up with the second course (episodic drama). Next year she will offer the sequence's third and fourth courses (movie of the week and miniseries).

A&A REALTY DONATES BOOKS — In honor of the recent 40th anniversary celebration of the Ruth Enlow Library, Karen F. Spiker, owner of A&A Realty/Batter Homea and Gardens, Oakland, donated The Gateway to Imagination book club set from Discovery Toys to the Friendsville Branch of the Ruth Enlow Library. The book club is a unique collection of 30 of the world's finest, most beautifully illustrated books that have been carefully selected to address the development and interests of children two and one-half through five years, according to a spokesman from Discovery Toys. Each book comes with a newsletter that gives a detailed explanation of each story theme, along with child development information and suggestions for other types of play activities for sharing with children. Upon accepting the donation, Jeane Sinea, branch manager at Friendsville, expressed her gratitude to Ms. Spiker. She added that new books are always welcome and noted that the developmental emphasis of the book series will "certainly please young readers of various ages." A complete listing of the book club will be kept at the front desk. When presenting her gift to the library, Ms. Spiker stated, "Our children are our future and I firmly believe that a child's zeal for learning is formed in early childhood. Books that are fun to read and that have colorful and interesting illustrations help instill a youthful appreciation of books and learning. I am very glad to be able to present these books to my hometown library in memory of my brother, Tim Frazier." The book club was purchased through Sheila Edwards, educational consultant with Discovery Toys. The Friendsville branch of the library is open Monday and Tuesday from 3:30 p.m. until 7 p.m.; Wednesday from 2-5 p.m.; Thursday from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. and from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.; Friday from 3:30 p.m. until 6 p.m.; and Saturday from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. The summer reading club for children ages pre-school through 12 years will begin the first Wednesday of July and run for six weeks. Pictured above are Karen Spiker, left, presenting the book club set to Jeane Sinea.

Fred Holiday, by taking the first two courses, developed his skills in these genres to the extent that he attracted the attention and support of the Studio's executives, who now plan to carefully nurture his development, show him all his options, and if everything goes according to the master plan over the next few years, help him launch his career in the industry.

POWER TO THE POOCHES, in finding either a new home or their old ones. These two loveable canines are both presently in the care of the Garrett County Humane Society, after having been found (one in the Friendsville area and one at the top of Bloomington Hill) wandering "ownerlessly." The dog shown below has been neutered and his shots are current. If the original owners are not located, the Humane Society will take names of persons interested in adopting one or both of the animals, according to Carol Paugh of the Humane Society. Interested persons may call Paugh at 334-8274 or Bernadine Friend at 746-5725.

"I can't think of any other way I could have gotten a break like that," Holiday said, referring to FSU's programmatic relationship with Warner Bros.

"This relationship is symbiotic," said Dr. Favre. It represents the best kind of results that can come from collaboration between the corporate world and the academic community. All parties profit. The academic program is substantially enhanced because it is tailored to the demands of the industry; student motivation soars and achievement skyrockets because the chance to break into the industry becomes very real, and the company gets the returns on its investment that it sees — a talented, well educated workforce.

"It just makes good business sense," Dr. Favre said. "And good educational sense, too." Fred Holiday agrees. He plans to complete his degree next year at FSU and take Dr. Favre's final two courses in the sequence before moving to Hollywood.

FSU's Writing for Television program offers similar opportunities for Western Marylanders and others in the tri-state area who are outside of the university. Adults within commuting distance of FSU, who would like to learn how to write for television and then submit their best works to Warner Bros., will soon be able to do so.

Because Dr. Favre has received numerous calls from interested persons, she has decided to open up her program to the community. In the spring 1992 semester, Dr. Favre will offer English 401 Writing for Television (Episodic Comedy), the first course in the sequence, on Wednesday evenings at 6 p.m., to accommodate people who work during the day.

"There's a lot of talent out here," Dr. Favre said. "Now FSU can bring the Hollywood spotlight to the people of this region who want it and who are willing to work very hard to get it."

Those interested should call Dr. Betty Favre (301) 689-4221, for more information about the program and how to enroll.

Multiple Sclerosis Self-Help Group Forming In County

The first meeting of the newly-formed Garrett County Multiple Sclerosis Self-Help Group will be held on June 13 in room 154 of Garrett Community College, beginning at 7:30 p.m. All persons with MS and their families are invited to attend to help get this much-needed organization off the ground.

Attending this first meeting will be Clara Clow, branch coordinator, Western Maryland Office of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. She will present a large assortment of books, pamphlets, and other information, and will be available to answer questions.

"COME AND GO TEA" was a recent event held in honor of National Nursing Home Week for the residents of the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home and their family and friends. Each resident received a pink carnation during the celebration. Shown above, clockwise from left, are nursing home residents, Virgine Hullett, Louise Wagler, Merlewood Glatfelter, Ernest W. Arnold, Janice M. Loughrie and Carolyn L. Thrasher.

Multiple Sclerosis is a chronic disease of the central nervous system in which the simplest, everyday tasks can no longer be taken for granted. Its symptoms can run the gamut from slight blurring of vision to complete paralysis. An estimated quarter of a million Americans have multiple sclerosis, with nearly 200 new cases diagnosed every single week.

Learning that they have multiple sclerosis can open up a flood of emotions: fear, despair, anger, depression. The person often asks: "What can I do? What does the future hold? How will I adjust? How will others react?" A self-help group is infinitely useful in discussing these and other questions persons with MS may have. For more information concerning the organization of a

Garrett County Self-Help Group, or the June 13 meeting, those interested may call Judy Smith at 387-4926. Subscribe to The Republican

Card of Thanks

I would like to thank the following during my operation and following my stay at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Special thanks to Dr. Fedde, Dr. Porcaro and the entire surgical team. Also, the second floor nursing staff. All those who visited or sent cards and flowers. Most of all thanks to my family, my greatest morale booster.

VIDA J. PENDERGAST

Vida J. Pendergast, 74, Oakland, died Thursday, May 23, 1991, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born May 25, 1916, in Oakland, she was the daughter of the late Clyde and Grace (Ashby) Smith.

Mrs. Pendergast was a graduate of Oakland High School. She earned a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education at West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, W.Va., and a master's degree in elementary education at Frostburg State College.

An elementary school teacher for 40 years in Baltimore City, United States Army Schools in Germany, and Garrett County, Mrs. Pendergast retired in 1980 from Broad Ford Elementary School, Oakland. She was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church and the Garrett County and Maryland State Retired Teachers associations.

CIVIC CLUB SUPPORTS LITERACY—The Civic Club of Oakland recently made a donation to the Garrett County Literacy Council. The Civic Club donates funds from such fundraising activities as the Autumn Glory Antique Show, the annual quilt raffle, and other charity events. The Literacy Council tutors adults and high school dropouts in basic reading and writing. Shown above is Martha Jechowski, president of the Civic Club, right, as she presents the check to Bonnie Tucker, president of the Garrett County Literacy Council.

The last surviving member of her immediate family, she is survived by her husband, James A. Pendergast, one daughter, Joyce A. Forman, Oakland; two sons, James R. Pendergast, Hagerstown; Capt. Michael T. Pendergast, George Air Force Base, Victorville, Calif.; and five grandchildren.

Friends were received in the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was conducted Saturday at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Charles Teets officiating.

Interment was in the Terra Alta (W.Va.) Cemetery.

Memorials may be directed to the Mary Babb Cancer Center, West Virginia University Health Science Center, Morgantown, W.Va., 26506.

Northern, Southern Athletes Win Medals In State Track And Field

The Northern High School girls and boys track teams and the Southern High girls team competed in the Maryland Class A and Class 2A, respectively, Track and Field Championships Saturday at Western Maryland College and returned home with a total of six medals and several ribbons, the best showing ever by Garrett County athletes in state competition.

The Northern boys team finished ninth out of the 24 teams that scored and the Northern girls placed 14th in the Class A competition, while the Southern girls finished 11th out of 24 teams that scored in the Class 2A events.

Northern's Jerry Buckel, who dominated most of the area's long distance running, captured a silver medal in the 3,200-meter run with a time of 10:26.6 and won a bronze medal in the 800-meter run with a time of 4:34.38.

Also winning a silver medal for the Huskies was Mike Fike in the shot put with a throw of 46 feet, two inches. Jason Fazenbaker won sixth place ribbons in both the shot put (44 feet, four inches) and the discus

STUDENTS OBSERVE PHYS. ED. WEEK—Friendsville School students observed National Physical Education Week, May 2-8. In addition to enjoying days designated for wearing sports hats, t-shirts, and special buttons, students and staff participated in ACES (All Children Exercising Simultaneously). On May 8 from 10-10:15 a.m. 250 Friendsville students and staff joined five million children nationwide in organized exercise. The group was led in exercise by physical education teacher Gale Ringer. During the week, students also prepared for a physical education show which was presented to the Friendsville PTA on May 14.

For the Southern girls, Khrystie Browning won a silver medal in the 100-meter hurdles and a bronze medal in the 300-meter hurdles. Jennifer Hamilton was awarded a fifth place ribbon in the triple jump.

Rebecca Fratz led the Northern girls team by winning the bronze medal in the high jump with a leap of five feet. She also won a sixth place ribbon in the 400-meter dash.

Three Northern girls relay teams set school records at the state meet, including the 400 relay team of Jennifer Dolan, Tina Forney, Michelle McCarthy, and Cindy Graham (58.1 seconds); the 1,600 relay team of Fratz, Malinda Durst, Bobbi Dolan, and Wanda Swartzwelder (4:29); and the 3,200 relay team of Jennifer Dolan, Durst, Susannah Mathews, and Bobbi Dolan (11:22).

The Northern boys finished with a total of 24 points, the Northern girls scored seven, and the Southern girls amassed 18 points.

"This was the first time that a Southern team scored any points at the state meet," stated Southern Coach Bob Quick.

"It's great that both Garrett County schools did so well at the state level," Northern Coach Charlie Himmler said. "It really provides confidence and encouragement to future local teams."

Local Archery Results Noted

The Farmers Wildlife Association, Friendsville, reported the winners of the May 26 3-D archery competition.

Class A results were: Herb Clevenger, first; Ron Ringer, second; and Mike King, third. Class B results were: Rick Benson, first; Mike Velokoff, second; and Fred Bowser, third. Class C winners were: Butch Rice, first; Bug Fisher, second; and J.L. Thomas, third.

In the Youth Class (ages 10-16), Ryan Furer was the winner, followed by Ritchie Ringer and Jason Clevenger. Jarrod Clevenger won the Cub Class (under 10).

Phil Carr, Northern coach, said the contest will get underway at 3:30 p.m. at the Northern field and be followed by a family-style picnic. All are invited to bring a picnic basket and attend. There will be no admission charge.

Ringer Slings Hold Tournament

The Mt. Top Ringer Slings held their first tournament of the year on May 12 at Accident Park. Jesse Fearer won first place in Class A, followed by Joe Lewis and Gary Holtzschneider.

In May 26 competition, Vernon Sines was the winner in Class A, with Joe Lewis finishing second, while Gary Holtzschneider won Class B and Lonnie Artice placed second.

All winners received trophies.

The next tournament will be June 9 at the same location.

Youth Fishing Tourney Set At Herrington

In cooperation with Maryland Governor's "Get Hooked on Fishing and not Drugs" program, Herrington Manor State Park has been selected to host a youth fishing derby.

The event will take place Saturday, June 8, at Herrington Lake. Participants must be 16 years of age or under to compete for prizes. A grand prize drawing will make one participant eligible for a chartered boat trip, I.B.M. computer, and more.

Fishing tackle, hats, and "goodbye" will be distributed on a first-come, first-serve basis. Fishing will begin at 8 a.m. and end at noon. Prizes will be awarded at 12:30 p.m.

The Maryland Fisheries Administration will "sweeten" Herrington Lake with a fresh batch of channel catfish and rainbow trout. Educational programs will be available to all age groups with a professionally guided wetland ecology hike slated for 1 p.m.

For additional information and pre-registration, persons may telephone the park office at 334-9180.

Manning

third degree sex offenses, sodomy, and assault and battery. These charges were not prosecuted.

Mr. Manning's charges stem from incidents spanning approximately three years, 1987-90, during which he allegedly sexually abused a young boy.

Manning's bail was revoked, and he was remanded to the custody of the sheriff pending sentencing. Defense counsel for the defendant was Bill L. Smith.

In a separate case, Jackie G. Friend Jr., 32, Oakland, recently pleaded guilty to third degree sex offense. The plea was accepted, and Judge Thayer then ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Bail was revoked, and Friend was placed in the custody of the sheriff pending sentencing.

Friend's charge stemmed from a January incident at which time he allegedly molested a 7-year-old female in her bed at her Friendsville home. Other charges against the defendant not prosecuted were second and fourth degree sex offense, and assault and battery.

Defense counsel for Friend was John R. Toston. In other circuit court news, two men pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs (DUI) last week.

James E. Sines, 46, Meyersdale, Pa., was fined $300 plus court costs for the DUI violation. Sines was reportedly involved in a vehicular accident on January 14, which was investigated by Maryland State Police officers. The accident occurred on Rt. 546, south of the Pennsylvania state line.

John R. Toston defended Sines.

Michael B. Viragh, 42, Mountain Lake Park, was fined $350 plus court costs after pleading guilty to the DUI charge as well as to driving with an expired license. He also received a suspended sentence of 30 days in the Garrett County jail, and one year of supervised probation.

Viragh was charged on March 2 after a Md. State Police officer observed him as he drove his vehicle across the center line on Pleasant Valley Road. The officer stopped him and arrested him on the charges.

Defense attorney for Viragh was John R. Toston. Dana L. Chapman, 23, Kitzmiller, pleaded no contest to the charge of violation of probation last week. Thayer then sentenced the defendant to six months in the Garrett County jail and ordered him to be placed on four years of supervised probation.

Chapman was originally convicted of storehouse breaking and entering and theft in October 1989.

Defense attorney for the defendant was Robert C. Hesson.

Garrett County Emergency Management also dispatched Oakland firemen to the scene. Utility companies were also notified.

Festival To Host Davis, Elkins Band

The West Virginia Highlanders Band of Davis & Elkins College, Elkins, W. Va., will perform bagpipe concerts during the Fourth Annual McHenry Highland Festival at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry, this Saturday, June 1.

Just in time for the 1990 season of fairs and festivals, the West Virginia Highlanders became the official Scottish pipe and drum corps of Davis & Elkins College, a four-year liberal arts and sciences college. With a roster of more than 25 active pipers and drummers, the Highlanders have become an important element in the College's reinstated music major. Their color guard carries the flags of the United States, West Virginia, and Scotland and will be the official color guard of this year's festival.

Discussions last spring between band leaders and College officials resulted in the Highlanders' new affiliation with the college after 43 years under the sponsorship of the H.W. Daniels Post No. 29, American Legion. Thus, the College became the Highlanders' adoptive home, crystallizing the institution's Scottish Presbyterian heritage with the traditions of the MacLeod of Lewis clan, which the Highlanders have represented since their formation in 1947.

The colorful history of the organization began in 1947 in the imagination of three civic-minded members of the local American Legion who rallied support among the membership for the establishment of a bagpipe band. Following extensive research into Scottish folklore and clan history, the organization adopted the tartan of the MacLeod of Lewis clan, whose history is rooted to the Isle of Skye off the west coast of northern Scotland. Official permission to use the tartan came from Dame Flora MacLeod C.B.E., 28th Chief of the clan.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and admission is $4.00 for anyone 12 years of age and over.

appeared concerning Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings involving Richard R. Craver, 38, Swanton, who was accused in circuit court of child abuse and assault and battery. The charges were dropped by the state's attorney, as was reported. However, Craver was charged in Garrett County District Court last week with battery in the same case. He was found guilty of that charge, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by Judge Jack R. Turney.

Craver's charge stemmed from an altercation with a 16-year-old female, whom he allegedly battered with a leather belt in December 1990.

Local Woman Hurt In Mishap Near Rocky Gap Park

A McHenry woman sustained fractured ribs and a Mt. Savage woman escaped serious injury in back-to-back mishaps on U.S. Route 48 near Rocky Gap State Park Monday.

Alice Joyce Strobel, 57, suffered broken ribs when the vehicle in which she was traveling was struck from the rear and forced into another vehicle.

The chain of events began when Betty Maye Penzyl, 46, Mt. Savage, was traveling west on U.S. Route 48 in a 1986 Pontiac Grand Prix when her car hydroplaned on the wet roadway and struck the right guardrail. She was reportedly ejected from her vehicle through the driver's window and thrown across both lanes of the highway and into the median strip. She was transported to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where she was treated for minor injuries and released.

The second mishap occurred when Joseph A. Ashby Jr., 39, Oakland, operating a 1988 Dodge Dakota, slowed to avoid hitting a female pedestrian who was crossing the highway. Frank Boyle, 39, Munhall, Pa., subsequently failed to reduce speed and plowed into the rear of a 1989 Cutlass Ciera, operated by Ernest Clifford Strobel, 72, McHenry, in which Mrs. Strobel was a passenger. The Strobel car then struck the rear of the Ashby pickup before it came to rest on the guardrail.

Boyle was charged with failure to reduce speed by the Maryland State Police.

Neither Mr. Strobel, Mr. Ashby, nor Don Sincell, a passenger in the Ashby pickup were injured. All four of the local people involved had participated in Memorial Day ceremonies at Rocky Gap State Park just prior to the 2:40 p.m. mishap.

TRACTOR MISHAP

A Mtn. Lake Park man was injured last Thursday night when the farm tractor he was operating struck an embankment and a utility pole on Monte Vista Road, south of Oakland.

Robert J. Simmons, 29, was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Simmons was treated for injuries and then released following the 9:15 p.m. mishap.

The accident reportedly

AURORA- EGLON

PIONEERS MEET

Called to order by Jessica Lantz, the Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club opened its May 13 meeting at Trotter Memorial Park with the song, "Gray Squirrel." Devotions were by Traci Skiles reading "Spinning Earth" and Carla Fint, reading "Possibilities."

Courtney Fint named the committees and their membership.

Elizabeth Morgan and Lora Forman attended First Year Member's camp and reported on that event held at the county 4-H camp near Brandonville on May 12.

Meghan Durst participated in the county 4-H Days and will be taking her presentation on Indian games to the state round-up to be held in August at Jackson's Mill.

Clothing projects are due in early June. The club is sponsoring a dance at the Community Building on June 7 from 8 until 11 p.m.

Talks and demonstrations were by Jeremiah Slabaugh, Traci Skiles, Amanda Spaid, and Elizabeth Morgan.

Members in attendance were Natalie Snyder, Christina White, Charles Blamble, Danny Martin, Tina Fint, Kimberly Fike, Courtney Fint, Missy Callahan, Meghan Durst, Elizabeth Morgan, Melinda

4-H HEARS NOEL

"She Sat on Her Ham-mock" was the music committee - Becky Snyder, Regina and Michelle Shaffer and Lisa Moats following the call to order by Mark Utterback of the May 13 meeting of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club. Devotions were presented by Emily Lewis, Rhett Beckman, Beth Evans and Amanda Teets, members of the Health Committee.

Mark Utterback introduced guest speaker Joyce Noel who presented a slide program on Australia where she had served as 4-H Ambassador. The club learned of the Australian weather and customs, of local differences in dress and about their work and leisure time.

On April 8, Linda and Sara Lewis and Elaine Roth attended the program in Kingwood presented by the IFYE student, Mark Utterback reported on the April 27 County 4-H Day held at Central Preston in which he participated. Tim Harsh reported on the handicraft workshop held also on April 27. Elaine Roth reported on the activity for May 5, 4-H Sunday, when 4-H information was given to each of the churches attended by club members. Four members, Sara Snyder, Grant Harsh, Crystal Wilson, and Shawn Rembold all first year, and Emily Lewis, junior leader, attended the First Year Camper's weekend on May 10 and 11.

The club is scheduled to tour the Americana Museum in Terra Alta on May 28. Possibilities of further action such as construction of a float, trash collection, serving buckwheat cakes at the Festival, were discussed. On June 1 there is a teen leaders' meeting at the Preston County 4-H Camp when they are to do work around the camp.

June 8 at 10 a.m. is the County Style Revue at West Preston and on June 19 the State Wildlife and Forest Judging will take place with John Utterback, Kevin and Brian Corbin entering competition.

June 23 is Older Members Camp at Jackson's Mill and on July 18 the State Horticulture Judging event in which a team will be entered. Ten members plan to attend county younger camp July 22-26 with nine members attending older camp July 8-12.

The next meeting of the club will be held June 10 at the Utterback farm. Tracy Waugh will be present to conduct a council circle and talks and demonstrations will be the program. Recreation Committee is in charge of devotions and clean-up; host families are Amy and Lisa Moats and Michelle Shaffer.

Talks and demonstrations were by: Rhett Beckman, Beth Evans, Tom Teets, Melissa Frantz, Tim Harsh, Sarah Snyder, Kelly Kowalkowski, Becky Snyder, Jeffrey Wilson, Carroll Hartsell, Jeremiah Feather, and Mark Utterback.

Following dismissal, refreshments were served by the Corbin and Kowalkowski families. Those in attendance and not mentioned above were Melissa Evans, Micah Feather, Grant and Rita Harsh, Aaron Teets, Shawn Rembold, John and Katie Utterback, Elizabeth and Rebecca Wotring, Melvin Frantz, Sue Corbin, Linda Snyder, Mary and Jordan Kowalkowski.

TO CELEBRATE 90TH The family of Dora Stemple is planning a surprise 90th birthday celebration for her to be held on Sunday, June 9, at the Amboy Church social hall from 1 until 5 p.m. Friends and relatives are invited and cards will be appreciated. Those who cannot attend may send cards to her at Star Route, Box 218, Amboy, WV 26701.

GRAD OF WV TECH Benjamin Kinser Jr. of Aurora was among those receiving degrees from West Virginia Institute of Technology at Montgomery on May 11. His degree is a B.S. in electrical engineering. Kinser is the son of Benjamin and Mary Kinser of Aurora and is presently seeking employment in Florida.

ATTEND SOCIAL STUDIES FAIR Local students and their parents who attended the state Social Studies Fair held May 18 at Huntington were Kevin Corbin, Sue Corbin and Rita Harsh, Mark Utterback, Dayton Bolyard, April Sharps, Linda Sharps and Betty Bolyard. On a joint project, Sharps and Bolyard, both students at East Preston, were awarded Honorable Mention.

HOMEMAKERS LEARN CARE

On Tuesday, May 21, the Aurora Extension Homemakers met in the home of Mary Jane Hanline. Martha Bolyard's devotions dealt with "Fault Finders" and "Dealing With Others' Faults."

"Coping With Terminal Diseases" was the topic for discussion led by the hostess.

The president thanked the committees who had planned the National Extension Homemakers' Week observance and the Lions Club supper. It was decided to not participate in the Preston Memorial microfish cards. The club did join the Preston County Visitors and Convention Bureau for one year.

A letter from Hopemont announced that June 22 is the annual West Virginia Day celebration there.

Opal Myers, president, reported on the activities of the President's Day tour which included a luncheon cruise on an Ohio river boat, a visit to Imperial Craft, Independence Hall, Fortaria Glass, and Oglebay Park on May 16 and thanked the club for sending her. She also displayed a new craft, a flower made from embroidery floss.

Door prizes went to Dorothy Spaid and Lydia Harsh. Members present were Wilda Wilt, Fern Jamison, Martha Bolyard, Dorothy Spaid, Sue Mayne, Betty Fint, Opal Myers, Mary Jane Hanline, Virginia Martin, and guests were Lydia Harsh and Cleota Hoisington, and two children.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED Teresa Ann DeLauder and her niece, Lora Marie Forman, were honored on Saturday evening, May 25, with a dinner at the Cathedral Ole Towne Restaurant. The occasion was in observance of their birthdays, Teresa's occurring on May 23 and Lora's on May 27. On her birthday, Teresa was presented with a cake made by Rita Sue Harsh and Lora received an ice cream cake on her birthday along with both receiving other gifts. Attending the dinner were an aunt, Nancy Wiles, of Grafton, grandparents David and Edith Robinson of Tunnelton, Arthur and Janice Forman (Lora's parents), Pat, Joey and A.J. DeLauder and the host and hostess, Fred and Dortha Forman.

Mrs. Myrtle Forman of Amboy will observe her 99th birthday on June 1. In early celebration of the event (and because family members could be present), a dinner was held at her Amboy home on Sunday, May 26. Mrs. Forman was presented with gifts and a birthday cake decorated with 99 yellow roses. The cake was made and decorated by Dean Sisler and was a gift from her daughter-in-law, Dortha Forman.

Attending the covered dish dinner were weekend guests, daughter Erma Forman of Arlington, Va., Howard and Jeff Wiles all of Oakton, Va. Also Luann Moyers, Glenville, Chuck, Sandra, Jerry, Craig and Joanna Snodderly of Fairmont, Elizabeth Hussey of Fairmont, daughter Nancy Wiles of Grafton, Charles Helmick, Dale, Carolyn, Jason and Sara McVicker, all of Reedsville, Velma Helmick, Kingwood, Pat, Teresa, Joey and A.J. DeLauder, Arthur David, Janice and Lora Forman, Sara Snyder, Fred and Dortha Forman, all local and Audrey Cathael of Rowlesburg.

Ronald Parsons of Eglon was surprised on Saturday evening, May 25 with a gathering of friends and relatives in observance of his 80th birthday which will be June 11. Planned by his children and held at the Maple Spring Church, all were in attendance and included Carleton and Jean Skipper of Kingwood, John and Shirley Parsons of Aurora, and his daughter-in-law, Evelyn Parsons of Hedgesville. Grandchildren and their children in attendance were Brent, Leslie and Brandon Skipper of Bel Air, Md., and Carla Skipper of Morgantown; Leonard and Steve Parsons of Aurora, George and Rhonda White of Aberdeen, Md., Van, Janet and Tasha Marceau of Martinsburg. His wife, Avenell Parsons and her children, Sandra and Beth, Gary and Frances Roth, Chris, Jason and Laren, Bruce and Mary Rembold, Shawn and Craig, all local and his brother and sister-in-law, Keith and Muriel Parsons of Kingwood were also present.

SCOTT DIXON RETURNS Scott Dixon returned to Amboy last week when his unit of WVNG, the 328th Quartermaster, returned from Saudi Arabia where they had been deployed in early January. A welcome home dinner in his honor was held on Sunday at the Amboy United Methodist Church.

PERSONAL MENTION Jane May of Jackson,

Garrett Transit Service Holds Annual Banquet

The Seventh Annual Transportation Banquet was held by Garrett Transit Service on Saturday, May 18 at the Bittinger Fire Hall.

The program was moderated by Linda Green, transportation director, and Bonnie Zimmerman, transportation coordinator. Duane Yoder, executive director for Community Action Committee, Inc., greeted the staff and guests. Linda Green introduced special guests as follows: Delegate George Edwards, Maryland House of Delegates; Lowell Bender, Garrett Community College; Russell Pugh, Maryland Public Service Commission; Ms. Nancy Reigler, Maryland Mass Transit Administration; Charles Ross, Jack Teats, and Earl George, Community Action Committee Board members; and Craig Speicher, photographer for The Republican.

Dinner was served following the invocation given by Rev. Jake Paugh. After dinner the group was addressed by Diane Ratcliff from Maryland Mass Transit Administration. Ms. Ratcliff expressed appreciation for Garrett Transit, and cited the need for continuing transportation operations throughout Maryland communities.

The Keynote address was followed by music and light entertainment provided by Pamela Harris from Washington, D.C. and Beth Paugh, Garrett Transit Service.

Linda Green recognized volunteers to the program for time donated and services provided. Those honored were: Roy Zimmerman, TRANSPORTATION WORKERS HONORED - The Garrett Transit Service held its seventh annual awards banquet recently at the Bittinger fire hall, at which they honored several employees for their outstanding work the past year. Beth Paugh and Hazel Broadwater, secretaries; Lawrence Ford, senior dispatcher/driver; Terry Murphy, dispatcher/driver; Ray Teets, certifier/driver; Beth Cannon, clerk; and John Miller, senior aide, Accident Office Manager.

Arden Green, program mechanic, was recognized for outstanding maintenance on the vehicle fleet.

An award for "Outstanding Headstart Team" was incorporated into the program. Cited for safe and effective performance throughout the school year were Dale Severe, driver, and Connie Tasker, bus aide.

Mary Jane Gnegy, director of administration and finance, presented the "1991 Office Employee of the Year Award" to Beth Paugh. Mrs. Paugh is secretary to Linda Green, program director. Mrs. Green made the following comments regarding this year's recipient, "Beth is very deserving of this award. She has been a dedicated employee to the program. In addition, she has given of herself above and beyond the call of duty."

The 1991 recipients of the "Driver of the Year" awards were John Shahan Jr. and Judas (Judy) Van Meter. Shahan has been employed with Garrett Transit Service since 1984 and Van Meter has been with the Agency since 1989. The Driver of the Year is selected by client ballot and by the votes of the transportation staff. Linda Green added her endorsement to the selection by stating, "Each driver chosen is certainly deserving of the honor. Judy is a favorite of the senior citizens and the Headstart children. John is a real asset to our cause. He is always willing to take on the distance trips to Baltimore, Washington, etc., and this is a particular help to scheduling. In addition, both drivers are safe and conscientious with their work."

Bill To Increase Interstate Speed Limit Vetoed By Gov. Schaefer

A bill that would have increased the current speed limit of 55 mph on certain interstate highways in the state of Maryland to 65 mph was vetoed last week by Governor William Donald Schaefer, who reportedly stated that concern for the safety of motorists was the main reason for his decision, and cited fuel economy as another reason.

District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards, co-sponsor of the bill, stated this week that he was "disappointed" by the governor's veto and did not agree with "all of his reasoning." Edwards was one of many who testified on the bill at a hearing held early last week. Testimony extolling both the pros and cons of the issue was heard by the governor at that time. In addition, a reported 3,000 calls and letters were received by the governor's office, making the speed limit bill one of the most controversial bills of the 1991 season.

Edwards stated that the House Judiciary Committee will decide whether or not to attempt an override of the governor's decision to veto. He noted that the increase would only have affected certain of the state's interstate highways (including the part of Rt. 48 which will soon be designated as Rt. 68). The bill would not have affected the speed limit on highways in business districts, on divided or undivided highways in residential district or undivided highways in other locations. He added that federally designated speed limits would also not have been changed.

Collins-Shaffer Vows Exchanged

Catherine Ann Collins and Timothy Michael Shaffer were united in marriage October 27, 1990. The double-ring ceremony took place in Sterling, Va., with the Rev. Henry Wade officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Maureen Winans of Sterling, and Norman Collins, of Gainesville, Va. Mr. Shaffer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Perry Shaffer Sr., Oakland.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a high-necked gown of white tulle with a silk lace covered bodice and bouffant sleeves. Tiny satin buttons descended from the top of the neckline to the low waistline. The full dirndl skirt fell to a sweeping full-length train beneath a modified bustle. She wore a pearl and gold headpiece with a cathedral-length veil. Her cascading bouquet consisted of white roses, deep blue baby mums, white carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Serving as her sister's matron of honor was Lisa Schap. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Webb, Kim Hitchborn, Karen Sealock and Susan O'Brien, sister of the bridegroom. The attendants, carrying white orchid nosegays, wore deep royal blue taffeta gowns.

Serving as his brother's best man was Joseph Shaffer. Ushers were Hugh Shaffer, brother of the groom, James Collins, brother of the bride, Thomas Schap, brother-in-law of the bride, and Michael O'Brien, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Christopher Shaffer, son of the groom, and Christopher Schap, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearers. The groom and all his men wore traditional black tuxedos.

A reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Home with a buffet luncheon. A three-tier strawberry layered wedding cake was topped with a miniature china bride and groom. Cynthia Evans, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests.

Following a honeymoon trip to St. Lucia, the couple established residence in Haymarket, Va.

The bride is a graduate of O'Connell High School and attended Northern Virginia Junior College in Annandale, Va. She is employed as an executive assistant to the director of federal operations with Tandem Computers in Reston, Va.

Mr. Shaffer, a U.S. Navy veteran, is a graduate of Southern High School, Oakland, and Control Data Institute, Arlington, Va. He is a systems analyst with Tandem Computers.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner the evening preceding the wedding in Sterling, Va.

The bride was honored with two pre-nuptial showers: one by Lisa Schap in Bowie, and another by fellow employees at Tandem Computers.

GOBA Discusses Circus, Billboard; Minutes Noted

The Greater Oakland Business Association held its regular meeting on May 14 and discussed several topics, including the Robert Brothers Circus, the new business directory billboard, the "Best of the West Triathlon."

The association members decided to hold a pre-circus promotion from May 31 until June 5, which is the day of the circus. Several promotional activities will be conducted during that time, including a clown contest involving business representatives on June 5th, a Circus Day Sale scheduled for May 30th through June 5th, and the sale of display banners for businesses. If any business wishes to participate in the activities, representatives may contact Teresa Feather at 334-3016.

Show times for the circus are 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. on June 5 at the Mid-Towns Plaza. Advance tickets for adults are $6, children $3.

GOBA members discussed a recent meeting concerning the business directory billboard. Steve Prosser of Creative Marketing, Grantsville, submitted a design that will be used. The sign will be made of impregnated Fiberglass, and will be eight feet wide and four and a half feet high with legs.

Three locations for the billboard are being considered between Naylor's and Naylor's Auto Parts, on the side of the Garrett Crossroads building, or at the municipal parking lot.

The "Best of the West Triathlon" will be held August 24 and 25. The event is sponsored by the Garrett Sports League and the Wisp LOSE A LITTLE, GAIN A LOT — That's what students at Red House Elementary School discovered when they recently had to give up their stage to make way for a new computer lab/library. When the stage was enclosed, students and teachers found themselves facing a large, blank wall at the end of the cafeteria. To remedy that situation, Sharon DiGirola, art teacher, planned a mural there based on favorite literary characters, and executed the painting with the help of all 160 Red House students. The PTA provided the art materials, and DiGirola and a local artist, Rick Lantz, put the final touches on the mural, which was recently unveiled at the school's Excellence Fair. As for the new computer lab/library room, a computer-assisted math instruction is being implemented there three days per week, with Helen Ridder, media assistant, facilitating use of the computers and conducting media classes. Teachers and assistants have reportedly spent many extra hours acquainting themselves with classroom management procedures in the lab, as well as integrating available programs with Garrett County curriculum. Shown in the photos are students contributing to the mural and final product of their labor.

Resort. The exact location was not known at the GOBA meeting.

Another topic discussed concerned Community Action, which is asking for donations. The donations will be used to honor the drivers for the group. Individual businesses may respond to the request, according to the GOBA minutes.

Other items included some discussion of the flower barrels in town. Persons who need information concerning the color schemes should contact Green Acres.

The additions center will open soon in the former Rolyan's building.

Garrett County General Services Department is compiling a reference list of available office space in the Oakland area. Persons who are interested in the information may contact Gary Mullich at 334-1928.

The next meeting of the Greater Oakland Business

Association is scheduled for Tuesday, June 11, at 1 p.m. at Cornish Manor. All members are invited to attend.

Alcohol And Tobacco Tax Revenue Shared

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says the alcohol and tobacco tax revenue collected by his office for January, February and March, 1991, will yield $4,585,919 in shared revenue for the state's 23 counties and Baltimore City. The distribution is down 5.5% from the amount distributed for the same months of 1990, and results from a falloff in alcohol and tobacco tax revenue.

Alcohol and tobacco tax revenues for the first ten months of fiscal year 1991 total $66,186,442, down one-half of one percent from the $66,518,206 collected for the same period of the previous fiscal year. Beer tax revenue shows a slight increase, while distilled spirits, wine and tobacco tax receipts all declined from the same period of the previous year.

For the January to March, 1991, quarter, the distilled spirits tax provided $855,226 to the localities, or 8.2% less than the corresponding quarter of last year. The local subdivisions receive approximately one-third of the $1.50 per gallon distilled spirits for each gallon of liquor delivered to retail licensees within their jurisdiction.

The beer tax yielded $802,680 to the subdivisions, down 13.9% from the same quarter of fiscal year 1990. One-half of the nine cents per gallon beer tax is returned to the subdivisions, based on deliveries to local retailers.

Maryland's subdivisions realized $2,928,012 from the cigarette tax, or 2.1% less than the amount distributed for the same quarter of fiscal year 1990. Distribution of the cigarette tax is based on a formula returning approximately three cents of the 13 cents per pack tax to local jurisdictions in proportion to their population.

For the first three quarters of fiscal year 1991, Maryland's subdivisions have received $16,088,326 in alcohol and tobacco tax revenue, or 2.4% less than for the same nine month period last year.

Garrett County received $3,943.61 in distilled spirits tax revenue, $4,560.02 in beer tax revenue, and $13,304.97 in tobacco tax revenue for the third quarter of FY 1991.

FUNB Hosts "Shadow Day" For Students

First United National Bank and Trust (FUNB) recently hosted a simulated work experience day, known as "Shadow Day," for Northern High School senior business students. This is the first time an area business has offered this formalized program to the Garrett County Board of Education, according to a spokesperson from the bank.

The shadowing process was developed through a collaboration between Judy Giffin, First United's Personal Economics Program coordinator, and JoAnn Vent, job placement advisor for the Career Employability Program.

Prior to the actual Shadow Day, Giffin visited the participating classes to discuss the upcoming program with the students. The students then individually chose two areas of the bank they would most like to visit.

An hour orientation was provided upon the students' arrival at the bank, with a welcome by Giffin. The students also heard Barbara Sweitzer, FUNB personnel administrator, who spoke about what the bank looks for in an employee. Presentations were also given by Phil Frantz, vice-president and controller; Jeannette Rudy Fitzwater, director of marketing; and Shirley Fitzwater, assistant vice-president and trust officer. These three presenters demonstrated how their areas of expertise were unique among some of the other areas of the banking operation.

Between the morning and afternoon sessions, the students were treated to pizza and soft drinks. During that time, Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the board and president of FUNB, officially welcomed the students. "We are very excited to offer this program to our Garrett County students," he told the students, adding, "We hope this program will give you a first-hand look at the opportunities available in banking. Much has changed in banking over the years, and this leaves a lot of opportunity for those of you who may consider a career in banking after high school or college."

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County Schools, also attended the luncheon break. "I want to thank Mr. Stanton and his staff for their efforts with this Shadow Day experience," he stated. "This is only one of the many ways First United has assisted the schools in recent years. They offer banking presentations regularly, provide seminars on college financing, and reward students for top citizenship scores, among other unique projects. We have a true partnership in education with First United," he added.

Following Shadow Day, Giffin again visited the classrooms and led a discussion with the students about their particular experiences in different areas of the bank. "The purpose of this session was to help the students realize how all the different departments of the bank work together to eventually serve the customer," she stated.

The births of two infants this week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital were announced this morning by a hospital spokesman.

A daughter was born May 23 to David William Jr. and Carol Lynn Roy Lantz, Oakland.

A son was born May 28 to Eli C. and Ida Mae Hostettler Swartzentruber, Oakland.

Admissions were listed at 54 with 60 discharges. This morning's census shows 33 patients.

George and Tonya Moon, Oakland, announce the birth of a son at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, on Monday, May 27.

GARRETT COUNTY NOTICE OF A PROPOSED PROPERTY TAX INCREASE.

The County Commissioners of Garrett County propose to increase property taxes.

- 1). For the tax year beginning July 1, 1991, the estimated assessable base will increase by 4.6%, from $514,483,408* to $538,357,271.
- 2). If Garrett County maintains the current tax rate of $2.24 per $100 of assessment, property tax revenues will increase by 4.6%, resulting in $534,775 of new property tax revenues.
- 3). In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the property tax rate should be reduced to $2.14, the constant yield tax rate.
- 4). The County is considering not reducing its property tax rate enough to offset increasing assessments.

The County proposes to adopt a tax rate of $2.24 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 4.6% higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $534,775 in additional property tax revenues.

A Public Hearing on the proposed property tax increase will be held at 7:00 p.m., on June 4, 1991 at Commissioners' Meeting Room, County Courthouse, Oakland, MD.

The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged. Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call:

The Good Foods of SUMMER

It doesn't matter where you look, signs marking the summer season are everywhere—from the aroma of beef sizzling on the charcoal grill to California's bounty of juicy-sweet peaches, plums and nectarines filling up produce aisles from May through September.

Definitely one of the best parts of summer is eating. And these recipes follow the summer cook's motto, "fresh food simply prepared." They're all fast and easy, deliver superb flavor and each has something new in terms of seasoning or presentation.

Today's leaner sirloin steaks get updated with a dry rub, then are cooked until just rare or medium for best flavor. Create your own burger bar so it's easy for everyone to add their choice of topping. For the juiciest burgers, shape them gently into patties, grill over medium coals and flip only once.

Fruit salads are refreshing accompaniments to grilled meats and this one offers a choice of dressings with pureed fruit added in for more summer flavor. Colorful fruits also make desserts look and taste special. A medley of nature's best including Bartlett pears, available mid-July through November, makes this tart worth serving often.

For a low-cal cooler, puree a favorite fruit, add ice and splash in soda, then fire up the grill. It's time.

BBQ TIDBITS

- Heavy Ford of Model T fame introduced us to the charcoal appetizer which sparked the popularity of backyard BBQs. And it all happened because he couldn't tolerate waste.
- This brilliant invention was the solution for turning leftover wood scraps from car frames into a new, reusable product. Originally sold through car dealerships as Ford charcoal, it's now sold under the Kingsford (charcoal) name. Today, the dollar charcoal briquet industry keeps about one million tons of wood scraps out of the solid waste stream.
- It's the real wood in briquets that's responsible for the true flavor of barbecue.

- To complement the woody aroma of charcoal cooking with extra flavor, soak fresh herbs in water, then add directly to hot coals and let them smolder. BBQ beef, my drizzle, dill or tarragon.
- Charcoal versus gas—which one grills a better burger? According to blind taste tests conducted across the country, the majority of judges picked charcoal grilled burgers for best BBQ flavor.
- Take advantage of the longer heat premium briquets offer and grill up more meat for a fast midweek supper. Slice into salads or reheat in microwave.

FRUIT RIPENING TIP

To ripen fruit, place in a heavily closed paper bag and leave at room temperature. Check daily for fruit that gives to gentle palm pressure and has a fragrant aroma. Bartlett pears turn from green to yellow when ripe. Enjoy ripe fruit right away or store in the refrigerator.

Perfect Grilled Burgers

- 2 pounds ground beef (80 percent lean)
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 8 hamburger rolls, halved and toasted

Shape ground beef into eight 1/2-inch thick patties. Place patties on grid over medium coals. Grill 10 minutes for medium doneness, turning once. Season with salt and pepper, after turning. Place grilled burgers on roll bottoms; top with desired condiments. Close sandwiches with roll tops. Makes 8 servings.

Note: Burgers may also be cooked in a covered grill. Decrease cooking time to 8 minutes for medium doneness.

To finish Perfect Grilled Burgers, top as desired.

- English-Style: chopped tomato, crumbled cooked bacon and horseradish sauce
- Spicy Southwestern: prepared corn relish
- Italian: sliced mozzarella cheese, thinly sliced plum tomatoes and fresh basil leaves
- All-American: sliced sharp Cheddar cheese and crumbled cooked bacon
- Greek: crumbled feta cheese, minced fresh oregano and tomato slices

Chili Corn

- 8 ears fresh sweet corn, in husks
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin

Pull back corn husks from each ear of corn, leaving husks attached to the base. Remove corn silk. Fold husks around corn; tie at the end of each ear with string or a strip of one of the outside corn leaves. Soak corn in cold water 1 hour. Remove from water. Place corn on grid over medium coals, turning frequently, until tender, about 20 to 30 minutes. Meanwhile, melt butter; add chili powder and cumin. Serve corn with chili butter. Yield: 8 ears corn.

Grilled Pepper Herb Steak

- 3-pound boneless beef sirloin steak, cut 2 inches thick
- 1/2 teaspoon cracked black pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
- Salt, to taste

Combine oregano and black pepper. Press herb mixture evenly into both sides of beef sirloin steak. Place steak on grid over medium-low coals; cover grill. Grill 25 to 36 minutes for rare (140°F) to medium (160°F) doneness, turning steak occasionally. Let stand 10 minutes before carving into slices. Boneless beef sirloin steak will yield four, 3-ounce cooked, trimmed servings per pound.

Note: Beef sirloin steak may also be cooked on an open grill. Increase time to 34 to 40 minutes for rare to medium doneness, turning frequently.

No-Bake Summer Fruit Tart

- 1 package (8 ounces) light cream cheese, softened
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 prepared 9-inch no-bake chocolate crumb crust
- 1 each fresh California nectarine, peach and Bartlett pear
- 2 fresh California plums
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup peach, apricot or ginger preserves, warmed

In small bowl, beat cream cheese, sugar and vanilla extract until smooth. Spread over bottom of pie crust. Chill until firm. Cut fruit into 1/2-inch thick slices. Arrange fruit decoratively in a circular fashion, skin-side up on cream cheese layer. Brush fruit with preserves. Serve immediately. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Tip: To preserve color of fruit, dip slices in 1 teaspoon lemon juice mixed with 1 cup water.

Festive Fruit Salad

- 2 each fresh California nectarines and peaches, sliced
- 2 fresh California Bartlett pears, sliced
- 4 fresh California plums, sliced
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Honey-Plum Dressing or Creamy Peach Curry Dressing (recipes below)

In large bowl, lightly toss fruit with lemon juice. Chill. Serve fruit salad with dressing of choice. Makes 8 servings.

Honey-Plum Dressing

- 2 fresh California plums, cut into chunks
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/2 cup plain nonfat yogurt or mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup sliced almonds, toasted

In blender, puree plums and honey. Blend in yogurt. Chill. Spoon over individual fruit salad servings. Garnish each with 1 tablespoon almonds. Makes about 2 cups.

Creamy Peach Curry Dressing

- 1 fresh California peach or nectarine, cut into chunks
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 1 carton (8 ounces) plain nonfat yogurt
- 1/4 cup flaked coconut
- 1/2 cup chopped peanuts for garnish, optional

In blender, puree peach, vinegar, honey and curry powder. Stir in yogurt and coconut. Chill. Spoon over individual fruit salad servings. Garnish each with 1 tablespoon peanuts. Makes 2 cups.

REFLECTIONS

Graduation is it a beginning, an ending, or possibly, a stop along the way?

Graduation is a beginning of life as a young adult charting an unfamiliar course, a beginning of new friendships and fresh concepts of higher education or a fulfilling occupation. Certainly, graduation is a beginning.

Graduation may also bring endings to familiar surroundings and comfortable routines, to old friendships, a setting aside of childhood fears and second-hand ideas. Yes, graduation may signify endings.

Perhaps, graduation is a significant stop along the way, a preparatory pause, a fork in the road. Indeed, the word itself means a gradual transition, a step on life's ladder, a time to remember the past to ponder the present, and to dream of the future.

Whatever graduation means to you, feel proud of your accomplishment, and praise God for providing you with strength and guidance. Worship Him regularly so that you may continue to receive His direction during this most meaningful time in your life.

CONGRATULATIONS GRADUATES!

CAN YOU GO HOME AGAIN?

June 2, 1991

Background Scripture: Ezra 1
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 45:1-8

Ever since Thomas Wolfe wrote his novel, You Can't Go Home Again, that sentiment has become a commonplace in our society: you can't go home again—you can't go back to what was.

Actually, one can answer the question, "Can you go home again?" with both a "yes" and a "no." It is true that the "home" we go back to is never the same. The Reading, PA, of my childhood memories is not the same Reading I see when I go back to make periodic visits. The former—if it existed at all—exists no longer.

That doesn't mean I get no pleasure from going back there, but it is quite different from what I knew, and sometimes those differences are painful.

When I was a teenager at church camp in Perkasie, PA, I was enthralled by the spiritual experiences I had in a woodland dell where we met twice a day for worship. Years later, when I had graduated from college and seminary and camp were no longer being held there, I had an opportunity to go back. I turned to the dell, wondering if it would still be the same. I was saddened to find it overgrown and in obvious disuse. It was no longer my spiritual "home."

VIDEO BIJOU

'Sure Thing,' 'Four Seasons' reader's guilty pleasures

By Steven Alan McGaw

Many thanks to Christy C. of Hurst, Texas, who wrote in with two of her "guilty pleasures" videos, those movies you might just be a wee bit embarrassed to rent repeatedly... or even once. Christy's picks, however, don't sound too bad, especially the first one. The Sure Thing (1985). I'm with you, Christy. This film's terrific because it's hilarious and has a lot of heart, as well John Cusack sets out from his Eastern college with no-nonsense Daphne Zuniga. Their destination is California, where she's to meet her nerdy boyfriend, and Cusack's promised a date with a beautiful girl who can't (or won't) say no. Rob Reiner directed this gem, with fine supporting work from Anthony Edwards and Viveca Lindfors. It's Cusack's performance, however, that really makes the film, his timing is impeccable. (It's worth the price of rental just to see the credit card scene!)

The Four Seasons (1981). I'm not the Alan Alda fan Christy is (she's "enamored of his mind"), but this movie is pretty enjoyable. It's a quiet movie with some very thoughtful things to say about marriage and life in the suburbs. Carol Burnett, Rita Moreno, Jack Weston and Bess Armstrong all turn in fine performances. And Christy's right, Alda and Burnett's sleepy dialogue in the boat is priceless. (You find out what kept them awake!)

HOROSCOPE

June 2 through June 8

By C.C. Clark

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
This is the week for being in the right place at the right time. Good things are bound to happen if you keep that positive attitude. Let others carry the ball.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Taking care of health matters for you or loved ones should be your highest priority. Preventive medicine could make your future even brighter.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)
It is time for you to take some time off and rest. If you don't slow down the pace, there could be big problems later. Don't let others try to tell you otherwise.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
Stop being such a perfectionist, especially on the domestic front. You are driving your loved ones crazy. They are only looking for you to accept them as they are.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)
A new locale for business and pleasure is on the horizon for you. Don't take shortcuts when dealing with financial matters, it could cause problems.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)
A friend or relative needs your loving support this week. Anytime you can spend with them will be greatly appreciated. Avoid being condescending.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)
New clothes or a stylish new haircut can do wonders for your attitude. You needn't go on a major shopping spree. Just add a few refined touches to what you already have.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)
Don't let financial matters cause you distress this week. Some compromises with a loved one will make your life easier. Concentrate on needs rather than wants.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)
Sit back and relax with a good book. You will be amazed how beneficial a little time off can be for your sense of well-being. Put mundane tasks on the back burner.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)
Your career may need to take a back seat to your love life this week. In other words, don't let work interfere with your enjoyment of loved ones.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
A change in the workplace could be just what you need this week. Take advantage of your free time and do something special for a close friend.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Laughing at your mistakes will help you through some tough times. Your jovial manner will also help ease the tension with others. Think about what is truly important.

Rock'n'roll here to stay on ABC concert series

Artists to give live performances

By Mary Ana Towand

It's a given that rock'n'roll is here to stay, and live rock'n'roll is going to stay on ABC for at least the next 14 weeks.

The network revives a 20-year-old concept when it presents live performances by some of the music industry's hottest acts on ABC's In Concert '91. The one-hour show, premiering Friday, June 7, will take the place of Into the Night starring Rick Dees on Fridays through Sept. 6.

In 1972 ABC developed the rock-oriented In Concert as one of many late-night entertainment segments designed to give viewers something other than talk shows to watch. It ran on Fridays until March 23, 1975.

"We are delighted to create a showcase for rock music on commercial television again," said Phil Beuth, president of early morning and late-night entertainment for ABC.

The version that starts Friday will feature contemporary acts such as The Black Crowes, The Cult, INXS, Lenny Kravitz, Mötley Crüe, and many more.

However, some musicians who appeared on the In Concert series in the mid-1970s are still going strong and will be featured this year. Artists like Rod Stewart, David Bowie and Donald Fagan (who was with Steeley Dan) have signed up to perform.

At press time no agenda had been set for who would play when, however, each week will focus on a distinct and particular rock music genre. Each show will spotlight three leading artists performing live and will showcase a "breakout" artist or group.

Red Stewart (pictured), Cher, INXS, Elvia Costello and Lenny Kravitz will make a rock'n'roll visit to ABC's In Concert '91, airing late-night Fridays.

ENTERTAINMENT NEWS

Don't look for a burial of J.R. anytime soon

J.R. blew himself (and the competition) away with Dallas' series ender May 3. CBS clobbered NBC and ABC before the fatal shot was fired, but did J.R. really kill himself? Former Dallas-ite Victoria Principal said she refused to participate in the finale because the show's producers wouldn't guarantee her it would be the last.

Give Susan Lucci the Emmy. The All My Children star has been nominated again this year for the daytime honor, upping her total nominations to a record-setting 12. She has never won. The awards show airs June 27 on CBS.

Twin Peaks fans tried to rescue the show from ABC's cancellation list, but to no avail. The saga's final season hurrah winds down June 10. Take heart Peaks lovers. Director David Lynch has plans to launch Twin Peaks: The Movie.

James Garner will make his TV comedy series debut in Man of the People, a pilot for NBC. His characters have always had wit, and this one's no different. He plays a con artist who suddenly finds himself taking his late ex-wife's seat on the city council.

Trials of Rosie O'Neill star Sharon Gless married her longtime companion and producer, Barney Rosenzweig, in a Malibu sunset ceremony on May 4. At 47, it's Gless' first marriage. It's Rosenzweig's third, he's 53. In an interview with Gless last fall, she said the show is keeping her and Barney so busy they don't have time to date. "But at least I always know where he's at," she kidded.

A waitress and student (Valerie Bertinelli) fears her child will be taken away, Tuesday on CBS.

Larry Hagman as J.R.

Academy Award-winning director Woody Allen will, for the first time, write and direct TV commercials. Allen has signed a contract with Italy's National Association of Consumer Cooperatives for a rumored $3 billion lire ($2.35 million) for five spots.

Don't look now, but Donald Sutherland and Julie Christie are teaming up again after 18 years. Sutherland and Christie, who starred together in the 1973 thriller Don't Look Now, will co-star in The Railway Station Man, a TNT drama slated to air early in 1992. Christie will play a middle-aged widow whose chance meeting with an eccentric recluse disrupts her solitary life.

Broadway star Eva Hander walked off stage in the middle of a performance of I Hate Hamlet. Hander exited after star Nicol Williamson lectured him in front of the audience and then hit him over the head with a sword during a dueling scene. An understudy finished the show, and Hander has quit.

Alan Thicke's Parlane vacation becomes a nightmare on ABC's Growing Pains, Wednesday.

STEVE'S BEAT

Overseas interest may save 'Twin Peaks' from the ax

By Steven Alan McGaw

Twin Peaks fans, take heart. The show may yet be saved; it seems the quirky David Lynch series is a big hit in many overseas markets. It may be that the profits from syndication abroad could offset the weird, lovable serial's high production costs and keep Agent Cooper on the job. Keep your fingers crossed.

Nelvana Ltd., the production company behind animated children's characters like Ewoks, Droids and Babar the Elephant, now is planning a live-action version of the French comic book Barbarella. Producers are hoping to market the series as a prime-time offering.

Way Out Pictures has plans for a film biography of boxing legend Sonny Liston. The film will likely examine Liston's tremendous success in the ring, as well as his alleged ties to the underworld.

Martin Sheen has signed to host a new series for cable's The Learning Channel. Titled Played in the USA, the series is billed as a "celebration of American music."

Danny DeVito's next project is titled Jack the Bear, in which DeVito plays the host of a late-night horror movie show. Marshall Herskovitz will direct from a screenplay by Steve Zaillian.

Debating last month at the Cannes Film Festival was Prospero's Book, director Peter Greenaway's loose retelling of Shakespeare's The Tempest.

PERSONALITY PORTRAIT

Robin Leach began career as general news reporter

By Lisa Otupol

Each week, Robin Leach brings champagne wishes and caviar dreams to millions of viewers as he searches for the best of the good life. But what many viewers don't know is that Leach started his career as a news reporter, and it's only been in the last 10 years that he's been living the good life.

Leach began his journalism career at the age of 15 in England as a general news reporter for the Harrow Observer and then moved on to the Daily Mail. At that time he was Britain's youngest reporter. When he was 21 he moved to New York and wrote for a number of publications. Leach became the showbusiness editor for The Star.

In 1980, Leach joined CNN's People Tonight after reporting for morning shows in Los Angeles and New York. He also reported for Entertainment Tonight. In 1983, Leach and the president and founder of TeleReps developed Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous. Leach wanted a show that looked at the celebrities intimately and made millions and moguls into stars. Four years later, Runaway With the Rich and Famous premiered, and a new show, Home Videos of the Stars, is expected to debut this fall.

Leach has authored three books and is now working on his first novel. In addition to his television shows, he does voice-overs for numerous commercials that stress the good life.

CHILDREN'S CHOICE

M.C. Hammer raps his way into ABC's cartoonland

By Amy Schmidt

Kids can look forward to four new adventure-packed cartoons this fall on ABC. Here's a quick rundown of what to expect:

Hammerman — M.C. Hammer ought to be in pictures. Now he is. The Grammy-winning rapper is animated and sent back to his pre-fame past. Stanley Kirk Burrell (Hammer's real name) dreams of making it to the musical big time. One day Stanley stumbles across a pair of "magic dancing" shoes, and when he puts them on, he becomes "Hammerman," superhero and champion of children.

Land of the Lost — This live-action adventure capitalizes on the latest dinosaur craze. It centers on a single father and his son and daughter caught in an earthquake while camping. A great shift in the firmament plunges the trio deep underground and into a prehistoric world of man-eating dinosaurs from which they can't escape.

The Pirates of Dark Water — A watery, otherworldly race is on to save the planet. The show chronicles an animated young hero's quest to save a dying underwater world. Ren can save the planet of Mer by recovering 13 stolen crown jewels that impart mystical powers.

Darkwing Duck — Here are the adventures of a kooky, tongue-in-cheek superhero. Darkwing Duck launches his battles against an assortment of evildoers in the Disney-produced cartoon.

Lupus Meeting Set For Tuesday

The Western Maryland Subchapter of the Maryland Lupus Foundation will sponsor a lecture on Medications and the Side Effects to be held Tuesday, June 4, 7 p.m., at the Joseph D. Brandenburg Center in Cumberland. John Beckman, pharmacist, will present the program which is free and open to persons with lupus and the public.

Lupus is a chronic inflammatory disease that strikes an individual's immune system and may affect any organ of the body. The Western Maryland Subchapter sponsors a monthly support group on the first Tuesday of each month, 7 p.m., at the Brandenburg Center. The self-help group assists persons with Lupus and their families in coping with a life changed by this chronic and unpredictable disease.

For more information, persons may call Rae Ellen Finn, Subchapter coordinator, at 777-7858 or the Maryland Lupus Foundation, 1-800-777-0934.

First Quarter Entertainment Spending Steady

The economic downturn and the Persian Gulf war did not cause a significant falloff in Marylanders' taxable entertainment spending, but they did appear to hold back any growth, according to State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. Consumers spent about $89 million or only one-third of one percent less on entertainment spending during January, February and March 1991, than during the same three months of the previous year.

"Citizens were staying home during January and February, watching the war on television," Goldstein said. "In addition, the same unemployment problems that have affected income and sales tax revenues also appear to have had an impact on entertainment spending."

Despite these factors, increased spending for movies and the mild winter weather that attracted golfers helped to offset the losses suffered in other traditional areas of entertainment spending. Maryland's counties, cities and towns are receiving $6.3 million in admissions and amusement tax revenue resulting from the taxable entertainment spending, about 1.6% less than the $6.4 million they received for the same quarter last year.

Marylanders spent about $19.6 million on motion pictures, a 15% increase over the same period last year. "The box office success of movies this winter contributed to the increase statewide spending for motion pictures," Goldstein said.

Golf greens fees, cart rentals and driving ranges were responsible for consumer spending of about $2.4 million, up 38.6%. "The warmer weather apparently drew golfers out in force, while spending on shows and exhibits, a popular winter time activity, actually declined by 29.8%, to $5.7 million," the comptroller said.

While traditional winter spending for skating and skate show rentals increased by 15.8% to about $1.2 million, admissions to athletic events declined by 3%, to $16.5 million.

"All of this spending for entertainment generates admissions and amusement tax revenue which our office collects for Maryland's counties, cities and towns," Goldstein said.

"This distribution is 1.6% less than the $6,405,903 we returned to the local governments for the same period of 1990," Goldstein said. "We collect this revenue at rates set by local officials and return the money to local governments each quarter."

Garrett County received $46,846 for the quarter, compared to $81,763 for the same quarter last year.

Stephen Gnegy Doing Residency At Vet Hospital

Stephen Gnegy, a senior majoring in medical science (PA) at Alderson-Broaddus College, is now working closely with physicians and other staff members of the Richmond Veterans' Administration Hospital in Richmond, Va., as he works toward becoming a physician assistant.

Gnegy, a 1983 graduate of Southern High School, is the son of Lorraine and Norma Gnegy, Oakland.

The residency requirement is the chief clinical education phase of the Alderson-Broaddus physician assistant program.

Each student works with a physician and gains hands-on experience on how to examine, evaluate, and determine the treatment of individual patients. The students also will assist the staff and work in surgery under the supervision of physicians.

During the residency program, students spend eight weeks doing surgery, eight weeks doing internal medicine, and eight weeks at one of two medical colleges in West Virginia: West Virginia University Medical School and Marshall University Medical School.

Students also spend four weeks each in emergency medicine, pediatrics, obstetrics and gynecology, and primary care. Students also have the option of elective studies ranging from psychiatry to orthopedics.

Alderson-Broaddus College is a four-year, fully accredited liberal arts and sciences institution which is affiliated with the American Baptist Churches, U.S.A.

The college, located in Philippi, W.Va., a curriculum consisting of a strong liberal arts foundation, contemporary and professional and pre-professional programs and experiences appropriate to the student's academic major. The college offers over 40 majors medical science (PA), computer science, technical and creative writing.

Management Of Behavior To Be Seminar Topic

A seminar for child care providers which will focus on discipline techniques will be held at Garrett Community College this Saturday, June 1.

According to a GCC spokesman, the objective of this seminar is to acquaint providers with knowledge about the developmental need of children and how to manage behavior in positive ways which support these needs. The topics will include: growth and development, developmental needs, principles of behavior management, and implementing positive behavior management strategies.

Licensing Training credit and CEU'S will be awarded for participants. Those wishing to register should call the Continuing Education Division of the college at 387-6666, ext. 169.

This seminar is one of a series of programs offered through The School Age Child Care Project. This project has been developed to support the delivery of quality child care for school age children. It is made possible by a grant from the Department of Human Resources. The project is being administered by Garrett Community College in cooperation with the local licensing specialist for the Office of Licensing and Regulations. The Project provides training seminars and the use of a resources library.

The resource library has been assembled to provide a wide variety of resources for those who are providers of care for school age children. It is designed to offer learning materials, activities and project ideas for school age children. It also provides background information on child development, behavior management, and family dynamics. The library also houses materials on the "business end" of operating child care programs. The Resource Library is located at the Office of Licensing and Regulation at 215 South

Third Street in Oakland.

Additional information about the School Age Child Care Project can be obtained by calling Sandy Major at Garrett Community College (387-6666, ext. 180) or Debra Bernard at the Office of Licensing and Regulation (334-3426).

How To Save Up To $43,380.51 On Your Mortgage.

Now you can save a substantial amount of interest on your mortgage and pay it off more quickly. It's easy with a Bi-Weekly Mortgage, new from First Federal Savings Bank.

The idea behind a Bi-Weekly Mortgage is very simple. Instead of making one monthly mortgage payment, you make 1/2 a payment every two weeks. So how do you save all that interest?

Simple mathematics tells you that 1/2 a payment every two weeks over the course of a year equals 26 bi-weekly payments—or the yearly equivalent of 13 monthly payments. So your mortgage is paid off more quickly, meaning less interest as well.

Your payments will be automatically deducted from a First Federal checking account, so you won't have to worry about writing two checks a month instead of one.

Still not convinced? Well, just take a look at how much you'd save on both a fixed rate and an adjustable rate Bi-Weekly Mortgage versus a traditional monthly mortgage:

Mortgage Amount	$75,000
Interest Rate	10.50% Fixed (11.024% A.P.R.)
Term	15 Years
Monthly Payment	$629.50
BI-WEEKLY PAYMENT	$414.75
Total Paid (Monthly)	$149,310.00
TOTAL PAID (BI-WEEKLY)	$134,793.75
INTEREST SAVINGS WITH BI-WEEKLY MORTGAGE!	$14,516.25
AND YOU OWN YOUR HOME IN JUST 12 1/2 YEARS INSTEAD OF 15!

Mortgage Amount	$75,000
Interest Rate	8.75% Adjustable (9.732% A.P.R. *)
Term	30 Years
Monthly Payment	$590.25
BI-WEEKLY PAYMENT	$295.13
Total Paid (Monthly)	$212,490.00
TOTAL PAID (BI-WEEKLY)	$169,109.49
INTEREST SAVINGS WITH BI-WEEKLY MORTGAGE!	$43,380.51
AND YOU OWN YOUR HOME IN JUST 22 YEARS INSTEAD OF 30!

*The annual percentage rate is subject to change after consummation.

Find out how much you could save on your mortgage by choosing a First Federal Bi-Weekly Mortgage instead of a traditional mortgage plan. Call today for current rates and an estimate on your possible interest savings.

ACADEMIC STANDOUTS -- Students from 50 states, Canada, Mexico, Africa, Asia, Europe, and South America competed in the 18th Knowledge Master Open, a grueling academic contest. Using knowledge derived from all areas of the curricula, middle school, junior high and high school teams faced tough questions and vied for top scores based on accuracy and speed. This is the first time that Northern High School has entered the Knowledge Master competition. A team of nine students from Northern High School scored 1,271 of 2,000 possible points. Academic coach, Mildred Wucik, stated, "I was impressed with the initiative of the students to arrive before school hours in order to find practice time in their busy schedules. Our students placed in the upper 44 percentile in the nation, scoring about the National average." Northern placed 86th out of 404 schools with similar student population with our score being well above the average score of this particular group. Our students received over 90 percent scores in the categories of economics, geography, literature, and useless trivia. Other categories were American history, world history, government, current events, English, math, physical science, biology, earth science, health and psychology, and art and music. John Hughes stated, "I was very pleased with our overall performance, considering the difficulty of the questions and the fact that this was Northern's first year to compete. I think great teamwork played a big part in our success." The Knowledge Master Open was designed to stimulate interest and recognition for academic accomplishment. The contest was developed to run on classroom computers in order to provide all schools the opportunity to compete in a national academic contest without the expense of traveling to a central site. Pictured above are members of the team, front, April Slagis; second row, left to right, Susan Culpier, Dave Breneman, Melissa Thomas, and Tracy Murray; and third row, John Hughes, captain; Andrei Yelovich, Bill Nedrow, and Rebecca Fratz.

The museum will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, during the summer and during the 24th Annual Autumn Glory Festival, which will be held October 10-13 in Oakland. There is no admission charge to the museum, and group tours are available by appointment. For more information about the museum, persons may contact Mrs. Beth Friend, curator, at (301) 334-3226 or (301) 334-3403.

Governor Signs Child Passenger Protection Measure Into Law

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced that effective July 1, 1991, the Child Passenger Protection Law will change to require all children up to age 10, depending on their weight, to be securely buckled into a car safety seat or seat belt while riding in a passenger vehicle, multi-purpose vehicle, or light-duty truck.

"The leading cause of death for children under 14 is motor vehicle crashes," said the governor. "We want to make sure that more children are protected when they are riding in cars or trucks."

The new measure, passed by the 1991 General Assembly and signed into law today by the governor, strengthens the previous Child Passenger Protection Law which required children from birth to age three to be restrained in a safety seat and three- and four-year olds in a safety seat or seat belt.

The new law requires any child under the age of four and weighing 40 pounds or less to be secured in a safety seat. A child who is between four and 10 years old and weighing more than 40 pounds must be secured in a safety seat, seat belt or seat belt/shoulder harness.

In 1990, eight children age five and under were killed in motor vehicle crashes in Maryland. According to Maryland State Police, five of those children were not buckled into either safety seats or seat belts and would have survived the crashes if they had been properly restrained. In the first half of 1990, close to 900 children under the age of 15 were injured in motor vehicle crashes statewide, according to Maryland State Police.

It is estimated that correct use of safety seats reduces a child's fatality risk by 71 percent and serious injury risk by 67 percent.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) estimates that 65 percent of car seats are used incorrectly. Common errors include seats facing the wrong direction, seat belt improperly routed and misuse of toddler shields or harnesses.

There are several components to proper safety seat use:

1. Car safety seats must be federally approved -- any car seat manufactured after January 1, 1981 must pass dynamic testing and meet federal standards before it can be marketed.

2. The internal harness straps/shield must be used to secure the child in the seat. The adult safety belt must be used to secure the seat into the car.

3. Infants must ride facing the rear of the car in a reclined position until they can sit up unsupported -- usually around 20 pounds or 9-12 months of age. Then, they may face forward and sit in an upright toddler position.

The law was proposed by Governor Schaefer and supported by the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) and a coalition of safety organizations.

Autumn Glory Fest Brochure Being Compiled

Information and material for the 24th Annual Autumn Glory Festival brochure are now being compiled, according to the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council. The festival will be held Thursday, October 10, through Sunday, October 13.

Any group or organization wishing to sponsor an event during the festival should contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 202 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1948, no later than Friday, June 21, in order to have the event listed in the brochure.

Sheep Dogs To Perform During Highland Fest

The Fourth Annual McHenry Highland Festival, which will be held this Saturday, June 1, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry, will feature a wide variety of activities and entertainment, including Solo Piping Competitions, Open Athletic Games, "For the Old Country to the New Country" workshops, Celtic vocal, harp and dulcimer music, games for children and much more. One of the highlights of the festival will be sheep dog exhibitions by William Crowe of Aylett, Va.

Crowe is noted for working stock dog trials in Virginia, where he has won numerous awards. He is a farmer in King William County and owner of Wingmont Stables. He also raises and trains Border Collies. Jock, one of his most famous collies, is the only dog in Virginia to have received the Superior Merit Award. At the festival, Crowe puts the dogs through their paces with voice commands and a whistle. The border collie is a unique breed of dog which is trained not to bark, but to walk slowly up to sheep and control them with "the eye" and style alone.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and admission is $4.00 for anyone 12 years of age and over. The festival also includes a ceilidh at 8 p.m. Saturday evening in the McHenry House at Wisp, hosted by Wisp Ski Resort (admission $3).

The festival is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-

REALITY WARNING -- Local students are being reminded by the Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse that drinking and driving do not mix. Smashed cars with the warning "If you're driving, don't get smashed," have been placed at the entrance of Northern High School and at Browning Foodland, near Southern High School. The council is aware that many students party during prom and graduation activities and their display is a warning of reality that a drunk driver can end up being extracted from a car like the one shown above. Another Career Planning Class Is Completed

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College recently completed its fifth five-week, ten-session Career Planning class taught by Mary Kirkland, Outreach Job Awareness specialist with the New Horizons Program. The class included learning about job hunt strategies, getting to know oneself, what self-esteem means to a student returning to classes or to the work world, ways to build self-esteem, what stress is and how to manage it, combining work with family obligations, time and budget management, resume writing, and job interview techniques.

Several interest tests were administered to students to determine their career interests, including the Career Assessment Inventory, the Holland Code Self Directed Search, and the GATB (General Aptitude Test Battery).

The recent group of students completing this class included Beverly Ash, Jessie Caple, Robin Dimick, Jill Hilton, Patricia Morfoot, Crystal Sisler, Traci Sliger, and Rita Stieringer.

Anyone interested in enrolling in the Career Planning class should call New Horizons weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at 387-6666, ext. 171, for complete information. "It is a great beginning for a support group and has proven beneficial for re-entry women to make career decisions and enter training in their areas of interest," stated a New Horizons spokesman.

Goldstein To Showcase Area On Local Radio

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein will take radio listeners on a tour of Western Maryland in his upcoming Maryland Report radio program which will be aired on WMSG Radio (1050-AM), Oakland, on Sunday, June 2, at 8:30 a.m.

The 15-minute program, which will be aired on a total of 19 stations throughout Maryland during the week-end of June 1-2, will focus on several historic sites and cultural attractions that should be on the summer agenda of tourists visiting Western Maryland.

Some of the highlights on the comptroller's audio journey include Swallow Falls State Park and Penn Alps in Garrett County, Cumberland Heritage Days (June 8-9) and Rocky Gap Music Festival (August 2-4) in Allegany County, Antietam National Battlefield and Crystal Grottoes Cavern in Washington County, and Rose Hill Manor and the Frederick Fair (September 15-21) in Frederick County.

Maryland Report, which is broadcast weekly on the 19-radio stations network, spotlights cultural, historic, civic and financial issues of importance to Maryland citizens.

COUNTY WELCOMES TROOPS -- Two more soldiers were welcomed home recently from the Persian Gulf by Garrett County Commissioners. Pictured above, second from right, is Sgt. Delbert Clemons who is serving with the U.S. Army, and Commissioners John G. Braskey, Elwood Groves II, and Brenda Butcher. Sgt. Clemons is now back with his unit in Fort Knox, Ky. He is the son of Paris and Naomi Clemons, Swanton. Shown below is Commissioner Butcher welcoming 1st Lt. Kries Hinebaugh, assault and barrier platoon leader for Alpha Company, 17th Engineers. He is stationed with the 2nd Armored Division at Fort Hood, Texas. Welcome home celebrations with county officials for Desert Storm troops are being conducted by the League of Women Voters. The group, in cooperation with the Desert Storm Support Group, is raising funds to purchase special jackets for each returning soldier. Persons wishing to donate may contact Personally Yours Monogramming or Marvin's Men's Wear in Oakland.

Quilt Piecing Course Offered

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer a Quilt Piecing for Beginners course at the McHenry campus on June 18 to July 16. The class will meet for eight sessions on Tuesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to noon.

This eight-session course is for those students who want to learn how to use the rotary cutter and sewing machine to piece a six-block sampler quilt top. Instructions for cutting and piecing will be given for each stage of the quilt from preparing the fabric to assembling and marking the quilt top for the actual quilting.

For additional information and registration, persons may contact the Continuing Education Division at 387-6666, ext. 169.

Shilling Resigns As Superintendent Of State Schools

State School Superintendent Joseph L. Shilling announced last week that he had accepted the appointment as superintendent of the Queen Anne's County Public Schools. He will assume the post July 1.

Dr. Shilling said in a letter to State Board of Education president Robert C. Embry Jr., that he had helped develop Schools for Success and now wanted to put the school reform program in practice at the local level.

"I want to become part of a community, roll up my sleeves and work with teachers and students at the local school level," he said in the letter. Dr. Shilling resided in Queen Anne's County with his wife and their daughter, Julie, who is a junior at Queen Anne's High School.

In his letter Dr. Shilling emphasized that Schools for Success has developed a momentum that will ensure its continued development and fulfillment. The reform program consists of 10 state education goals for the year 2000 and strategies for meeting the goals.

The criterion-referenced tests given in grades 3, 5, and 8 beginning last week represent a centerpiece of the program's accountability system. This system will enable schools and the public to keep track of progress in meeting the state goals.

The State Board said today it has not made any decision on how it will proceed in selecting a successor to Dr. Shilling.

Dr. Shilling, 53, is a native of Carroll County, where he began his education career as an English teacher in 1960. He served for eight years as Deputy State Superintendent under Superintendent David W. Hornbeck from 1977 to 1985. He was appointed State Superintendent in 1988.

Legal Aid Bureau Announced June Outreach Schedule

Staff members of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., will be available to discuss legal problems with persons during the month of June in Oakland on June 4 and June 18.

The Bureau representative will be available from 10 a.m. until noon on the above-mentioned dates at the National Guard Armory on Eighth Street.

The Legal Aid Bureau provides legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland Office of Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., is located at 110 Greene Street in Cumberland. The office can be reached in Garrett County by calling 334-8832.

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for the Outreach location or for an appointment at the Cumberland office, according to Bureau officials.

HEARING AIDS

DO YOU HAVE FEEDBACK OR WHISTLING WITH YOUR HEARING AID?
ARE YOU CONTINUALLY ADJUSTING THE VOLUME?

This is a common complaint that we hear from many hearing aid users. With the new Clearstone hearing aids you will not have feedback once the hearing aid is completely in your ear. You will not have to continually adjust the volume control, because the hearing aid will automatically reduce the loud noises for you.

We have found that it even helps those who have Tinnitus "ringing ears."

Come in today for a no cost hearing evaluation and demonstration of the hearing aid!

Garrett County Museum To Open Monday, June 3

The Garrett County Historical Museum, located along Center Street in Oakland, will open for the summer season Monday, June 3. The museum has a large and growing collection of artifacts representing the progression of Garrett County through the years. Recently renovated and decorated, the museum also offers an Indian and military exhibit containing artifacts from the USS Garrett County.

The museum contains a genealogical library, the research area of which will help

ACADEMIC STANDOUTS -- Students from 50 states, Canada, Mexico, Africa, Asia, Europe, and South America competed in the 16th Knowledge Master Open, a grueling academic contest. Using knowledge derived from all areas of the curricula, middle school, junior high and high school teams faced tough questions and vied for top scores based on accuracy and speed. This is the first time that Northern High School has entered the Knowledge Master competition. A team of nine students from Northern High School scored 1,271 of 2,000 possible points. Academic coach, Mildred Wucik, stated, "I was impressed with the initiative of the students to arrive before school hours in order to find practice time in their busy schedules. Our students placed in the upper 44 percentile in the nation, scoring about the National average." Northern placed 86th out of 404 schools with similar student population with our score being well above the average score of this particular group. Our students received over 90 percent scores in the categories of economics, geography, literature, and useless trivia. Other categories were American history, world history, government, current events, English, math, physical science, biology, earth science, health and psychology, and art and music. John Hughes stated, "I was very pleased with our overall performance, considering the difficulty of the questions and the fact that this was Northern's first year to compete. I think great teamwork played a big part in our success." The Knowledge Master Open was designed to stimulate interest and recognition for academic accomplishment. The contest was developed to run on classroom computers in order to provide all schools the opportunity to compete in a national academic contest without the expense of traveling to a central site. Pictured above are members of the team, front, April Slagle; second row, left to right, Susan Cuper, Dave Brennenman, Melissa Thomas, and Tracy Murray; and third row, John Hughes, captain; Andrei Yelovich, Bill Nedrow, and Rebecca Fratz.

Sheep Dogs To Perform During Highland Fest

The Fourth Annual McHenry Highland Festival, which will be held this Saturday, June 1, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry, will feature a wide variety of activities and entertainment, including Solo Piping Competitions, Open Athletic Games, "For the Old Country to the New Country" workshops, Celtic vocal, harp and dulcimer music, games for children and much more. One of the highlights of the festival will be sheep dog exhibitions by William Crowe of Aylett, Va.

Crowe is noted for working stock dog trials in Virginia, where he has won numerous awards. He is a farmer in King William County and owner of Wingmont Stables. He also raises and trains Border Collies. Jock, one of his most famous collies, is the only dog in Virginia to have received the Superior Merit Award. At the festival, Crowe puts the dogs through their paces with voice commands and a whistle. The border collie is a unique breed of dog which is trained not to bark, but to walk slowly up to sheep and control them with "the eye" and style alone.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and admission is $4.00 for anyone 12 years of age and over. The festival also includes a ceilidh at 8 p.m. Saturday evening in the McHenry House at Wisp, hosted by Wisp Ski Resort (admission $3).

The Festival is sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-

REALITY WARNING -- Local students are being reminded by the Garrett County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse that drinking and driving do not mix. Smashed cars with the warning "If you're driving, don't get smashed," have been placed at the entrance of Northern High School and at Browning Foodland, near Southern High School. The council is aware that many students party during prom and graduation activities and their display is a warning of reality that a drunk driver can end up being extracted from a car like the one shown above. Dennett Road RIF Project Receives Grant

The "Reading Is Fundamental" (RIF) program conducted by Dennett Road School has recently been awarded a $300 grant from Waldenbooks. The grant will be used to purchase additional books for students during the coming school year. "This is one of many Waldenbooks grants to local RIF projects for outstanding service in motivating young people to read," said a school spokesperson.

Through the work of local parent volunteers and the guidance of national RIF headquarters in Washington, D.C., the Dennett Road RIF program inspires children to read through planned, reading-related activities, and by making it possible for children to choose and to own books that interest them, at no cost to them or their families. In the 12 years since the RIF program was established at Dennett Road, it has enabled area youngsters to become the owners of about 14,000 books. Seventy-five percent of Dennett Road's RIF funds come CINDERELLA MODERNA was presented May 15 by the Spanish II students at Northern High School and the French II students performed "Snow White" at the annual foreign language fair. The Spanish students wrote the script and dialogue in Spanish as a group project. The fair also included pinatas, made by level one students, a poster contest, also contributed by level one; video-taped dialogue demonstrations, a foreign language letter exchange exhibit. In addition to other Spanish- and French-related demonstrations, the fair was open to all classes in the high school so that language students could share what they had learned through the year. Over 300 students attended. Advisors are Jean Wilt, Spanish; and Anna Mae Norris, French. Pictured above, left to right, breaking the pinata are Chuck Mosser, Mike Miller, Chad Fike, Jill Miller, Kevin Tomblin (with stick), Mike Uphold, and Jason Campbell. Below are Snow White performers Wanda Schwartzwelder as the witch and Cindy Graham as Snow White. Poster contest winners were Ryan Thomas for "Crowd Favorite" and "Most Artistic" Rebecca Fisher for "Most Instructive," and Dana Switzer for "Most Original." Cinderella (Cenicienta) was played by Rhonda Opel and the prince (principe) was played by Eddie Shoemaker. Other characters in Cinderella Moderna were stepmother, Lana Hall; stepfather I, Sarah Hutzler; stepfather II, Sally Shaulis; kind, Dennis Yoder; messenger, Cheryl Garlitz; fairy godmother, Amy Miller; bodyguard, Lowell Sines; party member, Shelly Oester. Other cast member of Snow White were Doug Brennen as the prince; David Butler, Doc; Jackie Campbell, Bashful; Desiree Dishong, Sneezey; Paul Edwards, Grumpy; Brain Kamp, Dopey; Mike Miller, Happy; Daniel Kremer, Sleepy; Becky Klotz, hunter; and Maria Miller, mirror voice.

from the federal government and must be matched by 25 percent local funds. Historically, the Dennett Road PTA has served as the school's local funding source, and this year the PTA contributed $500 in fulfilling that commitment.

For the past two years, the Dennett Road RIF program has been coordinated by Linda Wengert and her assistant, Sharon

Schwalm. They have gone through the annual, time-consuming process of selecting and ordering children's books at various reading levels. Then, they plan three RIF book distributions and accompanying reading-related activities for all Dennett Road students each school year. These sessions are conducted with the help of additional parent volunteers, resulting in the selection of three new books by each enrolled student per year. Founded in 1966, "Reading Is Fundamental" is a national nonprofit organization that helps children "discover the joy and importance of reading" through a nationwide network of 3,500 local projects such as the one at Dennett Road School. RIF also assists parents who want to encourage reading in the home.

Westvaco Reports Second Quarter Sales, Earnings

Westvaco Corporation, a major manufacturer of paper, packaging, and chemicals, reported this week its second quarter and six-month sales and earnings for the 1991 fiscal period which ended April 30.

Second quarter sales were $557,914,000 in comparison with a record $582,972,000 in the second quarter of 1990, a decline of 4.3 percent. Sales for the first six months were $1,131,257,000, compared to $1,168,465,000, an all-time record, for the same period last year, a decrease of 3.2 percent for the first six months.

Second quarter earnings were $35,775,000, or 55 cents per share of common stock, representing a decline of 21 percent from 71 cents per share earned in the same period last year. After a special charge of 24 cents per share taken in the first quarter of the fiscal year, earnings for the first six months totaled $52,349,000, or 80 cents per share. In the same period last year, earnings for the first six months were $92,408,000, or $1.42 per share.

During the second quarter, Westvaco's earnings benefited from a gain of 8 cents per share from amortizing a portion of the liability for retired lives under the company's pension plan, an action similar to the ones taken two and four years ago. Although the financial impact from Westvaco's Brazilian operations was less in its second quarter than in its first quarter, the impact accounted for 11 cents per share out of the total decline in earnings of 18 cents per share in the second quarter. Without Brazil, the company's second quarter sales would have been even with last year.

Earn Nursing Degrees At WVU

The West Virginia University School of Nursing awarded Bachelor of Science degrees to 88 students May 12 at the WVU School of Nursing convocation ceremony.

The graduates include: Shannon Marie Sell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Butler, Oakland, who is a magna cum laude graduate, and Linda S.T. Streaky, Terra Alta, W.Va. She is married to William K. Stresky. She is a summa cum laude graduate and a member of both the Sigma Theta Tau Nursing Honor Society and the Golden Key National Honor Society.

Local Students, Staff Attend Teen Conference

Students from both Northern and Southern High Schools attended the annual "State Conference for Teens," sponsored by the Interdepartmental Committee on Teenage Pregnancy and Parenting in Maryland and held recently at Allegany Community College in Cumberland. Barbara Frey, director, and Sue Sines, in-charge, presented the conference. Workshops presented at the conference included: Preventing Violence in Relationships, Living Independently, Growing up Male, take/counselor specialist with The Caring Connection Program of Garrett Community College, along with several teen parents, clients of The Caring Connection, attended the conference.

Feeling Good About Yourself, Making Your Relationships More Meaningful and Coping with Today's Pressures. Students selected which workshops they wanted to attend. Lunch was provided for the participants.

VICA WINNERS -- The display committee from Southern High School's Vocational Industrial Clubs of America won first place in the VICA state competition held March 23 in Baltimore. The display is now bound for the national competition slated for June 24-29 in Louisville, Kentucky. The display is a gazebo which was designed and built by Vicki Harvey, Pap Piper, Heather Baker, Martin Cady, and Keith Rinker. The construction of the gazebo includes a hip roof, hand-carved eagles, globes, lattice work, a hardwood floor, and lathed posts. The drafting for the gazebo was also completed by a VICA student. Heather Baker will be the display representative and will participate in a judged interview.

GCC Offering Developmental Math Course

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College has scheduled a developmental math course designed to assist students to prepare for college level mathematics. Students who enroll in this offering will have the opportunity to meet algebra and geometry competencies (Math 95, 97 and/or 98) which are prerequisites for college algebra.

The course is scheduled to begin Thursday, June 13, and will meet Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Students will also attend two hours of math laboratory each afternoon. The course is scheduled to end July 3.

"This course is designed to provide motivated students, who may only require refresher skills, with the chance to complete the developmental math series and be eligible for 100 level credit courses in the fall," said Tom Kierstead, program coordinator. "The flexible nature and competency based design of this course will challenge students to meet their math preparation goals."

The tuition for county residents is $100, plus texts. Out-of-county and out-of-state residents will pay an additional fee. Although tuition waivers will apply for Maryland senior citizens (over 60), Pell grants and veterans benefits do not apply to non-credit offerings. Students who have not had their math skills evaluated should contact Jack DuBose, at GCC. Students who have been evaluated should register at the Continuing Education Office in Room 300 of the Center for Community and Continuing Education. For additional information, persons may contact Dr. Nancy Prisela or Tom Kierstead. The college telephone numbers are (301) 387-6666 or toll free at (800) 695-GCC1.

Search Is Still On For Garrett-Allegany Dairy Princess Contestants

Nancy Savage, chairperson of the Garrett-Allegany Dairy Princess Committee, has announced that applicants for the 1991 Garrett-Allegany Dairy Princess Contest are still being accepted. There seems to be a lack of interest, Savage says. Most girls have summer or part-time jobs, and many are getting married right out of high school. They just don't seem to have the time or interest for something as exciting, educating and rewarding as a year's reign as Dairy Princess.

Savage says it's disappointing that at a time when dairy advertising is at an exciting high with light and low-fat products being introduced, and milk and dairy food consumption on the up-swing, no representative (Dairy Princess) can be found to promote these positives for local dairy farmers.

The Dairy Princess is open to all single women between the ages of 16 and 22 who are from a dairy farm. The young women must have completed their junior year in high school, and have parents who have been engaged in producing milk within the last four years or at the present time. Also eligible are girls who have taken dairy-related 4-H or FFA projects (with the exception of dairy goats and dairy steers) for at least two years.

If under 18, the contestant must have her parent's consent. She must be single, never married, have had no children and must not marry during her reign.

Savage asks any young woman with an interest in the contest to respond immediately by calling her, after 6 p.m., at 746-8174.

Maryland DHIA Names State's Top Herds For April

Listed in the report which follows are the top Maryland DHIA herds, for April, in Garrett County. The name of the herd owner or farm is first, followed with H designating Holstein, the number of cows in the herd, then pounds of milk per day of 3.5% fat-corrected milk. The last portion of the report lists the top producing colored breed herd owners in Garrett County who placed in the state's top 10 per breed. Production is based on 3.5% fat-corrected milk.

Fast-Track Would Allow Trade Talks A Chance To Succeed

American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner has applauded Congress for its support of fast-track authority, allowing the Bush administration to negotiate trade agreements.

"International trade negotiations in the GATT and the beginning of talks with Mexico and Canada to develop a new North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) have been stalled while Congress debated the fast-track issue," Kleckner commented.

"These negotiations are very important to American farmers. The talks can now move forward. We don't know if the talks will result in successful agreements, but all along our concern has been that they be given the chance to succeed."

The president of the nation's largest general farm organization said as far as the GATT negotiations are concerned, Farm Bureau will be anxious to see new flexibility in negotiating positions promised by the European Community, Japan and Korea, in particular, since those countries blocked an agreement in December.

"We expect to see serious negotiations in agriculture and other sectors during June in Geneva," Kleckner said. "We plan to send a delegation to monitor the progress."

"Also, negotiations can now begin on the NAFTA. We will follow the negotiations closely to determine whether the eventual agreement represents fair and equitable treatment for American farmers and ranchers. We will be actively involved in the negotiating process from here on out to ensure that the concerns of farmers and ranchers are addressed."

Kleckner added, "We will be especially interested in ensuring that the Mexican market will be open to U.S. agricultural products. We certainly intend to carefully watch formation of the transition period to free trade and the safeguards that must be built in for import-sensitive commodities."

Farm Chemical Use Declining

The nation's farmers are doing a good job of managing their fertilizer and pesticide use, and American Farm Bureau Federation said, rebutting claims made by the Natural Resources Defense Council that farm chemical use is increasing and causing groundwater contamination.

AFBF President Dean Kleckner said recent studies show a decline in farm chemical use in major crops over the past eight years, contradicting claims that farmers are using ever-increasing quantities. Farm chemical use has declined for corn, soybeans, rice and wheat, crops studied by USDA, he said.

Kleckner said the nation's farmers are rapidly embracing new technologies including, integrated pest management, banded spraying, increased reliance on field scouting before spraying and increased tissue testing before applying nitrogen.

"Today's farm management decisions are based on sound economics and best management practices," the farm leader said.

"Farmers went through the economic wringer in the mid 80s," said Kleckner. "Today, a farmer is judged on how carefully he handles his inputs. It makes good economic sense to apply only as much nitrogen fertilizer as is necessary and the fewest pounds of pesticides possible. We are doing a good job, and we are dedicated to doing an even better job as new technologies become available."

Kleckner cited a 42 percent drop in herbicide use in soybeans since 1982, a nearly 100 percent decline in insecticide use on wheat and a 23 percent decline in insecticide use in corn, based on a March, 1991 chemical use study conducted by USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service.

The Environmental Protection Agency's study of private wells, released in late 1990, showed 96 percent of America's 10.5 million rural wells are completely free of detectable traces of any of the 126 pesticides that were tested. EPA did not detect 110 pesticides at all and only six pesticides were detected above accepted tolerance levels.

Responding to recommendations in the NRDC's report "Harvest of Hope," Kleckner said alternative agricultural practices don't always work.

"Some of the case studies championing alternative agriculture have not withstood the test of time and others which promote diversified farming may not be economically practical on a large scale," he noted.

Farm Bureau supports expanded funding for integrated pest management research, expanded research into biological pest control. The farm organization has distributed nearly one million copies of its self-help checklist to help farmers analyze their farming operations against groundwater contamination.

Monsanto Hit For Being "Overzealous"

A new report from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Inspector General's office confirms that the Monsanto Agricultural Company violated federal rules regarding new animal drugs by promoting the bovine growth hormone before it's been approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

The report states that Monsanto promoted BGH as "safe and effective" in a number of brochures, videotapes and meetings with farmers. Last year, members of the National Farmers Union called attention to the violations by asking the Inspector General and the FDA to investigate the Monsanto materials.

Inspector General Richard P. Kussow states in the report that "Monsanto has produced and distributed materials that appear to purport but (bovine somatotropin), an unapproved animal drug, as safe and effective."

NFU Secretary Dave Carter says the opinions indicate that Monsanto "has been overzealous in trying to get this product on the market. It's simply misleading and inappropriate for a company to pro-note a product as being safe and effective while it's still under investigation by the FDA."

Dairy Month is a natural time for a real "Thank You."

The dairy farmers and their families who live and work around our community deserve a great deal of thanks. Their stability helps our community remain stable and healthy. Their insistence on offering only the highest quality milk and dairy products sets an example for us all and improves the quality of our lives. We congratulate them now, during Dairy Month, and thank them for their contributions.

Crime Solvers

The Garrett County Crime Solvers case of the week involves the forced entry of a local farmhouse.

The Lewis farmhouse, located on the Oakland-Cranesville Road, was reportedly broken into sometime between January 30 and February 3, 1990. Entry was gained through a basement door.

Items removed from the residence included many antique pieces of furniture, beds, dressers, wooden and wicker chairs, dinnerware, silverware, and other household items. The stolen belongings are valued at $14,868.

All leads have been exhausted in this theft, and the Crime Solvers organization is requesting the help of any person who may know about this or any other unsolved crime. Any persons with information is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975, or by writing G.C. Crime Solvers, P.O. Box 731, Oakland, Md., 21550.

Persons who provide tips that lead to an arrest are eligible to receive a reward up to $1,000. These persons are not required to give their names nor appear in court.

Rangers Log Arrests Over Memorial Day

Local forest and park rangers logged a number of arrests during the Memorial Day weekend.

Mathew James Daugherty, Greensburg, Pa., was charged with driving while intoxicated. Arresting Officer Jeff Herndon reports the incident allegedly took place at 3 a.m. Saturday near the camping area of Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Brian Charles Eurice, Baltimore, was charged with two counts of possession of marihuana, one count of possession of drug paraphernalia, and one charge of possession of alcoholic beverage in non-designated area. Ranger Frank, the arresting officer, claims the incidents occurred around 12:30 a.m. Saturday in the camping area of New Germany State Park.

Lauren Felts, Gaithersburg, was charged with possession of alcoholic beverage in non-designated area. Ranger L.K. Baker said the alleged incident occurred Saturday in the hiking area of Swallow Falls State Park.

On Dean's List

Two Oakland students were named to the Dean's List for scholarly achievement during the fall semester, 1990, according to Alderson-Broaddus College Academic Dean Robert Dugman.

The students are Stephen Gnegy and Stacy Sines. Gnegy is a junior medical science major, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine Gnegy. He is a 1983 graduate of Southern High School. Sines is a senior applied math major, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sines. She is a 1987 graduate of Southern High School.

To be eligible for the Dean's List, students must attain a semester average of 3.6 or above on 4.0 grading scale.

Alderson-Broaddus College, located in Philippi, W.Va., is a four-year fully accredited liberal arts and sciences college which has developed a curriculum of strong liberal arts foundation, contemporary professional and pre-professional programs, and experience appropriate to the student's academic major.

4-H CLUB NEWS

GRANTSVILLE
by Liza Hutzler,
reporter

The Grantsville 4-H meeting was brought to order by Jamie Porterfield, president. Pledges were led by Chad Lytle. New members are: Angela Wilburn, Tommy Broadwater, Jessie Broadwater, Brooke Ryder, and Jenny Ryder.

Old business: The Grantsville 4-H will plant four trees, two in the Grantsville Park and two at the Casselman Valley Sportsmen Club.

New business: June 3rd will be our annual picnic at 6:30 at Grantsville Park. Bring a covered dish and a dessert.

Demonstrations were given by Jason Fazanbaker, Lisa Hutzler, Sara Bever, and Allie Bever. Jason showed how to put together a fishing rod, Lisa demonstrated how plants grow in different soils, Sara showed how to do cross stitch, and Allie demonstrated how to create a yarn picture.

Dr. David Rawe, who was our guest speaker, explained to the club how to get your animals ready for the fair.

NORTH STAR

by Beverly Seboll,
reporter

The regular meeting of the North Star 4-H Club was held May 14. Fifteen members attended.

The group who attended the Sheep and Wool Festival at the Howard Co. Fairgrounds on May 4 shared their experiences. Some club members attended the church services at the St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Parish in Accident in participation of 4-H Sunday.

Congratulations were given to the club members for their recognition at the 4-H Awards Dinner. Also recognized were Kista Knox, Morgan Rodchever, and David Butler for placing in the 4-H Public Speaking Contest.

The North Star 4-H Club members were invited guests at the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren on May 26 as a community recognition of 4-H.

Lastly, Tim Klotz brought his puppy and spoke about its care. Teresa Knox demonstrated a homemade camera, and Kista Knox talked about raising a sheep. The next meeting will be held June 11 at 7 p.m.

OAKLAND

Tom and Polly Cardaro, Charles Town, W.Va., formerly of Kitzmiller, were in Oakland and Deer Park May 19 to attend the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of their cousins, Fred and Jennie Pratt. Also attending were their son, Tom, and Sue Cardaro and children, Tommy and Emily, daughter, Tina, and Linda Scinto and Christina.

Any person having a claim against the decedent must present the claim to the undersigned personal representative or file it with the Register of Wills with a copy to the undersigned on or before the earlier of the following dates:

(1) Nine months from the date of the decedent's death, or
(2) Two months after the personal representative mails or otherwise delivers to the creditor a copy of this published notice or other written notice, notifying the creditor that the claim will be barred unless the creditor presents the claim within two months from the mailing or other delivery of the notice. A claim not presented or filed on or before that date, or any extension provided by law, is unenforceable thereafter. Claim forms may be obtained from the Register of Wills.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

NO. 2279 CIVIL
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

Fred K. Learey
P.O. Box 26
Oakland, Maryland 21550
Plaintiff

VS
Elbo Coals, Inc.
A Kentucky Corporation
Pikeville, Kentucky 41501
Defendant

Any Unknown Trustees, Successors, Assigns or Creditors of Elbo Coals, Inc.
AND
Any Heirs, Devisees or Personal Representatives of John F. Beard, Deceased
Late of Pike County, Kentucky Defendants

ORDERED, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland Defendant, Elbo Coals, Inc., a Kentucky corporation whose charter was revoked by the Secretary of State of Kentucky on October 15, 1987, and any unknown trustees, successors, assigns or creditors of said former corporation, and

Any heirs, devisees or personal representatives of John F. Beard, who died on March 10, 1984 while a resident of Pikeville, Pike County, Kentucky.

Notice is hereby given that Fred K. Learey, Plaintiff, has filed an action in this Court for the purpose of quieting title to certain real property situate in Garrett County, Maryland, containing 345 acres, more or less, described in a deed to Plaintiff recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County in Liber 378, folio 763.

The substance of the complaint is that Plaintiff granted a mortgage to Defendant on the real property described above securing an original indebtedness in amount of FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($50,000.00); that said indebtedness was forgiven by the said John F. Beard, the sole shareholder and officer of said mortgage, on or about June, 1982, but no release of the subject mortgage was recorded.

The substance of the relief sought is a judgment that the aforesaid indebtedness was in fact forgiven as stated above and an order that a release of the subject mortgage be recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Defendant, and/or any other persons described in the caption hereto, are hereby warned that failure to file a response on or before the 12th day of July, 1991, may result in a judgment by default or the granting of the relief sought.

Sea Chanters To Perform On Lawn At GCC

Sounds of the sea will drift on the evening air and echo through the mountains on Sunday, June 23, when the U.S. Navy choral group Sea Chanters presents a free concert on the Garrett College green. This program, set for 7 p.m., is the first in the summer series of family entertainment presented by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival.

In the days of sail, sea chanteys were a way of life aboard the tall ships where men would chant verses in rhythm as they hoisted the decks, hauled in sheets, pulled up anchor, and performed other needed tasks. That tradition of the sea has been preserved by the Sea Chanters, an 18-voice group that is part of the U.S. Navy Band in Washington, D.C.

Organized in 1956 and named by former Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Arleigh Burke, the Sea Chanters perform a variety of music, ranging from the traditional chanteys to pop and jazz favorites and Broadway musicals. A vocal quartet, "The Fair Winds," is part of the group.

The Sea Chanters perform frequently at the White House, the vice-president's residence, and at various ceremonial occasions. They have appeared at the Kennedy Center, with the Boston Pops Esplanade Orchestra, aboard the U.S.S. Constitution in Boston Harbor, and on a number of nationally televised special programs. They are directed by Master Chief Musician Ronald M. Chiles, who is also the band's piano accompanist and soloist.

The Sea Chanters concert is being sponsored by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce. Persons are encouraged to bring lawn chairs or blankets for the outdoor concert. In the event of rain, the concert will be held in the college gymnasium.

Germantown Couple Found Not Guilty Of Drug Charges

A Germantown couple was found not guilty of drug charges in Garrett County District Court last week by Judge Jack R. Turney, according to court documents.

Robert L. Boykin III, 31, and Paula L. Baker, 27, both pleaded not guilty to one count each of possession of a controlled dangerous substance (marijuana) and possession of drug paraphernalia. The judge handed down a "not guilty" verdict in the case.

Boykin and Baker had been charged by the Maryland State Police on March 11 after being stopped for traffic violations on U.S. Route 48. A subsequent search of the vehicle allegedly revealed a pipe with marijuana residue and rolling papers.

In other District Court news, a Deer Park woman was found not guilty of felony theft and trespassing on private property.

Deborah K. Reall, 34, had been charged with those two counts on February 25 by Daina R. Stinson, 25, Mtn. Lake Park. Stinson alleged that Reall trespassed on her property and stole a vacuum cleaner. The two had reportedly resided in the same house before the disagreement.

A county charge of felony theft was filed against Stinson by Reall who alleged that Stinson stole household

GOV. SCHAEFER PRAISES VOLUNTEER EFFORTS AT PARK - During his recent trip to Western Maryland to promote tourism in the region, Governor William Donald Schaefer visited New Germany State Park and praised the efforts of the volunteers who have worked to keep the park open and operational. The park was closed because of a lack of state funds to keep a full staff at the park. Since that time, an organization was begun, known as "Save The Parks," and local coordinator, Sheila Will, Grantville, was on hand to greet Gov. Schaefer and present him with a pine seedling. She is shown above, left, with the governor. At center is Larry Maxim, park manager at Savage River State Park, who welcomed the governor and explained how the Civilian Conservation Corps had originally developed the area. He also briefed the governor on the workings of the park system in Garrett County. Will explained to the governor that while efforts of the volunteer group have been successful, she hoped that New Germany would not be lacking state funds again next year. The theme of the promotional tour was "Western Maryland - More Than You Can Imagine," and included stops in the four westernmost counties in Maryland. The promotion included the making of print and television ads.

Three Persons Remain Hospitalized As Result Of Two-Vehicle Accident

Three persons remain hospitalized in area hospitals as the result of a two-vehicle accident that occurred Saturday on Md. Route 495, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, McHenry Detachment.

Robert T. Storey, 27, Swanton, has been upgraded to "serious" condition from "critical" condition, according to a nursing spokesman from Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, while Carla J. Layton, 28, Terra Alta, W.Va., and Nancy L. Harsh, 48, Oakland, remain listed in "stable" condition at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, according to a nursing supervisor.

State police said the accident occurred when Storey, operating a 1983 Subaru north on Rt. 495, south of the Painter School Road, crossed the center line and struck a 1990 Toyota, operated by Layton. The impact pushed the Layton vehicle over an embankment and into a fence, said Tfc. W.E. Dixon who is continuing his investigation into the 7:30 p.m. mishap. Charges are pending.

Storey was taken to Memorial Hospital by the MSP Medevac helicopter, while Layton and Harsh were transported to the local hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

FATAL MISHAP
Another serious accident which claimed the life of a Deer Park woman and occurred Wednesday on the Glendale Road was also reported by state police. See separate story.

SLIGHTLY INJURED
Two West Virginia men escaped serious injury Sunday in a single-vehicle accident which occurred on the Rock Lodge Road, just east of U.S. Route 219.

Robert S. Kleindler, 22, Moundville, was flown to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland by Medevac where he was admitted but has since been discharged, according to a nursing spokesman. Eric Dutton, 24, Wheeling, was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad where he was treated and later released, according to a nursing supervisor. The 8:05 p.m. accident occurred when Kleindler, operating a 1980 Plymouth, failed to negotiate a turn and crossed the center line. He overcompensated, said police, and traveled back across the roadway before striking a tree. Kleindler was reportedly ejected from the vehicle upon impact.

Tfc. Dixon is continuing his investigation.

PA. MAN HURT
A Pittsburgh, Pa. man remains listed in "stable" condition at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, after being injured in a single-vehicle mishap last Thursday morning on U.S. Route 48, just east of the West Virginia line.

Dennis McCauley, 73, fell asleep at the wheel of the 1987 Honda he was operating, left the roadway, struck a guardrail, traveled back across the roadway, and came to rest on an embankment.

Tpr. S.H. Anderson is continuing his investigation in the 11:30 a.m. mishap.

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad transported McCauley to the hospital.

REMAINS STABLE
Another Saturday accident sent two men to area hospitals.

Mark Wildman, 21, Swanton, remains listed in "stable" condition at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, and Allen A. Green, 21, Swanton, was admitted to Garrett County Memorial and released on Monday.

Green was the operator of a 1987 Yamaha with Wildman as his passenger. State police said the accident occurred when Green ran off the right shoulder of the Glendale Road, lost control of the motorcycle and struck a culvert. At that point, the cycle became airborne for approximately 50 feet and finally struck a fence. Both occupants were thrown from the cycle.

Wildman was transported to Memorial Hospital by the MSP Medevac helicopter. Green was taken to the local hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad.

Tpr. G.S. Becker investigated the 1 a.m. mishap and charged Green with driving

County Receives Grant For Office For Children, Youth, And Families

The Garrett County Commissioners recently began receiving grant funds to begin a Garrett County Office for Children, Youth, and Families. The commissioners have been working closely with a small Garrett County planning group from the Board of Education, Community Action, the Health Department, Juvenile Services, and Social Services to submit a grant application for full state funding of such an office. Garrett County, Baltimore City, Montgomery County, Prince George's County, and a consortium of rural Eastern Shore counties were the only jurisdictions receiving such awards.

Upon notification of the award, the commissioners established the Garrett County Council for Children, Youth, and Families, which will serve as the policy-making body for the office. The following individuals were appointed to the council by the commissioners: Dr. Rex Archer, Garrett County Health Department; Lois Ayers, parent; Larry Bruch, Garrett County Department of Social Services; Father Martin Feild, clergy; Joe Howe, Garrett County Commissioners' office; Jack King, Bausch & Lomb; Dorothy Leuba, Garrett Organization for the Handicapped; Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Garrett County Board of Education; Robert Shaffer, Department of Social Services; Robert Ulino, Probation office; Brenda Walker, attorney; Wayne Wilt, Department of Juvenile Services; and Duane Yoder, Garrett County Community Action.

The new office, which will be housed initially in a space at the central office of the Garrett County Board of Education, will coordinate services to children, youth, and families through participating agencies such as the Education Board, the Health Department, Juvenile Services, Social Services, and Community Action. In addition, the office will provide services directly to clients in order to return children from out-of-state institutions and to reunite appropriate children who are in group home placements with their families. Finally, the office is envisioned to assume responsibility for other program areas, such as the infant and

Local Minister Finally Contacts Liberian Family

Reverend Augustus (Gus) Monu and his wife Rebecca, Swanton, have finally been successful in receiving word from their family in Liberia, the war-torn country in West Africa currently dominated by rebel forces, that their two daughters, aged 14 and 16, and Rev. Monu's son are still surviving there.

While that one piece of information took many months and much red tape, the next step -- freeing the daughters from Liberia and reuniting them with their parents here in America -- will reportedly require an equal amount of bureaucratic baggage, as well as thousands of dollars.

Rev. Monu is the pastor at both the Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church and the Kitzmiller Bethel United Methodist Church, and it was only after he came to the United States in 1987 to attend the Wesley Theological Seminary in Washington, D.C., that the country was then virtually closed off from communication and transportation by the rebels. Thus, the Monus had not been able to obtain any knowledge at all concerning the health and welfare of their family, until now.

Since Rev. Monu's son is a grown man with a family of his own, it is the reunion with the two daughters the

Single-Vehicle Accident Wednesday Claims Life Of Deer Park Woman

A Deer Park woman was pronounced dead on arrival Wednesday afternoon following a single-vehicle mishap which occurred on the Glendale Road, while a passenger in the vehicle remains listed in "stable" condition at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Gladys Friend Beheler, 61, died as the result of injuries sustained in the 2:40 p.m. accident. One of her passengers, Olive Glass, 69,

Health Dept. Confirms Sixth Rabies Case

The sixth rabies case of 1991 was confirmed early this week by the Garrett County Health Department after a diseased raccoon entered the property of Wayne Ellis in Accident. The rabid animal was killed by two dogs owned by Ellis, which were both currently vaccinated against the disease.

Both pets will be re-vaccinated during the currently ongoing rabies clinic, according to Tina Buckel, health department sanitarian. The dogs will also be observed for 90 days. Proper protection against the fatal disease was used in the incident, Buckel said.

The last day of the rabies clinic will be conducted at the Bittinger Fire Hall tomorrow.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER - During the month of April, state agencies were requested to join in Earth Day activities. A tree planting was suggested as an excellent environmental activity. Garrett County Area Agency on Aging opted to schedule just such an activity in May in order to celebrate two occasions - Earth Day and Older Americans Month. Two flowering plum trees were planted on May 23 at the Flowery Vale Senior Center in Accident by Dave Taylor, owner of Green Acres Garden Center. Taylor provided the trees to the AAA at a substantially reduced rate and volunteered his time to do the actual planting. A spokesman from the agency stated, "In addition to providing beauty for the seniors to enjoy in the coming years, trees help to clean out our air, produce oxygen, and lessen erosion." Pictured left to right are Dave Taylor, owner of Green Acres; Adina Broda, director of AAA; Ruth Lenhart and Holly Barlett, senior representatives from Flowery Vale.

Education Board Discusses Budget, Offers 1.5% Raise To Employees

The Garrett County Board of Education budget committee met Monday to pare down the $10 million budget previously requested of the Garrett County Commissioners. At the conclusion of the meeting, the board members had directed their chief negotiator, John Morris, to offer employees of the education system a one and one half percent salary increase. The administrators in the system will not receive any increase, according to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools.

The salary increase originally agreed upon between the board, the Garrett County Teachers' Association (GCTA), and support personnel employees was six percent. This figure was included in the budget proposal of over $10 million presented to the commissioners in early May. The commissioners returned the budget within two weeks of its submission and instructed the board members to cut the request by 14%.

"This is not a final board action," Ryscavage said of the one and one half percent increase. "It is the direction the school board wants to take, however. Even after this increase, we will still have to wrestle with the remainder of the school budget problems."

Other options that are now "up in the air," Ryscavage said, include transportation monies for field trips, the driver simulator at Southern High School, black top paving at Accident elementary, and several other items that were originally included in the budget.

The school board requested monies for field trips from the county fiscal authority for the first time in early May, asking for $77,000. Ryscavage explained that this option will have to be reconsidered, and one alternative is to request the money from the state.

Ryscavage explained that the board first wanted to attempt to get local funding for the field trips because of future budget problems statewide.

"Fiscal year 1993 will possibly be a very tough year for state monies," the superintendent said. "We wanted to try at the local level first because if we get state monies this year, we may be very short in FY 93. So, it's either pay now or pay later."

The school board will continue discussions on cutting the budget, and Ryscavage said he hopes the final budget will be approved by the end of this month. The school board will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon, June 11, and although there may be some discussion on the issue, Ryscavage stated that there will probably be no final actions.

"There are too many loose ends at this point," the superintendent explained.

GC High Schools' Graduations Set For Sunday

The thirty-ninth annual commencement ceremonies of Northern and Southern High Schools will take place on Sunday, June 9.

Southern High's graduation ceremony will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the football stadium, and Northern's will start at 4 p.m. at the school's gymnasium.

Elected county officials, including Garrett County Board of Education members and the County Commissioners, have been invited to the ceremonies. Also invited to attend are District 1-A Delegate George C. Edwards, District 1 Senator John J. Hafer, and Steven Herman, president of Garrett Community College.

Some Businesses Must Register To Collect New Sales Taxes

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says the state's new sales tax treatment of food is affecting some businesses which did not previously collect the tax because their individual sales of food were for less than $1.00 and were not taxable, or because their carryout sales were previously exempt.

During May, the Comptroller's Office notified more than 30,000 businesses and trade associations of the changes in the sales and use tax law, including many small food vendors, who were already registered and collecting the tax on sales of canned or bottled soft drinks and other items. However, many street vendors selling hot dogs and other prepared food, snow ball stands, strictly carry-out food vendors, and other small or part-time businesses may now be required to collect the sales tax on their sales, starting at 20 cents. The General Assembly enacted legislation eliminating the special exemption for food sales under $1.00 beginning June 1, 1991.

Businesses which are not currently registered to collect Maryland's sales and use tax can get the necessary combined registration application and sales tax rate chart by calling (301) 225-1300 in the Baltimore area, or 1-800-492-1751 from elsewhere in Maryland. Sales tax licenses, information about collecting the tax, and tax returns will be mailed to the businesses.

Individuals can also come in person to the Taxpayer Registration Assistance Center, Room 403, State Office Building, 301 West Preston Street in Baltimore.

Businesses can begin collecting the tax immediately and submit the tax receipts to the state with their first sales tax return, which they will receive in the mail.

For all taxable items, the tax begins at 20 cents. From 20 to 39 cents, tax is one cent; from 40 to 59 cents, the tax is two cents; from 60 to 79 cents, the tax is three cents; from 80 to 99 cents, the tax is four cents; and for a $1.00 sale, the tax is five cents.

GC Arts Council Annual Meeting Set For June 11

The annual meeting of the Garrett County Arts Council (GCAC) will be held on Tuesday, June 11, at 8 p.m. in Room 305, Continuing Education Center, Garrett Community College.

All interested persons are invited to attend this meeting to become part of the council's activities and endeavors to foster and promote the arts in Garrett County.

GCAC has provided grants for the following arts activities of the past year: Hammer and Strings 'Ole Time Music, the county promotion council's Fiddler's Contest and Autumn Glory Highland Festival, the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, the Storytelling Festival of the American Association of University Women, Garrett Choral Society's Bach Oratorio, Christmas Concert, the GCC Community Chorus's Christmas Concert, GCC Drama Dept. Man of La Mancha, Crimes of the Heart, Spruce Forest Artisan Village, Summerfest and Quilt Festival, and the Third Annual American Indian Pow-Wow.

The Highland Festival, sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, received second runner-up in the state's "Official Summer Event of the Season," granted by the Maryland State Department of Economic and Employment Development.

Funds were also provided by the GCAC for a restoration of "The Harned Diaries," awards for the high school juried art show, and the ice sculpture contest at Winterfest.

The arts council is currently renewing efforts to establish an arts facility in GARDEN CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS -- New officers were recently elected for the Mountain Laurel Garden Club, which recently held its annual luncheon meeting at the Deer Park Inn for the installation ceremony. The luncheon program also included guest speaker Gary Yoder, who spoke to the group about the county's recycling plan. Yoder is chairman of the county recycling committee, appointed by the Garrett County Commissioners. Shown in the above photo, left to right, are Cathy Smith, outgoing president; Willette Rissell, newly elected president; Karen Browning, newly elected vice-president; Joan Moran, newly elected recording secretary; Michelle Duda, newly elected corresponding secretary; and Gary Yoder. Not present at the time the photo was taken was Susanah Kurtz, newly elected treasurer.

Garrett County. A central facility for all creative arts is envisioned, according to a spokesperson, where music, theatre, visual arts, dance, and multi-media presentations can flourish.

Clarification Noted

In a story that appeared in last week's edition of The Republican, it was noted that a "trust fund" had been established to aid in medical expenses for "Jimbo" Paugh, 16, Swanton, who had been critically injured in a four-wheeler accident May 23.

Actually, the bank account was started by private contributors at the Garrett National Bank in Bloomington. Persons wishing to contribute to the fund may send checks to any Garrett National Bank. Checks should be made payable to the Jimmy Paugh Fund, not to the Garrett National Bank.

"Jimbo" is the son of James and Joyce Paugh, Swanton.

Local Weight Loss Center Receives Order From Curran

Maryland Attorney General Joseph Curran Jr. said this week that a Cumberland-based weight-loss club that was selling "Lifetime" memberships without being bonded has been ordered to either cease its sale of long-term contracts until it posts sufficient security to protect consumers, or refund all the money it obtained improperly from them.

A five-page Cease and Desist Order issued by the Consumer Protection Division in Curran's office charges that Future Shape Weight Loss, Inc., which has weight-loss centers in Cumberland, Oakland, and Frostburg, had earlier sought exemption from the state health club law's requirement that a bond, letter of credit, or cash security be posted if a facility collects more than three months' advance payment from consumers.

On May 7, however, an investigator from the Hagerstown branch of Curran's office visited the Cumberland outlet of Future Shape Weight Loss, reviewed its membership agreements and payment records, and found that the company had been selling so-called "Special" or "Lifetime" memberships for which it collects more than three months' advance payments in full, according to the order signed by Assistant Attorney General William Leibovici, Chief of the Consumer Protection Division.

According to an affidavit attached to the Cease and Desist Order, at least 15 consumers purchased such "Lifetime" memberships, paying more than $4,300.

The Attorney General's order directs Future Shape Weight Loss to immediately stop selling such memberships until it either posts the required security of up to $200,000 per facility after an independent accountant has determined the firm's total outstanding liabilities to consumers, or refund the amount of any consumer's payment that exceeds more than three monthly membership payments in advance.

If Future Shape Weight Loss wants to challenge the Consumer Protection Division's order, it may request a hearing. If it does not seek such a hearing, the order automatically becomes final.

Red Cross Volunteer Picnic Scheduled

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a picnic for volunteers, their spouses and children, and any other interested prospective volunteers.

The picnic is slated for Sunday, June 23, beginning at 2 p.m. at the Glogfely Pavilion, north of Oakland.

Those attending are asked to bring a covered dish and table service. Hot dogs will be provided. Persons desiring additional information may contact the Red Cross at 334-3916.

State Police Log 14 DWI Arrests

A total of 14 drivers were apprehended for driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs over the past two weeks, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police.

Below is a list of those charged and the arresting officer in each arrest.

Samuel Bruschemi Jr., 47, Pittsburgh, Pa., was charged on May 21 by Tfc R.T. Wilson.

Steve V. Tabone, 67, Burgettstown, Pa., was charged on May 24 by Tfc Wilson.

John T. Montgomery, 23, Mann's Choice, Pa., was charged on May 25 by Tfc P.R. Brown.

James Bowley II, 32, Oakland, was charged on May 25 by Tfc Wilson.

Matthew J. Daugherty, 22, no address given, was charged on May 25 by Tpr Herndon.

Richard Burkhardt, 30, Pittsburgh, Pa., was charged on May 25 by Tfc Brown.

Shawn Dunkie, 21, no fixed address, was charged on May 27 by Tfc Brown.

Linda C. Browning, 39, McHenry, was charged on May 29 by Tfc J.T. Bentlejewski.

Joyce E. Smith, 33, McHenry, was charged on May 30 by Tfc D.W. Broadwater.

John M. Ackerman, 49, McHenry, was charged on June 1 by Tfc Broadwater.

Allen A. Green, 21, Swanton, was charged on June 1 by Tpr G.S. Becker.

Roger L. Ashby, 22, Oakland, was charged on June 2 by Tpr Becker.

Ronald J. Taylor, 41, Finleyville, Pa., was charged on June 2 by Tfc Broadwater.

Mary Lou Wilson, one of the Swanton parishioners, stated that the couple's remaining family is now out of money, and since rice is selling there for $15 per pound, they are boiling the leaves from some of the nearby trees for food. "What used to cost $1, now costs $10," she stated.

DNR PARK RANGERS DEMONSTRATE OUTDOOR ADVENTURE SPORTS to Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer, who visited New Germany State Park Friday afternoon, as part of a Western Maryland promotional tour. Schaefer was accompanied by Maryland Secretary of the Department of Economic and Employment Development J. Randall Evans, who participated in a mountain bike excursion while at the park, and Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Dr. Torrey C. Brown. Shown above, left, is Governor Schaefer, who learns about backpacking from Gary Adalhardt, Outdoor Adventures coordinator. Other presentations were given by Carolyn Mathews, Western Regional naturalist, who explained two other components of the program, canoeing and mountain biking. A mountain bike was presented to the governor by Ed Taylor of Allegany Bikeworks. The DNR Outdoor Adventures program includes a schedule of events that take place from April to October in the various state parks throughout the state. More information about the program and a schedule of events may be obtained by contacting the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, State Forest and Park Service, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Md., 21401, Attn: Outdoor Adventures, or by calling 301-974-3771. The program includes "everything from paddling the whitewater of the Potomac River to strolling down a woodland trail in search of an elusive owl," according to a spokesperson for the program. Leaders of the programs are trained in recreational sports skills and in nature interpretation, and environmental sensitivity is stressed in all the programs.

Wilson added that the church has contributed $1,000 but more is needed, and that Rev. and Mrs. Monu must rely on donations in order to attempt the rescue of their children from an unsafe, poverty-filled country. They are currently in contact with a missionary serving north of Liberia, who has been trying to help them in their efforts to re-unite with their children.

Persons desiring more information about this situation, or those who wish to help in some way, are asked to contact Mary Lou Wilson at 387-6332 or Leah Beckman at 387-4527 (P.O. Box 3042, Swanton, Md., 21561).

DHMH Launches New Care Program To Assist Persons With Diabetes

The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) announced the start tomorrow of a program designed to improve access and quality of care for at least 2,000 Maryland Medical Assistance Program recipients who have been hospitalized for diabetes. The program is expected to save the Medical Assistance program $3 million in its first year of operation.

tion through reduced hospitalizations.

The Diabetes Care Program includes the standard services covered by Medical Assistance, such as doctor, clinic and hospital services, as well as new additional benefits, all coordinated through one primary care provider.

"This type of coordinated, preventive care reduces the number of hospital admissions for diabetes-related illness and the number of visits to emergency rooms," said Nelson J. Sabatini, secretary of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. "It improves the delivery of primary care services to participants. It prevents adverse outcomes from the disease by encouraging better management of a recipient's condition by the recipient and the primary care provider."

The cost effective, comprehensive program serves those recipients with diabetes who have the most immediate need for an enhanced package of managed care and preventive services.

Medical Assistance recipients will be able to obtain all services through one diabetes primary medical provider which they can select from participating providers. The primary provider refers the recipient for specialty services as needed.

The Diabetes Care Program represents the state's efforts to control Medicaid expenditures as well as promote access to care and quality of care for a portion of the five percent of all Medicaid recipients who have a diagnosis of diabetes. Medicaid costs for these recipients are more than three times the average costs for recipients without diabetes. In fiscal year 1987, the Maryland Medical Assistance Program paid nearly $40 million in claims for services for persons with diabetes, of which $23 million or 57.5 percent were for inpatient care for persons with diabetes. The Diabetes Care Program is expected to save the Medical Assistance program $3 million in its first year of operation.

Under the new program, additional covered benefits authorized by the primary medical provider include home glucose monitors for non-insulin dependent persons, prescription footwear, diabetes education, and nutrition counseling. The newly covered services assist a person with diabetes to follow a permanent course of self-management that includes adherence to a correct diet and careful attention to glucose levels, thereby lessening the possibility of associated complications from the illness and hospitalization.

"Persons with diabetes can learn how to live with this illness and minimize its medical complications," said Rosalie Koslof, chief of the Managed Care Section of the DHMH Medical Care Compliance Administration. "They will be assisted to obtain and prepare foods that will help control their diabetes. If they have foot problems, under the program, they can obtain therapeutic shoes that will not only provide comfort, but also help prevent more serious problems."

"AMNESIA PATIENTS MUST PAY IN ADVANCE."

Physicians who are already Medical Assistance providers and participating in other Medical Assistance programs or who are considering joining Medical Assistance can become a participating provider in the Diabetes Care Program. They can also enroll their Medical Assistance recipients in the program and obtain the enhanced services for them. They can become part of a network of doctors, nutritionists, and diabetes educators providing access to specialty services for their patients.

Participating providers receive a $20 managed care fee each month per recipient in addition to regular fees for services, and a free medical education course in management of diabetes which they can apply towards their continuing education for state licensure. Recipients and providers interested in participating in the Diabetes Care Program should call 301-225-5154 to join the program or receive further information.

Graduate Advice...

Over 300 of Garrett County's young people will complete a major chapter in their lives this Sunday afternoon and embark on a totally new, uncharted course, as they are handed their high school diplomas during high school graduation ceremonies. At the risk of sounding like the typical, philosophical commencement speaker, we wish to offer the following to both the graduates and their parents.

To the students, we encourage you to set your goals high and have the perseverance to follow your dreams; however, you should keep all of your options open and be ready and willing to change directions. Explore and take advantage of the thousands of opportunities that come your way.

Don't think that the world owes you anything. Don't expect life to always be fair, it most certainly isn't.

While you may now be filled with knowledge, you have yet to acquire the wisdom which can be obtained only through time and experience.

Whatever you choose to do, whether it be college, a job, or the armed forces, apply yourself, keep learning, and be the best you can be at whatever you are doing.

Recognize the fact that you simply "don't know it all" and seek out the advice and guidance from those better informed and more experienced, particularly your parents.

Set your sights much higher than just "getting rich." The chances are greater that you will not get rich in monetary terms, but there are many other opportunities for the types of wealth that are real and lasting. Treating others as you want to be treated, in all relationships, is the major key to achieving such wealth.

To the parents, the best advice we can give is to set your children free, allowing them to pursue whatever paths they choose. All parents have hopes and desires for their children, but support, love, and gentle guidance are far superior than attempting to force your child into accepting the role in YOUR dreams. The latter almost always results in heartache and, often, irreparable damage to the parent-child relationship. If you have instilled good values in your children, then you must simply trust them, as difficult as that may be. Just like we parents, they will make mistakes, probably some major ones. But rather than attempting the impossible task of sparing them from such mistakes, it is better to just be there for them to help pick up the pieces, see the error of their ways, and move on.

Enough said, except congratulations, Northern and Southern high school graduates, and congratulations, parents.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The editorial "Band-aids or Bandages" was excellent. I wonder whether any politician has the intestinal fortitude anymore to act courageously in behalf of the constituents they are supposed to represent. But they sure can see they are covered one way or another.

When will the extensive insurance coverage healthwise be made public? That our court-house, etc. executives "have going for them in a bag" talk about perks?

I thoroughly enjoyed Ellnor Benedict's and Charlie Teets' letters in response to the Mary S. McEwen article concerning writers' grammatical errors. I believe Ellnor has the handle to communication, understanding what people say and mean. Charlie, you and your letter were priceless. Only a person of your incredible wit and fantastic sense of humor, plus your ever present brilliant active mental capacity, could have written it. I still cherish the time I worked under your supervision long ago. Keep up the good work. Thanking you, Mrs. Louise V. Harvey

To the Editor:

I wish to publicly commend the county commissioners in their recent decision to not grant a $1.7 million increase to the Board of Education budget. The Board of Education, as well as other public agencies, must learn to "tighten their belts" during lean years and respond to adverse economic conditions just like the private sector does.

When times get tough, we in the private sector curb our spending habits accordingly. The Board of Education just seems to expect the taxpayers to bear an ever-increasing burden, even in times of economic hardship.

I am thankful that the commissioners are forcing the Board of Education to restrain themselves in their continual demands for even greater amounts of tax money every year. In my opinion, it takes a lot more courage and backbone for the commissioners to say "no" than to crumble under the pressure for increased revenues and higher taxes. As a taxpayer and property owner, I applaud the action taken by the commissioners and hope they will continue to "hold the line."

It should be noted that I am not against education of our children, but I believe the school board and the administration can and should learn to operate more efficiently.

Sincerely,
Charles H. Tressler

To the Editor:

I would like to ask the people of Garrett County a question. Who protects us from the law? Whenever a person is stopped for a traffic violation, it seems like from that time on you are subject to police harassment. A friend of mine was stopped for having an equipment violation. Since that time, he has been stopped again for no apparent reason and was told by the officer that he thought he was driving without a driver's license. He has been followed twice since that time.

Now concerning the incident of the young man supposedly to have run an officer down with a dirt bike. I have always believed that a person was innocent until proven guilty. But from the way it has been reported in the paper and on the radio, he is already guilty of the crime. People are talking about it all over the Oakland area. Do you really think he will get a fair trial? I have driven the young man's car and have been stopped for no apparent reason — followed a few times and when the officer realized it was me, he let up on the pursuit. Yet the police officers can say what they want about people even though it's a lie and get by with it.

I have seen several police officers sitting in bars and drinking way past their limit, but you never see or hear any of them receiving a citation for DWI or DUI. And another question: what is the speed limit for police officers?

Growing Vegetables in Pots

Joan Ott Moran

Would you love to grow your own vegetables, even though you have no room for a garden? Perhaps you should try container gardening. You can grow and reap an impressive harvest of fresh vegetables and herbs in a small space such as a patio, a porch, a balcony, or space at the side of a house.

Almost any container can be used, from a coffee can to a wooden tub to a hanging basket, anything that holds the soil, as long as there is drainage. If you use a container that does not have drainage holes, such as a crockery jar, put a layer of pebbles on the bottom to a depth of one inch for smaller pots and two to three inches for larger pots. Since plants in very small containers usually must be watered twice a day, you may prefer to use a larger container. Scrub the containers with soap and water before you plant in them.

A good soil mixture made especially for container gardening can be purchased at a garden store or can be made with equal parts of garden loam, peat moss, compost, sand and perlite.

You can have a continuous supply of vegetables with successive plantings of small quantities. For example, lettuce can be planted each month through the spring and again in the fall. Make the second planting before you harvest the first. Early cool weather crops can be started outside in pots about two to four weeks before the last frost. These include onions, lettuce, spinach, beets, carrots and radishes. Warm weather crops include cucumbers, tomatoes and peppers. These should be started indoors from six to eight weeks before they are to go outside. Move them outside when all danger of frost is past. When they are large enough to be thinned, single plants such as peppers and tomatoes should be transplanted one or two to a pot. Thin other seedlings as necessary.

Of the two kinds of tomato plants — bush and climbing (or determinate and indeterminate) — it is the bush type, especially the dwarf variety, that gardeners like to grow in containers. Researchers have developed new varieties that taste delicious, so if you tried them years ago and were disappointed, maybe now is the time to try them again. Ask your garden shop or nursery about new tomato introductions. Tomato plants need lots of sun, at least six to eight hours a day. Feed them every two weeks with a fertilizer that is high in phosphorus and low in nitrogen (or use a special tomato fertilizer), and keep the soil evenly moist. Tomatoes and cucumbers will need supports. You can purchase these to fit your pots.

Your potted vegetables will not need an unusual amount of care. They need water, fertilizer and sun, although some can tolerate shade. Keep the soil moist but be careful that the plants do not become waterlogged. Add water when the surface feels dry. In hot weather daily watering may be required, especially if containers are made of porous material and are fast-drying. You can mulch the soil to help prevent drying.

Fertilize regularly. Two common types of fertilizer available are water-soluble and slow-release. The advantage of a slow release fertilizer is that less frequent applications are necessary. Since the soil in containers does not stay in as good a condition as that in the garden, you should plant annuals each year in fresh soil.

Why not try one or two vegetables this year, such as peppers and tomatoes, and expand as you gain experience and find out what works best for you?

Your potted vegetables will not only be good to eat, they will be very decorative in your back yard or on your porch. Purple kale and cabbage are attractive in pots; the contrasting greenery of carrot tops and onions is a pleasant sight; rhubarb in pots makes a dramatic accent.

After your success with growing vegetables in pots, you may be tempted to try growing vegetables indoors year-round. This has become a fast growing hobby. With the help of special light bulbs, any small space can be turned into a garden. Your local library has books on this subject.

Happy container gardening!

Why aren't law officers treated the same as the citizens of Garrett County? Why does it seem that they are above the law? Again I ask the question, who protects us from the law? When one deputy stopped a friend of mine a question was asked, and when the answer was given, the deputy called him a "damn liar." My friend was stopped a second time, and the same deputy walked up to his car with his nightstick striking it in his hand in a threatening gesture. Would it be any wonder people are afraid when ordered to stop?

It seems their most important mission is to stop people for traffic violations. What about breaking and entering, drugs, and a lot of other crimes? I think it is about time that we stop sitting back and taking whatever is handed down to us. I thought the Bill of Rights gave us some rights, one of them the freedom of speech. Second, the right to a fair trial.

It seems that people who are poor always get the worst of everything. It's time for people to stand up for their rights. The law officers demand respect from us, but why don't we receive respect in return?

Naomi Harvey

To the Editor:

The sad state of affairs that presently exists at the Oakland Golf Course is a perfect example of the silent majority putting its faith in its elected officers only to have that group betray that trust, and to use its power to do just as it pleases. It was a sad day when the older board members decided to turn over the reins to mostly younger people, thinking that there would be a continuation of concern for the members and the golf course. Most of the trouble started with the new building, which was put up with only board members voting on

The Mind Wanders

by Sherry Frantz

Of the various thoughts that rattle about in my brain, one has lately come to the surface in need of airing. It came in two parts, really, but since the parts are related so closely — maybe even in a causal way — they may prove to fit comfortably into the same column.

We'll see.

The larger, more encompassing, issue of the two is the battle that evidently still rages between the sexes; that is, the serious and not so serious (intended to be taken as a joke but with the understanding that it's really true) men bashing that women still seem to think is cute. I use the word "still" because the fashionable bashing of the last two decades seems to now be wearing thin and is beginning to make me weary. It was, after all, no more than a rebellious, immature way of dealing with the almost sudden realization of our oppression.

The second (almost parenthetical) issue is my reaction to those calculating, manipulative, coy — if not cloying — women who only play at their interactions with men instead of dealing with them honestly and straightforwardly. You know the ones you watch turn otherwise reasonable men into disgusting globs of gelatinous matter as you search for the nearest barf bag? Or the ones you watch (in awe) as they transform themselves continuously from their "in female company persona" to their "in male company persona?"

Granted, I've been more likely to fall into the category of women who malign men, sometimes regarding them with a fair amount of disdain. And maybe some hostility. . .

And maybe even a little murderous intent.

That category might also include those women who take their place in arenas previously reserved for men and then, wonder of wonders, act like men!

But both categories of women have now become a source of discomfort to me. Because both, in seemingly opposite modes of operation, see men as the enemy. If that's an overstatement, I might at least offer that both types are allowing men more power than any one sex of any one species deserves or can handle.

True, we may never fully understand the "opposite" sex, and true, we may never really accept the fact that we are not victims of the same behavioristic biological tendencies or socialization. But, maybe if we stop thinking of each other as "opposite" and, instead, as counterparts of the same human system, we may just find a comfortable place to grow side by side.

After all, we are faced with some devastating problems that require our undivided attention and effort. For that, we need to move past this childish way of behaving with each other.

And if, in the end, we as women have had enough of the way men govern and decide and delegate, then we'd better find a "female" way of accomplishing the same goals, and maybe even figure out the best way each sex has of contributing to those goals.

When we do, we can then send the coy types to a far-off land until they learn to act right.

LWV THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

League Launches Motor-Voter Petition Drive

As the Senate Rules Committee held hearings early this spring on the National Voter Registration Act of 1991, S250, the League of Women Voters launched a grassroots petition drive to build support for the reform measure.

State and local leagues will collect signatures from community leaders and concerned citizens who support the fair and equitable voter registration system that S250 would establish nationally.

Nicknamed "motor-voter" for its provision linking voter registration to motor vehicle license bureaus, S250 would reach virtually all eligible voters by allowing citizens to register when applying for, changing address or renewing their driver's licenses, at government and nongovernment agencies, such as schools, public libraries and job training agencies, or through the mail.

Majority Whip Sen. Wendell Ford (D-Ky.), Senate Rules committee chairman, and Sen. Mark Hatfield (R-Or.), a member of the Rules Committee, are primary sponsors of the motor-voter bill.

Across the country, the league this year will collect more than 100,000 petition signatures and show Congress and President Bush that Americans support national motor-voter registration.

In June, league leaders will present signed petitions to members of Congress during the biennial state president's council in Washington, D.C. Afterward, the petition drive will continue to build broader support for the bill.

Senior Citizens' Menus

The Area Agency on Aging/Garrett County Community Action Committee announced the Senior Nutrition Program menus for the week of June 10-14 as follows:

June 10 - Tossed salad w/green peppers & carrots, lasagne w/ beef tomato sauce, mix summer squash w/ parmesan cheese, garlic bread, melon balls.

June 11 - Orange juice, waldorf salad, creamed chicken over biscuit, peas and carrots, brownie.

June 12 - Cole slaw, macaroni & cheese, stewed tomatoes, green beans, rye bread, raisin bars.

June 13 - Perfection salad, baked ham, maple-candied sweet potato, oat muffin, vanilla pudding.

June 14 - V-8 juice, sliced beef w/gravy, mashed potatoes, glazed carrots, biscuit, jello w/fruit.

Milk, coffee, and tea are served with all meals.

"Eating Together" sites that operate five days per week will be following the menu as is. Those that operate only two or three days per week have the option of choosing menus within the same week.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

Telephone numbers of individual sites are as follows: Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, 746-8824; Bull's Restaurant, Bloomington, 359-3035; Finzel Fire Hall, Finzel, 689-8388; Old Mill Grill, Friendsville, 746-5414; Old Mill Restaurant, Gorman, 334-4865; Casselman Restaurant, Grantsville, 895-5092; Jennings Community, Jennings, 245-4204; Kitzmiller Community Building, Kitzmiller, 453-3445; Oakland Senior Center, Oakland, 334-3399; and Swanton Community Building, Swanton, 387-9191.

SAFETY ALERT TO OPERATORS OF MOBILE HOME PARKS, RV PARKS, OR CAMPGROUNDS

The Garrett County Health Department warns operators of campgrounds, mobile home parks, and recreation areas which provided electrical hookups to campers, RVs, and mobile homes to check power outlet cabinets installed this year because they may be subject to a recall due to possible electric shock and electrocution hazards.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, approximately 2,100 Weatherproof Power Outlet Cabinets manufactured in 1990 by Midwest Electric Products, of Mankato, MN, may present hazards to consumers. Although there have been no reported injuries to date, the manufacturer is recalling the cabinets to correct any wiring errors.

Tina Buckel, a member of the Bittering Volunteer Fire Department, said that "with summer coming on and large numbers of tourists coming in, we want to avoid any problems from happening. Please check any new installations."

Recalled units have the name "Midwest" on the outside of the cabinet door. A label inside the door identifies Midwest Electric Product as a manufacturer, and also lists electrical data and the model number. Before checking the date code, Midwest Electric Products should be called at (507) 625-4414.

Each distributor, contractor, or operator locating a unit which has not been examined or repaired should call the company immediately or write Midwest Electric Products Inc., Quality 90, P.O. Box 910, Mankato, MN 56002-0910. Units should not be powered until they are examined by a qualified electrician.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission's toll-free hotline is 1-800-638-2772.

RED CROSS INSPECTION
American Red Cross volunteer Donna Heginbotham recently attended the senior citizen luncheon at the Swanton Community Center in order to inspect the building for possible use as a mass shelter or feeding station in the event of a disaster. Ms. Heginbotham concluded that the building could be used in this manner.

Disaster coordinator Connie Beachy has divided the county into sections with each area under the direction of a shelter manager, and it is his or her responsibility to locate a suitable building and prepare it in the event of a disaster, which could be a tornado, flood, fire, or any other situation that causes human suffering.

Ms. Heginbotham spoke with the senior citizens about mass shelters and about other services of the American Red Cross.

Any group or organization that would like more information about the Red Cross should contact Ms. Cindy Kutchman at 334-3916, who will arrange for a speaker to meet with the group.

Generosity, Talents Of Local Artists To Enhance GLAF Gala

Chip Evans

Charles Stump

by Cindy Stacy

A stellar group of area artists — including the finalist in this year's Maryland Migratory Duck Stamp competition, an award-winning ceramist who has exhibited extensively throughout Pennsylvania and Maryland, and a watercolorist who twice has been accepted into the Pittsburgh Watercolor Society's international show — have donated an impressive array of art for the June 22 "Black and White" Gala and Auction at Wisp Resort's McHenry House.

In contributing to the Garrett Lakes Art Festival's biggest fundraiser, artists like watercolor painter Robert Yonke, of Pittsburgh and Deep Creek Lake, not only support the event with their own art work, but also by attracting newcomers like Ken Bauer, whose drawing of three canvasback ducks, "At the Edge of the Fog," and Charles Stump's large vase with handles, are expected to be popular items sold at auction immediately following the gala's dinner.

Other individual artists contributing everything from original photographic art to a 16x20 oil portrait, include Oakland attorney and photographer Robert E. Watson, Charles "Chip" Evans, Jim McNeil, Patricia Filsinger, and Jean James. A few selected artists such as the 1991 Ducks Unlimited Flyway Artist Dorothy Speiser will also have limited prints for sale, thanks to contributions from various local gift and decorator shops.

But auction chair Diane Thayer says the event's mainstay are the local artists who yearly generously donate framed original artwork, some of which this year will depict themes indigenous to Deep Creek Lake and the countryside. Yonke's watercolor, for example, will have a local flavor and "more and more," says the Carnegie Institute artist, "I find my paintings very much reflecting a rural influence." The watercolorist, who operates a business development firm, W. H. Yonke & Company in Pittsburgh, has had a lifetime interest in drawing and painting. Because he doesn't like to ship his works, he only exhibits regionally and close to home. Besides Pittsburgh shows, including the prestigious "Aqueous Open" and the Pittsburgh Center for the Arts, he has exhibited at Deep Creek Lake and Ocean City. Married with two children, he is also an avid tennis player and sailor.

Some artists like Ken Bauer, who moved to Garrett County in 1986, have donated several pieces of art. Besides a print of his trio of ducks, which placed in the top 20 over 90 entries in the 1991-92 Duck Stamp competition, Bauer has also submitted prints of three other meticulous pencil drawings — of a woodcock, cardinal, and May-apple.

Since 1988, he has concentrated on pencil drawings of birds, wildflowers, landscapes and other nature subjects. He studied art at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and has had his work published in a new cookbook by the National Wildlife Federation. Locally, he has scheduled a one-man show for June 8-30, at the Savage River Trading Company, and will participate in a group show during the same period at Garrett Community College.

His limited edition prints are produced with a variety of graphite pencils on heavy weight acid-free white paper and by special commission, he will also draw portraits of residential, commercial, and historic buildings.

Although a frequent exhibitor at the nearby Rocky Gap Arts Festival and the Allegany Arts Council's Teachers as Artists exhibition, Chuck Stump of Frostburg and Deep Creek

Jean James

Robert Yonke

Lake, is new to the GLAF auction with his donation of a large ceramic vase with handles. The piece is typical of the numerous pieces of pottery he has shown everywhere from Pittsburgh's Floating Center for the Arts Exhibition to the Susquehanna Valley Festival of the Arts, where he captured first place for crafts in a juried show.

Other group shows were at Rockville's Strathmore Hall Center for the Arts, Spring Valley's Green Meadow Invitational, the Three Rivers Arts Festival, and the Butler Institute of American Art Ceramics Exhibition. His one-man shows included a solo exhibition at the Fine Arts Gallery of John Wanamaker's in Philadelphia.

The art educator has had over twenty years experience in ceramics, has owned his own pottery business since 1976, and has been a frequent invited artist-in-residence at colleges and universities, as well as Historic Cold Spring Village in New Jersey and Counterpoint II (American Wind Symphony Barge).

A frequent contributor to the GLAF art auction is Jim McNeil who is retired "from teaching English at the University of Alabama, but not from painting." Known for his watercolor landscapes of Deep Creek Lake and other local scenes — some of which he has donated to the auction — McNeil says "after 16 years, my enthusiasm for the spontaneity, charm and challenge of watercolor is as high as ever."

He paints, gives workshops and exhibits wherever he can and has become a regular artist of such artistic outlets as the Art Center in Cumberland, the Framers' Gallery in Keyser, and several Garrett County special events like Autumn Glory and the July Penn Alps Summerfest, to which he has been invited as a working artist and exhibitor.

Another retired area resident is Charles "Chip" Evans, who although has wrapped up two careers, as a Chief Gunners Mate and as an electrician at the Wisp Ski area, has not abandoned his lifelong love of drawing and painting. In retirement, he has also made time to pass along some of his artistic experience by teaching at Garrett Community College and playing the bagpipes with the college's pipes and drums group.

As a first for the GLAF gala benefit, Evans has agreed to do a 16x20 oil portrait, with at least one sitting and then using a photograph. Exact arrangements and specific portrait details will be worked out between the winning bidder and the artist.

Also agreeing to paint an individualized work of art is retired art educator Patricia Filsinger who, as in past auctions, has donated a watercolor pen and ink drawing of a person's home or other special architectural subject. Like with Evans' oil portrait, Filsinger said she too will make special arrangements with the winning bidder of her art contribution. She declined any personal publicity, just saying she was "glad to contribute something" to the annual arts event.

An artist before she became a counselor, Oakland resident Jean James is a graduate of the Maryland Institute College of Art in Baltimore (a B.A. in Fine Arts) who later acquired a master's degree in clinical psychology so that she could practice art therapy. She worked as an art therapist for nine years and moved to Garrett County in 1979, and is employed at both the Mental Health Department and the private Garrett Counseling Services. A returning contributor to this year's auction, she has donated an etching called "Balloon Flowers."

Oakland attorney Robert E. Watson, with a myriad of interests ranging from fiction writing to photography, is another artist who agreed to contribute, like he did last season, a framed original work to the GLAF gala benefit. Marketed under Pictures, Ltd., Watson's original photographic art frequently depicts local landscapes, including this year's entry, "Dark Road," shot in nearby Horse Shoe Run.

Fascinated with the forms and colors of the Appalachian Mountains, the attorney, who holds a Juris Doctorate degree from the University of Baltimore and a Master of Arts degree from Johns Hopkins University, immersed himself in color photography beginning in 1985. From his father who had a black and white darkroom and from experience as a newspaper editor and publisher in central Maryland, Watson acquired the techniques of photography.

He mostly uses a large format 4x5 field camera, but sometimes switches to medium or 35mm small format cameras.

The annual GLAF gala benefit, which this year took as its theme, "What's Black and White," to create a sophisticated yet fun evening to raise funds for the summer-long festival of music, dance and theatre, will begin at 6:30 p.m., with a preview showing of all auction items. Patrons, encouraged to dress in black and white, will enjoy a lavish dinner, the auction, and musical entertainment. The gala evening also officially kicks off the fifth summer season opening the next day with a free concert featuring the U. S. Navy Band's Sea Chanters on the grounds of Garrett Community College.

Health Education Center To Hold Annual Meeting

The Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC), Cumberland, will hold its 15th Annual Meeting on Monday, June 10, with Lee Kaiser, Ph.D., a well-known health planner and futurist as the keynote speaker. The meeting will convene at 4 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

According to Anthony Bollino, M.D., chairman of the AHEC Board of Directors, "We are very fortunate and excited to have Dr. Kaiser speak at our 15th annual meeting and also to conduct two continuing education seminars during his stay in Cumberland. He will provide some very unique insights into the future of health care." Dr. Kaiser's topic, The Future of Health Care - Regional and Rural Systems, will address the reconfigured health care industry of the '90s, and predict future trends in rural health care.

Donald Spencer, executive director of the AHEC, states that Kaiser's thoughts and input will be "very useful" for the Western Maryland AHEC which works to improve health care through health personnel education in Western Maryland. The AHEC offers a broad range of programs designed to meet the professional development needs of new and established health professionals in our region as well as programs to recruit people to the health professions. The Center was established in 1976 as part of the Maryland Statewide Medical Education and Training System and works in cooperation with the University of Maryland at Baltimore.

During the meeting an awards presentation will provide recognition to area health professionals for their contribution as preceptors to the AHEC's Clinical Education Program. Individuals in the regional and University of Maryland communities who have significantly contributed to improving health care in Western Maryland also will be recognized. The annual meeting also is the forum for the election of new members to the AHEC's Board of Directors and Interdisciplinary Health Education Council (IHEC).

Immediately following the annual meeting, Dr. Kaiser will be the featured speaker at a three-hour continuing education seminar, "The Future of Medicine." The program is sponsored by the Western Maryland AHEC in cooperation with Frostburg Community Hospital, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Memorial Hospital and Medical Center, Sacred Heart Hospital, Washington County Hospital Association, and the Maryland Hospital Association. The program is eligible for three CMEs for physicians and three CEUs for dentists.

Dr. Kaiser also will participate in an all-day continuing education conference scheduled on Tuesday, June 11, called "Impact of the Future on Hospitals." It is designed for hospital trustees, administrators, and other health professionals.

GOLDIE SHUGARS HONORED BY REALTORS -- Goldie Shugars was recently named Distinguished Sales Associate of the Year by the Garrett County Board of Realtors at their May membership meeting. Ms. Shugars was selected for the award by a panel of board members consisting of former award winners, general realtor members, and affiliate members of the Board of Realtors. This award honors one sales associate annually for representing the high ethical principles embodied in the realtor spirit, and for outstanding business accomplishments, professional knowledge, and involvement in the local and statewide community, according to a spokesperson. Ms. Shugars has been involved in real estate in the county since 1985, and has been affiliated with Coldwell Banker Deep Creek Realty since that time. She has consistently been among the leaders in that company, the spokesperson said. She holds the designations as graduate, Realtors Institute, and Certified Residential Specialist, and is an active member of the Board of Realtors. She served as president of the Garrett County Board in 1989-90, and represents the county on several committees at the state level. Ms. Shugars resides in McHenry with her husband, Sam. Pictured above, left to right, are Scindra Roason, last year's Distinguished Sales Associate, Ms. Shugars, and Karen Spiker, president of the G.C. Board of Realtors.

For additional information on the annual meeting or the continuing education seminars, persons may call (301) 777-9150.

Geriatric Aide Course Offered

"Basic Nursing Skills for the Geriatric Aide and Nursing Assistant" training will be held at the McHenry Campus of Garrett Community College starting June 11. The class is designed for those who currently work with geriatric patients or plan to do so in the future.

The class will be held on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, and will consist of 69 classroom hours followed by 18 clinical hours on arrangement. State certification is given upon successful completion of this training.

Prospective students should pre-register at the Continuing Education Office at the McHenry campus, Room CE-300. The tuition for this course is $90 for county residents. A tuition differential will be assessed of out-of-county and out-of-state residents.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Continuing Education Division at 387-6666 or 1-800-695-GCC1.

SPECIAL MINISTRY GUESTS TO VISIT CRELLIN -- The Rev. and Mrs. Stephen Sparks and their four children, Bryon, Leann, Jenell, and Brent, will be the special ministry guests at Crellin Assembly of God Church during the Sunday services at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. Mrs. Lillian Sparks is an ordained Assemblies of God minister, retreat and seminar speaker, and author of "Tough Cookie," her first best seller, written about her son Bryon. Her husband, Stephen, has been an ordained pastor for 18 years, and is now a "family evangelist" with the same denomination. The family's message concerns the plight of Bryon, the 17-year-old son, who has suffered from a debilitating skin disease since birth. The disease, called "epidermolysis bullosa dystrophica recessive," affects the teenager's complete outer skin and every internal organ and mucous membrane, causing his skin to blister and peel, even at the slightest touch. The disease has rendered his fingers immovable, and produces open sores that must be covered with cream and bandaged twice a day. The illness causes the young man constant pain. The family members will speak on how they have retained their faith in the midst of this crisis, and how Bryon's determination helps him live as normally as possible. The Sparks explained that the illness helped them to turn to God and rely on Him as their only source of strength. All persons are invited to attend the special Sunday services, a church spokesperson said.

COVE

The annual Mission Festival will be held this Sunday, June 9, at St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod. Diabetes and Blood Glucose Monitoring

Diabetes is a condition in which the amount of glucose (sugar) in the bloodstream is not controlled. We now have newer and better formulated insulins, oral medicines for diabetes, and self-monitoring of blood sugar using blood-glucose meters. Diabetics are now able to maintain better control of their diabetes. According to a recent article in the medical journal, Patient Care, there are advantages of using monitoring devices:

1. Helps the diabetic's physician follow the condition more effectively.
2. Aids the diabetic in anticipating the onset of acidosis (a metabolic problem) and low blood sugar; helps minimize complications.
3. Enhances the diabetic's understanding of his or her condition.
4. Allows for ease in adjusting diet, exercise, and insulin doses.
5. Increases flexibility in the diabetic's day-to-day activities.

With the typical monitoring device, a drop of blood received from a finger stick is applied to a test strip. The amount of glucose in the blood is determined visually by observing color changes on the test strip or reading the amount shown by the meter.

Congress gave the holiday permanence by resolving "that the 14th day of June of each year is hereby designated as Flag Day."

President Harry Truman immediately signed the measure into law. Flag Day is now observed nationwide as a day when Americans honor the flag and the nation it represents.

Fearer stated, "Especially in light of the recent events in the Middle East, it is important that we honor and respect our flag and our nation and honor those who have lived and died for it. It is important that we show them and our nation our gratitude and pause for the Pledge of Allegiance on Flag Day."

Taxidermists To Hold Three-Day Event At FSU

The 1991 Eastern Regional Taxidermy Convention and Competition, slated for June 14-16, will be held at Frostburg State University.

This show is sponsored by the Maryland Taxidermists Association and sanctioned by the National Taxidermists Association. Last year the competition display was viewed by 600 visitors.

Visitors are welcome to see the display again this year on Saturday, June 15, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Exhibits will include the Maryland Bow Hunters Society, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, the Maryland Fur Trappers Association, and other organizations.

An awards ceremony will begin at 11:30 a.m. on Sunday at the Lane Center. Many awards will be presented to taxidermists who are Maryland residents as well as to taxidermists from other states.

As an added attraction for visitors, there will be a turkey hunting seminar by Stuart Sommer, a local turkey hunting guide, at 1 p.m. on Sunday, June 16.

Garrett CC's Mick Bayle Named First Team All-American

For the second year in a row, Garrett Community College's Mike "Mick" Bayle has been named a first team All-American by the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Bayle became GCC's first first-team All-American after the 1990 season, when he finished eighth in the nation in hitting with an incredible .498 average, and this year he finished ninth in hitting with a .469 average.

"His numbers are absolutely phenomenal," stated GCC Coach Lawrence Nesselrodt. "If I hadn't been his coach, I wouldn't have believed them."

Bayle led the Lakers in hitting this year with 53 in 113 at-bats and also led the team in RBI with 37, doubles with 15, and walks with 22. He was also three-for-three in stolen base attempts and smacked six home runs. His career total of hits at GCC, second only to Benny Shreve's, was 122 in 252 at-bats for a junior college career average and GCC record of .484. The previous GCC record was .413 by Ted St. John.

His record in even games was 10-10, and in odd games 10-10. His on-base percentage was still more impressive at .596, as many pitchers who knew of his ability to hit on base intentionally were struck out only nine times this season.

"He's definitely the best hitter ever to play at Garrett," Nesselrodt said. "A 6-2, 230-pound sophomore from Magnolia High School in W.Va., Bayle will be a first-team All-American in the Pennsylvania Mansfield is a Division II school in the Northeast Collegiate League."

WHO: WHEN:

included the MVP and top offensive player awards. A number of professional scouts have been keeping an eye on Bayle, according to Nesselrodt, and have advised him to "lose a few pounds." Nesselrodt said that if Bayle complies with that advice, he has an excellent chance of making it in the majors.

"He has an outstanding work ethic, an excellent eye at the plate, quick hands, and outstanding strength," Nesselrodt said. "It's a real thrill just to watch him play."

Oakland Splits With Hyndman In Pen-Mt.

The Oakland Oaks split their 1990 season.

Baseball League season Sunday afternoon by splitting a doubleheader with Hyndman at the Garrett Community College field. Oakland topped the Pennsylvanians 10-9 in the first game, 10-9 in the second.

The Oaks took a 4-0 lead in the bottom of the second inning in the first game, behind just one hit and two key Hyndman errors. The visitors came back to knot the score at 4-4 with three runs in the third and one more in the fourth.

Doubles by Bill Scritchfield, Matt Logsdon, and Mike Mathews, plus an RBI single by Dave Deter accounted for the third inning scores, while Mathews added a run-producing single in the fourth to tie the game.

Oakland erupted for six runs in the fifth inning via doubles by D.G. Largent and John Cutter, Jason Cutter, and Scott Lohr.

Hyndman came back to score three runs in the sixth, but could not get closer. Lohr was credited with the win on the mound after relieving Jason Cutter in the fifth.

Dwayne Woodring and Chad McCullough each finished with two singles for the Oaks, while Logsdon rapped three doubles, Mathews and Scritchfield each hit a double and a single, and Kyle Martz finished with two singles for Hyndman.

Hyndman took a 3-0 lead in the first inning of the second game and moved out to a 12-2 advantage by the top of the sixth inning before Oakland rallied for six runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Three walks, a double by Logsdon, and a single by

GCC Baseball Camp Slated June 24-28

Garrett Community College will be holding its annual baseball camp June 24-28, according to Coach Lawrence Neesselrodt.

Registration forms may be obtained by calling GCC at 387-6666 or 1-800-695-4221. Forms should be returned by June 24. Late registration will take place on June 24 at 8:30 a.m.

The camp will be held Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until noon and campers will meet in the GCC gymnasium. Boys and girls ages 6-15 may participate in the camp. The cost is $50 per camper. Checks should be payable to GCC Baseball Camp. Each camper receives a free camp shirt.

Neesselrodt noted that the purpose of the camp is to develop team and individual skills with a concentration on the basic fundamentals of baseball.

A qualified athletic trainer will be available to provide routine medical care. Excess insurance coverage will be provided by GCC.

Families with two or more participants in the camp qualify for a discount: two campers - $75; three campers - $100.

Soft drinks will be provided daily for the campers.

Action Underway In Bi-State Pony League

The Bi-State Pony League, which includes two Garrett County teams, has opened its season, with action at area fields almost every evening this past week. Central Garrett played three games, winning two of them, while Grantsville topped Lonaconing.

Central Garrett defeated Westernport last Thursday in Westernport, 11-7, lost to Ellerslie on Saturday in Accident, 6-2, and topped Midland on Monday, 8-3, in Midland. Grantsville defeated Lonaconing Friday, 10-7.

In Central's game against Westernport, Rob Speicher and Bill Younklin each singled and doubled, while Chris Carr led Westernport's hitting with a double and a single.

Jeremy Keinnell led undefeated Ellerslie over Central on Saturday, as he smacked a double and a single for two runs and also won on the mound, where he struck out nine batters in five innings before being relieved by Jason Smith. The pair allowed only four hits, three of which were by Jeremy Brenneman.

The win over Midland on Monday upped Central's record to 3-1, as Rob Speicher tossed a four-hitter and fanned 10 batters. The hitting was paced by Danny Mason, who smacked a three-run homer, and Brenneman added two singles.

The Scrambler will tee off at 6 p.m. beginning this week and every Friday night until September.

Hospitalized

Continued from Page A-1 while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs, failure to reduce speed, and negligent driving.

TWO INJURED

A Meyersdale, Pa. woman was admitted to Meyersdale Community Hospital Tuesday and a Grantsville man was treated and released from that same facility following a 1:15 p.m. mishap that occurred on U.S. Route 219 at Grantsville.

Jane Hershberger, 40, was reportedly injured when she stopped the 1986 Chevrolet Sprint she was operating to negotiate a left turn into the Grantsville Shopping Center and was struck from the rear by a 1977 Dodge, operated by William D. Clegg, 45.

Tfc. J.W. Hare investigated for State Police. The injured were transported to the hospital by Northern Rescue Squad. Hershberger was reportedly released from the hospital on Wednesday.

STRIKES GUARDRAIL
A Sunday accident, in which a Grantsville woman struck a guardrail, sent her passenger, Richard Jenkins, 22, Grantsville, to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was treated for injuries and later released.

Pamela J. Wilburn, 18, was traveling south on Rt. 495, when the 1980 Subaru she was operating went left of center. The driver overcompensated to bring the vehicle under control and subsequently struck the guardrail on the opposite side of the roadway.

Tpr. S.H. Anderson investigated the 3:30 p.m. mishap.

PASSENGER HURT

Elizabeth A. Dunnington, 21, Glen Burnie, a passenger in a single-vehicle mishap Friday morning, was taken to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by the Northern Rescue Squad. She was treated for injuries and then released, according to a nursing spokesman.

State Police reported that Glen Gatton, 21, also of Glen Burnie, was driving a vehicle west on U.S. Route 48 near the Green Lantern Road when he looked over at Dunnington and traveled into the guardrail. Police said he over-steered the vehicle before striking the guardrail.

CYCLE MISHAP

A motorcyclist was cited for driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs, negligent driving, reckless driving, and a license restriction violation Monday by state police following an 11:25 p.m. mishap.

David E. White, 44, Deer Park, was charged after he wrecked on Md. Rt. 560, north of the Wayne Harvey Road.

Police said he ran off the right side of the road and struck an embankment. The Southern Rescue Squad was dispatched to the scene, but White was apparently not transported. Tfc. D.W. Broadwater was the investigating officer.

DEER CAUSE MISHAPS

Deer jumping into the paths of drivers caused two separate mishaps this week.

Frank J. Kirkendall, 48, and Joanne Kirkendall, 50, both of Westminster, were not injured Sunday when a deer ran into the path of the 1979 Ford in which they were traveling.

The accident occurred on U.S. Route 219 north of the Pysell Road. Tfc. D.W. Broadwater investigated the 5:30 a.m. mishap and said the vehicle sustained considerable damage.

Byron Bone Marrow Bill To Be Considered In Appropriations Bill

Sixth Congressional District Representative Beverly Byron's provision intended to encourage federal employees to participate in bone marrow donor programs will be taken up for consideration as part of the appropriations bill for treasury, postal, and general government operations later this summer.

The bill will give up to seven days paid leave in a single calendar year to any federal employee who is part of a bone marrow or other organ donor program and is identified as a match for a recipient.

Byron said she has offered the legislation as a means of stimulating the participation of people in donor programs and to provide an example for other employers to follow.

The National Marrow Donor Program has a registry of 313,000 potential donors, but with the chances of a match being one in 20,000, many more donors are needed to satisfy the estimated 16,000 people waiting for bone marrow transplants, according to Byron.

Byron said she will be tested for her suitability as a donor this Friday at north-west Washington, D.C.'s St. Augustine Catholic Church.

Bone marrow cells generate blood cells for the body, and defects in bone marrow result in serious blood disorders such as leukemia and Hodgkin's disease. Bone marrow transplants, a procedure pioneered by Nobel Prize winner Dr. E. Donnall Thomas, is the preferred method of treatment for blood disorders.

Local Students Attend Three-Day Environmental Center At Camp Hickory

During the month of May, 161 seventh grade students from Northern and Southern middle schools, as well as seventh and eighth graders from Bloomington School attended several three-day resident programs at Hickory Environmental Education Center.

According to Joseph L. Winters, coordinator, the intent of this program is to aid the seventh grade students in meeting some of the Maryland School Performance Science Standards. An additional goal is to assist these students in demonstrating the acquisition and integration of some of the major concepts in their life science curriculum.

During the four sessions, "hands-on" activities included collecting, recording and graphing weather data, forest comparison studies, learning about instruments used by a forester, a soil study activity and stream life at Cove Run. A field trip centered around a visit to Little Meadows where the students were able to view and learn about reclamation of a surface-mined area. The students also were able to collect some fossils of the plants that were part of the coal formation process.

Sharon Hoover, the instructional assistant at Hickory, Jolene Scofield and Linda Mosser, science teachers at Southern Middle, Harold Williams, science teacher from Northern Middle, Mary Jo Johnson, seventh eighth grade teacher from Bloomington, and Winters provided the instruction.

Resource personnel included Louise Upole and Terry DeWitt, compliments of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. Forest Park and Wildlife Service John Willett presented an evening program during each session in wildlife herpetology, while Dave Zimmerman provided some musical entertainment.

Alan Skidmore and Julie Adams were the adult night counselors, along with Kevin Selby and Marshall Pike. Also assisting were selected eleventh and twelfth grade students from Northern and Southern high schools: Vickie Karlstrand, Malyna Wyter, Kim Wampler, Randy Livengood, Heather Lipcomb, Nancilee Reckart, Shelley Harvey, Billy Bray, Michelle Kisner, Nancy Hahn, Tonia Bittinger, Aaron White, Diane Miller, Regina Tusing, and Brian Newman.

Northern GOP Women Convene, Hear Ryscavage

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club met May 28 at Hill Top Inn. President Carolyn Ganoe introduced the speakers, Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Garrett County superintendent of schools, and Beverly Murphy, chairman of the Board of Education. They spoke in detail of their duties. Dr. Ryscavage explained graphically the budget process and what all is included in the budget. Mrs. Murphy spoke on the Board of Education's duties and concerns.

A brief business meeting followed while refreshments were served. The joint picnic for Southern and Northern Clubs will be held at Broadford Park, Mtn. Lake Park, at 6 p.m. July 10. Everyone is to bring a covered dish.

Carolyn asked for volunteers to help with the Annual State Convention to be held Oct. 4-6 at Deep Creek Lake. Cleda Baker will help with registration. Any other members willing to help should contact Carolyn Ganoe.

The following were present: Helen Keller, Cleda Baker, Evelyn Younklin, Lulu Brown, Louise McKenzie, Louis Rowe, Twila Mae Fike, Orpha Miller, Jean Friend, Hazel Margraff, Zeola Robinson, Carolyn Ganoe, Clara and Leanna Layman. The next meeting will be June 25.

THE TRI-STATE RECIPROCITY STEERING COMMITTEE met recently, hosted by Garrett Community College, to continue a two-year discussion concerning state-wide agreements among colleges and universities of Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. A reciprocity agreement is a cost-effective way to expand higher education opportunities to citizens in all three states, especially when in-state commuting choices are limited or unavailable. There is a current reciprocity agreement between West Virginia University and GCC. This agreement enables students who have obtained an A.A. degree from GCC to enroll at WVU and pay a West Virginia resident tuition. In order to receive the reciprocity tuition, the student must enter a program not available at Frostburg State University, and he/she should be a commuting student. All Garrett WVU reciprocity students are processed by Dr. Nancy J. Preiselac, special assistant to the president at GCC. Pictured above is the steering committee: sitting, left to right, are Dr. M. Douglas Call, State College System of W.Va.; Dr. E. Jerome Kern, Pa. Dept. of Education; and Dr. Hal Jopp, Md. State Board for Community Colleges. In the back row, same order, are Dr. Howard N. Carper Jr., Shepherd College, W.Va.; Willard L. Fuller, Pa. State University; and Dr. Preiselac.

Health Planner, Futurist To Conduct Seminars

Lee Kaiser, Ph.D., a well known health planner and futurist, will be in Cumberland Monday and Tuesday, June 10 and 11, to present two unique seminars on health care in the future. Don Spencer, Executive Director of the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC), characterized Dr. Kaiser as "... a very moving and thought-provoking futurist. We are very fortunate and excited to have a speaker of Dr. Kaiser's foresight and knowledge in the area."

Dr. Kaiser was invited to the area by the Western Maryland AHEC, Frostburg Community Hospital, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Memorial Hospital and Medical Center in Cumberland, Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland, Washington County Hospital Association, and the Maryland Hospital Association.

The first program, entitled The Future of Medicine, will be held Monday from 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., at the Holiday Inn, Cumberland. Dr. Kaiser will address changes in health care in the decade of the 90's and suggest how private practitioners can survive these changes. The program objectives include that participants be able to 1) identify 10 major health care trends of the 90's, 2) discuss the future of private practice in America, 3) analyze the impact of managed care on the practice of medicine, 4) describe the formation of regional integrated medical care systems and their impact on rural health care, and 5) list five survival strategies for private practitioners in rural America. This program is approved for three category 1 CME's for physicians and three dental CEU's.

Dr. Kaiser will be the keynote speaker at the day-long presentation of "Impact of the Future on Hospitals," Tuesday, from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., at the Cumberland Country Club. Designed for hospital trustees, health care administrators, physicians, and professionals, the program will focus on how hospitals, especially smaller hospitals, will be affected in the future. Special attention will be given to personnel and human resources and the impact of technology on personnel needs and hospital relations. The context for the presentation will be oriented toward role, composition, and decision making by the hospital board of trustees.

Dr. Kaiser's doctorate is in higher education from the University of Denver. He holds a master's degree in public health from the University of Pittsburgh and a master's degree in clinical psychology from the University of Colorado. Currently, Dr. Kaiser is president of Kaiser & Associates, a private consulting firm specializing in corporate health care issues. Between 1970 and 1990, he was affiliated in many teaching and administrative capacities with the Department of Health Administration and the Business Administration at the University of Colorado Medical School.

Kaiser has also published extensively, and has produced several videotapes on managing change in the health care profession.

Andy Wigglesworth, vice president of Government Relations for the Maryland Hospital Association, will conduct the June 11 afternoon program, "Recent Policy Changes and Trends Influencing Hospitals in Maryland." The focus for this presentation will be the illustration of coming changes in the statewide hospital system because of modification of policy and service trends. The day's program will conclude with a reactor's panel and completion of an evaluation instrument.

The program fees for this event are: $90 for the June 10 evening program, $110 for the June 11 full-day program (which includes lunch), or $145 for both programs. Additional information may be obtained by calling 301-777-9150.

Gerald T. Rounds, 72, Haverland of Keyser, W. Va., died Sunday, June 2, 1991, at Potomac Valley Hospital. Born September 15, 1918, in Bond, he was the son of the late Edgar and Stella Wilt Rounds.

Mr. Rounds retired from Westvaco's Luke Mill with 35 years of service in the general maintenance department. He was a member of the Keyser Church of the Brethren and was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II. He was a member of Victory Post 155, American Legion, Westernport, and was a life member of Nancy Hanks Post 3518, VFW, Keyser.

Surviving are his wife, Donna Jean Wilt Rounds, two sons, Gerald T. Rounds Jr. and Robert W. Rounds, both of Keyser, three daughters, Rita K. Biggs, Front Royal, Va.; Lois A. Wagoner and Karen S. Brinkman, Keyser; seven brothers, Albert Rounds, Bridgewater, Va.; Orville Rounds, Swanton, Ohio; William Rounds, Bloomington; Harold Rounds, Mesa, Ariz.; Harvey Rounds, Kearneysville, and Paul Rounds, Oakland, two sisters, Nellie Travis, Westernport, and Bessie Kerling, Keyser, and nine grandchildren.

Friends were received in the Rotruck Funeral Home, Keyser, where a service was held Wednesday at 1 p.m. with the Rev. Kenneth J. Langdon officiating.

Nancy Hanks Post 3518 VFW conducted a memorial service at the funeral home on Tuesday evening.

Interment was in Potomac Memorial Gardens.

OAKLAND LIBRARY RECEIVES BOOK SET — In honor of the recent 40th anniversary celebration of the Ruth Enlow Library and in support of reading aloud to children, the office of Donald R. Richter, M.D., Oakland, has donated The Gateway to Imagination book club set to the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland. The book club, from Discovery Toys, is a unique collection of 30 beautifully illustrated books that address the development and interests of children from two and one-half through five years, according to a spokesperson from Discovery Toys. Each book comes with a newsletter that discusses the story theme and provides child development information and suggestions for other types of play activities for sharing with children. A complete listing of the book club by age will be kept at the front desk. Dr. Richter encourages parents to read aloud often to their children and hopes the addition of this set of books to the library will stimulate or renew that activity in families. Edith Brock, director of the library, thanked Dr. Richter for the donation and hopes that children and their families will include these books as part of their summer reading pleasure. The set was purchased through Sheila Edwards, educational consultant with Discovery Toys. The Oakland library is open on Monday and Wednesday from 9:15 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday from 9:15 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Featuring a year-round pre-school story hour on Thursday mornings at 10 a.m., the library also has a summer reading club for children through age 12. This year's club will meet once a week on Tuesdays beginning June 25 at 2 p.m., continuing through July 30. Pictured left to right are Edith Brock, Patti Battista, Dr. Richter, Carlotta Christensen, Marsha McCartney, Nancy Barr, and Linda Frazee.

FATHER'S DAY SMORGASBORD

A Father's Day Smorgasbord will be served June 16 at the Aurora Fire Hall. Serving will be from noon until 4 p.m., and adult donation will be $5.00, children 6-12, $2.50, and children under 6 eat free. Ham, turkey and potpies will be featured along with vegetables, salads and desserts. The dinner is sponsored by the Union Ambulance Association.

Those who wish to donate desserts and salads, are asked to contact Lori Durst at 735-5796, or Connie Stemple at 735-5486.

BIBLE SCHOOL SET

Vacation Bible School will get underway June 24 at the Maple Spring Church, in cooperation with Bethel United Methodist Church and Brookside Church of the Brethren. "Camp Can Do" will be the general theme, with classes for all ages including adults, held each day from 9 until 11:30 a.m.

REMINDER

A defensive driving class is scheduled for July 28 at 9 a.m., for those who wish to become drivers for the Union Ambulance Association. Those who have not signed up and who wish to do so, should contact Connie Stemple at 735-5486 to do so.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Elaine Wotring's birthday will be celebrated with a surprise party on June 15, from 6:30 until 9 p.m., at the Amboy U.M. Church fellowship hall. Gifts are optional. All friends and relatives are welcome.

SENIORS MEET

Only 16 were present for the June 1 meeting of the Union District Senior Citizens, with Ted Hardesty asking the blessing for the covered dish meal. Devotions were provided by Coleman Shaffer. A number of hymns on tapes were played by Raymond Frantz, and two humorous readings were done by Wilda Wilt. "Happy Birthday" was wished Elma Hardesty, the only one present with a June birthday.

STEMPLE BIRTHDAY

The family of Dora Stemple is planning a surprise 90th birthday celebration for her on Sunday, June 9, from 1 until 5 p.m., at the Amboy U.M. Church social hall. Her address is Star Route, Box 218, Amboy, W. Va. 26701.

HARDESTY RETURNS

David S. Hardesty has returned to West Virginia following service with the 64th Quartermaster Company of the U.S. Army Reserves in Saudi Arabia. He accompanied the group from Ft. Lee on Friday, and got home in time to attend graduation at East Preston High School that evening where his son, David Stephen Hardesty Jr., was among the graduates. He and his wife, Kathy, visited in Aurora with his parents, David and Beulah Hardesty, on Saturday and Sunday, and returned that afternoon to their home in Frametown.

BENTLEYS OBSERVE 25th

On Saturday evening, June 1, Lonnie and Linda Bentley, of Sunnyside Road, were honored by their daughter, Paula, with a 25th wedding anniversary celebration at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. They were married June 4, 1966, by the Rev. J. Rogers Fike. Mrs. Bentley is the daughter of Emerson and Helen Fike, Oakland. The table was centered with a three-tier cake, baked and decorated by their daughter who had used a color scheme of shades of purple, green, and silver, and topped the cake with violets. Family, friends, and neighbors gathered to help them celebrate the occasion.

HAUSER HONORED

Mrs. Maxine Hauser was honored with a tea in early observance of her June 9 birthday and held on the lawn at the home of her daughter, Beverly "Kitty" Myers, in Aurora. A surprise affair, and a celebration of EGLON LIONS DONATE WHEELCHAIR -- At a recent meeting of the Mt. Lions Club of Egdon, W. Va., a new wheelchair was presented to Ruth Pafaraon, who lives with Orville and Shirley Kight in the Mt. Grove Community. Ms. Pafaraon was blinded in an automobile accident when she was a child, and the Lions Club members wanted to "make life a little bit better for her and her family," said a spokesperson. Pictured above, left to right, are Mike Sialar, club president; Delmar Delaney, member; Shirley Kight, Ms. Pafaraon, in wheelchair; Arvin Harsh and Elmer Stemple, members.

"almost 80," many friends, relatives and neighbors gathered for the occasion. There were 31 in attendance and the affair was planned by daughters, Mrs. Myers, Pat Stemple, Bonnie Douglas, and Dean Sister.

CELEBRATES 80th

Mrs. Leola Lantz Eisey was host for a surprise open house on Saturday, June 1, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Keith and Delores Douglas, in Aurora. The occasion was an observance of her 80th birthday. Mrs. Eisey, now a resident of Florida, is the daughter of the late George and Gertrude Lantz, who resided in Egdon; and is the widow of the late Clifford Eisey. There were more than 40 friends, neighbors, and relatives who gathered to greet her and renew acquaintances.

EAST PRESTON GRADUATES

Among the seniors who graduated from East Preston High School on Friday evening, May 31, were the following from this area: Charles Franklin Blamble, son of Frank and Wilda Blamble, Stemple Ridge; Colleen Yvonne Calcamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Calcamp, Horse Shoe Run; Stephanie Dawn Evans, daughter of Stephen and Diane Evans, Horse Shoe Run; Jeannie Louise Frantz, daughter of Robert and Cathy Frantz, Egdon; David Stephen Hardesty, son of David Hardesty, Frametown; and Sharon Wotring, Aurora; Jennifer Janell Frost, daughter of Diana Johnson, Oakland; and Mike Frost, Washington, D.C.; Joseph William Hauser, son of William and Sandra Hauser, Aurora; Leanna Joy Johnson, daughter of Retha Johnson, Horse Shoe Run; James Carroll Layman, son of David and Lois Layman, Egdon; David Morgan LeBon, son of Clara Evans, Horse Shoe Run; James David Martin, son of David Martin, Aurora; and Sue Radabaugh, Terra Alta; Candy Shantel Moats, daughter of Harry and Marsha Moats, Aurora; Earl Henry Moats Jr., son of Earl and Betty Moats, Aurora; Melissa Lynn Moats, daughter of Marshall Moats, Aurora; Donna Jane Mullenax, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mullenax, Horse Shoe Run; George Edmonde Reeves Jr., son of Joan Reeves, Aurora; Warren Dean Rinehart, son of Warren and Wanda Rinehart, Terra Alta (Amboy); Jamie Wayne Slabaugh, son of Janet Melvin, of S.C., and Carl Slabaugh, Horse Shoe Run; Kevin Dale Stemple, son of Erwin and Mary Stemple, Aurora; and Mark Edward Utterback, son of Ed and Mary Utterback, Aurora.

CEMETERY MEETING

The annual meeting of the Accident Cemetery Association will be held June 18, at 7 p.m., at the cemetery. In the event of

Preston Co. Assoc. Of Retired School Employees To Meet

The Preston County Association of Retired School Employees will meet Tuesday, June 11, at noon, at the Amboy United Methodist Church, located on the Terra Alta-Aurora Road.

A luncheon will be served at that time and the Community Services Committee will present the program. Luncheon reservations may be made by contacting Hazel Durst, Amboy, W. Va., 26701, phone number 304-735-5775. The reservations should be made as soon as possible. Cost per person is $5.

Surprise Party Held For Derick Cooper

A surprise birthday party for Derick Cooper was held at Rex and Bev Nice's farm on Lantz Ridgeline near Aurora, on Sunday, May 19.

Attending the festivities were Derick's wife and son, Julie and Michael Cooper and his grandparents, Alice and Willard Feather, all from Aurora. Also attending were Lyvonne and Scott Harsh.

Helping Derick celebrate was Malinda Nice home from Fairmont State College for the summer. Also attending from Rowlesburg were Esther and Sam Sanders and Beth Ann.

Friends traveling from the Oakland, Md. area were Kim and Catlin Jones, Amy Bosley, Flip and Cassie Cussins, and Johnna Jones. Neighboring campers Mildred and Paul Maxwell from Camp Wapocoma near Romney, W. Va. also surprised Derick.

Other family friends attending were Doug and Joan Webster from Terra Alta, Ron, Cathy, Sarah, Matthew and Elizabeth Opel from Tunnelton, Larry, Carolyn, Buddy, Slade and Lance Turner from Kingwood, and Alvin and Jeannette Lockhart from Anby.

The party was planned by Rex and Bev Nice. Rex was unable to attend to due an unexpected hospitalization at Garrett Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

effects and personal property when she moved from the shared residence. Stinson was also found not guilty.

A Friendsville man was found guilty of theft in District Court last week.

William Friend, 28, was sentenced to 90 days in jail (all but 48 hours was suspended), fined $100, and placed on six months of unsupervised probation. A second charge of resisting arrest was not prosecuted because of a plea agreement with the State's Attorney.

Friend had been arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department after stealing a compound bow from Jason Sisler. He then attempted to sell the bow to another individual. When confronted, he allegedly fled police.

Heinz J. Voelp, 37, Accident, was found guilty of resisting arrest and driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs. He was given probation before judgment for a speeding charge.

Voelp was handed a 90-day jail term (all but 48 hours was suspended), fined $250, and placed on 18 months of DWI monitoring for the resisting arrest charge. The jail and monitoring sentence will run concurrently for the DWI charge. He was also fined $500 on the DWI charge.

Additional charges of negligent driving, failure to keep right of center, and license restriction violation were not prosecuted because of a plea agreement with the State's Attorney.

Voelp had been arrested by the Maryland State Police on March 4 on U.S. Route 219 in Accident. He was stopped for traffic violations and then found to be intoxicated. He reportedly refused to be handcuffed when a scuffle ensued. Voelp was treated for minor injuries at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Pre-sentence investigations were ordered for Carl H. Shiflett, 19, Oakland, and Bradford L. Shiflett, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, who were both found guilty of felony theft. Charges of petty theft, breaking and entering, and malicious destruction of property against the pair were not prosecuted because of a plea agreement with the State's Attorney.

The two had been arrested in April by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department after reportedly breaking into a construction trailer at Southern High School and removing numerous items.

Carolyn S. Simmons, 43, Deer Park, pleaded not guilty but was found guilty of threatening bodily harm to a Garrett County Board of Education employee and disturbing the orderly conduct of a school.

She was given a six-month suspended jail term, fined a total of $100, and placed on one year of supervised probation.

Simmons had been charged by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department after a complaint was filed by a teacher at Broad Ford Elementary School who stated that Simmons threatened bodily harm to her and disrupted her class.

UNION PROM QUEEN, KING -- Union High School, Bayard, W. Va., recently held its 1991 prom, and Branda Arnold was honored as prom queen and Tim Bosley as king. Miss Arnold is the daughter of Shelby Arnold, and Bosley is the son of Mandell and Evalyn Bosley. The queen's court consisted of Becky Davis, Binky Clark, Renee Lowr, and Janny Brown. The king's court included Lee Habb, Randy McCoy, Mika Friday, and Jamie Martin. This year's prom theme was Emerald Easance, and the colors were white, emerald green, and silver. Prom guests danced to the music of the Mika and Tad Show band.

ton, who had been found guilty of theft on December 9, 1990, and handed a 90-day suspended jail term, fined $100, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation, had his verdict changed to probation before judgment last week.

Nock had been charged with theft of gasoline from Arrowhead Grocery on two separate occasions in August of 1990.

In a Department of Natural Resources case, Gary M. Davis, 37, Friendsville, pleaded guilty to failure to designate one commercial guide to accompany each trip in a safety kayak or canoe. He was fined $100.

Davis had been charged by the DNR police on April 27 on the Youghiogheny River between Sang Run and Friendsville.

Gov. Schaefer Speaks Out

INVESTING IN A QUALITY WORKFORCE by Governor William Donald Schaefer

Maryland's businesses are among our most valuable resources. Whether it's a corporation, family owned business, small company, or manufacturing plant, each business concern provides jobs for Marylanders, pays taxes that help provide state services, and adds to the business base that draws other companies to the state. Like everything, the business climate is changing; companies face new demands in trying to keep up with changes in technology, and it's in our best interest to make sure our companies can rise to the challenge.

In 1989 the General Assembly enacted legislation I proposed to start the Partnership for Workforce Quality, a program intended to help Maryland businesses improve training for their employees. The legislation recognized that the skills of Maryland's workforce need to be improved, and change with the times, if our businesses are going to stay competitive with companies in other states and overseas.

Under the legislation enacting the program, the Partnership for Workforce Quality provides grants for up to 50 percent of the direct costs of training for a Maryland-based employer. The law requires that the training be used to improve "job-specific" skills, and must be used to help existing employees. A final stipulation requires that at least 60 percent of the grants awarded through the program be directed to companies with 100 or fewer employees.

The program really is a partnership: businesses and industry work with government, labor, and education. It also involves business assistance programs for the Department of Economic and Employment Development, Maryland's colleges and universities, community colleges, and private industry councils.

We've gotten a progress report on the first full year of the program, and the results proved it to be a worthwhile effort. In the first year, the legislature agreed to set aside $1 million to start the program. We think it's been a good catalyst, to get companies thinking about improving work skills and spending the money to upgrade training. By spending $971,960 in state money in the initial year, we encouraged businesses to spend $5.1 million on employee training that same year.

How did it work statewide? The state Office of Employment Training, which administers the program, provided 119 training grants in the first year, with 109 going directly to employers, four going to unions, four to trade associations, and two to non-profit organizations. About 65 percent of the grant money went to manufacturing firms, with service sector employers getting the second-largest share.

Every region of the state received money, and I was pleased to see some of the success stories:

"Schlegel, a Chestertown company that employs 70 people to make automotive weatherseal strips, received a grant of $17,181 from the Partnership. A lot of people working in the plant had no manufacturing experience, and the plant training program needed some improving. The company used the grant to retrain all its machine operators, and it wasn't too long before Schlegel received General Motors' coveted 'Mark of Excellence' Award."

"A Prince George's County company, Correa Machine and Tool Company, recently spent about $500,000 on new equipment to help make its product line of precision components for airplanes, computers, and communications equipment. The problem was that the company didn't have a training program in place to make sure all the employees could properly use the equipment. A $19,074 grant from the Partnership for Workforce Quality helped Correa land some big contracts and new clients."

There are other companies all over the state with similar success stories, which goes to show how a little investment in people can pay off with big dividends down the road. We're proud of our Maryland companies. We want to make sure that the workers they employ now will be ready when the new century rolls around in just nine short years.

If you are interested in state programs that help businesses, or have some thoughts about how we can keep our companies in the forefront, write me: Governor William Donald Schaefer, State House, Annapolis, MD 21401.

The issue. We were told in no uncertain terms that it had been voted on by the board, the issue was settled, and they proceeded to build. The only big winners are the mortgage holders, and we are left with many years of debt to pay off.

The present board completely ignores the membership, and seems to have illusions of grandeur, thinking they will make a country club out of a public golf course. If that is the case, perhaps they should start at the back door. To reach the dining room, you have to walk through cigarette butts, step on ragged carpeting, and then have your eardrums blasted by a blaring radio. Does this sound like a country club?

There are many retired men who play every day, and have for years enjoyed the course. Now, it is a real hardship on many to be relegated to the sidelines, and to have to walk to their ball each time they hit. All of a sudden, we have a course for the best players or professional players.

Jim Kreyenbuhl may have had his faults, but he was always there to open up the course early in the morning, and never closed until the last player was in at the end of the day. Did you ever know of the club carts being left outside at night to rust in the damp air or to be stolen?

Come on, members. We are in the majority. Let's show our power. We need new by-laws to protect us from any present or future board. Let's vote them out, and once again have a public golf course with its original intent — affordable recreation for all.

Barbara Ward

To the Editor:

As U.S. Air starts its commuter service into the Cumberland area, it is time to give Governor Schaefer, Delegate Casper Taylor, chairman of the Allegany County legislative delegation, and Delegate Edwards, chairman of the Garrett County delegation, in particular, praise and credit for their vision in helping to develop our economy in Allegany and Garrett counties. While I have written and spoken extensively where I have disagreed with these gentlemen on certain issues, this is a time for giving thanks for a good job. The Governor and the legislative delegation are beginning to learn that by working with the entire body politic, including the work force, the business community, and the environmentally conscious citizenry, a truly stunning picture can emerge. That picture is sustainable growth. By that, I mean economic growth that is in harmony rather than conflict with the resource base of the region. It is growth which recycles rather than uses up local resources, and plans for the long term. It avoids an economic boom and then a pollution bust, as has happened elsewhere in the country. That cycle ultimately leading to a business bust and a devastating toll on our health and quality of life.

In August, with the Governor's and Mr. Taylor's assistance, the interstate link to this area opens, making Allegany and Garrett counties once again the gateway to the west.

The interstate has been located in such a fashion that it preserves rather than destroys the Greenridge State Forest, where many Marylanders camp, hike, and hunt deer. This alignment also directly services Rocky Gap State Park.

Finally, the Governor is realizing that the work force in Allegany and Garrett counties is second to none, which should attract many businesses to the area. Loyalty is high and absenteeism is low, because this is a region that still emphasizes community values.

Our values are the way they are in part because of the preservation of community schools, which maintain a diversity of leadership positions, sports activities, and student individual attention. Most likely, as we move into the 90's, the Cumberland and Frostburg high schools will develop into magnet schools for specialized technical courses. Television hookups and personal computers will bring high tech education into the smallest of our community schools. In neighboring Mineral County, West Virginia, Japanese is being taught by TV in its Keyser, W.Va., high school. With high tech, we are no longer in the boonies; rather we're at the cutting edge. Delegate Casper Taylor is contemplating the recommendation that satellite TV teaching technology be installed here. Many of us are looking to the Governor to find state or federal funding to make this region a pilot education area, bringing about the best in the country in rural and community education.

It is wonderful to have an opportunity to thank our local officials for the good work they do, which I am sure they appreciate. The same thanks should also go to Senator Halfer, Delegates Kelly and Workman, the commissioners of both counties, the mayors and city councils of the region, and the business

The Road Ahead THE SPLENDOR OF MARYLAND'S SCENIC ROADS

by Russ Ulrich

Maryland Department of Transportation

With spring in full bloom, Marylanders are "hitting the road" and enjoying the colorful array of beautiful scenery the state has to offer. To make those spring trips even more enjoyable, a free map is available to motorists from the State Highway Administration (SHA) that highlights Maryland's Scenic Routes. It spans the entire state, from the majestic mountains of Western Maryland, through the historic areas of Central Maryland to the sandy white beaches of the lower Eastern Shore.

The Maryland Scenic Routes program was initiated by Gov. William Donald Schaefer in 1987 and implemented in May of the following year.

The official Maryland Scenic Route, or "spine," begins in Oakland on Route 219 and extends 432 miles through Western Maryland and northern Carroll, Baltimore, Harford and Cecil counties before heading south on Route 213 in Fair Hill. It moves east near Salisbury on Route 349 and ends on Route 90 (the 62nd Street Bridge) in Ocean City. It is highlighted on the map.

Along the way, a diverse sampling of Maryland's natural historic treasures await: the placid cool of Deep Creek Lake, backed by the splendor of the western mountains; the awesome reality of Antietam Battle Field; the rolling green of the central Maryland hillside; the sprawling beauty of the Wye Oak, our state tree; the effortless flight of a flock of Canada geese at the Blackwater National Wildlife Refuge; and the ambience of Chesapeake Bay community that worked with the legislative officials and Governor to help open up our transportation links.

Very truly yours,
Donald S. Goldbloom, Esq.

To the Editor:

The Garrett County Operation Desert Storm Support Group needs your support. This small group is comprised of mothers, sisters, and friends of the Desert Storm veterans from Garrett County. These men and women went to the Middle East and faced the tragedies of war for their home town and country. They have honored us, and now it is our turn to honor them.

On July 4th, the Support Group, along with many others, will be having a celebration of honor for our Garrett County Desert Storm Veterans, and all veterans who served during any war time. This great event will take place at the Southern High School football field beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing until approximately noon. The Support Group will be giving away over 500 American flags at the entrance gate that day!

Many letters have been sent to veterans asking for replies to our planned event. There is a registration box located at the First United Bank in downtown Oakland for anyone who has not mailed us that reply. Please, if you are a veteran, stop by First United and register.

We are asking for residents of Oakland and surrounding areas to help us show our pride in those who did not hesitate to show their pride in their home towns to make us a proud and richer country.

Yes, the war in the Gulf is officially over, but for those families of Oakland and other towns in Garrett County who still have husbands, sons, brothers, sisters, daughters, and wives serving in the Middle East, the war in their hearts is still raging on.

We would, at this time, like to thank Jeri Rodenhaver and Jean James of Garrett Counseling for giving to us their free time, the office of Garrett Counseling, a place for us to meet and share our moments of sadness and joy. We will never be able to thank them enough.

We also want to thank the businesses, groups, organizations, and the many individuals that have given us support by donations of any kind.

A big thank you to Teresa Feather of Personally Yours for helping us with the Desert Storm jackets we are presently ordering for Desert Storm vets. She has donated her time and money to help us out.

Without Browning's Foodland of Oakland, we would not have raised nearly $1,000 from the large American flag cake they donated to us to help us get our fundraising underway.

If you have not made a donation to our group, you can still do so by sending your donation to: Operation Desert Storm Support Group, c/o First United Bank & Trust, Oakland, MD 21550 or by contacting any member of the group.

Remember, Garrett County suffered no casual-

Country.

Approximately 350 "trailblazer" signs featuring the black-eyed susan, Maryland's state flower, mark the route. The signs advise travelers, who may join the route at numerous junctures, that they are not motoring along the official state scenic roadway.

The map also features several "spurs" in Southern Maryland and on the Eastern Shore. Sections of Frederick, Montgomery, Carroll and Baltimore counties are highlighted as well.

"The Maryland Scenic Route is designed to get travelers off major highways so they can learn about other roads, parks and historic sites our state has to offer," says Charlie Adams, Chief of the SHA's Landscape Architecture Division. "Each road offers scenery that is representative of the section of the state it winds through."

In Western Maryland, an interstate highway, I-70, was incorporated into the route because of the narrow boundaries in rural Washington County. Typically, however, the emphasis is on less-traveled country roads, which help illustrate why Maryland has been dubbed "America in Miniature."

Motorists who complete the Maryland Scenic Route can request a full color bumper sticker announcing, "I Saw It All - Oakland to Ocean City," and a certificate acknowledging their participation in the program. Inquiries may be made to the Scenic Routes Program, Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, Office of Tourism Development, 217 E. Redwood Street, Baltimore, MD 21202, or by calling 1-800-543-1036, toll free.

To learn more about scenic routes or to obtain general travel information, call the toll free number or stop at the Maryland Travel Information Centers that are located along major highways throughout the State.

CASUAL ENTERTAINING made easy

Invitations you mail this time of year probably say "casual." You expect your guests to dress comfortably, relax and enjoy; but can you engineer all the party preparations--the flowers, the music, the cooking--and still be relaxed and enthusiastic when the doorbell rings?

The answer is yes, but only if you take the smart road to entertaining success. That means planning a menu using easy-to-prepare recipes and versatile ingredients.

Three key ingredients for simple yet impressive entertaining are Mississippi farm-raised catfish, rice and bottled lemon juice.

Versatile farm-raised catfish, bred in freshwater ponds and fed a highly-controlled diet for flavor and delicacy, can be grilled, poached, broiled or even barbecued. However you choose to prepare it, farm-raised catfish is a great source of protein, and is low in calories and cholesterol.

A tasty recipe for a casual buffet is Spicy Grilled Catfish. Tender, white catfish fillets are marinated in a tangy mixture of bottled lemon juice, soy sauce, garlic, ginger and cayenne. Then just eight minutes of grilling brings this hot and spicy dish to the party buffet.

To enhance the zesty catfish, serve flavorful Sesame Rice. At its best in this dish, wholesome rice is simmered in a seasoned bouillon-enhanced broth then blended with chopped tomatoes and parsley. Toasted sesame seeds add a hint of crunch and flavor to the fluffy rice. This delicious side dish is completed in about thirty minutes; however, you won't be watching the pot. For best results, rice should be covered and cooked for 15 to 20 minutes. Rice is not only easy to prepare, but it's a great source of complex carbohydrates, low in sodium and cholesterol-free.

Rice works well not only as an accompaniment but as the base for main dishes like Lemon Catfish Rice Salad. Bite-size pieces of farm-raised catfish and rice team up with colorful fresh vegetables and a lemony dill dressing to create this light yet satisfying entree. For summer's easy pace, this hostess-friendly dish can be prepared in advance.

For something refreshingly cool to accompany the meal, serve Strawberry Lemonade, a variation of traditional lemonade, but with a crush of fresh strawberries. Guests will also enjoy the sparkling and low-calorie versions of lemonade. Convenient and easy to store, bottled lemon juice is always consistent in flavor, and the messy squeezing steps are eliminated. Another thirst-quenching beverage to offer your guests is Sparkling Citrus Tea--a new flavor twist to always popular iced tea.

When it's time to entertain, keep the menu light and easy to prepare...both you and your guests will enjoy the party more!

SPICY GRILLED CATFISH

(Makes 4 servings)

- 4 (6-ounce) Mississippi farm-raised catfish fillets
- 1/4 cup bottled lemon juice
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped fresh ginger root or 2 teaspoons ground ginger
- 6 cloves garlic, finely chopped (1 tablespoon)
- 3 green onions, chopped
- 1 teaspoon instant minced onion
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper

In shallow dish, arrange catfish fillets. In small bowl or jar, combine remaining ingredients, pour over catfish. Cover, marinate in refrigerator 1 to 2 hours. Remove catfish from marinade; grill or broil 4 minutes on each side or until catfish flakes with fork.

Each serving provides: 307 calories, 27.1 grams protein, 19.9 grams fat, 4.8 grams carbohydrate, 0.5 gram dietary fiber, 82 milligrams cholesterol and 924 milligrams sodium

SPARKLING CITRUS TEA

(Makes about 2-1/2 quarts)

- 4 cups brewed tea
- 1 cup bottled lemon juice
- 2/3 cup honey
- 1 (6-ounce) can frozen unsweetened orange juice concentrate, thawed
- 1 (32-ounce) bottle club soda, chilled
- Ice

In large pitcher or punch bowl, combine all ingredients except club soda and ice, mix well. Chill. Just before serving, add club soda; stir. Serve over ice.

Each serving provides: 85 calories, 0.5 gram protein, 0.1 gram fat, 22.6 grams carbohydrate, 0.1 gram dietary fiber, 0.0 milligram cholesterol and 24 milligrams sodium

SESAME RICE

(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
- 1 tablespoon sesame or vegetable oil
- 1-3/4 cups water
- 1 cup uncooked rice*
- 1-1/2 teaspoons chicken-flavor instant bouillon
- 1 medium tomato, finely chopped
- 1/2 cup sliced green onions
- 1 to 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley or cilantro
- 2 tablespoons toasted sesame seeds

In large saucepan, over medium heat, cook onion and garlic in oil until tender. Add water, rice and bouillon. Bring to a boil; stir. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Stir in tomato, green onions and parsley. Cover and let stand 5 minutes; stir. Garnish with sesame seeds.

Each serving provides: 188 calories, 4.1 grams protein, 4.2 grams fat, 33.3 grams carbohydrate, 1.5 grams dietary fiber, 0.0 milligram cholesterol and 551 milligrams sodium

* Recipe based on regular-milled long grain white rice.

For regular-milled medium grain white rice: use 1-1/2 cups water; cook 15 to 20 minutes.

For parboiled rice: use 2 cups water; cook 20 to 25 minutes.

For brown rice: use 2 cups water; cook 45 to 50 minutes.

REALEMONADE

(Makes about 1 quart)

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup bottled lemon juice
- 3-1/4 cups cold water
- Ice

In pitcher, dissolve sugar in bottled lemon juice; add water. Cover, chill.

Serve over ice.

Each serving provides: 103 calories, 0.1 gram protein, 0.1 gram fat, 26.9 grams carbohydrate, 0.0 gram dietary fiber, 0.0 milligram cholesterol and 7 milligrams sodium

Tip: This recipe may be doubled

LEMON CATFISH RICE SALAD

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

- 3 cups cooked rice
- 2 cups water
- 4 (6-ounce) Mississippi farm-raised catfish fillets, cut into 1-inch cubes
- 2 carrots, pared and thinly sliced
- 2 green onions, thinly sliced
- 1 red bell pepper, diced
- 1/3 cup bottled lemon juice
- 1/3 cup olive or vegetable oil
- 1 teaspoon dill weed
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon lemon pepper
- 4 ounces snow peas
- Lettuce leaves
- Cashews, optional

In large skillet, bring water to a boil. Reduce heat; stir in fish and carrots. Cook 5 minutes or until fish flakes with fork. Remove from heat and drain. In large bowl, combine rice, fish, carrots, green onions and red pepper. In 1 cup measure or jar, combine bottled lemon juice, oil, dill, salt and lemon pepper; pour over salad. Chill. Just before serving, stir in snow peas. Serve on lettuce. Garnish with cashews if desired.

Each serving provides: 395 calories, 21.6 grams protein, 16.6 grams fat, 38.6 grams carbohydrate, 2.9 grams dietary fiber, 55 milligrams cholesterol and 676 milligrams sodium

LEMONADE VARIATIONS:

Rhythms...

Back and forth the relaxing rhythm of the rocking chair entrancing tranquilizing like the rhythms of nature, the ebb and flow of the tides day after day year after year century after century, sunrise sunset, the beating of a heart, our breathing out and our breathing in as dependable and effortless as the dance of the seasons one following the other all choreographed by God, our Source

We read of war and crime, yet nothing is, or has ever been as certain or as powerful as the influence of God as He moves in our midst, as we see Him all around us and feel Him each moment in the rhythmic constancy of our lives. In Him we live and move and have our being (Acts 17:28)

In Lowell's "The Changeling," a tiny violet speaks

"For the whole year long I see
All the wonders of faithful nature
Still worked for the love of me.
Winds wander and dews drip earthward.
Rains fall, suns rise and set,
Earth whirls, and all but to prosper
A poor little violet."

Experience the infallible love of God as you worship Him each Sabbath. God cares for the violet. He will care for you

STEVE'S BEAT

Christopher Reeve lands role in 'dream' project

By Steven Alan McGaw

This month Lifetime cable network debuts a new telefilm, the first produced by the new Dick Clark Film Group. (What? There's something Dick Clark didn't do?) Christopher Reeve and Marg Helgenberger star in Death Dreams, about a woman haunted by the ghost of her dead child.

Jay Leno just signed another contract to continue as guest host of The Tonight Show.

If you're wondering what movies to look for this summer, here are a few ideas. Robin Hood: Prince of Thieves (yes, with Kevin Costner) opens on June 14. River Phoenix stars in Dogfight, and Christina Applegate of Married With Children stars in a film happily titled Don't Tell Mom the Babysitter's Dead. In July, look for the long-awaited Terminator 2: Judgment Day, and later look for Hudson Hawk, an action movie with Bruce Willis, and Another You, a comedy bringing Gene Wilder and Richard Pryor together again. Finally, I'm sure there's someone looking forward to Return to the Blue Lagoon. I'm just not sure who.

Bravo to producer Daniel Wilson, who recently received an award for his film The Handmaid's Tale. The award came from the Gay and Lesbian Alliance Against Detamation for the film's positive portrayal of several characters in the film.

MOVIE MARQUEE

Sitters, brides, psychopaths compete for viewer ratings

By Steven Alan McGaw

The big movie news this week is, of course, the latest Fox original presentation, The Sitter. In this remake of the Marilyn Monroe cult favorite Don't Bother to Knock, Kim Myers proves that good help is hard to find. Psychopaths, on the other hand, are in ready supply. The film airs Monday, June 10.

Sunday, June 9, ABC features Stephen Collins, Daniel Stern and Charles Haid in an encore showing of Weekend War. In the film, a weekend of routine National Guard duty turns into a guerrilla-warfare nightmare.

NBC replays a critically acclaimed telefilm Monday night with A Cry for Help: The Tracy Thurman Story. Nancy McKen and Bruce Weitz star in this harrowing tale of a woman nearly killed by her estranged husband after the police ignore her repeated pleas for protection.

Shelley Hack, Sela Ward and Stephanie Faracy are among the many old friends gathered for a wedding in Bridesmaids Tuesday, June 11, on CBS. This reunion, of course, brings many emotions to the surface and an examination of the different directions their lives have taken.

Jill Clayburgh wonders where her life is headed (or if it will continue) in CBS' Fear Stalk, Friday, June 14.

ABC wraps up the movie week, Saturday, with an encore presentation of the 1984 charmer The Flamingo Kid.

CHILDREN'S CHOICE

Second-generation Gremlins take cable TV by storm

By Sherry Jones

We all know that having pets requires work, but how many pets do you know of that can't be fed after midnight, gotten wet (for fear of multiplication) or, above all, put in bright light? Well, just one comes to mind: Gremlins, of course, and those menacing little critters are back!

Gremlins 2: The New Batch premieres on HBO Sunday, June 9, and airs throughout the month. With this second generation of monsters comes new meaning to the phrase, "I'll take Manhattan." Not so much a horror film as a lighthearted comedy, the sequel turns the malicious creatures loose in zillionaire-developer Daniel Clam's (John Glover) Manhattan skyscraper. Glover is hilarious as a Donald Trump/Ted Turner type, and when the Gremlins invade his territory, they've picked on the wrong guy!

The Academy of Arts & Sciences announced Fox Children's Network has scored three Daytime Emmy nominations in its first season. Contenders are Bobby's World for outstanding animated program, Tim Curry, who supplies the voice of Captain Hook in Fox's Peter Pan and the Pirates, for outstanding performer in a children's series, and Joseph Behar as outstanding director in a game-audience participation show for Fox's Fun House. The Daytime Emmys air Thursday, June 27, on CBS.

Musical scope wide for International Rock Awards

Ceremonies look beyond mainstream

By Steven Alan McGaw

Artists as diverse as Neil Young, Chris Isaak and the controversial band Jane's Addiction are all nominees in The 3rd Annual International Rock Awards, the presentation of which will be carried as a 90-minute special on ABC Wednesday, June 12. Airing via satellite from the London Arena in England, the program promises to spotlight a diversity of rock performers seldom acknowledged on network television.

The International Rock Awards continue to gain respect in a musical community still often overlooked, slighted or homogenized by more mainstream awards shows, polls, etc. With nominations ranging from the melodic, spiritual yearnings of Van Morrison (nominated for Songwriter of the Year) to the dense, angry music of alternative act Jesus Jones, these awards try, at least, to reflect the many faces of contemporary rock 'n' roll. The process works, in part anyway, because of the way in which the awards are selected. A cleverly titled Blue Ribbon Panel (a diverse collective of industry execs, producers, agents, promoters, etc.) selects the nominees, usually five per category. Ballots are then presented to over 2,500 active members of the rock community, particularly performers.

Other nominees competing for this year's spate of coveted Elvis statuettes include Midnight Oil, World Party (vying for Album of the Year), Paul McCartney and Depeche Mode (duking it out for Tour of the Year) and folk-rockers The Sundays for the Best Newcomer award.

PERSONALITY PORTRAIT

Spike Lee fans flames other don't dare touch

By Lisa Otoupal

Just as the commotion from one of his films begins to die down, Spike Lee builds it up again with yet another alternate movie portrait of America.

The controversial director was born in Atlanta as Shelton Jackson Lee and was later nicknamed Spike by his mother. His family moved to Brooklyn, N.Y., in the early 1960s. Lee's interest in films developed during his years at Atlanta's Morehouse College, and after graduating, he enrolled at New York University's Tisch College of the Arts. One of his early films was The Answer, about a black filmmaker hired to remake Birth of a Nation.

His senior thesis, a film called Joe's Bed-Stuy Barber Shop. We Cut Heads, won him a Student Academy Award.

Lee's first feature film She's Gotta Have It, about an independent woman pursued by three men, was shot in 12 days on a budget of about $175,000. It won critical praise, turned a nice profit and established Lee as an important filmmaker. His next film, School Daze, didn't do as well at the box office, but received good reviews and is on video.

Undaunted by the public's lukewarm response to School Daze, Lee went on to make Do the Right Thing. While critics liked the film, opposition and concern for its message was vocal.

Lee's newest film, Jungle Fever, focuses on an interracial relationship.

Daniel Malone To Attend FSU On Achievement Award

Daniel R. Malone, Friendsville, has received a Meritorious Achievement Award to attend Frostburg State University.

Mr. Malone is a 1991 graduate of Garrett Community College where he received his AA degree in social and behavioral science. A 1989 graduate of Grafton High School, Grafton, W. Va., he plans to pursue justice studies at FSU and attend law school at West Virginia University.

Funding for the award is provided by the University of Maryland System and administered by the Frostburg State University Scholarship Committee. Selection is based on academic achievement, leadership qualities or demonstrated abilities in the visual or performing arts.

FRIENDSVILLE CLEAN-UP DEEMED SUCCESS — The town of Friendsville recently held a clean-up week May 6-11, and the town took on a new look, according to Spencar Schloanagla, mayor. Shown above left is Lucratia Sinaa, giving a hand to employess of Parry's Trash Removal. Below, employess are pictured loading one of the numerous items that were hauled away from the town. Several citizens participated in the paint-up, clean-up week and Schloanagla stated that he was glad to see citizens showing pride in their community.

Two Area Students Graduate From Bridgewater College

Bachelor's degrees were awarded to 180 graduates of Bridgewater College on Sunday, May 12, with 57 bachelor of arts degrees, and 123 bachelor of science degrees presented. Among the graduates were two area students. Susan Rebecca Caruthers, majoring in business administration, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David K. Caruthers, Oakland, and Elizabeth A. Whitehair, majoring in elementary education, graduated cum laude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitehair, Terra Alta, WV.

In order to graduate with honors, students must successfully complete an oral examination and perform to specific standards on national comprehensive examinations. Students wishing to graduate summa cum laude and magna cum laude must also complete an honors project in their senior year.

Bridgewater College is a private, four-year liberal arts college affiliated with the Church of the Brethren. Founded in 1880 and located in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, it was Virginia's first senior co-educational college.

Katherine Case Receives BA Degree From Loyola College

Katherine Case of Oakland received a bachelor of arts degree from Loyola College in Maryland.

Founded by the Society of Jesus in 1852, Loyola College is the only Jesuit college, and the largest private undergraduate school in Maryland. Loyola has approximately 2,750 undergraduates and 3,000 graduate students. The college awarded 700 undergraduate degrees during its 142nd commencement exercises.

GCC To Offer Computer Courses

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College will offer the following computer applications classes at the McHenry campus. All classes will meet from 6-9:15 p.m.

There will be a 9-hour Computer Applications Word Processing class that will meet on June 17, 18, and 19. The tuition for this class is $30 plus a $5 fee.

A six-hour Computer Applications DOS class is scheduled for June 20 and 24. The tuition is $20 plus a $5 fee.

Also scheduled is a 12-hour Computer Application Spreadsheet class to meet on June 25, 26, 27 and July 1. The tuition for Spreadsheet is $35 plus $5 fee.

A basic computer skill class is a pre-requisite for these classes. An additional differential fee will be assessed to out-of-county and out-of-state residents. Pre-registration is advised since enrollment is limited. For registration and information call the Continuing Education Division at 387-6666, ext. 169.

On Dean's List

Wendy Leigh Weeks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weeks, Loch Lynn, was named to the Dean's List by Dr. Jerry F. Goddard, vice president for Academic Affairs at Pensacola Christian College, for academic achievement during the spring semester of the 1990-91 school year. This was a result of earning a B average or higher.

Pensacola Christian College, located in Pensacola, Fla., enrolled this past year over 2,600 students in its undergraduate and graduate programs. It is reportedly one of the fastest-growing Christian colleges in the United States today.

Ruby Davis Award Presented Recently To Chloe Learey

Chloe Learey, a senior majoring in English at Earlham College, received the Ruby Davis Award at the Awards Convocation Wednesday, May 22. Ms. Learey is the daughter of Frederick Learey, Oakland.

This award honors Ruby Davis '03 in recognition of her long, devoted teaching career and her wise, understanding guidance of students. Ruby Davis was convener of the English department as well as a member of the first women's varsity basketball team 1901-02.

This award is given to a senior in the humanities division. Throughout his/her college career, the student is to have shown outstanding dedication to those qualities of character and intellect which, though difficult to measure, are recognized as the true purpose of a liberal education. Students are selected by the faculty of the English department.

Earlham College is an institution in three parts: the college, a distinguished liberal arts undergraduate school; the Earlham School of Religion, a Quaker graduate seminary; and Conner Prairie, a living history museum outside of Indianapolis. An overall commitment value-centered education unites all three.

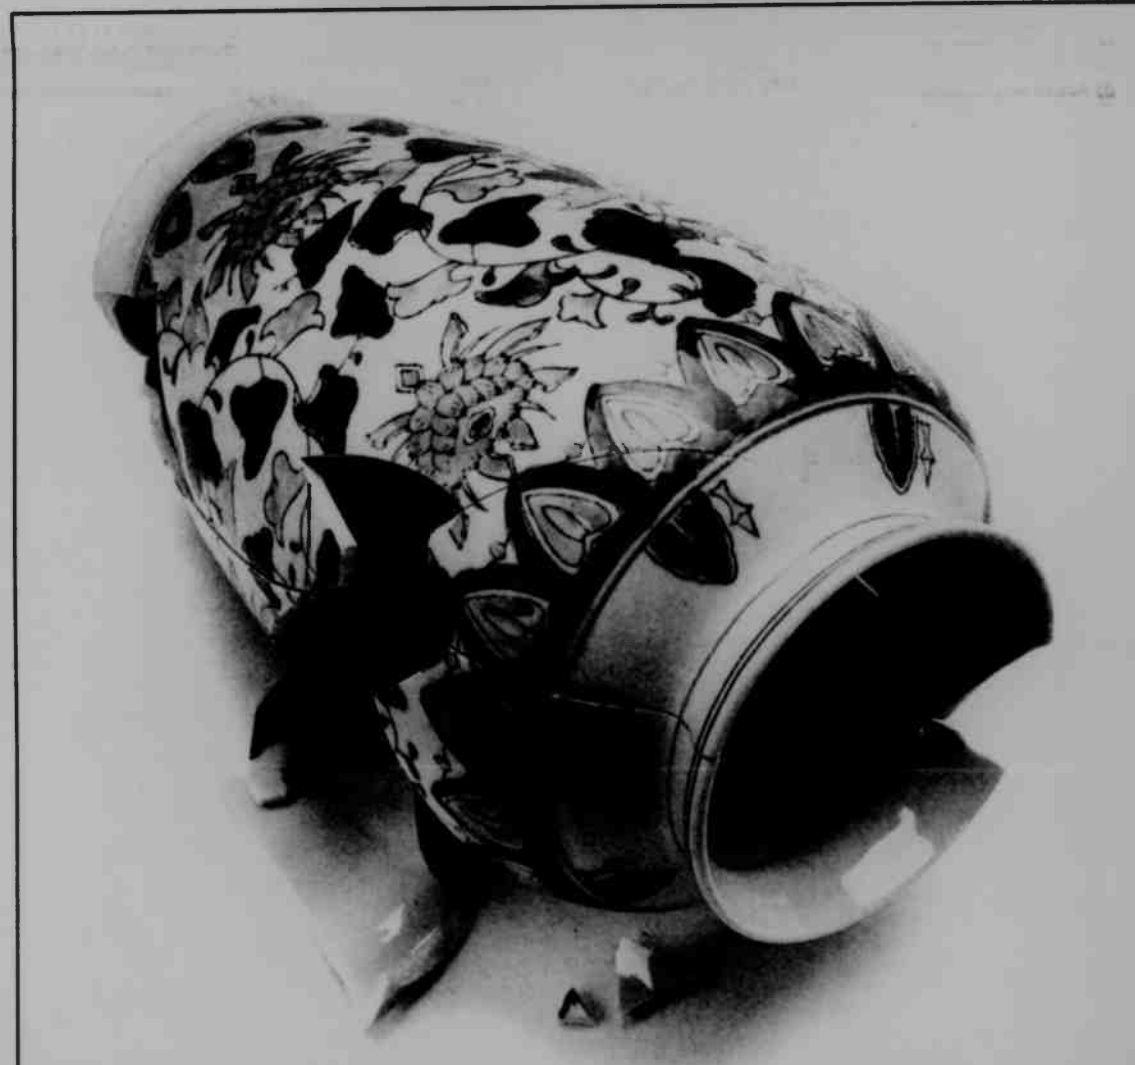

National Guard Unit Conducts Annual Training

Members of National Guard Company C, 121st Engineering Battalion, left Saturday, June 1, for Fort Indiantown, Pa., for the first portion of this year's training. While at Fort Indiantown Gap, the unit will participate in annual weapons qualification with the M16 rifle, demolitions training, and crew served weapons training to include firing the M203 grenade launcher, the light antitank weapon (LAW), 90mm recoilless rifle, the M60 machine gun, and the .50 caliber machine gun.

From Fort Indiantown Gap the unit traveled to Montrose Military Reservation, for the remainder of the annual training period.

The unit will also construct five Adirondack shelters for common task testing for all units in the state to use for testing. The men will also participate in Army Training and Evaluation Program (ARTEP) training, and will travel to Aaron Straus, where they will upgrade a steep road into a training site to be used by other guard units for training.

The unit will return to the Oakland Armory on Friday, June 14, where they will perform maintenance on all personnel and unit equipment until their dismissal on Sunday.

Youth Corps Project Given $50,000 Grant

Governor William Donald Schaefer and Jacqueline Phillips, Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) Federal co-chairman, have jointly announced the approval of a $50,000 ARC grant for the Western Maryland Youth Corps project.

The grant will be used for the second phase of a training program in leadership and peer counseling skills for 85 sophomore and junior high school students from the 17 high schools in Allegany, Garrett, and Washington counties.

In addition, 50 students previously trained as peer counselors will receive training in leadership skills.

When the training is completed, the participants will have an opportunity to apply their newly learned skills by organizing and implementing special projects that target youth in individual schools.

"This is an important project for Western Maryland," Governor Schaefer said. "The youth of today are the leaders of tomorrow, and the participants in this program can help their friends by being positive role model and being available to help others with their problems."

"There is a real need for student leadership skills in our high schools, and I am proud Maryland is able to join in this program," he added.

The program will be coordinated and administered through the Regional Education Service Agency (RESA) of Appalachian Maryland.

"I am pleased the youth of Maryland have chosen to build on their previous success in the Youth Leadership Program and that their efforts are supported by the state," Ms. Phillips said. "There is no greater resource in Western Maryland than its youth. Their efforts are sure to pay great social and economic dividends in the future."

A youth steering committee, composed of six students who were trained in a leadership demonstration pilot program last summer, is responsible for drafting the curriculum of the present project.

The project will consist of one week of summer training in a Youth Leadership Academy and one week of summer training in peer counseling techniques. Also included are the establishment of leadership teams at each participating high school, follow-up workshops for trained students during the upcoming school year, and service projects focusing on problems that affect youth in each of the participating high schools.

Graduates of the program will become the Youth Leadership Team at their respective schools under the direct supervision of their sponsoring guidance counselor and will act as peer counselors and extensions of the guidance counselor. Peer counselors will be an alternative for students seeking help but not wishing to get involved with an adult authority figure. The Youth Leadership Team will also work in close collaboration with school officials in addressing the needs of youth.

The participants in the youth leadership program are selected upon the recommendation of school counselors, teachers, and administrators.

Each high school participating in the project will be allocated up to $940 to address social issues facing teens today. The School Leadership Team will be responsible for making application for the funds through a grant process to be administered by the Western Maryland Youth Corps Project Steering Committee.

In Maryland, ARC programs are administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development. This project was a cooperative effort among DHCD, the Maryland Office of Planning, ARC, Regional Education Service Agency (RESA), and the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland.

Sign-Up For Asthma Camp Deadline Near

Children between the ages of 6 and 10, who suffer with asthma, may still register for "Camp Superkids," an asthma camp sponsored by the American Lung Association of Maryland and Memorial Hospital and Medical Center, Cumberland. The asthma camp will be held June 24-28, at Camp Bobcat on the campus of Frostburg State University. Deadline for registration is June 10.

Children attending the camp learn how to better manage this chronic illness while having a great time participating in the Camp Bobcat program, according to Glen Besa, representing the American Lung Association. Memorial Hospital provides the medical staff to supervise the children and instruct them in asthma self-management techniques.

Besa also stated that asthma is a leading cause of school absences and emergency room visits among children. Through improved understanding of their illness and how to better manage their medications and activities, children may significantly reduce both school absences and hospital emergency room visits, he added.

Tuition for the one week camp is $40, and limited financial assistance is available. Transportation is available from Garrett County, and car-pooling can be arranged in Allegany County. The camp is also open to children in neighboring West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Additional information about "Camp Superkids" may be obtained by calling the American Lung Association of Maryland at 301-777-7317 or (tollfree in Md.) 1-800-222-9974.

Local Student Accepted At A-B

Christa Updyke, Oakland, has been accepted for admission to Alderson-Broaddus College for the Fall 1991 Semester. Her parents are Dorris and Carolyn Updyke, Oakland. She will graduate with the Class of 1991 from Southern Garrett High School.

While in high school, Christa has been a member of the French Club, National Honor Society, and track team. She participated in the junior class play, and has been a volunteer for the American Heart Association and the World Whitewater Championships. She also was selected as a Garrett County Autumn Glory Festival Princess. Christa attends the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, where she has served as president of the youth group.

Christa plans to major in pre-physical therapy at A-B. Alderson-Broaddus College is a four-year undergraduate liberal arts institution offering bachelors degrees in a wide variety of liberal arts majors. Over 750 students are enrolled at A-B, which is affiliated with the American Baptist Churches, USA. The college is located in Philippi, W. Va.

Grantsville Pavilion Fund Started

The Grantsville Lions Club recently started an entertainment pavilion fund drive for the Grantsville Park. The pavilion, when completed, will have a stage that will be used for Grantsville Days entertainment held the last weekend of June each year and the Pike Festival held in May each year, and will also be available for other events held at the Park, including family reunions. Also possible would be band concerts, like the ones of yesteryear.

held outdoors in the town parks during the summer months.

Yoder Meat Packers, a local Grantsville business, became the first to donate to the pavilion fund. Shown in the picture is Yoder's president, Eli M. Yoder, presenting a check for $200 to Gerry Beach, member of the Lions club. Mr. Yoder said he believes the entertainment facility would be an asset to the community and Yoder's is committed to the community.

Other businesses that have contributed to the fund so far have been Harbison Walker Refractories and Beitzel Welding. The Grantsville Lioness Club also made a pledge at its last meeting to support the pavilion fund. The project is expected to cost over $5,000, with the labor for the facility being donated by the Lions Club members and other volunteers, including the Grantsville Vol. Fire Department, who have already offered to help with the construction.

Others who wish to become a supporter of this project are asked to contact Gerry Beach at 895-5177 or send a donation made payable to "Grantsville Lions Club - Pavilion Fund," P.O. Box 450, Grantsville, MD 21536.

Local Student Graduates From WV Wesleyan

Kendra Dawn Stemple, daughter of Don and Mary Lou Stemple of Oakland, graduated summa cum laude with a 4.0 grade point average from West Virginia Wesleyan College with a bachelor of science degree in adult fitness.

Stemple was also named to the dean's list for the spring semester, according to Dr. Barbara Richardson, dean of the college.

Those students named to the dean's list must have maintained a minimum grade point average of 3.35 on a 4.0 scale for the semester.

West Virginia Wesleyan College is a four-year, educational institution that offers more than 50 academic majors in the liberal arts and career-related fields of study. It has been recognized as one of the finest liberal arts colleges of its size in the mid-Atlantic region. Affiliated with the United Methodist Church, Wesleyan has an enrollment of approximately 1,500.

Earns Scholarship To DeVry Institute

LeRoy R. Virts, who will be a 1991 graduate of Southern High School, has been awarded a $1,000 scholarship each year for two years by the Elks National Foundation. Virts will use the award to attend DeVry Institute in Columbus, Ohio.

Virts is the son of Richard and Gladys Virts, Deer Park. He plans to major in DeVry's electronics technician program this fall.

Named To FSU's Dean's List

Frostburg State University named 32 local residents to the Dean's List for outstanding academic achievement during the Spring 1991 semester.

Those named from Accident were Jenece Bender (4.0), Candy Doland, Brenda Kay Ruggiero (4.0), Joy L. Strider, and Sonya Yelovich. Friendsville students were Kendra Dee Frazee and Jay Scott Ross.

Grantsville students: Jennifer L. Bowser, Gloria Jean Broadwater (4.0), Darlene Carol Chaney (4.0), Kristin D. Edwards, Tracey Lynn Folk, Frederick A. Holliday, Linda K. Oester (4.0), Carol Lynn Resh (4.0), Daniel Todd Stanton, Pamela Sue Warnick (4.0).

Mt. Lake Park students: Robin Rae Damon and Gary Wayne Long.

Oakland students: James Norman Barnes, Dale Edward Bittinger, Lara Kay Carlson, Christopher Lynn Durbin, David James Eiswert (4.0), Cathy Ahern Helbig, Carrie Beth Kurtz, Sherry Lynn Reams (4.0), Karen Ann Rosenberry, Richard Francis Stevens Jr., David Jason Upole, and Ronald Wayne Virts (4.0).

Michael D. Friend, Swanton, was also named to the list.

"Messiah In The Passover" Program Set For Sunday

"Messiah in the Passover," a sermon demonstration to show how Jesus fulfilled the ancient feast of Passover, will be held on Sunday, June 9, at the Pleasant View Baptist Church, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The program will be conducted by Winn Crenshaw, a speaker with Chosen People Ministries (formerly American Board of Missions to the Jews). The Chosen People Ministries is one of the world's most extensive ministries to the Jews, according to a spokesman.

A traditional Passover seder table will be completely set up with all the articles of the meal. The speaker, who will wear garments traditionally worn for the Passover feast, will explain the different items displayed and will give emphasis of how they relate to the New Testament.

The unleavened bread, Passover wine, and entire program of Passover are instructive in understanding the Last Supper and the redemptive significance of the crucifixion, the spokesman explained. "Messiah in the Passover" will serve to give the Christian community insight into Jewish traditions so that the Jewish roots of Christianity can be better understood. This program also helps the Jewish and Christian communities to understand the common heritage that belongs to both groups, the spokesman said.

This meeting is open to the public, and Pleasant View invites persons of both the Jewish and Christian communities to attend. The church is located two miles south of Oakland on U.S. Rt. 219.

Hospice To Hold Annual Yard Sale

Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., will be holding its annual yard sale on Friday and Saturday, June 28 and 29, at the Farmer's Market, Oakland.

Brenda Butcher, executive director, stated, "As you do your spring cleaning and find items that you no longer use, please donate them to Hospice. We will take almost anything except clothing. The money raised from this sale will be used to serve the terminally ill in Garrett County."

Don and Susie Scott have once again agreed to coordinate the yard sale, and sale items may be dropped off at Gipsan Bearings and Supply Company, beside Manor Home Center, Mtn. Lake Park, before June 26.

Local Students Selected For HCOP Summer Program

Four local high school students are among 25 area students who have been selected to participate in the six-week summer enrichment program of the Eastern Alleghenies Health Careers Opportunity Program (HCOP) to be held at Frostburg State University (FSU) from June 22 until August 3. The local students selected are Pamela Schmidt and Denise Schroyer from Northern High School, and Stephanie Beckman and Heather Graham from Southern High.

HCOP, coordinated by the Western Maryland Area Health Education Center (AHEC), is designed to help the students explore health career options and to gain the necessary academic and life experiences that will help them through the rigors of health professional training.

The HCOP at FSU experience is the culminating activity of a year-long health career program. The program is conducted by university and college faculty, designed not only to enrich academic skills in math, science, and English, but to provide opportunities for personal growth and development. Students were selected for HCOP based on a variety of criteria including, but not limited to, academic and test performance, career goals, personal motivation, and economic and social background.

BROAD FORD'S PARENT VOLUNTEERS were honored recently at a luncheon held at the Oakland Country Club on May 24. Each volunteer received a certificate and a plant, thanking them for all the time they have given to school projects and endeavors. Eight of the women pictured above are being honored by the Maryland State Dept. of Education for logging 400 hours or above. Together these women, who are Barbara Moore, Ruth Anne Hinebaugh, Maria Harvey, Barbara Snyder, Betty Eaton, Chris Palmer, Sharon Broadwater, and Sandy DeWitt, have given a combined total of 5,649 volunteer hours. Anna Walther, pictured below, was named the volunteer with the most years of service. This year is Ms. Walther's eighth as a volunteer in the media center. She has no children or grandchildren at the school, but gives her time to the students. Pictured above in the first row, right to left, are Roberta DeBerry, Ms. Hinebaugh, Ms. Walther, Ms. Snyder, and Dianna Timmerman. In the second row, same order, are Mary Smith, Ms. Moore, Dawn Panther, Debbie Barnard, Linda James, Helen Pysell, Ms. Broadwater, and Susan Hinebaugh. In the third row, same order, are Ms. Harvey, Debbie Rhodes, Ms. Eaton, and Ms. Palmer. Not pictured is Sandy DeWitt.

The Western Maryland AHEC developed HCOP with the help of many local health professionals who recognized the need to assist area youth to find career solutions and the regional need for more health professionals. The program began three years ago with the support of the Division of Disadvantaged Assistance, Public Health Services, Department of Health and Human Services. It is a tri-state endeavor reaching 22 high schools in Western Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia.

The HCOP staff works with students throughout the academic year to provide information on health careers, and to provide exposure to these careers through hospital tours and individualized healthsite experiences, according to Debbie Bradley, HCOP program coordinator.

"This year, thanks to the volunteer time of local hospitals and health professionals, more than 100 students toured a health care facility or participated in a healthsite experience," Ms. Bradley said.

The staff also assists in college application preparation and financial aid planning. Bradley is assisted by Sue Dotson, health careers education specialist, and Becky Whitehill, HCOP secretary. Dave Morton, associate biology professor at FSU, serves as academic program coordinator for the summer enrichment program.

Each HCOP participant meets with the program staff prior to the program to discuss individualization of the summer's academic and personal learning experiences. Throughout the summer, guest speakers will address health care issues, such as drug and alcohol abuse or AIDS. The students will also visit two-year, four-year, and graduate level health professional schools, and several health care facilities.

During the program, students will attend campus cultural events, movies, area parks, and Cumberland Summer Theatre productions. Each participant will have access to physical fitness facilities on campus, including the pool, weight rooms, racquetball, tennis courts, and outdoor tracks.

SUNNYSIDE- UNDERWOOD

The Underwood Ladies Bible study group convened Thursday afternoon in the church pavilion.

Recent guests of Marie Knotts were Darrell and Gloria McCabe, of Youngstown, Ohio. They are former neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Knotts, Pleasant Valley. Other weekend visitors included a niece, Lyla Spagnell, and husband, Mike, Ray Frazer and father "Papa" Frazer and friend, Sandee, and daughter, of Parkersburg, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wharton have been busy the past weeks establishing their Gortner home and business establishment, R and S Enterprises, which were destroyed by fire.

Mary Miller, of Aurora, spent a few nights with her aunt, Marie Knotts, recently.

Gladys Espensen, of Dallas, Tex., arrived at the home of Mildred Peterson to spend several weeks with her mother George and Nita Savage and family returned to their base in Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., after spending two weeks with his foster mother, Mrs. Peterson, and other relatives in the area.

On Saturday evening, a birthday party was held in the home of Keith and Iva Cummings for their son-in-law, Michael Bernard.

Linda and John Shields, of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Violet Pitman, Grafton, W. Va., were overnight guests of Mrs. Delmar Knotts. Also, on Sunday afternoon, Beanie Canan remained overnight as a guest of Mrs. Knotts and was accompanied home on Monday by Mrs. Knotts' daughter, Selma Stratton, Mt. Lake Park. Mrs. Stratton's son, Daniel, remained with his grandmother for a longer visit.

GOP Redistricting Plan Keeps 6th District Intact

The Republican Party's redistricting proposal will keep all of Western Maryland in the Sixth Congressional District, it was announced last week by Joyce Lyons Terhes, chairperson of the Maryland Republican Party.

The Maryland Republican Party released its redistricting plan Saturday at its spring convention in Ocean City. The plan calls for the entire Western Maryland to be kept together. The plan would change the district from its present boundary lines, but only slightly. Montgomery County would no longer be included in the Sixth District. The Western Maryland counties would be included with Frederick, Carroll, and a portion of Howard County.

"This is the best plan possible for Western Maryland... it keeps together an area which has common characteristics," said Terhes. She is confident that all Marylanders would receive the "fairest representation from the plan." She added, "We did not try to save any political careers... we tried to come up with a plan that serves the best interest of Marylanders. This plan does just that."

Kevin Igoe, Maryland Republican Party executive director, said he was pleased that the proposed Republican plan kept Western Maryland together.

Western Maryland is an area of common interests, which should be represented by one legislator." Igoe added, "It makes legislating much easier for a Congressman to have a homogenous population. In turn, the interests of Western Marylanders are better represented."

The plan will be presented to the Governor's Commission on Redistricting.

HEARING AIDS

DO YOU HAVE FEEDBACK OR WHISTLING WITH YOUR HEARING AID?
ARE YOU CONTINUALLY ADJUSTING THE VOLUME?

This is a common complaint that we hear from many hearing aid users. With the new Clearone hearing aids you will not have feedback since the hearing aid is completely in your ear. You will not have to continually adjust the volume control, because the hearing aid will automatically reduce the loud noises for you.

We have found that it even helps those who have Tinnitus "ringing ears."

Come in today for a no cost hearing evaluation and demonstration of the hearing aid!

RESIDENTS HAVE BEEN BUSY at the Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, participating in several events. The nursing home held a fun carnival on Saturday, May 18, and were entertained for no charge by the Silver Eagle Band, pictured above. Allegheny Welding and Machine donated helium to give free balloons to the children in attendance. Games, prizes, hot dogs, and sodas were available as well. In observance of National Nursing Home Week, May 13-18th, Dennett Road Manor celebrated a different "dress-up" day for each day of the proclaimed week. The special days included Western Days, the 1950's-60's, and Clown Day. Pictured below is a disguised Martha Knox (left) as she "holds up" resident Nellie Mae Wright.

Sign Dedication To Be Held At Dennett Road

Dennett Road Elementary School will hold a "New School Sign Dedication" Tuesday, June 11, at 10 a.m., on the arboretum grounds.

During the ceremonies, individuals and businesses who contributed donations for the sign, designed and built by Barry Domenick, will be honored, as well as those who contributed in other ways to the beautification of the arboretum.

Those being honored at the ceremony include Frank Matris, Island Creek Coal Company; Carl Fike, Beachy Lumber Company; Dr. Karl and Mrs. Sharon Schwalm; John Forman, Wood Products, Inc.; Ernie Metz, Garrett County Forest Conservancy Board, and Dave Taylor, Green Acres Garden Center.

The public is invited to attend the dedication.

Wachter Named To U.S. Achievement Academy In Science

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Chris Wachter, son of Walter and Mary Wachter, McHenry, has been named a U.S. National Award winner in science.

Chris is a student at Northern High School and was nominated for the award by Michelle Harman, a biology teacher at the school. A personal biography of the student will appear in the U.S. Achievement Academy official yearbook, published nationally.

The academy selects the winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, or other school sponsors, as well as upon the standards of selection set forth by the academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, and dependability.

Humberson Named To Dean's List

Theresa Humberson, Deer Park, has been named to the Dean's List at Shepherd College for the spring semester. Humberson is an art major at Shepherd.

To be eligible for the Dean's List, a student must maintain a 3.2 grade point average for the semester and carry at least 15 hours of course work or be in the professional teaching block.

Located in West Virginia's Eastern Panhandle, Shepherd College is a state-supported institution offering two- and four-year degrees in liberal arts, business administration, teacher education, and the social and natural sciences. Shepherd is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

DNR Police Plan Boat Inspection, SWAMP Operation

Officers of the Department of Natural Resources have announced that they will conduct a "Courtesy Boat Safety Inspection" at the boat ramp at Deep Creek Lake State Park on Saturday, June 8.

Hours for the inspections will be from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Inspections will be done on boats on the water, or those that are trailered to the site. For more information, persons may call 301-387-5563.

The officers also announced their plans to conduct S.W.A.M.P. operations, or "Special Waterway Alcohol Monitoring Patrols," which will occur during the month of July, on the 6th and the 20th.

Patrol units on those days will concentrate on detecting alcohol abuse violations on Deep Creek Lake. Maryland law prohibits persons from operating vessels while intoxicated or under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol.

Area Students Named To Attend Forestry Workshop

The Garrett County Forestry Board has announced that two area students will be attending the 1991 Forestry Conservation and Natural Resources Week, July 28 - August 3.

The students selected are Jason Reall, Mtn. Lake Park, and Adam Spiker, McHenry.

The week-long workshop is designed to acquaint high school students with forestry and natural resource management career opportunities. A variety of lectures, field trips, and meetings give participants a first-hand look into the fields of forestry, wildlife biology, fisheries, recreation and the physical sciences. The workshop will be held at Camp Hickory Environmental Educational Center, near Northern High School, Accident.

The camp is sponsored by the Maryland Association of Forest Conservancy District Boards and is supported by the Department of Natural Resources, Forest, Park & Wildlife Service.

June Is Dairy Month!

June is "Dairy Month!" Since 1937 Americans have paid tribute to the industry that provides all of those delicious, nutritious real dairy foods: milk, cheese, ice cream, butter, yogurt and more.

But the significance of the dairy industry dates back to the earliest recorded history. Archaeological findings have revealed tablets and murals that depict cows and dairy products as an important part of ancient man's daily life.

Twentieth century discoveries of another kind confirmed dairy products' importance. Vitamin A, which is essential for healthy skin and vision, was discovered in butterfat in 1913. Later, the link between calcium, dairy products and strong bones and teeth was discovered. More recently calcium has been associated with a reduction in blood pressure, and some cheeses, like aged Cheddar, are now believed to fight tooth decay.

Milk and dairy products continue to be vital in helping consumers maintain good health. One glass of milk provides enough energy to walk one mile, play nine holes of golf, clean house for two hours or climb 196 stairs. Best of all, dairy foods are not only good for us, they also taste great. Their wide variety also makes it easy for us to find a dairy product to eat or drink any time of the day and for any occasion.

Americans even take their love for dairy foods abroad. U.S. soldiers in the Persian Gulf polished off 80,000 premium frozen yogurt bars, which were donated by a U.S. company.

It isn't often that consumers say thanks to a food. But every June Dairy Month, Americans recognize the importance of the industry that provides the foods on which we rely every day, from infancy through adulthood.

Preston County Private Water Testing Program Update Given

Participants of the water testing program sponsored by the Monongahela Soil Conservation District should receive results from Heidelberg College by mid June, according to Joe Hutton, NPS environmental specialist, Soil Conservation Service, Kingwood, W. Va.

These results will be for the nitrate package and in some cases the pesticide packages. The results of the wide spectrum chemical screen should be received in July. This was the mason jar test. Each laboratory will send the results describing the levels of contaminants found directly to the landowner. These results will include the EPA's Safe Drinking Water Standard for public water supplies as compared to the landowner's results, Hutton says. He asks recipients to read these carefully. "The organizational committee will not know the results of your test," Hutton said, "therefore, if you have a problem it will be up to you to ask for assistance."

According to Hutton, there were 140 test kits sold in Preston County. We are very pleased with the distribution of test kits in the more intensive agriculture areas of the county. We do not expect to find significant problems, but if there are problems the committee plans to assist those who request it."

Preston County businesses that helped the County Water Testing Committee by distributing the test kits and collecting them included: Gregg's Pharmacy in Terra Alta; Egdon Farm Service in Egdon; Cool Springs Park in Rowlesburg; Matlick's Feeds in Marquess; Chuck's Store in Newburg; Main Pharmacy in Masontown; WVU Extension Office and Soil Conservation Service in Kingwood; Cranes Feeds in Valley Point and Bruceton Farm Service in Bruceton Mills.

Dairy Refunds To Begin In 1992

Refunds of amount deducted from 1991 commercial milk marketings under the Dairy Refund Program will begin in January 1992, according to Kenneth R. Bachtel, chairperson of the Garrett County ASC Committee. The program is authorized by the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990.

The Act calls for a five cents per hundredweight reduction in the price received by producers for all milk produced and marketed for commercial use in calendar year 1991. For calendar years 1992 through 1995, the reduction will be 11.25 cents per hundredweight. "This amount is to be increased on May 1 of each of these years, as needed, to compensate for refunds made for the previous year," Bachtel said.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service will collect the milk assessments and ASCS will issue any refunds required.

Under the Dairy Refund Program milk producers will establish their milk marketings for the refund year, and the immediately preceding calendar year before the refund request is made. "They must request refunds from our office between January and March 15, starting in 1992 and ending in 1996," Bachtel said.

He said producers applying next year will be eligible to receive a refund of the entire amount deducted from their milk proceeds if they provide evidence that they did not increase milk marketings over the immediately preceding year.

According to Bachtel, milk marketing history may be transferred between producers under certain conditions. "The transferring producer must make a complete transfer of the entire dairy operation, including all land, equipment and dairy cattle at all locations to a family member only." The ASCS official said the transferring producer must also certify that he or she does not have any interest in dairy cattle or milk production.

Producers who request 1991 dairy refunds are subject to the highly erodible land and wetland conservation provisions of the Food Security Act of 1985 as amended by the Food, Agriculture, Conservation and Trade Act of 1990, and must certify compliance with provisions of the Act.

For more information on the dairy refund program, producers should contact the Garrett County ASCS office.

New Dairy Legislation Could Pose More Challenges For Dairy Farmers

Milk prices at the farm level, already severely depressed, could drop further if price support cuts in The Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 are enacted. The 1990 Farm Bill, as it is commonly known, sets the guidelines for farm policy from 1991 through 1995.

The key provision in the Farm Bill is the level of dairy purchases by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC). For the first time, the purchases of cheese, butter, and nonfat dry milk will be measured on a milk equivalent, total milk solids basis, as opposed to a milkfat basis.

This is a significant departure from previous dairy policy. The level of CCC purchases, and their effect on pricing, could have a dramatic impact on dairying in this part of the country.

If the United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) estimate of purchases in each of the calendar years 1991-1995 does not exceed 3.5 billion pounds milk equivalent, total milk solids basis, the dairy support price will increase 25 cents per hundredweight.

The Secretary of Agriculture will not decrease the support price if the USDA's estimate of purchases is between 3.5 billion and 5 billion pounds.

If the USDA's estimate of CCC purchases exceeds 5 billion pounds in a calendar year, the support price will decrease 25 to 50 cents, down to a minimum support price of $10.10.

With the enactment of the 1990 Farm Bill, CCC expenditures during calendar years 1992-1995 will be limited to the purchase of the equivalent of 7 billion pounds of milk, total milk solids basis. Purchases above 7 billion pounds will be financed by dairy farmers through a producer assessment.

Because the southeast (including Maryland) is a milk deficit area, overproduction is not a problem. However, dairy farmers in the southeast will be affected by the drop in the support price if overproduction occurring in other regions of the country continues. Additional downward pressure on milk prices paid to dairy farmers for their milk could force more family farmers out of business.

Sheep, Lamb Industry Hoping For Turnaround

Editor's Note: This article, by Gene Malone, is reprinted with permission from the June 3 issue of "Farm Bureau News."

The nation's sheep and lamb inventory stood at 11.2 million head on Jan. 1, down one percent after several years of consecutive increases. But the decline does not mean immediately higher returns for American sheep producers, according to Clement L. Ward, professor and Extension economist for Oklahoma State University.

Commercial lamb production rose four percent in 1990 and, despite reduced numbers this year, will still grow by about one percent in 1991 because producers continue to market lambs at heavier weights, said Ward. The economist addressed producers attending a recent American Farm Bureau Federation sponsored sheep and goat profitability forum in Denver.

Ward said the annual average slaughter lamb prices at San Angelo dropped from $67 per hundredweight (cwt.) in 1986 to around $54 per cwt. in 1990. Lamb prices for 1991 are likely to average less than 1990, but should improve within about 12 to 18 months, Ward said.

Prices in 1990 were the lowest in 15 years. Based on historical relationships between supply and price, the slaughter lamb prices fell farther than they should have, Ward said. Several factors contributed to that heavy decline, including sluggish consumer demand, widening farm-to-retail price spread, lamb products not meeting consumer preferences, poor pelt market and lamb imports, according to Ward.

The price depression will worsen, he warned, if sheep producers rapidly liquidate sheep in response to lower prices. "If sheep producers cull flocks selectively and market lighter, leaner lambs, their actions will not contribute to lower prices. The smaller inventory of sheep and lambs suggests the industry will work its way out of the depression within the next year to year and a half," Ward said.

Packer concentration is a phenomenon to be watched by the sheep industry, since about 75 percent of the lamb slaughter is done by the four largest packing firms, a much higher degree of concentration than in the rest of the meat industry, Ward said.

Both packer feeding as a percent of total lamb slaughter and packer concentration of the lamb market are at very high levels compared to the entire meat industry, despite a slight drop in the rate of each during 1990, Ward said.

Another speaker, Jim Magagna, president of the American Sheep Industry Association (ASIA), said his association has asked USEA to investigate the high and growing farm-to-market price spread in the lamb market. He emphasized that lamb producers cannot afford drastic reductions in sheep numbers in an effort to bring higher prices. "That would simply sacrifice more market shares to other meats and to producers in other countries around the world," he warned.

Magagna said ASIA emphasized wool quality improvement, and wool sales have brightened in the past few months. He outlined some opportunities available in the sheep industry for better marketing. Also needed are certification, better market information, yield grading and kidney fat removal. A study of the marketing structure is now in progress and should be completed this summer, he added.

Paul Fuller, director of the livestock and grain division of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said he hoped producers will take a more active part in providing market price information.

Fuller said USDA is evaluating an ASIA proposal for a change in grade standards for sheep and lambs and hopes to have a recommendation soon.

The eighth annual sheep profitability forum, which now also includes goats, was held in conjunction with the American Farm Bureau Federation Sheep and Goat Advisory Committee meeting.

Over Half Of Soybeans Planted

By June 2, 55 percent of Maryland's soybean acreage was planted, ahead of last year's 27 percent and the five year average of 34 percent. An average of 5.8 days was suitable for fieldwork during this past week, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, 25 percent of the topsoil was very short of moisture, 60 percent was short, 10 percent was adequate and five percent was surplus. Subsoil moisture ended the week as follows: five percent was very short, 70 percent was short, 20 percent was adequate, and five percent was surplus. All the small grains were in good condition across the state. Hay supplies were adequate. Pastures were in good condition. Peaches and apples were in good condition and the fruit set was above average.

Maryland's progress for the week ending June 2 was as follows, listing the item, then this year's average percentage, last year's average percentage, and the average percentage for the five-year period.

Crops Planted: Soybeans, 55, 27, 34; Sorghum, 69, N/A, N/A; Sweet Corn, 83, 81, 80; Lima Beans, 96, 51, 65; Snap Beans, 82, 63, 68; Tomatoes, 94, 96, 95. Crop Stage: Winter Wheat Turning, 57, 17, 14; Barley Turning, 96, 68, 69; Rye Turning, 54, 32, 38; Oats Headed, 30, 33, 34. Crops Harvested: Rye, 12, 12, 5; Green Peas, 48, 15, 18; Strawberries, 67, 44, 28; Other Hay First Cutting, 56, 44, 44; Alfalfa First Cutting, 88, 58, 64. N/A - Not Available this week.

Weather
Maryland weather for the week ending May 31 was summer like with light to no precipitation. Precipitation averaged 0.14 inch ranging from zero at Cumberland to 0.60 inch at Salisbury. Western and North Central Maryland averaged 0.13 and 0.09 inch, respectively. Southern Maryland west of the Bay and the Eastern Shore averaged 0.09 and 0.22 inch, respectively. Temperatures averaged 81.5 degrees, 14.5 degrees above the normal of 67.0 degrees for the week of May 25-31. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the mid 50s in extreme Western Maryland. Maximum temperatures reached summer like highs in the mid to upper 90s, with a high of 103 in College Park.

Mohair Promotion Referendum Set For June 17-18

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has scheduled a referendum June 17-18 for mohair producers to decide whether to continue a market promotion and improvement program.

The proposed program is similar to one approved in 1986. The new program would continue to authorize deductions from producer price support payments.

If the referendum is approved by a majority of the producers voting, or by a majority of the total volume of production represented in the referendum, deductions from mohair price support payments would be at a rate of up to 4 1/2 cents per pound for marketing years 1991 through 1996.

The deductions will be used by the Mohair Council of America to finance advertising and sales promotion programs for mohair and Angora goats in domestic and foreign markets, and for information programs for producers on production, management and market improvement.

USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service county offices will distribute ballots in early June. Completed ballots must be returned in person to the county office or postmarked by the June 28 deadline.

To be eligible to vote, a person must have owned Angora goats six months or older for at least 30 consecutive days in 1990. A cooperative may vote for its members, but, if it does so, its members then are ineligible to vote for themselves.

In the 1986 referendum, 82.2 percent of the producers approved the program.

Armyworms Are in the Corn

This week I found armyworm infestations in field corn. No-till fields planted into a small grain cover crop, pastures and weedy fields, all have a high risk for armyworm infestations. Survey field edges that border small grains or grassy areas and watch for damaged plants. In the daytime the worm will hide in the whorl of the plant. Manure in the whorl is easy to spot. Control is recommended if 35 percent or more of the plants are infested and 50 percent or more defoliation is seen on the damaged plants, provided that larvae average less than 3/4 inch long. Worms greater than 1 1/4 inches long usually have completed their feeding. Sometimes it is only necessary to spot treat, generally around the edges; therefore, survey the total field. Some of the common insecticides used are as follows: Sevin 5% Bait - 20-40 lbs/A, Lorsban 4E - 1 pt./A, Lannate L - 1-2 pt./A, PennCap-M2F - 2-3 pt./A, Pounce 3.2 EC - 4oz./A, Ambush 2E - 6.4 oz./A, Dylux - 20 oz./A. Follow label directions very carefully.

Leafhoppers in Alfalfa
Leafhoppers are here in large forces. The warm weather with Southern winds have brought in a large population. I would almost bet that 50% of our alfalfa fields have leafhoppers. In our area they cause more alfalfa damage than any other factor — a major cause for alfalfa freeze-out. Harvest the alfalfa now and let a little regrowth occur before you spray, unless the population is such that severe damage occurs before regrowth. In all likelihood, the leafhopper is on alfalfa that you have interseeded with small grains. What do you do? In my opinion, you go ahead and spray. The damage to the small grains will cost you less than the loss of the alfalfa seeding. Make sure you select an insecticide that comes within the days before harvest restriction.

A Special Planning Meeting for Sheep Producers
As most of you may be aware, there is a new meat processing plant presently under construction in Mt. Lake Park. They will be needing a year-round supply of lambs and ewes. In order to consider their market needs, I feel it is important that interested producers get together to plan market strategies; therefore, you are invited to a planning meeting on Tuesday, June 11, 8 p.m. at the Extension Office. If you plan to attend, I would appreciate a call at 334-1990. This would help me make preparations.

Salute to Dairy Men

As our nation's dairy industry continues to maintain the very highest standards and freshest products, contributing to the nutritional and economical needs of this community, we happily express appreciation and support for the important work they do.

Ice cream was known to be served in the American colonies in the 1700s. A Virginian, dining at the home of Governor William Bladen of Maryland, wrote this account in a letter, "A great variety of dishes, all served up in the most elegant way, after which came a dessert no less curious. Among the rarities was some fine ice cream, which, with strawberries and milk, eats most deliciously."

In 1965, the average person had to work 10.9 minutes to have enough money to purchase a half-gallon of milk. In 1980, only 7.3 minutes of labor were required.

Nominate Your Favorite Cow To Be Featured During Dairy Month

"Get the Scoop on Dairy Foods" is the theme for the 1991 celebration of June Dairy Month. As part of that celebration, The Republican would like to "get the scoop" on your favorite dairy cow. Dairy cows are the basis of the industry and each dairyman, his wife and children or hired help has their favorite cow. The Republican Newspaper would like to recognize your favorite cow during June Dairy Month.

To nominate your favorite cow, send the following information to The Republican, c/o Bernice Kepple, farm editor, P.O. Box 326, Oakland, MD 21550. Information needed includes the cow's name, production record, reason for nomination, owner's name, address, and phone number.

All nominations must be producing dairy cows; however, high-producing cows will not be the only ones picked to be featured. Your reasons for nomination may be that the cow was the first heifer calf born on your farm, or your child's pet cow, or a cow with unusual markings, or a variety of other reasons.

The owners of the cows chosen will be contacted and an appointment made for a photo to be taken. That photo and information about the cow and her owners will be used in The Republican's farm section sometime during the month of June. A 5" by 7" black and white copy of the photo used in the newspaper will be mailed to the owners of the cow as a keepsake.

Cows to be featured will be chosen by The Republican's editorial staff. All nominations should be mailed to The Republican by June 15.

All dairymen in Garrett and the surrounding West Virginia counties are invited to give their "gold medal" cows some recognition. Mail your nomination today.

VISITING A DAIRY FARM -- Approximately 250 local youngsters and their teachers have had a real hands-on farming experience during the past month. Children from Head Start located in Crellin, Oakland, and Min. Lake, kindergarten and first graders from Broad Ford Elementary School visited the farm of William and Rick DeWitt. When the children first arrived they were promised a hay ride if they completed their chores first. Every child had the opportunity to hand milk a cow, feed veal calves and give oats to halvers. The children followed milk through the pipeline to the tank. Chores completed, the children boarded the hay wagon for a round-trip tour of the 400 acre farm. After eating their packed lunches the children each had a turn at riding a pony. Additional pet animals such as lambs, rabbits and chickens were also available for petting. To finish the day children took a short hike to the farm pond. Coloring books were provided to each child complimentary of the Mid Atlantic Milk Marketing Association.

CANDIDATES SOUGHT
The annual Potato Festival will be held at Mt. Grove on September 14, and candidates for royalty are now being sought. Any boy or girl between the ages of 5 and 17 who is interested in becoming a candidate for the royalty is asked to contact Letha Helmick at 735-5247 by June 15 for information.

CLINIC VACATION
Egion Clinic will not have the services of Dr. Coughlin on June 21, and June 24-28, while he is away. For routine services, persons should schedule accordingly.

MORE BIRTHDAYS
On Monday, May 27, Lora Forman was 10 years old, and her parents, Arthur and Janice Forman, hosted a swimming and pizza party for her on Sunday evening, followed by a slumber party. On Monday, there was more swimming and a birthday cookout luncheon. Lora was recipient of gifts and two decorated birthday cakes. Guests were Lisa Moats, Amanda Carnal, Melinda Mayne, Sara Snyder, Rebecca Wotring, Gretchen Baker and her cousin, A.J. DeLauder.

Mrs. Mervie Forman, of Amboy, celebrated her 99th birthday on June 1. Members of St.

Paul's Lutheran choir visited and sang for her on Wednesday evening, May 29. The sing concluded with Mrs. Forman playing the piano while the choir sang "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder." Refreshments were served following the singing.

On Saturday, Mrs. Forman's visitors included her grandchildren, Doug and Annette Tanner, of Morgantown, and a weekend guest was her niece, Ann Smith, of Canonsburg, Pa. Other visitors during the week included Linda and Sam Terant, of Manassas, Va., and several local persons.

PERSONAL MENTION
Jim Layman was honored with a graduation dinner held Saturday evening at the home of his parents, David and Lois, and brother, Aaron Layman, in Egion. Other family and friends who attended were Sheridan and Nina Layman, George and Jessie Winters, Neil and Bonnie Winters, Henry, Kim and Kalie Hostuttler, Rhonda, Christopher and Ryan Channel, Steve Dawson, Earl and Norma McComb, and Wade, Patty and Robin Rodeheaver.

A cookout was hosted by Iris Myers on Saturday evening at her Mt. Top home, to observe the homecoming of David Hardesty and the high school graduation of her granddaughter, Jennifer Frost. She baked a two-tier white cake and decorated it with pink roses to honor Jennifer, and a flag decorated the cake baked for David. Families of the two honorees were in attendance.

Grace and Sal Giordano, of Baltimore, visited this weekend with her daughter and son-in-law, Ruby and Norman Feather, at Egion, and with other nearby relatives.

Sandra (Mrs. Bill) Hauser entered Garrett County Memorial Hospital Monday morning for surgery there, expecting to be released within 24 hours.

Visiting in Dale City, Va., during Memorial Day weekend, were Grace Harsh, Egion; Gladys Hauser, Ellen Harsh, and Cindy Harsh, all Horse Shoe Run, who were guests of Bill and Ruby Skinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Starr spent the May 24-26 weekend in Ohio where they were treated by their children with a celebration of their 40th wedding anniversary. There were 100 present at the dinner which was held in an Akron union hall, including their children, Shirley Poling, Jenny, Casto, Terry Starr, and Debbie Crites; grandchildren, relatives, and friends from their years living in Ohio. May 25 was the date of the event.

On Sunday, May 26, the Harold Harsh family held its reunion at Wingfoot Park, in Akron, with 70 present for the occasion. Mr. Harsh and Marguerite Dawson had accompanied the Starrs to Ohio for the anniversary celebration and the reunion.

Eldean and Claud Poling and his nephew, Lucky Calhoun, all Shepherdstown, spent last week at their home on Stemple Ridge, repairing and rebuilding.

Linda Ayers and Dan Liston, of Farmington, Pa., were weekend guests of Harold Harsh on Stemple Ridge.

Carolyn Will returned last Wednesday to her home in Egion, after being in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. John Judy returned to his home at Horse Shoe Run the following day, also from Garrett Memorial.

The 4th annual assembly of the West Virginia-Western Maryland Synod of Evangelical Lutheran Church of American was held May 31, June 1 and 2, at Davis and Elkins College, Elkins. Local Students Accepted At GCC

Deanna Detrick

Brandy Kahl

Nancilee Reckart

Lisa Towne

Deanna Lynn Detrick, Brandy Lee Kahl, Michelle Dawn Pluebell, Nancilee Reckart, and Lisa Abigail Towne are among local students accepted into the fall 1991 college freshman class at Garrett Community College, according to Admission Representative, Darlene Reed.

Planning to pursue a certificate in early childhood assistance, Ms. Detrick will be graduating from Northern High School this month. The daughter of Robert and Linda Detrick, Friendsville, Deanna served as treasurer of the Future Homemakers of America and the Jobs Club secretary. She was also an honor roll student. After earning her certificate, Deanna hopes to work with young children, either through the school system or perhaps at a daycare center.

Miss Kahl is also a member of the 1991 graduating class at Northern High School. She resides at Route 1, Friendsville, and is the daughter of Kathleen V. and the late James E. Kahl. While at NHS, Brandy was a member of the French Club, Business Club, the marching and concert band, as well as the Garrett County Honor Band. She was chosen for Who's Who Among American High School Students. Brandy enjoys reading, taking long walks, and music. At Garrett, she will be studying business administration.

A resident of Accident, Michelle Pluebell (photo unavailable) will also be graduating from Northern High School this month. She is the daughter of Evonne C. Thomas, also of Accident. Michelle served as president of Future Homemakers of America for two years. She was chosen outstanding member of FHA. She played in the NHS Band and placed on the school honor roll. Michelle is employed at Herrington Manor State Park and is a member of the Zion Lutheran Church of Accident. She enjoys reading and shopping and will be majoring in hotel restaurant management at GCC.

An upcoming graduate of Southern High School, Nancilee Reckart will major in the field of secondary education. She is the daughter of Larry and Patsy Reckart, Oakland. At SHS, she participated in their marching and concert band. She is presently employed in the National Guard. After two years at Garrett, she will transfer to Frostburg State University to complete her bachelor's degree.

Planning to major in elementary education, Lisa Towne will also be graduating from Southern High School this month. She was chosen Bright Star of Maryland Tomorrow while at SHS. Lisa is a member of the Church of God of Prophecy, the daughter of Neal and Shirley Towne of Oakland, and the granddaughter of Vernard and Lillian Tasker, Elkins, W. Va. She enjoys reading and cooking and plans to transfer to FSU after Garrett Community College.

Motorists Urged To Be Careful At Work Sites

The State Highway Administration and the Maryland Highway Contractors Association are calling on motorists to drive cautiously through highway construction areas in Maryland.

"These work zone safety areas are designated by orange signs and other traffic control devices which warn motorists of changes in highway traffic patterns," stated Russ Ulrich of the State Highway Administration. Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service broadcast, Ulrich urged motorists to react to roadside signs which merge traffic around construction areas.

"The best advice is to change lanes early to help avoid an unsafe last minute lane change," Ulrich added.

"Motorists should be alert for changes in traffic patterns to help ensure safe passage through these work zones," said Bill Hardy, Maryland State Highway Contractors Association. "Every passing motorist should think of these workers as their friends," Hardy added.

The Maryland Department of Transportation's appeal for work zone safety is intended to reduce the dangers associated with travel through construction areas. Since 1986, seventy-one people have died in work zone traffic accidents which have also injured more than 5,000 people.

The Maryland State Police Radio Program is a weekly public service broadcast carried on approximately 50 radio stations in Maryland and the District of Columbia. The program is supported by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Maryland Department of Transportation.

Portions of this program are also carried on the Maryland State Police Newsline, (301) 653-4275.

Constance Jacoby Receives Degree From Frostburg

Constance S. Jacoby was awarded a bachelor of science degree in psychology from Frostburg State University in December graduation ceremonies.

As a transfer student from the University of Maryland, Potomac State College, and Garrett Community College, she maintained a 4.0 grade point average in upper-division psychology courses at FSU.

Mrs. Jacoby received the Dorothy R. Leuba Scholarship from the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped, awarded to Garrett County college students interested in working with the disabled.

In April 1990, Mrs. Jacoby was inducted into Psi Chi, the national honor society in psychology, and was elected secretary of the organization for her senior year.

She completed her senior-level internship at the Lighthouse rehabilitation program in Oakland.

She is now employed by United Cerebral Palsy of Central Maryland.

Crime Solvers

The case of the week for the Garrett County Crime Solvers organization concerns the request for information about the following incident:

A summer cottage owned by William Finamore, located on Mosser Road, McHenry, was apparently broken into on March 12. The culprit gained entry through a rear bedroom window.

After entry was made, the following items were removed: a television/ver combination unit, camcorder, Infinity stereo speakers, and skis. The items have been valued at $3,769.

All leads in this case have been exhausted, and members of the Crime Solvers program are seeking the assistance of any person who has information about this or any other unsolved crime. Persons who do have information are asked to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975, or by writing to Crime Solvers, P.O. Box 731, Oakland, Md. 21550.

Jaime Jacoby Accepted to '91 Summer Center

Jaime Jacoby, son of Fred and Connie Jacoby, was recently accepted into the 1991 Maryland Summer Center for Gifted and Talented Students.

A seventh grade student at Southern Middle School, Jaime is one of 15 middle school students state-wide chosen to attend the Creativity and The Arts course, presented at Goucher College, Towson.

Selection to this portion of the Maryland Summer Center is based primarily on an audition/interview session, which Jaime completed at Hood College in Frederick earlier this year. A student essay, test scores, and teacher recommendation were also part of the acceptance process.

For his audition, Jaime performed a monologue from Shel Silverstein's Where the Sidewalk Ends. He was also asked to improvise a skit and to discuss his personal artistic background and goals.

The two-week seminar, June 23 - July 6, examines intuitive aspects of the arts, focusing on idea development and application of those ideas in fresh and original ways including media, discussion, and creative expression.

Jaime is an aspiring puppeteer, performing in the classroom and for children's birthday parties, according to his parents. Through the Galaxy Program at Garrett Community College, he has attended George McDowell's puppetry classes; studied magic, mime and juggling with Ben Sincell; and experienced Gail Herman's storytelling workshops.

19th ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT exercises were held May 13 at Garrett Community College, McHenry. Dean of Academic Affairs Dr. Lillian R. Mitchell, foreground, leads the procession of the 79 students who received associate in arts degrees or certificates. Many of the students have already been accepted into four-year institutions to complete their education in their chosen fields.

THE GCC PIPES AND DRUMS, led by the Honorable Fred A. Thayer, warm up on the college green before commencement ceremonies.

THE COMMUNITY CHORUS sings the GCC Alma Mater, under the direction of George McDowell.

COLLEGE PRESIDENT Dr. Stephen Herman, right, thanks commencement speaker, Clarence Bacon, and presents him with a gift.

HIGH GRADES -- GCC graduate Dan Malone, Friendsville, received the award for the highest grade point average from Dr. Mitchell.

OUTSTANDING GRAD -- Dr. Mitchell presents the outstanding transfer student award to Kimberly Czuchrey.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT PRESIDENT Debbie Baker receives her degree from Charles Bender, vice chairman of the GCC Board of Trustees.

OFF COME THE CAPS as the graduates move out in the recessional and forward into life with newly acquired knowledge.

IT'S ALL OVER -- a time for congratulations with families and friends.

Goldstein Explains Provisions Of New Sales Tax

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says his office is receiving between 60 and 100 telephone calls each day from businesses affected by changes in the sales and use tax enacted by the 1991 session of the General Assembly. The changes become effective Saturday, June 1.

Listed below are some of the changes.

1. Soft drinks in open containers, such as cups, are no longer treated as food and are therefore taxable, just as soft drinks in cans or bottles are.

2. Sales of food through vending machines are taxable.

3. Sales of food by carry-out food vendors, other than grocery or market businesses, are taxable.

4. The previous exemption for sales of food for less than $1 is repealed. The tax now begins with sales of 20 cents, just as for other taxable items.

5. Cigarettes are subject to the sales and use tax for the first time since 1980.

6. The Maryland cigarette tax rate also increased from 13 cents to 16 cents per pack of 20 cigarettes.

"Consumers will notice some changes in the way the tax is applied to some common purchases," Comptroller Goldstein said. "A carry-out restaurant with no eating facilities which previously did not collect tax on its sales of food must now collect the tax on sales of food from more than 20 cents, for example."

Other common examples of changes include pizza shops with no eating facilities, which had previously collected the tax on delivered food only, must now collect the tax on food sold over the counter as well. Office coffee shops must now collect the tax on sales of coffee, tea, milk, pastries, and other sales of food for 20 cents or more.

"Among the largest number of questions we've received concern the provision that food will be taxed unless it is sold by a person operating a substantial grocery or market business for consumption off the premises," stated Goldstein. "Many vendors need to know that a grocery or market business will be considered substantial if sale of grocery or market food items total at least 10% of all sales of food. Grocery or market food items are those that are more than one serving or which aren't ready to eat as is," he added.

Most convenience stores, as well as major grocery stores, qualify as having a substantial grocery or market business and will not have to collect the tax on food sold for consumption off the premises. However, they would have to begin collecting the tax on soft drinks sold in cups on June 1.

Businesses with questions about the new tax treatment of food may contact the Taxpayer Service Section of the Sales and Use Tax Division by calling 1-800-492-1751.

ness in amount of FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($50,000.00) that said indebtedness was forgiven by the said John F. Beard, the sole shareholder and officer of said mortgagee, on or about June, 1982, but no release of the subject mortgage was recorded.

The substance of the relief sought is a judgment that the aforesaid indebtedness was in fact forgiven as stated above and an order that a release of the subject mortgage be recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Defendant, and/or any other persons described in the caption hereto, are hereby warned that failure to file a response on or before the 12th day of July, 1991, may result in a judgment by default or the granting of the relief sought.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

NO. 2284 CIVIL ACTION IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND

TIMOTHY J. SANDERS, 13230 Susquehanna Road, Baltimore, Maryland 21220, Plaintiff

VS

CLIFTON WILLIAM CARTER, 1618 Wise Road, Point of Rocks, MD 21777, and CINTHIE DIAN CARTER, 1618 Wise Road, Point of Rocks, MD 21777

Defendants

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property situated in Election District No. 14, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and the State of Maryland to Timothy J. Sanders and Timothy J. Sanders, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, containing 250 acres more or less, and being the same as conveyed by Herbert Ray Sykes to Clifton William Carter and Cinthie Dian Carter, his wife, by deed dated September 29, 1971, and recorded in Liber No. 330, folio 594 & c, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The complaint states, among other things, that title to said property was vested in the above named defendants at the time of said tax sale and still so remains.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

Estate No. 7187

TO ALL PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE ESTATE OF Gilbert Franklin Riley, (Sr.)

Notice is given that Gilbert F. Riley, Jr., Star Route 2, Box 102, McHenry, Maryland 21541, was on May 17, 1991 appointed personal representative of the estate of Gilbert Franklin Riley, Sr. who died on March 24, 1991, with a will.

Further information can be obtained by reviewing the estate file in the office of the Register of Wills or by contacting the personal representative or the attorney.

All persons having any objection to the appointment (orto the probate of the decedent's will) shall file their objections with the Register of Wills on or before the 17th day of November, 1991.

Any person having a claim against the decedent must present the claim to the undersigned personal representative or file it with the Register of Wills with a copy to the undersigned on or before the earlier of the following dates:

(1) Nine months from the date of the decedent's death, or

(2) Two months after the personal representative mails or otherwise delivers to the creditor a copy of this published notice or other written notice notifying the creditor that the claim will be barred unless the creditor presents the claims within two months from the mailing or other delivery of the notice. A claim not presented or filed on or before that date or any extension provided by law, is unenforceable thereafter. Claim forms may be obtained from the Register of Wills.

MDA Concludes State Gypsy Moth Spray Program

The Maryland Department of Agriculture concluded its gypsy moth suppression spraying for 1991.

"We sprayed more than 155,000 acres of private, federal, state, and other public lands with the assistance of other state and local agencies," said Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley, Jr. "This spring's suppression spraying went very smoothly. We completed all our spraying in a little less than four weeks," said Robert Tichenor, chief of the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Forest Pest Management Section.

Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Fort Meade, and Andrews Air Force Base arranged their own aerial application. In addition, the U.S. Forest Service coordinated aerial insecticide applications at Beltsville Agricultural Research Center, NASA, and several U.S. Department of the Interior sites in Prince George's County.

Again this year, county gypsy moth control programs in Anne Arundel, Caroline, Garrett, and Montgomery Counties contracted for aerial spraying of many thousands of acres in addition to those sprayed by the state. Many municipalities and community organizations, as well as private landowners, across the state sponsored their own local spraying programs.

"Individuals, communities, localities, and governmental agencies cooperating to use several suppression methods is the best way to control the caterpillars' damage and protect our trees in a variety of situations," said Tichenor.

Some 31 aircraft, both fixed wing and helicopter, were active in the spray program, either as spray aircraft or as observation aircraft. The

Donations Still Rolling In For GLAF Benefit

by Cindy Stacy

Contributions--from the extra personal attention of caterer Martin Heise to a condominium week at Arnold Palmer's Bay Hills Golf Club and Lodge in Orlando--keep coming in for the June 22 "Black and White" Gala Benefit, set for 6:30 p.m. at Wisp Resort's McHenry House.

While area artist have generously donated select pieces of original art to this year's Garrett Lakes Arts Festival Gala and Auction, other new special components of the gala such as antiques, and planteride over Garrett County, the wines, flowers and beef tenderloin for a gourmet dinner for eight and a week's stay in Orlando have also been donated to the event.

Newest donations, for example, include: three antique crocks collected 20 years ago at Garrett auctions

EVERYTHING FROM ANTIQUES, including this six-foot pine church pew and crock, and art from framed prints like "The Gathering" to original pottery and watercolors, will be among 30 items up for auction at the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's "Black and White" Gala, June 22, at Wisp Resort's McHenry House. GLAF benefit committee member Pam Holloway, pictured, worked with nine other local women for the past several months to plan the fund raiser. Persons may call 387-6371 for tickets.

GCMH Emergency Room Prepares For Increased Summer Usage

The emergency room of Garrett County Memorial Hospital experiences a significant increase in patient visits during the summer months, and in order to handle this increased volume, the hospital administration is presently working furiously to recruit two more full-time emergency room physicians.

"For a while, patients coming into our emergency room may see some unfamiliar faces," stated Benjamin Rosenthal, hospital president, because while the recruitment process is taking place, the hospital has contracted with a few agencies to provide physician coverage for the emergency room on a locum tenens (fill-in) basis. "We ask our patients to be understanding and patient during our recruitment effort," he added.

Rosenthal said that one of the two positions that will be filled will replace Dr. John M. Thompson, who left the hospital's medical staff in April to pursue other interests.

Besides coverage being supplied by the locum tenens physicians, Rosenthal said that several members of the medical staff are also providing coverage when their schedules allow.

"As busy as our physicians are in their own private practice, they agreed to provide whatever coverage we need that cannot be provided through the locum tenens agencies," Rosenthal said. "Our medical staff is committed to the emergency medical needs of our community and will provide whatever is needed to assure the public that the emergency room will continue to be covered by a qualified physician on a 24-hour, seven-day per week basis."

Rosenthal also suggested that for non-emergent needs, patients can contact their family physician and make an appointment for an office visit. If their physician is not available, such as on weekends or evenings, another local option is for persons to go to the hospital's Deep Creek Lake Medical Center, located along U.S. Rt. 219 adjacent to Point View Inn. The center is open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

"I hope our recruitment effort will be short-term and successful," Rosenthal concluded.

Annual Banquet To Mark Society's 50th Anniversary

The annual banquet of the Garrett County Historical Society, slated for Thursday, June 27, at the Bittinger Community Building, will be a particularly special event this year because the Society is observing its 50th anniversary.

According to a Society spokesman, the banquet will be a time to give appropriate recognition to this milestone in the Society's history. There will be a special souvenir program for the banquet.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Beth Friend, curator of the Society's Garrett County Museum. A genealogist, Mrs. Friend has enlarged the reference desk at the museum and, through her efforts, the display area in the downstairs section of the museum has been changed and enlarged.

The museum is located along Center Street in Oakland.

The dinner part of the banquet and business meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. The menu will feature steak and the cost is $7.50 per person. Members and guests are reminded that reservations should be mailed to Mrs. Carl M. Cathell, Rt. 5, Box 30, Oakland, by June 15.

Trimmed County Budget Approved By 2-1 Vote Of Commissioners

Tax Rate Remains The Same

A trimmed budget was approved Tuesday by a 2-1 vote of the Board of Garrett County Commissioners. That same vote approved an identical tax levy to last year's levy of $2.24 (five cent fire tax included) for each $100 of assessable real estate.

Commissioners Brenda Butcher and Elwood Groves II voted their approval, while Commissioner John Braakey vehemently opposed the cuts and the tax rate.

The total budget for the county for FY'91-92 tallies $22,600,175, down from $24.9 million last year. The operating budget represents $20,735,175 of the total, while projected capital expenses total $1,865,000.

Most governmental departments are now facing cuts and even those that are not must live within the guidelines set down by the commissioners. Butcher and Groves contend that the cuts and the denial of higher budget requests were necessary "in such trying times of recession as well as being faced with limited sources of revenues."

They attributed much of the problem to state and federal deficits.

Exceptional Support Group Now Forming

A support group is being organized for local parents and family members of children and/or adults who have any disability, including physical, mental, learning, or medical. The first meeting of the group is set for Tuesday, June 18, at the Dennett Road School gymnasium, beginning at 6 p.m.

The purpose of the support group is to allow families to band together by sharing their experiences with others who face the same joys and trials, according to a spokesperson. The parents will also learn more about available services.

Other topics on the meeting's agenda include a discussion of how the county may better serve the disabled, the establishment of a crisis hot line, the organization of smaller support groups (according to disabilities), and general concerns of those present.

A supervised play area will be provided for handicapped and non-handicapped persons, available at no cost. Refreshments will also be served.

All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting. Further information may be obtained by contacting Elaine Upperman at 334-2405, or Babette Smith at 334-8119.

Weekend Mishaps Send Six To Area Hospitals

Six persons were injured and transported to area hospitals as the result of several accidents this past weekend, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police.

A Sunday single-vehicle accident resulted in a Frostburg man being injured and flown by HealthNet to Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va. Samuel Fheo Polce, 20, was admitted to the hospital and initially listed in fair condition, but has since been released, according to a hospital spokesman.

Police said Polce was driving a vehicle on U.S. Route 219, east of the Mayhew Inn Road, when he left the left side of the roadway and struck several trees.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney is continuing his investigation of the 6:30 a.m. mishap.

TWO TREATED

Two persons were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, Saturday as the result of a two-vehicle mishap on U.S. Route 219 at the Deli Plaza, McHenry.

A nursing spokesman at the hospital said Kim Meade, 36, Oakland; and Arthur Mastraieni, 17, Pittsburgh, Pa., were both treated for minor injuries at the local hospital.

State police said the accident occurred when Meade, operating a Mitsubishi vehicle, failed to reduce speed, and rear-ended a 1985 Ford LTD, operated by Mastraieni, which was stopped to make a left-hand turn into the Plaza

Teachers Announce "Work To Rule"; Issue Vote Of No Confidence In Board

The Garrett County Board of Education met Tuesday, and was told that teachers will begin a "work to rule" policy as of the beginning of the next school year in response to the board's recent offer of a one and a half percent raise to teachers and support personnel. The announcement was made by James Reley, president of the Garrett County Teachers' Association (GCTA) who then, on Wednesday, issued GCTA's governing board's unanimous vote of no confidence in the county's board and superintendent, Dr. Jerome Rysavage.

With a work to rule policy, teachers will no longer perform any duties beyond the seven and one half hours a day that they are contracted to work. The services that may no longer be offered include field trips, special meetings, clubs, dances, excellence programs, exhibits, and fairs.

The statement issued to the education board stated that until the board and the Garrett County Commissioners "recognize and address the inequities of teachers' salaries in Garrett County as compared to similar counties in Maryland, the teachers shall declare a 'work to rule' on voluntary activities commencing with the first day of school for the 1991-92 school year and continuing until such time as our elected officials answer the concerns and frustrations of the teachers of Garrett County."

The GCTA also presented an invoice to the board of education for $1,394,318.14. The figure was calculated by Local High School Seniors Graduate; Valedictorians, Salutatorians Named

Michael Stauffer
SHS Valedictorian

Mary Lynn Thomas
NHS Valedictorian

Heather Hamilton
SHS Salutatorian

Andrei Yelovich
NHS Salutatorian

Approximately 296 high school seniors received their diplomas Sunday at Northern and Southern High Schools. The two top of the class seniors from each school selected as valedictorian were Northern's Mary Lynn Thomas and Southern's Michael Stauffer. Salutatorians were Heather Hamilton, Southern, and Andrei Yelovich, Northern.

Michael Stauffer, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Stauffer, Oak Park, was a member of the National Honor Society, on the Acorn Newspaper staff, and a member of Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA). He has been named Student of the Month for both science and math, and has received the Bausch & Lomb science award.

Stauffer has also been named a U.S. Academy All-American Scholar, and was a National Merit finalist, and Distinguished Scholar finalist, and is in the Physics Hall of Fame at Southern. He was also a participant in the Allegany Community College math competition.

The valedictorian has received a President's Scholarship to Bridgewater College, where he will begin studies in the fall.

Mary Lynn Thomas, daughter of David and Carolyn Thomas, Accident, has been named Northern's Student of the Month, Student of the Year, and Outstanding Student of the Year. She also received the "I Dare You" award.

Miss Thomas was a member of the National Honor Society and was on the yearbook staff for four years. Two of those years she served as co-editor, and was editor in chief for the remaining two years. She received an editorial award, and the yearbook placed first in a judging contest.

The valedictorian plans to attend Frostburg State University, where she will major in accounting. She also plans to remain active in her religion and be involved in a worldwide volunteer bible educational program.

Heather Hamilton, Southern High salutatorian, is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Russell Hamilton, Loch Lynn. She has been named Student of the Month in science and social studies, and has received the U.S. Academy Award in French. She was a member of the first place 1991 World Affairs Institute team, and a member of the United Nations' mock trial team.

Miss Hamilton served this year as class vice-president, and was a member of the cross country and track teams. She also belonged to the French club.

The salutatorian was a Rotary exchange student in Belgium for her senior year, and the NASSP winner of the Principal's Leadership Award. She has won the Beneficial Hodson Scholarship to Hood College, where she will begin studies in the fall.

Andrei Yelovich, Northern's salutatorian, is the son of the Rev. Stephen F. and Mrs. Margaret Yelovich, Accident. He was a member of the band, and participated in the student council by serving as both junior and senior class president.

He was a member of the National Honor Society and was named Student of the Year, Outstanding Student, and was the winner of the "I Dare You" award. He also achieved the high honor roll.

Yelovich has received the Bausch & Lomb science award, the Woodmen of the World history award, and the Ray A. Kroc Outstanding Student Award.

The salutatorian will attend Wittenberg University next fall and will major in chemistry. His career goal

Bloodmobile Visit Set In Friendsville

The Johnstown Unit of the American Red Cross will sponsor a bloodmobile at the Friendsville Firehall on Friday, June 21, from noon to 6 p.m.

Donors are urged to attend the bloodmobile.

MAKING A STATEMENT recently were students and staff of Crellin Elementary School in response to the Garrett County Board of Education's considering the consolidation of several schools in the southern portion of the county. One option being explored would result in the closing of Bloomington, Kitzmiller, Loch Lynn, Red House, and Crellin schools, which has students, parents, and teachers greatly concerned. All students at Crellin School signed the banner, pictured above, and many of them are writing letters to the Board of Education and local media requesting that their school remain open.

W.Va. Man Found Guilty Of CDS Possession Charge

A Morgantown, W.Va. man was found guilty of possession of a controlled dangerous substance last week in Garrett County District Court proceedings. Lawrence T. Kiser III, 28, Morgantown, was found guilty of possession of marijuana and handed a 90-day jail term, all but 48 hours was suspended, fined $100, and placed on 12 months of supervised probation.

A second charge of possession of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted in a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office.

Charges had been brought against Kiser on March 17 by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department when Kiser was found stopped in his vehicle in the middle of the roadway with the lights on and the engine running. A search of the vehicle revealed a bag of marijuana and a small metal pipe with marijuana residue.

A WARM WELCOME was extended to PFC. Neil Savage, 21, who returned home recently from Saudi Arabia and Operation Desert Storm, by the Board of Garrett County Commissioners, Elwood Groves II, John G. Braakay, and Branda J. Butscher. Prior to the war, PFC. Savage was stationed in Bamberg, Germany with the 82nd Engineer Battalion. He was deployed to Saudi Arabia on December 3, 1990, and was in the first unit to leave Germany from VII Corps. He supported 2/2 ACR, marked and cleared minefields and Iraqi bunkers and equipment, and destroyed Iraqi equipment during the war. His unit left Saudi Arabia on April 27. Pfc. Savage is a 1988 graduate of Southern High School and joined the U.S. Army in October, 1989. He is the son of John and Cathy Savage, Oakland. He will return to Germany on June 26.

In another drug case, a guilty verdict against a Mtn.

Lake Park woman was changed to "probation before judgment" by Judge Turney last week.

Dana K. Stinson, 25, Mtn. Lake Park, had been found guilty of drug possession in court proceedings on March 19 and sentenced to 90 days in jail but 48 hours was suspended, fined $50, and placed on 12 months of supervised probation. She had also been found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol and or drugs and fined $500 on that count ($300 of the fine was suspended).

Stinson had been arrested on December 16 by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department. Two additional charges of possessing drug paraphernalia and possessing drug administering equipment were not prosecuted at that time in a plea agreement with the State's Attorney's Office.

Judge Timothy Finan from Allegany County District Court sat on the bench last week to hear the case of Sharon A. Porter, 43, Oakland, who had been charged with two counts of battery, one count of trespassing on private property, two counts of being disorderly on private property.

three counts of malicious destruction of property, and one count of breaking and entering.

Porter pleaded not guilty to all counts against her, but Finan found her guilty of both counts of battery and two counts of malicious destruction of property. She was found not guilty of the other charges against her.

In concurrent sentences, Porter was handed a 60-day suspended jail term, fined a total of $400, and placed on two years of supervised probation with the stipulation that she continue counseling. She was also ordered to pay restitution to Elisa Bernard in the amount of $89.56 and $300 restitution to Brenda Donham.

Charges against Porter were brought by Elisa Bernard, Randy Bernard, and Brenda Donham on March 17 after Porter allegedly broke her way into the home of Elisa Bernard's father's (Mike Madigan) home and began using profanity and striking and scratching Mr. and Mrs. Bernard. She then reportedly went outside and broke the mirrors on the vehicles of the Bernards and Donham.

Hospice Hawaiian Luau Rescheduled

Hospice of Garrett County, Inc. announced this week that the Hawaiian Luau date has been changed from June 21 to August 9 because of a conflict with the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival Gala Benefit.

The Hospice Hawaiian Luau will be held Friday, August 9, at the Silver Tree Inn Restaurant at Deep Creek Lake.

W.O.W. To Give Flags To Town

Lodge 11, Woodmen of the World, will present 50 flags to the town of Oakland during a brief ceremony this Friday, June 14, which is Flag Day. The event is slated for 5 p.m. and will be held at the Mountain Fresh building in the town parking lot.

Oakland Police Chief John Sines will present the flags to Oakland Mayor Asa McCain. Sines is the current president of Lodge 11 and McCain is the treasurer, as well as the youth leader for Lodge 112.

All Woodmen members, as well as the general public, are invited to the presentation.

Oakland Man Found Guilty Of Battery

Edward R. Friend, 30, Oakland, was found guilty of three counts of battery and one count of intimidating a witness in Garrett County Circuit Court last week, after pleading not guilty to the charges. Judge Fred A. Thayer presided at the trial.

After the guilty verdict was announced, Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation, revoked the defendant's bail, and remanded him to the custody of the Garrett County Sheriff pending sentencing.

Friend was also charged with two counts of child abuse, but the charges were not prosecuted, by order of the State's Attorney James Sherbin.

The charges stemmed from a December 22, 1990, incident at which time the defendant reportedly came home late, and when asked where he had been, began throwing things in anger. He apparently struck a crib where a nine-month-old male was sleeping, and also picked up a 2-year-old male and threw him down on a bed, causing the child to strike the wall.

He also battered Gloria Friend during the altercation, and apparently threatened to kill the children and Ms. Friend if the police were notified.

In February, Friend allegedly threatened Ms. Friend again when she prepared to testify in court against him. He was then charged with intimidating/threatening a witness.

The defendant waived his right to counsel, according to the court document.

In other circuit court news, two women faced Thayer last week on charges of distribution of a controlled dangerous substance. Charlotte L. Fishel, 29, and Kathy L. Hartman, 33, both of Kitzmiller, both pleaded guilty to the charge. The judge accepted the plea and ordered pre-sentence investigations on both women. Bail was revoked for the defendants, and they will remain in the custody of the sheriff until sentencing.

The charge stemmed from the results of a search and seizure of the women's home, which was carried out on January 31 by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

The task force had received a tip that the two women may have been distributing illegal substances from their Kitzmiller home, and then the officers used an informant to purchase marijuana from the defendants, which led to the issuance of the search warrant.

During the search and seizure of the home, police officers found numerous controlled dangerous substance (CDS) items, including marijuana seeds, pipes, and weighed baggies of marijuana, and a small container of cocaine.

At the time of the arrest, both Fishel and Hartman were also charged with possession with intent to distribute, possession of marijuana, possession of cocaine, and possession of drug paraphernalia, all of which were not prosecuted after a plea agreement.

SEWERAGE FACILITY DEDICATED - A ribbon-cutting ceremony took place Tuesday at Deep Creek Lake to dedicate a new sewer storage facility that was constructed via a joint project between the Garrett County Sanitary Commission and private business. The $1.2 million facility, located near the intersection of Glendale Road and U.S. Rt. 219, was financed by the Commission and Alpine Village, Inc. It is capable of handling up to 1,000 new hook-ups and can store sewage for up to three days so the treatment plant will not be overloaded during peak use times during the summer months. Pictured above, left to right, front row, are: Phil Davidson, vice chairman, Sanitary Commission; Ray Shulte, Celeste Laacaria, and Elaine McDonald, of Alpine Village; Lawrence Groves, secretary/treasurer, Sanitary Commission; Commission Administrator Wendell Beitzel; and Jeff Gilbert, Commission engineer. In the second row, same order, are: J. Alan Young, of the Farmers Home Administration; Paul Durham, Deep Creek Lake manager; Donna Paugh, also of the lake management office; Dorothy Leuba, chairman, Sanitary Commission; Ray H. Lapp, R.H. Lapp and Sons; and Frank Mace, of Carl Belt, Inc. Beitzel said that construction of this facility eliminated the need for major renovation of the Deep Creek Lake sewer system.

The defendants were represented by Robert C. Hesson.

In a separate drug case, Linda C. Butler, 28, Deer Park, was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail for the merged charges of manufacturing a CDS, possession with intent to distribute, and possession of marijuana. She was also fined $100 plus court costs for the charge of possession of CDS paraphernalia.

Butler was found guilty of these violations in an April hearing. The charges stemmed from the result of a search and seizure warrant carried out at the defendant's Deer Park home, also occupied by James L. Nicholas, on October 6, 1990. Numerous items of CDS paraphernalia were confiscated at the time of the search.

Defense counsel for Butler was Robert C. Hesson.

Deer Park Man Charged With Fleeing, Eluding

Robert H. Mayle, 22, Deer Park, was charged with several violations after he reportedly attempted to elude an officer of the law on June 6. Garrett County Sheriff Deputy J. Murphy observed the defendant fail to stop at a stop sign at Pysell Crosscut Road and Old Route 38, and when the officer attempted to stop him, Mayle increased his speed.

The officer chased the defendant through Pysell Crosscut, King Road, and finally effected the arrest on Old Route 38 in Deer Park. Upon examination of the defendant, Murphy discovered a small pipe with possible marijuana residue, and the officer also detected the odor of alcohol on Mayle.

The accused was charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI), possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and CDS paraphernalia, and fleeing and eluding a police officer. Mayle posted a $500 bond.

In other Sheriff's Office news, Jerry L. Paugh, 27, Swanton, was arrested on the strength of a warrant after an incident on Sunday.

Paugh was charged with two counts of battery against Twylla S. Paugh and three children. He was also charged with two counts of reckless endangerment after he drove his truck at a high rate of speed while Ms. Paugh and the children were in the vehicle. After responding to the scene, Deputy J. Stoner charged Paugh with DWI as well.

The defendant was later released on his own recognizance, according to the police report.

John J. Hovater, 31, Swanton, was recently ar-

Michael Vitez Memorial Scholarships Donated To GCC By Vitez Family

MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP DONATED -- Dr. Stephen J. Herman, president of Garrett Community College, left, accepted with gratitude recently memorial scholarships from the Vitez family in the name of the late Michael V. Vitez, Michael's parents, Phyllis and Vaughn Vitez, shown with Dr. Herman, along with Michael's aunt and uncle, Patricia and Carroll Vitez, donated two $5,000 memorial scholarships to the college. The two scholarships are being matched two to one by the Panhandle Eastern Corporation which employs Vaughn and Carroll Vitez. The Vitez family is hopeful that their gifts will help other Garrett County students achieve a higher education.

by Dr. Stephen J. Herman
The families of Phyllis and Vaughn Vitez and Patricia and Carroll Vitez have donated two $5,000 memorial scholarships to Garrett Community College in the name of Michael V. Vitez. Phyllis and Vaughn Vitez are Michael's parents, and Patricia and Carroll Vitez are his aunt and uncle.

The two scholarships are being matched on a two to one basis by the Panhandle Eastern Corporation, which has employed both Vaughn and Carroll Vitez for many years. In turn, the State of Maryland will match the donations resulting in a gift totaling $60,000 in endowed scholarship funds.

Both scholarships are named for Michael Vitez, who was born, reared, and lived through his twelfth birthday in Garrett County. Michael was a good student at Northern Middle School, participated in the Gifted and Talented program, and showed special interest and ability in math and science.

Michael planned to attend college and wanted to enlist in the U.S. Navy someday to become a fighter pilot. He had joined the Sea Cadets in Cumberland, a naval program for boys and girls, and had earned the rank of E-2.

Michael also belonged to the Zion Lutheran Church in Accident where he sang in the choir. He loved downhill skiing and was a member of the Garrett County Ski Club. Michael also played baseball with the Central Garrett Baseball League.

The Vitez family is providing scholarships in Michael's memory as a way of expressing their gratitude for the friendship and support of friends and neighbors. They are hopeful that their gift will help other Garrett County youngsters achieve a higher education.

The scholarship donated by the Phyllis and Vaughn Vitez family is to be awarded annually to selected Northern High School seniors who graduate in the top 20 percent of their class and who participate actively in extracurricular activities.

The scholarship donated by Patricia and Carroll Vitez will be awarded annually to selected graduates of any high school who have been members of the Sea Cadets for at least one year and have attained a rank of E-2. Participation in extracurricular activities is also considered.

GCC will name its physics lab after Michael V. Vitez as a lasting memory of his enthusiasm for learning and the sciences.

The Vitez family has its roots in Garrett County. Phyllis and Vaughn live in McHenry with their daughter, Dianna, and Patricia and Carroll live in Uniontown, Pa.

rested on charges of battery and malicious destruction of property. Hovater reportedly battered Karen J. Hovater at a private residence on June 2.

Randy E. Burns, 22, Mountain Lake Park, was arrested on the strength of a warrant after he allegedly assaulted Melissa Burns, 18, on June 9. Ms. Burns was treated at Garrett County Memorial Hospital for injuries received and was later released, according to the report.

Steven L. Stewart, 40, Terra Alta, W.Va., was arrested on the strength of two warrants issued from Garrett County District Court. His charges stem from uttering approximately seven bad checks, according to the police log.

Jack A. Kight, 44, Mountain Lake Park, was arrested on the strength of two bench warrants recently for failure to appear in court. The bench warrants were issued by district court.

Nancy L. Reams, 34, Loch Lynn, was served a bench warrant on June 3 for failure to appear in Allegany District Court.

Brett R. Glatfelter, 18, Oakland, was stopped by Dep. J. Green after he reportedly failed to stop at a stop sign on Oakland Avenue and Weber Road on Saturday at 8 p.m.

While interviewing the defendant, the officer reportedly detected a slight odor of alcohol. He then arrested Glatfelter for violation of an alcohol restriction.

DRUMMERS, GUARD RECEIVE SUPERIOR RATING -- The Southern Garrett High School winter guard, above, and percussion ensemble, below, both received "superior" ratings in competitions held during the recent Strawberry Festival in Buckhannon, W.Va. The winter guard "wowed" the crowd with their high-energy show, and placed first with a perfect score of 100 points, a score never before achieved by the school's guard, according to Blair Glass, guard instructor. The percussionists also put on an impressive show, and captured second place with a superior rating. See story. The winter guard members, seated left to right, are Kim Wampler, Sheri Nelson, Melanie Ellis, Malyna Swyter (asst. rifle capt.), Lisa Murray (rifle captain), Dawn Scheffel, Jennifer Reeves, Sherry Jordan, and Laura Ball. Standing, same order, are Tiffany Powers, Allison Winters, Jenny Peck, Cathy Burnett, Vickie Karlstrand (capt.), Tami Carter (asst. silk capt.), Tara Wolfe, Janice Nugent, and Ruth Evans. The percussion ensemble members, left to right, are Becky Slagle, Barbie Nelson, Maria Masal, Heather Prince, Gregg Reams, Jason Barr, LeRoy Virts, John Wright, Ben Reeves (capt.), Andy Bigler, Jason Nice, Michelle Liller, Dawn Scheffel, Erin Dabney, Kim Wampler, Tiffany Teper, and Jamie Reams.

lottesville, told police that sometime between April 21 and June 1, a person or persons entered his summer home, located on Oakland-Sang Run Road, and removed various items, including several sweaters, pants, a jewelry box, leather knapsack, coats, a tool box, whiskey, brandy, vodka, and a jacket.

The total loss in the theft has been estimated at $1,190, according to the report. Police could find no sign of forced entry, although there was some evidence that someone had tried to pry open the door.

An investigation is continuing into the theft.

GC Charter Board To Meet June 17

The Garrett County Charter Board will hold its next meeting on Monday, June 17. The meeting will take place in Room 315 of the Continuing Education Building at Garrett Community College, from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The charter board meeting is open to the public, and all interested persons are invited to attend.

The weekend was fast-paced, according to Richard Clever, band director. The band first participated in the concert band competition and then the stage band contest, placing fourth in both.

The parade took place on Friday, and the band placed fifth in their division, and received an "excellent" rating. The percussion ensemble competition followed, and the drum line received a "superior" rating, and captured

Southern Band Performs Well At Festival

The Southern Garrett Marching Band recently participated in the annual Strawberry Festival, held in Buckhannon, W.Va., from May 30 through June 2. The members competed in several competitions, including field show, concert band, stage band, parade, winter guard, and percussion ensemble. The highest score achieved by the group came in the winter guard category, where the members won first place with an unprecedented score of 100 points.

The weekend was fast-paced, according to Richard Clever, band director. The band first participated in the concert band competition and then the stage band contest, placing fourth in both.

The parade took place on Friday, and the band placed fifth in their division, and received an "excellent" rating. The percussion ensemble competition followed, and the drum line received a "superior" rating, and captured the second place trophy. The percussionists performed a drum solo from "Oh, Magnify the Lord" and a cadence entitled "Crab."

The winter guard competition was next, and the Southern Garrett guard took first place with a perfect score of 100 points. The group competed against seven other guards, one having traveled from California. The guard members were given a standing ovation at the close of their show, and each member received a championship medal.

The winter guard's high-energy, fast-paced show is performed on a gymnasium floor to the music of John Taylor, David Lee Roth, and Frankie Goes To Hollywood, according to a spokesperson.

Praise and Criticism...

For the past several weeks, the pages of The Republican have been filled with stories of the accomplishments of our local young people, particularly their outstanding academic achievements as they complete another year of studies at one of the many levels of education. Last week we offered advice to these students and their parents, this week we want to praise them, and others, for their efforts.

So many of the stories to which we have referred tell us not just of the earning of a diploma for satisfactorily completing the requirements for a degree, but the earning of a diploma that has been "decorated" with a variety of honors for exemplary work. Our young people are not just graduating, they are graduating at or near the top of their class. They are being singled out, from among students from all over the country in some cases, for their extra special, superior performance. They are being awarded scholarships and certificates and plaques and trophies for being the cream of the crop in their respective courses of study.

We believe this says a lot about the quality of education and the quality of parenting that exists in Garrett County. Our high school graduates who choose to go on to a higher level of education are obviously well prepared to do so. Through the efforts of our teachers, primarily, they are receiving a sound education in the public school system, which enables them to enter college and already be a few steps ahead of their peers from other areas.

A good educational foundation is only part of what is necessary for success in college, self-confidence, dependability, a sense of responsibility, and good values are among other essential ingredients, all of which must originate in the home environment. We seem to have a lot of parents who are doing a good job in providing and instilling these qualities in their children.

We hope that the major budgetary crisis involving county government and the board of education is ultimately resolved in such a way that the high quality of education presently afforded our young people does not suffer. We are totally unimpressed with the board of county commissioners' 1991-92 budget and their "holding the line on spending," which at least two of the three commissioners feel is some kind of a victory. We consider it a gutless step backward.

We believe radical changes are needed in our county commissioners' office, in the lay board and administrative offices of our board of education, and possibly in our whole method of financing our education system.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to keep Crellin School because it is like a second home to me. All of the students are like my brothers and sisters. If the school would get torn down, it would seem like I wouldn't have any home or family.

Bobby Canan
P.S. Please don't tear the school down.

To the Editor:

I believe that Crellin School should be saved because it is in good shape and it isn't falling down. It has good teachers working in it. You get more attention in a little school than a big school.

You can make better friends in a little school than a big school. The government doesn't have enough money to make a bigger school.

Andy Zimmerman

To the Editor:

As requested by Northern High School Principal Mildred Wucik, The Republican assigned a free lance photographer, me, to cover Sunday's graduation. I am deaf, so, as usual when photographing a group, I asked the person responsible, Miss Wucik, to list the students' names as I posed them.

She was recording these names when she suddenly and angrily asked, or perhaps more accurately, demanded to know why I didn't bring the finished pictures back to her for the identifications (rather than complete the assignment in one trip).

Because photojournalists do not usually line up to work on weekends, news coverage on a Sunday is often more of a privilege than a right for groups or organizations, and the abruptly abusive manner of someone who had requested and was afforded such coverage, bewildered and embarrassed me. Astonished further that the answer to Miss Wucik's question was not self-evident to a professional administrator, I could only think to mumble something about efficiency.

Since it was publicly implied before onlooking students, families and teachers that I was somehow in the wrong, I felt that a letter to the editor was warranted to explain, equally openly, exactly why I did not expect to "bring the pictures back" for identifications.

Very simply, making a second trip, from my Grantsville dark room to Northern with the finished photographs, would have automatically doubled the newspaper's expenses for mileage and travel time alone for that particular assignment, as well as detracted from time that could be spent on another assignment, and merely because it was not convenient to record the names while I was still at the graduation. Obviously, for a newspaper, as with any business that hopes to survive, the bottom line is the dollar sign.

Of the students I photographed Sunday, I know some personally, having photographed them previously. I especially wish for them and their families to understand clearly my response to the issue raised.

Craig Speicher

To the Editor:

I have been reading your paper for a long time now. I enjoy hearing different viewpoints but lately all I ever hear about is teachers wanting a raise and that they are working so hard. Well I have been in the classrooms many times and I can say the ones who should get paid are the PARENTS, because they do the work the teachers are so called "being paid to do." All we hear about is tutoring your child at home to get them ready for school, well some learning at home is okay for 5 year olds. If they keep yelling for money for teachers and books and such, why are they wanting the parents to teach their kids everything when it's the teachers' job? Why doesn't the Board of Education just pay the parents for teaching their kids because the teachers don't do the job. The teachers should just stay at home then maybe the kids can finally learn something. No, I don't think the teachers are worth a raise. They don't even deserve what they are getting now. There may be a lot of people that don't agree with this but I am stating how I feel.

Shirley Michaels,
Friendsville, MD
Editor's note: We took it upon ourselves to correct 12 errors in grammar and spelling in the above letter before publishing it. Others we left intact.

To the Editor:

Last evening I had occasion to drive along Bear Creek after dark. To my astonishment I encountered clouds not swarms of flying insects for about five miles. It was then that it hit me - what has happened to our smaller songbirds and the exotic flashes of darting light along the fence rows?

Has anyone seen a Golden Finch? A red-winged Blackbird? The larger birds seem present, but the exotic are not. Our Bluebird houses are occupied by other species for the first time. Are you, like us, getting by with feeding just one Hummingbird where there used to be four or five? Did anyone get any Black Walnuts last season? What is happening?

Could it be that once again we've acted in blind ignorance by totally accepting the assurances of our government "experts" that the quick fix of gypsy moth spraying would have no other malignant consequences? When do you think that we will learn to respect the balanced aspects of nature instead of relying on chemical terrorism of our local ecosystem?

It appears that if modern science doesn't soon stop "saving" us, there won't be much left worth saving.

Teachers

"The Garrett County Board of Education and the superintendent have lost sight of the real needs of our educational system," Raley said. "It is with regret that the teachers have issued this statement of concern for public education in our county. We call upon all responsible parties to intervene in order to bring more accountability and a sense of responsibility on the part of the board and superintendent toward the tax-paying public, the children, parents, and public school employees."

In response to the work to rule policy, Rysavage stated that he could see both sides of the issue.

"On the one hand, the policy is going to most certainly cause problems for the board, for me, and for the administrators. But on the other hand, perhaps this is the kind of action it will take for the fiscal authority and the community to see that the education system is severely lacking in funds," he said.

Mikal Moomau, board member, questioned several teachers at the meeting if working to rule would interfere with various programs instituted by the education board, such as athletic, band, and foreign language programs. Raley explained that any contracted work would still be completed, and that the action only concerns

LWV TO HOLD YARD, BAKE SALE

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County will hold a yard and bake sale on Friday and Saturday, June 22, 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at 309 Oakland Drive, near Par-Matt Lanes. The League will accept items such as small appliances in working order, clean household goods in good condition, clean clothing (especially children's), and/or any baked goods from anyone who wishes to donate such.

For more information or to drop off items, contact Barbara Flinn (334-3228) or Donna Aspinall (334-1804), or deliver items to the League office, 202 E. Alder Street, Oakland.

This event is being held as a summer fund-raiser and will take place, rain or shine.

voluntary activities now performed by teachers.

Also in attendance at the meeting was Joe Heatherman, president of the Garrett County Federation of Teachers (GCFT). Heatherman stated that the members of the federation, which represents teachers, head custodians, and cafeteria managers, are "upset and see this (one and one half percent raise) as an insult. We, like most Garrett County citizens, pay taxes to insure that education continues to be both positive and rewarding. Now we are asked to build the buildings in which we work, with most of our six percent raise agreement.

Our increase is going right up the smokestack of Southern High School because of politics, poor timing, lack of communication, and changes in the state funding formula.

"How can the board of education offer a three percent salary increase, agree to and ratify a six percent increase, and then be unable to fund the original three percent package?" Heatherman concluded.

Further information on the meeting of the board of education will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

County Budget

Continued from Page A-3 County," said Braskey. "I'm very concerned that the Roads Department will have to cut necessary maintenance; that cuts in the Sheriff's Department will affect police protection; that the State's Attorney's Office needs additional personnel to do its job more efficiently, that the Promotion Council is facing cuts when all we talk about is promoting Garrett County. I just feel we're damaging the basic services of the county."

He continued, "I'm not overly optimistic about the overall economic picture. I think we'll be facing even more cuts in the next six months. We cannot continue to fund capital projects without bonding or alternative financing."

When asked about affordability of the tax rate to county citizens, Groves stated, "We are facing a recession and a state economic shortfall. We were confronted with the situation of reducing line items in the budget or increasing taxes."

This is not the time to increase taxes when we're already feeling the squeeze of a recession. We could not consider raising the tax rate."

Commissioner Butscher responded, "I personally wanted to lower it (tax rate). I look at all the unemployed people and people having a rough time of it and I can't imagine raising taxes. I still feel there's a lot of fat in the budget."

Braskey stated, "When I consider affordability for the citizens, I look at services—police protection, maintenance of the roads, education. Some say I'm committing political suicide. Commissioner Butscher says there is fat in the budget, but I don't see that."

He continued, "This is the first budget I haven't voted for since I've been in office. With what I feel we're facing, I just couldn't."

When asked how she could justify cutting the budget with so many needs expressed by various departments, Butscher responded, "We had to cut the budget. We faced taxpayers at a public meeting last week and they were all in favor of the budget cuts."

Groves added, "We unfortunately had more needs and wants than what funds would allow. You have to look at the budget in the context of the financial position we're in. We just had to re-prioritize and tighten our belts just like the citizens are doing. It is appropriate for the government to do the same as the citizens."

When asked about a re-acton from the Board of Education about not funding its budget request, Butscher responded, "We received a resolution, but no one came to the public meeting last week from the Board of Education. They had a chance to voice opinions there, but chose not to. Quite frankly, I wanted to cut the Education Board's request 15%, rather than 14%."

The commissioners were asked about accountability within departments which they wholly or partially fund. "They have to do as they see fit within their own departments," said Groves.

Commissioner Butscher added, "For one thing, a member of the board of commissioners will now sit on the Board of Education to better see how their money is spent."

Regarding categorical restrictions in departmental budgets, Groves stated, "There's not much point in categorical restrictions."

Butscher said that no jobs would be affected by the budget cuts. Groves was more cautious in stating, "Not at this time."

Groves concluded, "No services will be cut. I don't like this gloom and doom picture. I think the economy will pick up. The basic services are in place."

At the conclusion of the public announcement of the budget Tuesday, two citizens expressed concerns to the commissioners.

John Hinebaugh questioned the term "other financial sources" used in the budget and questioned why there was no expenditure information available from each department to find out where overruns occurred last year. He also questioned why figures on various documents don't correspond from one to the other.

County Administrator Robert Fousek said that beginning July 1 there was no reason the commissioner's office couldn't provide expenditure information from each county department funded by the commissioners.

Donald Browning then questioned why the commissioners had awarded Browning's Quarry the bid for crusher run and then purchased it for a higher price from another company. He stated that one company the roads department was using offered to sell his product to Browning's so they could "both make money off the county."

Groves said he would look into the matter and schedule another meeting with Browning. He did note that the county buys stone from three locations and that it is customary to purchase stone from the company closest to the roads project being completed at the time.

An overall view of the budget shows a decrease of $8,725 in General Government's budget. The decrease reflects many cuts in operating expenses of county offices, with only slight salary increases. Offices seeing salary increases include Commissioners, Circuit Court, Treasurer's Office, planning and Zoning, and General Services. Line item salaries for Orphans' Court, State's Attorney, Jury and Witness, and Civil Service Commission will remain the same. Offices experiencing line item salary cuts include Election Board and Legal Counsel.

The Promotion Council is experiencing a $40,000 cut while the Area Agency on Aging (via a previous agreement) will enjoy a $21,000 increase.

While sheriff and deputy's salaries show a slight increase, expenses have been cut. A $1,500 offering to the County Drug Task Force last year has been completely eliminated this year.

Through a special tax, levy, fire departments will receive an $18,100 increase and a special revenue allocation to rescue squads shows a $7,200 increase.

Line item salaries are slightly up at the county jail, while they are down for animal control and emergency management. Operating expenses for all those departments are down.

Operating expenses for the Sanitary Commission are down $2,000, while contracted services for solid

Ronald Chiles To Direct Concert By Sea Chanters

Master Chief Musician Ronald M. Chiles of Osceola, Arkansas, is chorus director for the U.S. Navy Sea Chanters, who will present a free concert on the Garrett Community College lawn June 23 at 7 p.m. The concert will open the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival fifth summer season of family entertainment at the McHenry campus.

Chiles, who is also the band's piano accompanist and soloist, attended the University of Arkansas where he studied piano with William Gant. As a junior, he won the Francis Tovey Award, given each year to the most outstanding junior or senior pianist. Following graduation, he enlisted in the Navy and became instructor and head of the rhythm/vocal department at the Armed Forces School of Music in Norfolk, Va.

In 1976, Chiles was assigned to the Navy Band in Washington, D.C., as piano soloist. Since that time, he has been featured with the Boston Pops Orchestra in several performances, and has performed with Urbie Green, Pete Christlieb, Grover Washington, and Sammy Davis Jr. He has also received a master's degree in music from the Catholic University in Washington.

He now directs the Sea Chanters, an 18-voice chorus that performs a variety of music, ranging from the traditional sea chanteys to pop and jazz favorites and Broadway musicals. The group performs frequently at the White House and at various ceremonial events in the nation's capital. They have also performed at the Kennedy Center the Boston Esplanade, and on a recent nationally televised NBC special, "From the Heart."

Persons attending the Sea Chanters concert June 23 should bring lawn chairs or blankets. In the event of rain, the concert will be held in the college gymnasium. Hot dogs and other refreshments will be sold at the concert.

The Sea Chanters concert is being sponsored by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

ROTARY SUPPORTS PROGRAM -- The newly formed Garrett County Branch of Big Brothers Big Sisters was the recipient of a $185 donation from the Oakland Rotary Club recently. The funds were raised from proceeds of the annual Memorial Day Yard Sale held that holiday weekend by members of the Oakland Rotary Club. Dan Salib, coordinator of the Garrett County Branch, pictured center, accepted the check at the June 6 meeting of the Rotary Club. The check was presented by Robert Uilino, committee chairman, right, and Russell Sines, left, incoming president of the Rotary. Salib also gave a presentation to the club on the services provided by Big Brothers Big Sisters. The Garrett County Branch is still seeking both adult volunteers (Bigs) and children (Littles) for its program. Anyone seeking information on the services provided by Big Brothers Big Sisters can call 334-3591.

Accident Scouts Participate In Spring Fellowship

Several members of Troop 82, Accident, recently participated in the Spring Fellowship Weekend for the Order of the Arrow at Camp Potomac. Participating were Jason Reed, Lee Collins, and Mike Reed. The Order of the Arrow is a national brotherhood of Scout campers. This honor is bestowed on a Scout by the members of his troop when the Scout has proved himself worthy of receiving it. He must be an "outstanding Scout and an unselfish camper."

A troop spokesman said Lee Collins had exhibited all of these characteristics, and was chosen by this troop to be initiated into the Order of the Arrow. The initiation was held at the Spring Fellowship.

During the weekend, Jason Reed, an ordeal member, was selected treasurer for the Lodge. He will be participating in all Executive Board meetings.

Jason and Lee will also be attending Camp Potomac this summer working as staff members.

Local Student Earns Degree At Earlham College

Chloe Learey, daughter of Frederick Learey, Oakland, was awarded the bachelor of arts degree from Earlham College during Commencement Ceremonies on Sunday, June 9.

Learey, who graduated with a major in English, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and received college and department honors. She was winner of the Anna Eaves Scholarship Award in 1990 and received the Ruby Davis Award in 1991.

Earlham College was founded by the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers) in 1847. The College offers 29 majors in the sciences, humanities, and social science. More than 60 percent of its graduates pursue post-graduate study.

Kolb Brothers Receive Degrees

Darl G. Kolb and Glen C. Kolb, son of H. Gurney and Lois V. Kolb, Accident, both recently received degrees at separate universities.

Darl received a Ph.D. in human ecology at Cornell University in May. He is currently teaching summer courses and doing consultant work at Cornell. He and his wife, Joline, live in Freeville, N.Y.

Glen earned his B.S. degree in accounting from Salisbury State University in December. He is employed at Roland Dashiell Contractors in Salisbury. He and his wife, Lori, reside in Delmar.

A MYRIAD OF ART WORKS, including ceramics and original watercolors and special items like a Gardner table and gourmet dinner for eight will be auctioned to the highest bidder at the June 22 Garrett Lakes Arts Festival's Gala Benefit, beginning at 6:30 p.m. at Wisp Resort's McHenry House. Persons may call 387-6371 for tickets.

EMT Training To Be Offered

The Region I Emergency Medical Services Office has announced that a special continuing education course will be offered June 23 at the LaVale Rescue Squad. The instructors for the programs will be Walter and Diane May and the course will be opened to all EMTs in the region.

The programs will begin at 8 a.m. and provide four hours of medical continuing education, four hours of trauma continuing education, and two hours of local option continuing education. "This is an excellent opportunity for all EMTs, who need to recertify by June 30th, to obtain needed continuing education hours," stated Dave Ramsey, MIEMSS Region I director.

Individuals interested in attending should contact the LaVale Rescue Squad in the evenings by calling 729-4458.

For additional information, persons may call the MIEMSS Region I Office at 895-5934 or 746-8636.

Area Christian Women's Club To Meet June 19

"Cool Cuts" will be the topic at the Wednesday, June 19, meeting of the Area Christian Women's Club to be held at Will O' the Wisp from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

A special program will be presented by Carol Slawson from Hair Chambers who will do a hair-cutting demonstration.

The guest speaker for the luncheon meeting will be Janet Hetrick, Butler, Pa., who is an emergency room nurse and is married to an elementary school teacher.

Music will be provided by Jamie Barnard. The cost of the luncheon is $6.50 and reservations must be made before June 17 by calling Mary at 334-1316. All area women are invited to attend.

School Offices To Remain Open During Summer

The administrative offices of Northern and Southern Middle Schools, Northern and Southern High Schools, Broad Ford Elementary School, and Dennett Road Elementary School will be open from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. from Monday, June 17, through Friday, August 23.

The summer hours will provide students and parents the opportunity to discuss school concerns, if necessary, according to a spokesperson.

The Garrett County Board of Education central office will be open during the same period of time from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

"Amazon Adventure" Is Theme For VBS At Pleasant View

The "Amazon Adventure" is the theme for the Vacation Bible School at Pleasant View Baptist waste are up $50,000.

Public works, which covers roads department, was hard hit with a nearly $1.5 million cut. Similarly, the Health Department is taking a $50,000 cut.

The Garrett County Board of Education, although far below its request, did receive an additional $123,300 this year. Garrett Community College will receive $21,000 more in county funding this year.

Culture and recreation will have to rely more heavily on private contributions this year as the Historical Society was cut from $2,500 to $1,500 and Ruth Enlow Library operating expenses were cut by $24,600.

The local share of the agricultural extension service was cut $8,000 and operating expenses for the Soil Conservation Service were also cut $8,000. Gypsy moth suppression was cut by $200,000.

Economic development salaries saw a slight increase, while operating expenses were decreased. Community Action programs also saw a slight decrease.

Capital expenditures were cut sharply from $2,423,000 to $1,865,000.

A more detailed breakdown of the county budget will appear in next week's legal section of The Republican along with a percentage chart.

WOW PRESENTS FLAG — The local organization of the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society presented a flag recently to the residents of Meadow Woods East, Mt. Lake Park. Accepting the flag from John Criss, a 50-year member of the Woodmen, was Anne Conner, resident manager of Meadow Woods. After the flag was raised, those present recited the Pledge of Allegiance. Pictured are, left to right, front row, Helen Bowers, Hulda White, Elizabeth Watkins, Anne Conner, John Criss, Ellen Turney, Bonnie Mahaffey, and Herbert Turney; and second row, same order, Ruth Ann Cooper, Paul Rice, Steve Cowgill, Josephine Herod, Emma Schmidt, and Edna Macatee.

Oakland Civic Club Convenes, Plans For 80th

At the recent general meeting of the Civic Club of Oakland, new members, D. J. McIntyre, Jean Grant, and Marie Helbig, were introduced, and Mary Pollock was welcomed back.

Betty Malloy, second vice president, introduced James Harvey, vice president of planning and development at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Harvey thanked the group for VIVA (Volunteers In Various Areas) and the help being offered the hospital and its patients, and how much it is appreciated. He also requested the group to consider helping with a telephone survey.

The Civic Club voted to adopt VIVA as a special project to offer help to the hospital, its employees, and more particularly, the patients and their families.

First vice president, Betty Moran, introduced Dottie Morns, who presented a program of "Show and Tell." The program was aimed at getting members more acquainted with each other and know more of each others interests.

A report on the Annual Western District meeting, held at LaVale, May 8, where Civic Club of Oakland was recognized for some of its accomplishments, was given. The club's awards were: first place prize, Arts Dept./Music and Dance Division; first place, Legislation; second place, Education Dept./Leadership; second place, Conservation Dept./Environmental Education; and an honorable mention, Home Life Dept./Economics Division. The next District meeting will be October 8, 1991, in Cumberland.

Committee reports were given by Faye Dennison on crafts. Their June 4 meeting was held at Helen Wagner's home, and the drawing for an afghan made and donated by Erika Capelle will be held in July.

Bobbi Anderson, chairperson of Conservation Committee, requested members to collect plastic bags for recycling, and the recycling stations will soon be in place. Some are now accepting items in large white bins. They will take cans, aluminum, steel, newspapers, and green and white glass.

The Long-Term Care Committee will meet with Martha Jackowski, chairperson, June 14, 10 a.m., at Ruth Enlow Library.

Sue Riley reported the next field trip would be to the theatre at Jennerstown.

Bobbi Anderson is working with the Drug and Alcohol Abuse Council to produce a directory of community services.

Marin Day, past president, installed officers Peggy Thomas as secretary and Bobbi Anderson as treasurer for the up-coming year. Anne Grant and Bobbi Anderson were thanked for their two years service as treasurer and secretary.

The club's next meeting on June 25 will be in recognition of the Civic Club of Oakland's 80th birthday. Bobbi Anderson is arranging another skit that will focus on the history of the club. June is Membership Month and members are asked to bring in a new member.

THE 4TH ANNUAL McHENRY HIGHLAND FESTIVAL held Saturday, June 1, 1991 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry was a great success with approximately 1,330 attendees. Field activities included pipe band performances and massed bands with the Garrett Community College Pipes and Drums and the West Virginia Highlanders of Davis-Elkins College, sheepdog demonstrations, Scottish Military Heritage Society encampment and drill. Indoor activities included workshops on bagpipe, harp, and storytelling; local Scottish migration history, sheephaaring and a highland cattle display. The Rev. Lynn Beckman of Swanton, served as field commander and master of ceremonies. Solo piping competitions were judged by Joyce McIntosh. Debbie Willis of Greensburg, Pa., was the winner of the Piper of the Day McHenry Cup award. Open athletic competitions were also held and Don Ross of Fredericksburg, Va., was awarded the Athlete of the Day Cup. First place winners of the new Kilted Mile Race were Dan Robertson, Seniors; Uli Kroner, Youth; and Mike Shuey, Juniors. A total of 26 Scottish clans and 13 vendors also participated. A ceilidh was held at the Wisp Ski Resort following the festival and a Kirkin' O' the Tartans was conducted at St. John's Episcopal Church at Deer Park the following morning, with the Rev. Margaret A. Custer officiating. This festival was sponsored by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, and the ceilidh was sponsored by Wisp Ski Resort. The festival was funded in part by grants from the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland Humanities Council. Pictured above are two gentlemen from the Military Heritage Society encampment and drill. Below is a lady also from the encampment, who is demonstrating the spinning of wool.

A daughter was born June 11 to Christopher Earl and Kimberly Dawn Ketterman Conard, Mt. Storm, W. Va. Admissions were listed at 64 with 58 discharges. This morning's census shows 52 patients.

Homemakers Meet In Deer Park

The Deer Park Homemakers' meeting was held Tuesday at the Deer Park fire hall. President Nina Callie read the scripture.

There were 16 members and one guest, Wilma McCrobie, of Georgia, present. She is visiting her sister, Lena Shahan.

The demonstration, "Garrett County Recycling Program," was led by Leona DeWitt. Literature was distributed to each member with information on how and where to recycle different kinds of hazardous products from the home.

Gift of the month was won by Nina Callie.

Hostess for this month were Leona DeWitt and Betty Thrasher.

Marie Artice Lane, Friendsville.

A daughter was born June 7 to Thomas Peyton and Donna Jean Kidwell Patrick, Davis, W. Va.

Iron Furnace 5K Run Slated

The George's Creek Promotion Council has announced that the 3rd Annual Iron Furnace 5K Run will be held Saturday, June 29, at 8 a.m. The race will be staged in Lonaconing, and proceeds will fund the Iron Furnace Run Hall of Fame Scholarship Fund.

The Iron Furnace Run, with a point-to-point, hard surface course, begins at George's Creek Elementary School and proceeds south along George's Creek through the streets of Lonaconing and finishes adjacent to the historic Iron Furnace on the north end of town. Last year's winners were Buck Brooks with a time of 15:55 and Natalie Zimmerman with a time of 20:31.

A 1.5 mile fun run walk will be held simultaneously with the main event. All registered participants of both events will receive a commemorative Iron Furnace T-Shirt. A post-race celebration will take place at the Iron Furnace Park.

We appreciate the wonderful success of our "Bits N' Pieces" Garage Sale. It was great seeing many old customers and friends drop in and making new friends as well. We acquire these pieces from purchasing many rolls of stock carpet and vinyl all year. To rid our garage and warehouse of them, we may be having another sale this fall and if so we will advise you through advertising. We continue to have lots of smaller pieces of floor coverings, so if you need any for a certain area in your home stop out soon and we will try to find that certain item to suit your needs at a low low price.

Visit us soon for any and all your floor covering needs.

Remember, We're the couple who says, "A room without a rug is like a kiss without a hug."

Receives Athletic/Academic Honor

Richard Beckman, a senior center on Southern High School's basketball team, has received an honorable mention award to the 1191 AAU/Mars Milky Way All-American team. This team seeks to combine a student's athletic ability with the academic achievements.

This past season Beckman was the second leading scorer for the Rams, averaging 9.0 per game, the top rebounder, averaging 8.5

rebounds per game, and the top shot blocker, having a season total of 40 blocked shots. He is playing in the Western Maryland/West Virginia All-Star basketball game in Westernport.

In addition to being an outstanding basketball player, Beckman has also excelled in the classroom. He is ranked fourth in his graduation class and was honored with the U.S. Army Reserve Scholar Athlete Award for being the male athlete at Southern High School with the highest grade point average.

Beckman is planning to attend West Virginia University this fall to major in mineral engineering and processing. His goal is to find an alternative fuel source to oil in order to help the United States avoid another Persian Gulf crisis.

Beckman was nominated for this award by his physics teacher, David Mayfield, who is also pictured above, presenting a certificate to him.

Holler's Wins Oldtimers' Mid-Season Tourney

Holler's Wholesale Trees and Shrubs captured first place in the mid-season tournament of the Oldtimers' Softball League, held this past weekend at the Broadford Lake fields.

Placing second was Video Connection, followed by Bethlehem. Other teams in the league include: Sheriff's Dept. Fall Guys, Doerr's and Wilburn Construction, Charlie's Quik Stop, Hometown Market, D&L Coal Co., Pawn Run Tavern, Misfits-Dis-A-Bos, Bausch & Lomb, Madigan's Auto Sales, and Sunrise Masonry.

Sr. Girls' Softball League Now Forming

A senior girls' softball league is now forming, according to Becky Williams, president of the Girls' Softball League.

Girls who will be 12 years old by August 1 and not yet 17 years old by August 1 are eligible to play in the league.

Interested girls are urged to call Williams at 334-8849 or Bob Reese at 334-1732 as soon as possible. More information may also be obtained by calling either number.

Oakland Golf Club Offers Free Golf Clinic

H. Wheeler Stewart, Professional Golf Association (PGA) member, will conduct a three-day Junior Golf Clinic for area youths interested in learning more about golf. Instruction will be free, and will include nine free "play days," scheduled on Fridays in June, July, and August.

All necessary equipment will be provided. There are no age limitations, and the program is designed to assist new golfers, particularly those who plan to join golf teams in school.

Applications for the clinic are available at the Golf Pro Shop (334-3883). The clinic is scheduled to begin on June 19 at 10 a.m.

Information concerning junior memberships may also be obtained by contacting the Golf Pro Shop, according to a spokesperson.

SHS ATHLETE OF THE YEAR - Khyriste Browning, who excelled in three sports and captured state honors in track, was named the Southern High School Athlete of the Year, for which she was awarded the Terry Colaw Memorial Trophy during the recent SHS Athletic Banquet. She was also named Female Athlete of the Year and Most Valuable Player in cross-country, track, and basketball, and received the Best Sprinter trophy. She won silver and bronze medals in the 100 and 300 hurdles at the Maryland State Track and Field Championships. An honor student, she plans to continue her education at Hood College this fall. She is a daughter of Jamie and Charlene Browning, Oakland.

County Teams Continue Success In Bi-State Pony League Action

Grantsville and Central Garrett, both teams in the Bi-State Pony League, were largely successful this past week, as Grantsville won two of three contests to improve its record to 3-2 and Central won two games to up its mark to 4-1.

Grantsville topped Westernport in Grantsville last Wednesday evening, 12-7, was edged by Ellerslie on Friday, 6-4, on the winners' diamond, and then hammered Midland, 20-1, Monday evening in Grantsville. Meanwhile, Central Garrett crushed Keyser Saturday in Accident, 14-2, and then stopped host Hyndman on Monday, 5-2. Grantsville will play at Keyser this Friday and Central will host Mount Savage Monday.

Paul Edwards paced Grantsville against Westernport last Wednesday by rapping a pair of home runs and a double. Alan Sebald doubled and singled, while Bobby Fritz and Mike Yoder each contributed a double.

Westernport, which fell to 1-3, was led by Bill Shillingburg, who doubled and singled twice, and Duck Ferguson who tripled.

Grantsville held a 4-0 lead over Ellerslie before allowing the host team to score all six of its runs in the sixth inning. A two-run double in the sixth by Jason Hansel gave Ellerslie (4-1) the victory. Terry De Haven smacked three singles for the winners, while Josh Cutler hit two doubles for Grantsville and Jeremy Hoover added a pair of singles.

It was Mike Yoder who paced the Grantsville offense in Monday's easy win over winless Midland, as he drove in four runs with a home, a double, and a single. He also pitched the first four innings and combined with Andy Layman and Alan Sebald on a three-hitter.

Sebald finished with three of Grantsville's 10 hits, all singles, while Ryan Folk stroked two doubles, and Paul Edwards and Chris Bittner each singled twice.

Two of Midland's three hits were by Aaron James, who doubled and singled. The only run was scored on an RBI single by Nathan Beeman.

Pacing Central Garrett to its big win over Keyser Saturday was Jeremy Brennenman, who went five-for-five with five singles. Rob Speicher added a double, while Derek Mason scattered six hits and struck out seven.

Corey Glass hit a double and a single for Keyser, who dropped to 2-2 with the loss.

Central was down 1-0 after four innings at Hyndman on Monday, but knotted the score with a run in the fifth and scored four more in the sixth to record the win.

Speicher led Central's 10-hit effort with three singles, while Chris Wright and Tim Sines each added a pair of singles.

Brett Hull doubled for Hyndman (1-5).

Jets Youth Football Alumni Picnic Slated

The annual Jets Youth Football Team picnic will be held Sunday, June 23, from 3-6 p.m. at Swallow Falls State Park, according to Vic Compitello, head coach.

This year, the team is inviting all former coaches of the Jets and their families. All current and newly selected players and cheerleaders and their families are invited to the picnic.

Those attending are requested to bring two covered dishes and eating utensils. Hamburgers will be provided by the team.

More information about the picnic and interested alumni are asked to call Vic Compitello at 334-3192.

Oaks Fall To 2-4 By Losing Three Of Four

The Oakland Little League played a pair of Pen-Mar League doubleheaders this past week and managed to win just one of the four games. The results dropped their record to 2-4, a mark they will attempt to improve this Sunday afternoon.

The lone win came in the first game against host Cumberland Saturday afternoon, 7-5. They dropped the nightcap, 15-6, and then lost both ends of a twinbill at Tri-Towns Sunday afternoon by identical scores of 4-3.

Brad Basinger tossed a six-hitter for the Oaks in their win over Cumberland. Two of those hits came in the first inning to give Cumberland a 2-0 lead, as Myrie Grose and Dave Yates recorded RBI on a single and a double, respectively.

Oakland tied the score in the top of the second and took the lead for good with a single run in the fourth, as D.G. Largent doubled and then came home on a single by Scott Lohr.

Leading Oakland's hitting was Lawrence Nesselrodt, who had three hits, including a solo homer in the sixth. Largent also had three hits.

Oakland held a 6-3 advantage going into the sixth inning of the second game, but Cumberland erupted for a dozen runs in that frame, as 17 batters went to the plate. Steve Ujic, who plays for the Garrett Community College Lakers, led the inning with two singles that accounted for three runs, while Mike Barnhart also hit two singles for two RBI. The host team was also aided in that inning by four Oakland

Ujic finished with three hits and four RBI, while Brian Grose, Ron Shirley, and Barnhart each had two hits. Largent led Oakland by going three-for-four.

Another former GCC Laker also sparked Tri-Towns wins over the Oaks on Sunday as he won the first game on the mound and came in the sixth inning of the nightcap to pick up a save.

Tri-Towns took a 4-0 lead into the top of the seventh inning and then held off the Oaks, who scored three runs in that frame. An RBI single by Terry Helbig and a two-run hit by Nesselrodt accounted for Oakland's runs.

Oakland had the game-tying run on base when Smith struck out the final batter, which was his 10th strike-out of the game.

Danny Anderson hit a solo homer and a single for Tri-Towns, while Tony Whiteman added two hits. Dean Marsico and Largent each doubled for Oakland.

In the second game, Tri-Towns took a 2-0 lead before Basinger tied the score with a two-run homer in the fourth. Tri-Towns recorded a single run in the fifth, but Oakland again tied it the seventh at 3-3.

Donnie Raines won the game for Tri-Towns in the bottom of the seventh with a bases-loaded single. Charlie Wilson and Chris Miller finished with two singles each for the winners, while Nesselrodt and Largent had two singles apiece for the Oaks.

Coaches Invited To Injury Course At GCC Campus

A course entitled "Care & Prevention of Athletic Injuries" will be held at the McHenry Campus of Garrett Community College starting this Saturday, June 15. The course will consist of a total of 15 contact hours and will meet from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for three consecutive Saturdays.

According to a GCC spokesman, this course is designed to provide coaches with some basic information about first aid, conditioning, protective equipment and taping, and evaluation techniques for various parts of the body. Basic rehabilitation information will also be included.

Garrett Legion Team Opens With Win; Anticipates Good Season

The Mountain District of Junior American Legion baseball opened its season this past week, and the Garrett County team got off to a successful beginning with an 11-3 win over Victory Post of Westernport Tuesday at the Garrett Community College diamond.

Garth Glotfelty, Brett Rice, and Brian Free each recorded a pair of singles, with Rice scoring three times and Free picking up three RBI. Ryan Harman earned the win on the mound by going the distance, allowing only five hits, and striking out 14.

Garrett also took advantage of 13 walks issued by three Victory Post pitchers.

The Garrett players were down 1-0 until the bottom of the second inning when they tied the score. They took the lead for good with a three-run second third inning.

Greg Whiteman and Rodney Mangold each doubled for Westernport.

Garrett County, coached by Ed Wildesen, will play at Frostburg this evening.

The contest opened an 18-game Mt. District season for the Garrett team, with all games slated to be single, nine-inning contests with Frostburg, Cumberland, and Westernport. Most of the games will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5 p.m. and a noon on Saturdays.

The winner of the annual Mt. District tournament at the end of the regular season will advance to the Maryland State Tournament, which will be held in Frederick.

Wildesen anticipates a successful year for his team, as 10 starters from last year's team have returned. They include: Ryan Harman, who is a fourth year player; Kevin Green, Randall Ours, Ritchie Baldwin, and Brett Rice, all third-year players; and Shawn Ryan, Charlie Planger, Garth Glotfelty, Britten Martin, and Brian Free, all in their second year.

"Our strengths this year will be our experience, pitching, desire, and intelligence," Wildesen said, noting that 90 percent of his players are holding 3.0 or better grade point averages in high school or college. "Intelligence is an important key to winning in Legion baseball."

He said that defense could be the weak point of the team, although such was not the case in the team's opening win against Westernport.

The top pitcher on the team is Harman, who has just completed his freshman year at West Virginia University. Kevin Green and Garth Glotfelty, both of Southern High School, are the top returning hitters, while the most outstanding new recruits appear to be Chad Sines of Northern and Bill Casto of Hampshire. Three More Lakers Receive Post-Season Region Honors

Buddy Leichter

Mike Leshok

Steve Ujeic

It was reported last week that Mick Bayle, of the Garrett Community College Lakers, was named a first-team All-American, NJCAA, for the second straight year and, among other honors, was chosen a first-team member of the All-Region XX squad. Three other members of the Laker organization were also All-Region selections.

Designated hitter Buddy Leichter, a 6-4 sophomore from Connellsville, Pa., was named to the first team, 5-10 freshman Mike Leshok, of DuBois, Pa., was named to the second team as an infielder, and Steve Ujeic, a sophomore from Frankfort High School in West Virginia was an honorable mention selection.

land JUCO Conference in home runs with 10. He finished the season with a .362 batting average and 36 RBI. His two-year totals at Garrett include a .360 average with 21 doubles, five triples, 16 homers (third in GCC history), and 70 RBI.

Leshok, who finished the 1991 season with a .379 average, recorded 32 RBI and finished with eight homers, second best in the conference, and 11 doubles.

Ujeic hit a sizzling .443, fifth best in the JUCO, with 35 hits on 79 at-bats. He hit six doubles and had an on-base percentage of .511.

The Lakers, coached by Lawrence Nesselrodt, finished with an overall mark of 21-13, second best in the JUCO standings, behind nationally ranked Allegheny CC.

Girls' Softball Results Noted

In Oakland Girls' Softball League action this past week, Ray Ban crushed Beachy Lumber, 41-1; Frank Arnold edged Oakview Motors, 11-10; Mt. Log and Siding topped Beachy Lumber, 18-7; and Ray Ban nipped Buffalo Coal, 4-3.

League standings as of June 10 were: Ray Ban, 9-1; Mt. Log and Siding, 7-3; Buffalo Coal, 6-4; Oakview Motors and Frank Arnold, 3-7; and Beachy Lumber, 2-8. League playoffs will begin Monday, June 17.

Legion Team

"Right now I could put all 18 names in a hat, pull out nine names, and be very comfortable with those nine," Wildesen said. "We (the coaching staff) set some goals back in January and we are right on target for what we need to do to challenge for the Mt. District title."

Although Tuesday's contest opened the Mt. District season for the Garrett players, they have played about a dozen games the past few weeks against teams such as Loraine, Ohio, the defending Ohio state champions, Morgantown, and Elkins.

Wildesen anticipates strong competition in the Mountain District, noting that the players composing the Frostburg team are those who, as Little Leaguers, won the Maryland Little League state championship and later won a state high school title for Beall High School in 1989.

He said that the Cumberland team has eight 18-year-old players on its roster, seven of whom have college experience.

"But many of the kids on our team were on the Oakland Little League squad that won the district title in 1988 and are now playing for a strong Southern High School team," Wildesen said. "We also have several Northern High players who just finished an outstanding season."

Wildesen added that the Mountain District representative in the state tournament has finished among the final four each of the last three years (Cumberland in 1988, Garrett in 1989, and Frostburg last year).

Weekend Mishaps

Deli. Meade was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, investigating officer.

Northern Rescue Squad and Deep Creek volunteer firemen responded to the scene.

DWI ACCIDENT

A Deer Park man was admitted to the local hospital Saturday night after the vehicle he was operating skidded on Oak Street in Deer Park, ran off the right side of the road, and struck a building. A passenger in the vehicle remains listed in "serious" condition in the intensive care unit of Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, after being flown there by Medevac helicopter.

Police said alcohol was a contributing factor in the mishap.

James T. Tortorice, 31, Deer Park, was operating a Jeep CJ5 at an apparent high rate of speed when the mishap occurred, said police. He was admitted to the hospital for treatment, but has since been released, according to a nursing spokesman.

One of the passengers in the Tortorice vehicle, William Boyce, 26, Mtn. Lake Park, who was ejected from the vehicle, along with Tortorice, remains a patient in the Cumberland hospital, according to an ICU nurse.

Another passenger in the vehicle, Duane Boyce, 31, Mtn. Lake Park, was apparently not injured in the 9:15 p.m. accident.

Tfc. J.K. Moore investigated for state police and charged Tortorice with driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs among other traffic violations.

Southern Rescue Squad personnel and Deer Park volunteer firemen were dispatched to the scene by Garrett County Emergency Management.

TWO INJURED

Two Fairfax, Va. women were injured Saturday when the vehicle in which they were traveling struck a tree along the Shingle Camp Road, off the Oakland-Sang Run Road.

Amanda Richards, 20, was admitted to the local hospital, but released the following day, while Loralee Fadely, 19, was treated for minor injuries and released that same day.

The 5:41 p.m. mishap occurred when Scott Richards, 22, Fairfax, lost control of the 1984 Mazda he was operating. Another passenger in the vehicle, Terry Mason, 21, Fairfax, was apparently not injured in the mishap.

State police charged Richards with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident and with failure to display registration.

Southern Rescue Squad transported the injured to Garrett Memorial.

CORRECTION NOTED

It was incorrectly reported in last week's edition of The Republican that the vehicle of Jane Hershberger was rear-ended by the vehicle of William Clegg on U.S. Route 219 at Grantsville.

Actually, it was the Clegg vehicle that was rear-ended. The accident occurred when Clegg, 45, Grantsville, was attempting to negotiate a left-hand turn into the Grantsville shopping center and was struck in the rear by Hershberger, 40, Meyersdale.

Both persons were treated and released from Meyersdale Community Hospital. We regret the error.

DWI ARRESTS

State police noted an additional two DWI (driving while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs) arrests this past week.

Vernon Hoffman, 27, Baltimore, was charged with DWI on Sunday by Tfc. J.W. Hare.

Daniel Divers, 33, Munnah, Pa., was charged with DWI by Tfc. P.R. Brown on Friday.

Donations

Other contributors to the arts festival's biggest fund raiser, which also included musical entertainment and an elegant dinner, include Robert Bailey, who offered a 45-minute plane ride over the Garrett countryside, and those who declined any mention, but still donated big-ticket items like a stay in a luxury three-bedroom condominium in Orlando near Disney World.

With the theme "What's Black and White" so that patrons might dress in black and white, the gala benefit will begin at 6:30 p.m. to allow for pre-auction viewing with dinner served at 7:30 p.m. For tickets, which will be mailed, call 387-6371.

Gypsy Moth

Department generally requires that an observation aircraft accompany each spray aircraft in an effort to increase the efficiency of navigation and communications, improve the effectiveness and accuracy of pesticide application, and as an added safety factor.

The Maryland Gypsy Moth Cooperative Suppression Program treated over 900 separate mites, ranging in size from 25 acres to over 6,500 acres in 22 counties statewide. The trees in each area were treated with either Dunilin, an insect growth regulator that does not have a toxic mode of action, or a formulation of Bacillus thuringiensis, called B.T., a biological control pesticide which is a common soil bacterium.

"Although we sprayed the most highly infested sites, there are still many areas that may experience defoliation by gypsy moth caterpillars. In fact, we already are getting calls from homeowners with questions about what they can do for their trees. A homeowner should not assume that a defoliated tree is dead. It should be given a chance to recover," Tichenor said.

Trees will start to grow new leaves after losing 60 percent or more of their foliage and will need help to survive the stress. Trees which have been moderately defoliated also may need extra care.

Give them adequate water and call your local Cooperative Extension Service for specific advice on other ways to help the trees," Tichenor said.

For further information, call Robert Tichenor, Forest Pest Management, Maryland Department of Agriculture, 301-841-5922.

Tinnitus: Ringing in the Ears

One out of ten persons has some type of hearing problem. One of the most common hearing problems is tinnitus, a ringing, humming, buzzing, or pulsating noise in the ears. Tinnitus can be brought on by exposure to certain medicines (aspirin, caffeine, quinine, and some prescription medicines), loud noises, stress, teeth grinding, ear infections, and other health problems such as stroke, leukemia (a bone disease in the middle ear). The most common cause appears to be exposure to loud noises such as those produced by firearms, loud music, and high speed power tools.

Tinnitus can result when the very small, hair-like cells in the inner ears are damaged. These damaged cells send irregular nerve impulses to the brain in response to sound waves. It is thought that the brain interprets the irregular impulses as ringing or buzzing. Unfortunately, damage to inner ear hair cells is permanent for many persons by the time they recognize ringing in the ears. Ringing may be accompanied by hearing loss.

Further damage to hair cells can be prevented by avoiding loud noises and wearing protective devices over or in the ears. Avoid or minimize caffeine (beverages and medicines). Minimize aspirin use in favor of other pain relievers. Relaxation and biofeedback techniques may help overcome stress related teeth grinding.

PARRACK DEATH
The body of Mervin W. Parrack, 65, was brought to the Eglon Cemetery Sunday, June 9, for graveside services and burial.

Mr. Parrack was born at Eglon, a son of the late Ernest and Sylvia Slaubaugh Parrack, and died June 6, 1991, in the Tuomey Regional Medical Center in Sumter, S.C.

He was a member of St. Mark's United Methodist Church and of the VFW. A veteran of the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam War, he was retired from the USAF as Lt. Col. with 21 years service.

Survivors include his wife, Lydia Kennedy Parrack; one daughter, Brenda Wallace, Columbia, S.C.; one son, John E. Parrack, Alcolu, S.C.; two stepsons, Arthur Kirkley and Robert Kirkley; one sister, Lucy P. Kelly, of Terra Alta; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

INJURED IN HAYMAKING
Two accidents this past week in the hay harvest have taken two members of the community to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Bill Bachtel, of Eglon, was treated and released with fractured ribs in an accident involving the wagon and baler. Helen (Mrs. George Alan) Lipscomb, Aurora, remains a patient in the hospital with multiple fractures of the femur as the result of a similar accident on Friday when she fell from the load of hay with the hay landing atop.

AURORA'S SEVENTH GRADERS PERFORM SHAKESPEARE — Several seventh grade English class students of Mrs. Carolyn Wolring recently participated in the West Virginia State Shakespeare Festival, held in Charleston, W. Va., at the Capitol Plaza Music Hall. The students performed a collage of scenes from Shakespeare's Midsummer Night's Dream at the festival, which was attended by 21 groups of students from across the state. Teachers of these students all attended a training session in October which taught the educators strategies for teaching and dramatizing Shakespeare's works to students in the fourth through the 12th grades. The Aurora group of 26 students was one of the largest in the festival. Mrs. Wolring and 10 parents traveled with the group. The students and their roles are as follows: Katie Utterback, narrator 1; Amy Moats, narrator 2; Lori Divon, narrator 3; Dwight Clary, Theseus; Becky Snyder, Hippolyta; Lynn Johnson, Egeus; Daniel Seldors, Hermia; Jeremiah Feather, Lysander; Melanie Roberson, Helena; Shane Dixon, Demetrius; Becky Harsh, Bottom; Crystal Auvi, Quince; Rhoda Wiles, flute; Beth Hauser, Snug; Jessica Lantz, Puck; Crystal Wilson, Peaseblossom; Rebecca Wolring, musical fairy; Joey Delauder, Oberon; Elizabeth Wolring, Titania; Carla Fint, Mustardseed; Christina White, fairy; Donna Moats, fairy; Regina Shaffer, fairy; Wendy Beckman, fairy; Darla Ball and Patty Mullenax, both student directors.

PERSONAL MENTION
Capt. Scott Winters participated in the Gulf War Victory Parade held June 8 in Washington, D.C. Attending the parade and hoping to visit with Capt. Winters before his unit left to take part in the New York Victory Parade were his parents, Neil and Bonnie Winters, Hutton, and his cousins, Roger and Kathy Bowman, Terra Alta.

Both Morgan Barr and Galen Fike, of Bridgewater, Va., are patients in Rockingham Memorial Hospital in Harrisonburg, Va. Mr. Barr was hospitalized Friday as the result of a severe heart attack and is in critical condition. Mr. Fike was admitted with a fractured vertebrae and is expected to return Monday to his home. Both are former area residents, the Barrs having lived near Aurora, and the Fikes lived in Eglon.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS
Lora Forman was 10 years old Monday, May 27, and was guest of honor for a Sunday evening swimming and pizza party at her Amboy home which was followed by a slumber party. On Monday, there was more swimming and a birthday cookout luncheon. Hosting the affair were her parents, Arthur and Janice Forman, and her guests were Lisa Moats, Amanda Carnal, Melinda Mayne, Sara Snyder, Rebecca Wolring, Gretchen Baker, and her cousin, A. J. Delauder. Lora received gifts and two decorated birthday cakes.

Mrs. Myrtle Forman, Amboy, observed her 99th birthday on Saturday, June 1. Members of St. Paul's Lutheran Choir visited and sang for her on Wednesday evening, May 29. The sing ended with Mrs. Forman playing the piano to accompany the choir while they sang.

"When the Roll is Called up Yonder," and the evening concluded with refreshments. Mrs. Forman wishes to express her appreciation for the 80 plus cards she has received in remembrance of her being 99 years young, the two special dinners, one provided by the family and one by the women of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, the three special birthday cakes she received, the floral arrangements, the special music from both the St. Paul's and the Amboy United Methodist choirs, the visits, and the phone calls. Everything done to mark this 99th year helped to create a joyous and extended time of celebration and was deeply appreciated.

On Sunday, Mrs. Dora Stemple was surprised with a celebration and open house in honor of her 90th birthday. Held at the Amboy U.M. Church social hall, many relatives and friends gathered to wish her well. She was presented with a quilt composed of squares made by her nieces and grandchildren, and quilted by the Amboy ladies. Birthday cake and punch were served, and visiting occupied the afternoon.

EGLON HOMEMAKERS BUSY

President Linda Lewis opened the June 4 meeting of the Eglon Extension Homemakers with devotions, using "Summer" as her theme. Mary Elizabeth McCrum, Kingwood, was with the group to provide information about the calendar which the Preston County Historical Society is publishing and which will include dates of happenings through the county. It was decided that the Eglon Homemakers will be taking orders for this calendar. The cost of the calendar is $5.00 with 30¢ added for tax. Having the calendar mailed will cost an additional $1.30. Similar to a birthday calendar, there are listings for the days of the months, where possible, and a different picture for each month. Further details will be provided soon.

Announcements included that of West Virginia Day at Hope-mont on June 22, to which the public is invited. A dinner menu and plans for serving were made for the June 6 meeting of the Mt. Lions' Club. Flowers were set out in the bed at the telephone office during the evening hours on June 4. The next meeting will be on July 2, at the regular 1 p.m.

hour, with Rebecca Teets bringing the lesson on "West Virginia Families in the 21st Century," and Lectie Bonner as the hostess.

The morning concluded with a salad luncheon. Attending in addition to the guest and president were Lectie Bonner, Lillian Knotts, Sandra Hauser, Mary Rembold, Avenell Parsons, Nina Layman, Ruth Teets, Jean Winters, and Sara Lewis, the president's daughter.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST
Relatives and friends who have visited the home of Noah and Wilma Waybright, Delbert and Lois Waybright, Brookside, recently, were Ross and Naomi Teets, Roscoe and Ruth Teets, Premia Cline and her son, Emil Lipscomb, Manassas, Va.; Mary and Bill Ludwig, Fairfax, Va.; Molly Cave, Orange, Va.; Barbara Taylor, Barre, Va.; Glenn and Carol Waybright, Trumbull, Conn.; Debra, Dale, Christopher, and Lesa Brown, Akron, Oh.; Bruce, Lynne, and Travis Waybright, Owasso, Mich.; Janet and Orval DeWitt, Oakland; Stanley, June, and LaVerne Waybright, Scott Watkins, April Collins, Heather Redmond, all Brookside; and Charles and Audra Teets, Eglon.

Recent visitors with George and Jessie Winters, Eglon, were her brother and sister-in-law, Delbert and Madeline Sims, Warren, Oh.

Tom and Lois Adams,

Aurora, spent Wednesday to Sunday in Reedsville with their grandsons, while the parents, John and Jeanette Adams, attended a convention for Lowe's, Inc. employees in Las Vegas.

Ron and Judy Paugh and her father, Jack Adams, all Aurora, visited this weekend in Cleveland with the latter's sister, Sally Turnow, at the home of her daughter, Helen.

Dons Adams and her mother, Mrs. Eva Sanders, Aurora, accompanied her sisters, Helen McMullen and Lois Phillips, last week to Colonial Beach, Va., where they visited Mrs. McMullen's daughter, Carol McMullen.

Bill and Ruby Skinner, Dale City, Va., were weekend visitors at Eglon with her sister and brother-in-law, Grace and Ernest Harsh. They also visited with other area relatives.

The Horse Shoe Run Farm Women's Circle and their families, approximately fifty persons, went to Kenneywood Park near Pittsburgh, Saturday, where they spent the day enjoying the rides and other entertainment.

Jerry and Mary Lou Wolring, Lambertville, Mich.; his sister, Ken and Betty Bailey, Costa Grande, Ariz.; and their daughter, Cara Bailey, Tacoma, excellently in Nicholas County, W. Va. schools.

Stanton plans to attend West Virginia University and major in political science with an ultimate goal of obtaining a law degree.

Heavner is also a three-year member of the Beta Club. He is the student council's reporter.

Among his academic honors is the Bausch and Lomb Science Award.

Heavner also plans to attend West Virginia University and major in biology with plans to continue his education in the field of medicine.

TA Civic Club Dance Saturday

The Terra Alta Civic Club will be holding its annual monthly dance at Alpine Lake Resort, this Saturday, June 15, from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. "June Jubilee" will be hosted by music from Steve Williams, program director and radio announcer for WXIE Radio, Oakland. A variety of music will be offered for the evening for a $3.00 donation at the door. Persons must be at least 21 years of age (ID's required) to attend.

Members of the club invite all adults to come for dinner and attend the dance. Proceeds will go toward civic club projects sponsored throughout the year.

Hopemont Slates Annual Celebration

The residents and staff of Hopemont Hospital invite the public to come to their annual West Virginia Day Celebration which will be held June 22 beginning at 9:30 a.m. with the opening ceremony and continuing on throughout the day with entertainment, games, crafts, horse shoe pitching contest, and other events.

This year the day will be dedicated to all military personnel.

Wash., were visiting their mother, Mrs. Eva Wotring, at Cortland Acres Nursing Home, Thomas, and area relatives last week.

Robert Myers, Texas, is joined by his son for a visit in Aurora this week with his parents, Homer and Marguerite Myers.

The Texas Bethel United Methodist Church held its annual Sunday School picnic at the church on Sunday, June 9.

Visiting with David and Wilma Mae Teets at Horse Shoe Run this week were her father's step-sister, Violet Reynolds, Columbus, Oh.; and Mrs. Reynolds' daughter, Nancy Stout, Philadelphia, who also visited with other relatives in the nearby area.

Oakley "Buster" and Judy White, and their sons, Eric and Ryan, were hosts to a "welcome home" family get-together for their cousins, Tom and Tony Lewis, who have recently returned from Saudi Arabia. The picnic dinner was held Sunday, June 9, at the Mt. Storm summer home of the Whites.

Attending were Tony, Lisa, and Toni Lane Lewis; Tom, Linda, Julie, Emily, and Sara Lewis; Roy and Vilda Lewis, Todd Lewis, Mark Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Savage, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Giney and Hannah, and Jim Muscovy, Clarissa and Chloe.

AURORA VFD ELECTIONS

At the June 3 meeting of the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department, the following officers were elected for the 1991-92 year: Glenn Sanders, president; Albert Wiles, vice president; Delbert Waybright, secretary; Edward M. Utterback, treasurer; Jim Judy, sergeant-at-arms; Harlin Kempfer, chief; Eric Alexander, ass't. chief; Dayton Alexander, captain; Brian Watts, lieutenant; Clifton Arnold, sergeant; and Wayne Rounds and Delford J. White, engineers.

The unit answered two vehicle fires during May, one for a truck and one for a motorcycle. Donations were received from Frank Kimmell, Viola McWilliams, Union District Senior Citizens, and from Ken and Peggy Evans.

UNION AMBULANCE HOLDS ELECTIONS

Because of the May 27 holiday, the regular meeting of Union Ambulance Association was postponed until June 3, at which time annual elections were held. Office holders are: Rose Ina Harsh, president; Cindy Harsh, vice president; Diana Bachtel, treasurer; Delores Stemple, financial secretary; Sue Mayne, secretary; Linda Martin, training officer; David, EMT crew chief; Connie Stemple, driver crew chief; and Joe Stemple and Erwin Stemple, board of directors.

CORRECTION

In last week's issue of The Republican, the list of East Preston High School graduating seniors was printed. Candy Shantel Moats was a graduate, and her parents were incorrectly listed as Marsha and Harry Moats. It should be noted that Candy Shantel Moats is the daughter of Parker and Corinna Moats, Aurora. The staff regrets any inconvenience caused by the error.

Garrett County Historical Society Marks 50 Years

by Rev. John Grant
This year marks the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Garrett County Historical Society. First contemplated in the late 1930's, it was not until November 1940 that a determined effort was made to bring the organization into reality. Finally, after a series of planning meetings, the Historical Society became a real organization on January 27, 1941.

Since that time the Society has grown in membership, published a series of hard-back historical books, published a quarterly historical magazine for 50 years, and opened a museum in Oakland. During the past year, it has made an historical contribution to Garrett County's elementary schools in the form of a children's newsletter known as "Seedlings."

At the 1941 organizational meeting, the late Frederick A. Thayer Sr. was elected president. Because of declining health, Mr. Thayer resigned his position a month later, and Capt. Charles Hoye was elected president. Since that time, 22 other people have served as president of the society, three of them serving two different times.

Capt. Charles Hoye had been part of a small group who had been working toward the founding of the Society for a number of years. With Mr. Thayer's resignation, Charles Hoye assumed the dual role of Society president and editor of The Glades Star, the quarterly publication of the fledgling organization. Two years later, in 1943, he relinquished the presidency to John W. Holman, but remained editor for the next 10 years until his accidental death in 1951.

A Spanish-American War veteran, Capt. Hoye was both an educator and a writer. Following his retirement from government service, he returned to Garrett County and pursued his quest of local history.

One result of his historical research was a column after column of newspaper articles about the history of local families. These articles have been collected and published by the Society as "Pioneer Families of Garrett County."

Capt. Hoye's constant urging resulted in the meetings which formed the nucleus for the organization of the Historical Society. He was also responsible for obtaining the interest of Mr. Ephraim Ellsworth Enlow, who gave the money for the beginning of the Ruth Enlow Library.

In memory of Hoye's historical work in Garrett County, Governor McKelton dedicated the highest point of elevation in Maryland to his name in 1952. Known as Hoye Crest, it is located on Backbone Mountain near the Md.-Va. boundary.

SOCIETY OBSERVES 50TH - The Garrett County Historical Society is observing its 50th anniversary this year, having been founded in January 1941. Captain Charles Hoye, who was instrumental in its founding, was honored by Maryland Governor McKelton, who dedicated the highest point in Maryland to Hoye's memory. A photo of the plaque, located on Backbone Mountain,

Museum
With the passage of years, the Historical Society collected a number of historical artifacts. At first they were kept in the Garrett County Courthouse and the Ruth Enlow Library. However, as the volume of the collection grew, it became obvious that a museum was needed to house all of these gifts to the Society.

When the idea of a museum was first proposed, a question arose about its location. Where should it be situated? A number of different suggestions were made, but a consensus of Society members indicated that it should be located in the Oakland area, preferably some where near the Ruth Enlow Library.

Finally, the Episcopal Parish House on Center Street became available. Funding for the payment of the building and alterations was through a drive sponsored by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Lions Club. Donations to the drive were made by the Oakland Rotary Club, Oakland Civic Club, the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Eastern Star, the Knights of Pythias, the Moose Club, as well as the Garrett National and First National banks.

On November 9, 1969, the museum was opened with Mrs. Mary Jones as curator. For many years it was directed by Mrs. Mary Jones, then jointly by Paul and Ruth Calderwood, and now by Mrs. Beth Friend.

Historical Publications
One of the stated purposes of the Garrett County Historical Society was, "...to discover, secure and preserve whatever relates to the history of the area and to disseminate knowledge of local history among our people." In keeping with this stated purpose, the Society has undertaken the publication of a series of hard-back historical books.

Following the dissolving of the Garrett County Bicentennial Committee, the Historical Society accepted the copyright of the Committee's two publications: "A History of Maryland's Tableland" and "Brown Miscellaneous Writings." They issued new editions of both these historical books.

Through the years, the historical sketches by Capt. Hoye appeared in local newspapers. A collection of these articles was presented to the Society. Since there had been such an overwhelming number of request for family information, the Society decided to publish the entire collection. In 1988 the collection "Hoye's Pioneer Families of Garrett County" was published.

Since the organization of the Society in 1941, extra copies of The Glades Star have been printed with each issue. To date, five volumes of successive issues have been collected and bound for sale to members and friends of the Society. This year, 1991, over 20 issues for Volume 6 have been set aside for future binding.

Tours
For a number of years, members of the society went on an annual one day tour to some historical spot in the county. Although this activity has not been pursued for the past four years, elementary school children are now touring the county under the guided suggestion of members of the Society.

In keeping with modern technology, video tapes have now been prepared of sights in the county, with the ultimate plan of distribution to the school system.

Future
It has been said, "The past is prologue for the future." With this in mind, the Garrett County Historical Society can look back on a successful 50 years, and assume that the experiences of these years will guide the Society in the future.

When it began 50 years ago, there were members of the Society around who could still recall the Civil War, President Lincoln, and the whole history associated with the founding of Garrett County. They're gone now, but today there are young members of the Society who historic events that can take place in the next 50 years.

One by one, present member of the Society will pass on their responsibilities to these people, and the Garrett County Historical Society will arrive at its 100th Anniversary in good hands.

Southwestern-Style SUMMER BARBECUE

When summer evenings grow long, the lure of the outdoors is almost irresistible. All over the country impresarios of the barbecue begin dusting off their grills. In fact, a survey by the Barbecue Industry Association shows that Americans will host 1.7 billion barbecues this year. And the main reason for cooking outdoors, say respondents, is the great flavor of barbecued food.

This Southwestern-style barbecue features an innovative menu that is fun for everyone, and easy on the chef.

Jalapeno-Glazed Turkey Breast is sure to whet eager appetites as it sizzles over hot coals. It's a turkey breast half that has been brushed with a hot and sweet jalapeno pepper sauce. A handful of mesquite chips can be added to the fire for that extra Southwestern flavor. Chicken-flavor bouillon offers just the right balance to the zesty seasonings.

Turkey is one of the most nutritious meats, scoring high marks for its protein richness and low-fat qualities. A three-ounce serving of skinless white turkey breast meat has only 119 calories, 1 gram of fat and 26 grams of protein.

Festive Southwestern Rice Salad is a delicious Mexican-style side dish idea that complements this grilled supper. Jicama, a traditional Mexican vegetable, and red and green bell peppers lend fresh crunch to the piquant, lemon-seasoned rice and kidney bean combination.

Don't forget the Seasoned Butter Sauce — perfect for brushing on grilled turkey parts, vegetables or even crusty bread. So easy to prepare, just combine butter with ready-to-use chicken-flavor instant bouillon, garlic and cilantro.

This fiesta menu calls for a choice of terrific desserts. Refreshing Frozen Strawberry Margarita Pie is a twist on the popular restaurant drink. A creamy strawberry-lime juice filling spiked with a trace of tequila and triple sec is piled high in a crunchy pretzel crust. Relying on sweetened condensed milk guarantees the richest, smoothest pie filling ever.

And who can turn down homemade ice cream? Simple-to-make Banana Cinnamon Ice Cream also gets its creamy richness and velvety texture from sweetened condensed milk. Drizzled with Mocha Fudge Sauce, this is a Santa Fe-style sundae that's hard to resist.

Nowhere is the appeal of alfresco cooking stronger than in the Southwest, where outdoor living is a consuming passion. But no matter where you live, you can add these Southwestern dishes to your barbecue repertoire.

Jalapeno-Glazed Turkey Breast

(Makes 6 servings)

- 1 (4 to 4½-pound) fresh bone-in turkey breast half
- ½ cup water
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 2 teaspoons chicken-flavor instant bouillon
- ¼ cup jalapeno jelly or apple jelly
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh cilantro
- 2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
- ½ teaspoon ground cumin
- ¼ teaspoon red pepper flakes, optional

Grill turkey according to manufacturer's directions, about 45 minutes to 2 hours or until meat thermometer reaches 170 degrees F. In small saucepan, combine water, cornstarch and bouillon; stir in remaining ingredients. Over medium heat, cook and stir until slightly thickened. Brush turkey with 2 tablespoons sauce during last 5 to 10 minutes of cooking. Serve turkey with remaining sauce. Refrigerate leftovers.

Frozen Strawberry Margarita Pie

(Makes one 9 inch pie)

- 1¼ cups finely crushed pretzel crumbs
- ½ cup plus 2 tablespoons margarine or butter, melted
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
- 1½ cups chopped fresh or frozen unsweetened strawberries, thawed and well-drained
- ¼ cup bottled lime juice
- ¼ cup tequila
- 2 tablespoons triple sec or other orange-flavored liqueur
- Red food coloring, optional
- 1½ cups whipping cream, whipped

Combine crumbs, margarine and sugar; press firmly on bottom and up sides of lightly buttered 9-inch pie plate. In large bowl, combine sweetened condensed milk, strawberries, bottled lime juice, tequila, triple sec and food coloring if desired; mix well. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into prepared crust. Freeze 4 hours or until firm. Let stand 10 minutes before serving. Garnish as desired. Return ungarished leftovers to freezer.

Southwestern Rice Salad

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

- 2 to 2½ cups water
- 1 cup uncooked long grain rice
- 1 tablespoon chicken-flavor instant bouillon or 3 chicken-flavor bouillon cubes
- 1 (15½-ounce) can dark red kidney beans, drained
- 1 cup each coarsely chopped jicama, green and red bell pepper
- 1 (4-ounce) can chopped green chilies, undrained
- ½ cup bottled lemon juice
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- ½ teaspoon ground cumin
- ¼ teaspoon garlic powder

In medium saucepan, combine water, rice and bouillon; bring to a boil. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 15 to 20 minutes or until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. In large bowl, combine rice, beans, vegetables and chilies. In small bowl or jar, mix remaining ingredients; pour over rice mixture. Cover; chill 2 to 4 hours. Stir before serving. Serve on lettuce; garnish as desired. Refrigerate leftovers.

Banana Cinnamon Ice Cream

(Makes about 1½ quarts)

- 3 cups (1½-pints) half-and-half
- 1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
- 1 cup pureed or mashed bananas
- 1 tablespoon vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

In ice cream freezer container, combine all ingredients; mix well. Freeze according to manufacturer's instructions. Freeze leftovers.

Refrigerator-Freezer Method:

Omit half-and-half. In large bowl, combine sweetened condensed milk and vanilla; stir in bananas and cinnamon. Fold in 2 cups (1 pint) whipping cream, whipped (do not use non-dairy whipped topping). Pour into 9 x 5-inch loaf pan or other 2-quart container; cover. Freeze 6 hours or until firm. Freeze leftovers.

GRILLING A TURKEY—AS EASY AS 1-2-3:

Ready: Defrost turkey in refrigerator. Allow about 24 hours for each 6 pounds of turkey.

Set: Prepare covered charcoal cooker for indirect-heat cooking method. After coals are grey, bank them on two sides of cooker. Place a drip pan between coals on the bottom of the cooker. Place whole turkey on rack over drip pan. Turkey is cooked by heat reflected from the cover as well as the charcoal. This uniform, controlled heat cuts cooking time and seals in the turkey's natural juices and flavor.

Grill: Grill whole turkey approximately 11 to 15 minutes per pound. Insert meat thermometer into thickest part of inner thigh. Low-fat turkey is done when meat has lost its pinkness and the thermometer reaches 180 degrees F. If turkey has an automatic cooking timer device to judge doneness, follow the manufacturer's cooking guidelines on label or use a meat thermometer to avoid overcooking.

Seasoned Butter Sauce

(Makes ½ cup)

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh cilantro
- 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
- 1 teaspoon chicken-flavor instant bouillon

In small saucepan, over low heat, combine ingredients. Cook and stir until butter melts and bouillon dissolves. Serve with corn-on-the-cob or other vegetables, or season French or Italian bread. Use to baste turkey, chicken or fish during grilling. Refrigerate leftovers.

Microwave*: In 1-quart glass measure, combine ingredients. Cook on HIGH (100% power) 1 to 2 minutes or until butter melts and bouillon dissolves. Stir before serving.

* Microwave ovens vary in wattage and power output; cooking times may need to be adjusted.

Mocha Fudge Sauce

(Makes about 2 cups)

- 1 (6-ounce) package semi-sweet chocolate chips (1 cup), or 4 (1-ounce) squares semi-sweet chocolate
- 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
- 1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
- 2 tablespoons coffee-flavored liqueur or 1 teaspoon instant coffee dissolved in 2 tablespoons warm water
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract

In heavy saucepan, combine all ingredients. Over medium heat, cook and stir until chips melt and mixture thickens, about 8 minutes. Serve warm over ice cream or as a fruit dipping sauce. Refrigerate leftovers.

To Reheat: In small heavy saucepan, combine desired amount of sauce with small amount of water. Over low heat, stir constantly until hot.

Microwave*: In 1-quart glass measure, combine ingredients. Cook on HIGH (100% power) 3 to 3½ minutes, stirring after each minute. Proceed as above.

* Microwave ovens vary in wattage and power output; cooking times may need to be adjusted.

THE
FATHER

A small child runs toward the street. The child's father calls out calmly, yet firmly, "Come back into the yard."

As a father has compassion on his children, so the Lord has compassion on those who fear Him. (Psalm 103:13)

Webster defines this fear as reverential awe, indicating a feeling of deep respect and overwhelming admiration. Though the child was not aware of the possible danger in the street, he was aware of the admiration and respect he felt for his father, since he knew that his father loved and protected him. Therefore, he obeyed. He feared his father in the most positive way.

It is this reverential awe which our Heavenly Father inspires in us. His children, so that we respect Him in such a positive and trusting way as to desire to obey His Word, thus living a life filled with faith, hope and the knowledge that our soul shall never die, but live eternally with Him.

As you honor your father this Sabbath, praise also your Heavenly Father. His compassion and love are everlasting.

CREATING YOUR OWN OBSTACLES
June 16, 1991

Background Scripture: Ezra 4:1-6:5 through 6
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 66:1-14

When I first read the scripture passages for this week, I determined to write a column about overcoming obstacles. But, then I had to go for an appointment and I thought about this scripture portion on the way to and from that appointment. The more I thought about it, the more I decided that this scripture speaks to me most about not creating your own obstacles in the first place.

For that's what the returned exiles of Israel did: they triggered the opposition of their neighbors to the rebuilding of the temple of Jerusalem. These neighbors were Samaritans, many of them the descendants of foreigners who were resettled in the land of Israel after the Assyrians conquered Israel in 722 B.C. Racially, they were a mixed group. When they learned that the Jews intended to rebuild the temple, they came, offering "Let us build with you; for we worship your God as you do, and we have been sacrificing to him ever since the days of Esarhaddon, king of Assyria who brought us here" (Isaiah 44:26).

A RUDE SHOCK

The response of the Jews must have come as a rude shock to the Samaritans. Ezra tells us that the Jewish leaders, Zerubbabel, Joshua and others replied "You have nothing to do with us in building a house to our God, but we alone will build to the Lord, the God of Israel, as King Cyrus, the king of Persia has commanded us" (4:3b). That doesn't leave any room for negotiation: "nothing to do with us," "we alone will build..."

It is true that these returned exiles thought that this was what God wanted. Ezra and Nehemiah both were fanatics on the subject of racial purity. They wanted to have nothing to do with those who were foreigners. They were God's chosen people.

A DIFFERENT VIEW
At the same time, there was another radically opposing view that can be found in the Old Testament, too—the view of the Book of Ruth in which a foreigner, Ruth, becomes the heroine and great grandmother of King David. It is believed that this book was written around the same time as the books of Ezra and Nehemiah, to whose views it was diametrically opposed.

The reaction of the Samaritans is no more than we might expect: "Then the people of the land (the Samaritans) discouraged the people of Judah, and made them afraid to build, and hired counselors against them to frustrate their purpose, all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius king of Persia" (4:4). This hostility which the Jews brought upon themselves long delayed the rebuilding of the temple and kept this dispute alive into the time of Jesus.

So, the trouble they faced when they returned to Jerusalem was largely of their own making. How often do you and I create our own obstacles?

The man who makes hits out of home movies

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

Seventeen months ago, when "America's Funniest Home Videos" burst on the scene and quickly became a top-10 hit, critics shook their heads and predicted it wouldn't last. Nine months ago, when a spinoff, "America's Funniest People," hosted by David Coulter and Arleen Sorkin, joined ABC's Sunday-night schedule in the time slot following "Home Videos," the chorus of naysayers grew even louder. It was described as a clone of a fading hit that would speed both to oblivion.

Vin Di Bona

Now, it is beginning to look as if Vin Di Bona, who produces both series, will have the last laugh. Neither is quite the hit that "America's Funniest Home Videos" was at this time last year, but both spent most of the past TV season in or near the top 10 of the Nielsen ratings.

"I think we've got two very good years left," says Di Bona. "The numbers hold up well, and the country is still in love with the concept. With the two shows back-to-back, each show strengthened itself."

The key to his success, says Di Bona, is volume. "We get enough tapes (for "Videos") to do 50 shows a year, but we do 25," he says. "And by doing 25, you stay very funny. People know that if you tune in to our two shows it's not high-brow humor, but they're sure going to laugh a lot. We have 75 people on the 'Video' staff and about 60 on 'People.' These are big machines, you can't do it half-baked."

With "America's Funniest People," for example, Di Bona quickly discovered that he needed eight or nine film crews working every weekend to bring in the volume of material needed to make a good show.

"We covered almost 240 cities in just six months," he says. Customarily, Di Bona's crews go to shopping malls and tape anyone who thinks he or she can do something funny.

"Our first shoot in Chicago, we had 20 people," says Di Bona. "It was discouraging. Now, we get 2,000 people in a tiny mall in a suburb nobody ever heard about."

Of the people who are taped, only a small percentage make the show. "It's 100 to 1," says Di Bona. "And it's about the same ratio in 'Videos.'"

The two shows, Di Bona feels, have now carved out separate identities.

"People really are a performance show, and 'Videos' is a coincidence show," he says. "But there is a very conscious effort to have a similar identity in grass-root structure—the feeling that anybody in America, if they have something that is unique, special or funny, has a shot, just like anybody else, of getting on network television. Nobody ever gave that to the audience before."

The popular video shows "America's Funniest Home Videos" and "America's Funniest People" (hosted by David Coulter and Arleen Sorkin) air Sundays on ABC.

IN FOCUS

Cocaine is a problem that cuts across every class, race and ethnic group. Through an unusual but dramatic storytelling style of vignettes, "Seeds of Tragedy," airing Monday, June 17, on Fox, explores the devastating effects cocaine has on the lives of people—from its harvest in the jungles of Peru, to its smuggling into the United States, to the drug dealers and users in the streets and its extraordinary impact on our society.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

KURT REPLY — Was Kurt Russell a regular on "Wagon Train"? I seem to recall that he worked in a Western years ago, but I'm not sure which one. — L.P., Hoquiam, Wash.

Kurt Russell in "The Quail"

Russell was not a regular on "Wagon Train," but he did star in two Westerns. "The Travels of Jaimie McHeeters" (1963-64) and "The Quest" (1976), as well as the adventure series "The New Land" (1974).

VISIONS OF JOANNA — In what TV series did Joanna Kerns star prior to her role in "Growing Pains"? — R.D., Madison, Maine

Kerns' only previous series was "The Four Seasons," which aired in 1984.

CASBAH CAPER — What is the name of the movie that came out in 1950 and starred Peter Lorre and Maria Toren? I believe that it is a man committed a murder and escaped to the Casbah. — B.J.T., Lethonia, Ga.

And "Casbah" is, in fact, the name of this film. Released in 1948, it also starred Yvonne de Carlo and Tony Martin. It was a musical remake of "Algiers" (1938) and featured tunes by Harold Arlen and Leo Robin.

STONEY LOOK — Jack Lord was in a weekly Western before "Hawaii Five-O." What was the name of it? Where does Lord live now? — M.B., Buffalo, N.Y.

Jack Lord starred as a modern-day rodeo rider in the 1962-63 series "Stoney Burke." He currently lives in Hawaii.

CAMPBELL'S BIRTHDAYS — What is Glee Campbell's age? — R.W.C., Lewiston, Maine

Take your pick. Various references have given the country pop singer's birthday as April 22, 1935, March 22, 1936, or April 10, 1938, which would make him 56, 55 or 53.

CLINT IN OUR EYE — What was the name of the TV show in which Clint Howard was a child star? My husband thinks it was "Leave It to Beaver" or "My Three Sons," but I think he's wrong. — E.D., Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Canada

Ron Howard's younger brother was 5 years old when he joined the cast of "The Bayleys of Balboa" (1964-65), age 8 when he began acting opposite a bear in "Gentle Ben" (1967-69), and turned 15 on the set of "The Cowboys" (1974). He was not a cast member of "Leave It to Beaver" or "My Three Sons."

Pirates using smoke and mirrors to stay on top

BY CHRISTOPHER HULL

The degree of success that the league-leading (as of Memorial Day) Pittsburgh Pirates achieved early in the season didn't come as a complete surprise. After all, the Bucs did have the best record in the National League last season, and even though they lost five players to free agency, they returned with plenty of punch.

Barry Bonds

Among those still available to be penciled in on manager Jim Leyland's lineup card are outfielder Barry Bonds, who won the National League MVP Award last season, and outfielder Bobby Bonilla, who was runner-up. Also returning was NL Cy Young Award winner Doug Drabek. Add Andy Van Slyke, Jose Lind, Zane Smith and Gary Redus to that list, and you're looking at a team with a strong nucleus.

But what has been most surprising about the Pirates is that of all those players, only Bonilla and Smith have been producing consistently. Through the beginning of June, Smith was leading the pitching staff in innings pitched and had an ERA well below 3.00, and Bonilla was hitting a healthy .315 and leading the team in hits, runs, home runs and RBI. Bonds and Van Slyke were hitting .182 and .205, respectively.

But the team is still winning. One bright spot for the Bucs has been the play of Orlando Merced, who has been splitting time at first base with veteran Gary Redus. The Pirates managed to hold on to the services of free-agent Redus for $600,000 per year, but his and Merced's relative numbers may have the team wondering why. Through the end of May, Merced was hitting a mighty .362 to Redus' mild .197. He had also scored 17 runs to Redus' 10 and knocked in 9 RBI to Redus' 2.

The Pirates are on national TV twice this week from California Sunday, June 16, at San Francisco (ESPN), and Saturday, June 22, at Los Angeles (CBS).

SOAP SCOOP

Has the bubble burst for the soaps on NBC?

BY CONNIE PASSALACQUA

The announcement by the three networks of their fall prime-time schedules never used to affect daytime soaps a whit. But now that the old taboos have fallen and soap stars freely cross over from day to night, one definitely affects the other.

In announcing its prime-time lineup three weeks ago, CBS added "Palace Guard."

Marcy Walker

about a former actress and a former hotel thief who team up as detectives for a world-wide hotel chain. The former actress is played by Marcy Walker. That means Daytime Emmy winner Walker, who as Eden Capwell Castillo has been "Santa Barbara's" primary heroine since its 1984 premiere, will be leaving the soap. The timing couldn't be worse for "SB," which received another blow from its own network, NBC, the same day of CBS's announcements.

In fact, the announcement by NBC daytime was a body blow to the entire soap world. First, NBC daytime vice president Jackie Smith (the titan who brought you the Luke and Laura era on ABC) is officially out. NBC is limping in third place in the daytime ratings, which only eroded further during Smith's three-year reign. She is replaced by network exec John Miller. Second, encouraged by the success of "A Closer Look" (the news interview series starring Faith Daniels that succeeded the failed "Generations" in its time slot), NBC announced plans for even more infotainment reality shows.

Now, "Another World" is heavily rumored to be on the chopping block. In the fall, NBC is returning one hour of daytime network time to its local affiliates, so something, obviously, has to go.

It only gets worse. At the NBC press conference announcing daytime plans, NBC entertainment president Warren Littlefield denied a rumor that the network has set a December deadline for "SB" ratings to improve. But December will mark exactly a year since creators head writers Bridget and Jerome Dobson returned to "Santa Barbara."

That could be all the time they'll be given.

Are the NBC soaps an endangered species? You betcha. For the record, ABC senior daytime vice president Mary Alice Dwyer-Dobbin recently denied to us that the faltering "Loving" will be canceled. "We're staying with the shows we have," she said. We'll see.

One thing is clear: The world of daytime soaps is changing. For two or three, it is most likely that there will be no tomorrow to tune into.

Strauss and Morse star in espionage drama

BY FELICIA A. FEASTER

As with most international espionage tales, the four-hour rebroadcast of "Brotherhood of the Rose" (NBC, June 16 and 17) is thick with plot complications, shaky alliances and hidden enemies. Peter Strauss and David Morse play top CIA operatives who have been raised as brothers and schooled in the art of government-financed meddling by their adoptive father, CIA genius John Eliot (Robert Mitchum). After being sent by their father on some unorthodox missions, the brothers learn they are marked for assassination and must seek out a powerful Israeli agent (Connie Sellecca) to discover the truth about Eliot.

Peter Strauss

In a time when many question the will or motivation of the homeless, the rebroadcast of "God Bless the Child" (ABC, June 16) attempts to shed light on the plight of those suddenly without a home and trapped in a vicious circle of poverty. Marc Wainwright ("She Stood Alone") stars as Theresa, a mother trying to raise a psychologically healthy young child (Grace Johnston) despite her and her daughter's increasing isolation, poverty and despair. Dorian Harewood ("The Trials of Rosie O'Neill") also stars as a committed outreach worker.

Wayne Rogers, Connie Sellecca and Ana Alicia star in the rebroadcast of "Miracle Landing" (CBS, June 18), which details the true story of a near-tragic plane disaster that was averted due to the skill and pluck of a Honolulu commercial airliner's crew.

Capitalizing on the current "Silence of the Lambs"-inspired interest in serial killers, CBS is rebroadcasting "Sparks: The Price of Passion" (June 21). Victoria Principal is Patricia Sparks, the newly-elected mayor of Albuquerque, N.M., who is forced to deal with a serial killer on the loose. Ted Wass plays the handsome FBI agent who lends a hand in the case.

Director Ridley Scott ("Thelma and Louise") uses his stock-in-trade sunlit and smokey atmosphere in 1987's "Someone to Watch Over Me" (CBS, June 22), a characteristically stylish film starring Mimi Rogers and Tom Berenger ("Platoon"). After witnessing a murder, socialite Claire Gregory (Rogers) is placed under the watch of detective Mike Keegan (Berenger) when the killer threatens her life. As he shields her from the murderer, Keegan begins to develop an attraction for Claire, jeopardizing his wife's (Lorraine Bracco) trust and his ability to protect both women.

State, County Jobless Rates Fall In April

The number of people employed in Maryland rose by over 30,200 to total 2,392,667 workers in April, helping the state's estimated unemployment rate to drop from 6.0 percent in March to 5.6 percent, according to statistics released this week by the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED).

This employment increase is the highest on record for an April since 1986. It resulted in a decline of nearly 8,000 people from the number of workers unemployed in the state.

Garrett County's April jobless rate was 10.5 percent, compared to the March rate of 11.7 percent. The April 1990 rate was 7.6 percent.

"Improved employment conditions were evident throughout the state," said DEED Secretary J. Randall Evans. "Twenty of Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City recorded declines in their estimated unemployment rates."

RECEIVE SPECIAL RECOGNITION -- The Vacation Rental Department of A&A Realty/Better Homes & Gardens received special recognition at the company's annual awards banquet held recently. David Inley was presented with an award as vacation rentals manager, while Diane Hanline was recognized for her efficiencies as assistant manager. For outstanding customer service in the vacation rental department, Anita Teter was recognized for her efforts in reservations and customer relations. "This department has provided excellent service to our owners and especially to our Garrett County guests," said Karen Spiker, president/broker of A&A Realty. "Our individuals have gone the 'extra mile' to provide service with a smile and to make a Garrett County vacation a pleasant one to remember," she stated. Miss Maryland, Kimberly Grimm, was a guest at the awards banquet. Pictured above, left to right, are Miss Grimm, Anita Teter, Barbara Rohrbaugh, David Inley, and Ms. Spiker. Not pictured is Diana Hanline.

Employment opportunities in Maryland followed seasonal patterns in April. Construction continued to recover for the second month by adding 3,500 jobs, notably in special trades and for heavy contractors. However, building activity remained sluggish while employment growth in construction stayed below 1990 levels.

In other industries, there was seasonal hiring in restaurants and in building supply and hardware stores during April. This trade activity helped to offset declines in home furnishing, general merchandise and food stores.

The service industry added about 2,100 new jobs during the month, with more workers reported in agricultural services, hotels and amusements.

Employment in the state's manufacturing industry rose by 400 jobs with increased hiring and recall activity in the primary metals and stone products industries.

Education employment fell as schools closed for spring breaks.

The Baltimore metropolitan area unemployment rate fell from 6.8 percent in March to 6.2 percent in April. In both Carroll and Queen Anne's counties, unemployment rates dropped by more than a full percentage point to 5.5 percent and 4.9 percent, respectively. In Baltimore City, unemployment declined from 9.3 percent to 8.6 percent as more than 2,200 workers moved from the unemployment rolls to employment.

In Maryland's D.C. suburbs, the regional jobless rate fell to 4.0 percent in April from 4.1 percent in March. Unemployment declined throughout the area, with the exception of Prince George's County, where the jobless rate held steady at 4.4 percent.

The jobless rate fell in Western Maryland from 9.8 percent in March to 8.8 percent in April. Employment rose in the region by about 2,300 people, while unemployment declined by 935 persons. The largest decline occurred in Garrett County.

On the Eastern Shore and in Southern Maryland, jobless increases in Cecil and Wicomico counties pushed the unemployment rate up from 8.1 percent in March to 8.3 percent in April. In Cecil County, the unemployment rate rose to 11.4 percent from 8.5 percent as a result of continued layoffs in Delaware's automobile industry. Temporary layoffs in the food processing industry caused Wicomico County's unemployment rate to climb to 9.5 percent in April from March's 7.1 percent. The unemployment rate in Worcester County fell from 12.0 percent in March to 9.1 percent in April as hiring for the tourism season began on the Eastern Shore.

Locally, estimated unemployment rates in April ranged from a low of 3.0 percent in Montgomery County to a high of 12.4 percent in Somerset County.

Earns Degrees At Lynchburg

Robert L. Germain, a 1986 graduate of Southern High School, recently graduated from Lynchburg College, a private school in Central Virginia enrolling 2,550 students in professional, liberal arts and graduate studies.

The son of Joe and Carolyn Germain, Oakland, Robert graduated cum laude with B.A. degrees in French, philosophy, and political science.

Germain was also named to the dean's list for the spring semester. The list is composed of students who earn a 3.5 or better grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

Fire Marshal Concerned About Dry Conditions

Maryland's hot, dry weather has prompted warnings about fire safety from the Office of the State Fire Marshal.

"We want citizens to think about fire safety during these hot, dry conditions," stated Robert H. Shimer, Chief Deputy, Office of the State Fire Marshal. Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service broadcast, Shimer urged Marylanders to be cautious, particularly while outdoors.

"Careless smoking is blamed in more than 5,000 brush fires every year," said Shimer. "Motorists should refrain from throwing lighted smoking materials from their vehicles because of potential for fire. It doesn't take much to start these kinds of fires." State fire prevention specialists are urging citizens to be cautious while cooking outdoors, especially where charcoal grills are being used.

The Office of the State Fire Marshal is also recommending that homeowners check to make sure that smoke detectors are working properly.

"During extreme heat, we are concerned about overloading electrical circuits, particularly in older homes," stated Shimer. "The best way to avoid a fire is to prevent one."

Kim Rosenberry Graduates As Honors Scholar

Kimberly Ann Rosenberry, daughter of Charles and Verla Rosenberry, Oakland, recently graduated cum laude from West Virginia University with a bachelor of science degree in aerospace engineering.

Miss Rosenberry is a member of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, Sigma Gamma Tau, a National Honor Society for Aerospace Engineering, Tau Beta Pi, a National Honor Society for Engineering, the Golden Key National Honor Society, and the West Virginia University Scholar's Program.

WVU President Neil Bucklew recently awarded her the Presidential Award for Excellence in Scholarship from the University.

Because of her excellent academic record, she is the recipient of a graduate assistantship and a scholarship for tuition and fees from the WVU Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering Department for graduate studies. In working for her Master's Degree, she will be doing research on the reconfiguration of flight control systems in fighter aircraft after suffering battle damages

Building Trades Students Complete Training at GCC

A dinner was held recently for students of the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) building trades training, offered by Garrett Community College in cooperation with the Western Maryland Consortium. The dinner, which was held at Silver Tree Inn, provided an opportunity for staff members to recognize the accomplishments of the students.

The students, who range in age from 18 to 40, began their studies by learning basic math for carpenters, building trade terms, blueprint reading, and retail selling fundamentals. After "hands on" learning in frame carpentry, they specialized in either wiring or finish carpentry.

Throughout the 15 week, 600 hour training program, the students practiced these building techniques by constructing a small building, which is now for sale.

As the students have demonstrated competencies in all areas, they are currently prepared to join the local work force as carpenters, carpenter helpers, and electrician helpers, a spokesperson said. They are also prepared to work in retail sales, associated with the building trades, and in the manufacturing of building materials in service, remodeling, and maintenance positions.

While several of the students have already been hired, a number of well qualified students are seeking immediate employment, the spokesperson said. Employers who wish to review resumes of the students are asked to contact Lynne or Sandy at 387-6666, extension 180.

Crime Solvers

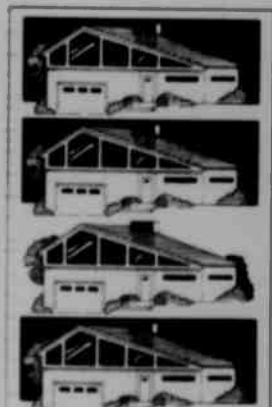

The Garrett County Crime Solvers case of the week involves the theft of personal property and building materials.

An unknown person or persons entered a home under construction on Sky Valley Road during the night of May 13. The culprits removed personal belongings, building materials, and construction equipment valued at $1450.

All leads in this case have been exhausted, and Crime Solvers needs the help of any person who may know about this theft. Persons who have information about this or any other unsolved crime are urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975, or by writing to G.C. Crime Solvers, P.O. Box 731, Oakland, Md., 21550.

Rewards up to $1,000 are available for persons who provide tips that lead to an arrest. Those who provide information do not have to give their names nor appear in court.

Parents Reminded To Register Youth For School

The Garrett County Board of Education reminds parents that their children who will be entering school for the first time this fall should be registered soon, according to Al Coviello, director of pupil services.

"If you did not register your kindergarten or new first grade student during the recently held pre-registration program, you may do so by contacting the principal of your local school to arrange an appointment. This should be done as soon as possible," Coviello said.

Parents must take the child's birth certificate, social security card, and immunization records with them at the time of registration.

Any child who will be 5 years of age on or before December 31 of this year must be enrolled in school; and any child who will be 5 years of age on or before December 31 may be enrolled in kindergarten.

Families who are planning to move during the summer should check with the local school or Pupil Services Office to see whether or not the children will be attending the same school this fall.

"If the new residence places the child in a new school district, it would be better to make the transfer during the summer rather than after school begins," Coviello said.

Champion Tree Book Available

Maryland Department of Natural Resources Secretary Torrey C. Brown, M.D., announces publication of the 128-page, hardcover book, The Big Tree Champions of Maryland 1990. Last published in 1973, the book presented 157 big tree champions as represented in 21 of Maryland's 24 jurisdictions of counties and Baltimore City.

The book includes over 30 black and white photographs of Maryland champions and was edited by Robert S. Prenger Jr. and Maureen T. Brooks of the DNR Forestry staff.

Some 579 trees were surveyed statewide following their nominations as potential champions. Champion trees are nominated by landowners. DNR forestry staff inspect and certify all nominated trees as potential champion trees.

The new publication of Champion Trees of Maryland, Famous and Historical Trees of Maryland, Roadside Trees, Native and Naturalized Trees, and Big Tree Nominations. There is also information available on the nomination process as well as a listing of both the proper and popular names of the trees. Scientific names for the native, naturalized and ornamental species in the book are based on Woody Plants of Maryland and Manual of Woody Landscape Plants.

The book is available by mail from the Department of Natural Resources for $11.50. Persons should make checks payable to the Department of Natural Resources and send the request to DNR Forestry, Big Tree Book, 580 Taylor Avenue, Annapolis, MD 21401. The book is $9.95, tax is 50 cents and shipping is $1.05.

Purchases of the publication may also be made at selected state park concessions and the Tawes Gift Shop in the Tawes State Office Building at 580 Taylor Avenue, Annapolis. Gift shop hours are 11 to 3, Monday through Friday.

State park concessions selling the book will be: Sandy Point, Pocomoke River, Seneca Creek, Smallwood, Herrington Manor, New Germany, Rocky Gap, Fort Frederick, Greenbrier, Cunningham Falls, Elk Neck State Parks and Green Ridge State Forest.

State Awards $5.13 Million For The Arts

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced that $5.13 million in matching grants has been awarded to Maryland arts organizations for fiscal year 1992. The grants were awarded by the Maryland State Arts Council, an agency of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED).

Grants to Maryland's eight statewide arts organizations totaled $2.85 million. These included $98,670 to the Alvin Ailey American Dance Foundation of Maryland, $525,493 to the Baltimore Museum of Art, $182,803 to the Baltimore Opera Company, $1.05 million to the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, $288,083 to Center Stage, $126,865 to the Olney Theatre, $501,527 to the Walters Art Gallery and $67,275 to the Ward Foundation.

Grants totalling $1.4 million were allocated to other arts organizations, and $855,291 was awarded to county arts councils.

The Garrett County Arts Council was awarded $31,286. The Garrett Lakes Art Festival received a multi-discipline grant of $8,000 and the Spruce Forest Artisan Village in Grantsville was awarded a folk arts heritage grant of $2,000.

"The arts continue to be an essential part of Maryland's excellent quality of life," said Governor Schaefer. "Even though we had to reduce the funds for the arts somewhat, we have kept the funding levels sufficient to maintain our state's strong culture and arts foundation."

The Maryland General Assembly approved a 20 percent increase for the arts in fiscal year 1991. However, after interim budget cuts were made in the 1991 budget and final budget submissions were agreed upon for the new year, the Maryland State Arts Council saw a 10.3 percent reduction in funds available for making grants in fiscal year 1992.

Correction Noted

It was stated in last week's issue of The Republican in a front page photo caption that Larry Maxim was the manager of Savage River State Park. The correct designation should have been Savage River State Forest.

How To Save Up To $43,380.51 On Your Mortgage.

Now you can save a substantial amount of interest on your mortgage and pay it off more quickly. It's easy with a Bi-Weekly Mortgage, new from First Federal Savings Bank.

The idea behind a Bi-Weekly Mortgage is very simple. Instead of making one monthly mortgage payment, you make 1/2 a payment every two weeks. So how do you save all that interest?

Simple mathematics tells you that 1/2 a payment every two weeks over the course of a year equals 26 bi-weekly payments—or the yearly equivalent of 13 monthly payments. So your mortgage is paid off more quickly, meaning less interest as well.

Your payments will be automatically deducted from a First Federal checking account, so you won't have to worry about writing two checks a month instead of one.

Still not convinced? Well, just take a look at how much you'd save on both a fixed rate and an adjustable rate Bi-Weekly Mortgage versus a traditional monthly mortgage:

Mortgage Amount	$75,000
Interest Rate	10.50% Fixed (11.024% A.P.R.)
Term	15 Years
Monthly Payment	$829.50
BI-WEEKLY PAYMENT	$414.75
Total Paid (Monthly)	$149,310.00
TOTAL PAID (BI-WEEKLY)	$134,793.75

INTEREST SAVINGS WITH BI-WEEKLY MORTGAGE! $14,516.25

AND YOU OWN YOUR HOME IN JUST 12 1/2 YEARS INSTEAD OF 15!

Mortgage Amount	$75,000
Interest Rate	8.75% Adjustable (9.732% A.P.R. *)
Term	30 Years
Monthly Payment	$590.25
BI-WEEKLY PAYMENT	$295.13
Total Paid (Monthly)	$212,490.00
TOTAL PAID (BI-WEEKLY)	$169,109.49

INTEREST SAVINGS WITH BI-WEEKLY MORTGAGE! $43,380.51

AND YOU OWN YOUR HOME IN JUST 22 YEARS INSTEAD OF 30!

DNR Reports On Nontidal Wetlands Program Success

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Secretary Torrey C. Brown has announced that all aspects of the state's new nontidal wetlands protection program have met expectations for the first five months of the program. In making the announcement, Dr. Brown released permit figures indicating that final action has been taken on 45 percent of the 483 applications submitted to DNR's Permits Service Center. The remainder of the applications are under review or the applicants are providing more information. Dr. Brown noted, "The real success of the program should be measured by how well we are protecting wetlands and by our service to the public. Our experience in meeting these goals is better than we expected." Dr. Brown highlighted the following accomplishments of the program since January 1, when the regulatory program went into effect: • Many applicants have been able to reduce and even eliminate impacts to wetlands with assistance from DNR. Authorizations issued will result in less than one quarter of an acre of nontidal wetlands loss state-wide. This loss will be made up by the state through creation, restoration or enhancement projects at other sites. • The strict permit processing deadlines of the new law are being met. Processing time for a number of applications has been much shorter. • The coordinated state-federal application review process has eliminated duplicate work for the applicant. The state's authorizations combine several approvals formerly issued separately by state and federal agencies. • DNR's three permit service offices are providing a convenient local contact for many citizens. Dr. Brown pointed out that over 500 people have "walked in" to get information or help with their applications. DNR offices have fielded over 5,000 calls. "People really appreciate the personal service they get at our field offices," emphasized the DNR secretary. As he noted the following activities, Dr. Brown continued, "We have also begun to make good on our commitment to improve and create new nontidal wetlands." • The kick-off for the state's first nontidal wetlands enhancement project was held May 31 on Wye Island. Over six acres of previously-farmed wetlands on state-owned land were improved with plants that will return the site to its natural function as they mature. The state's first "Swamp Squad" — 50 third graders from Grasonville Elementary — helped with the project. • Hundreds of acres of state-owned land have been identified as having potential for enhancement, creation and restoration of wetlands. The plan is to have sites in every major watershed in the state.

DO YOU HAVE FEEDBACK OR WHISTLING WITH YOUR HEARING AID?
ARE YOU CONTINUALLY ADJUSTING THE VOLUME?
This is a common complaint that we hear from many hearing aid users. With the new Clearstone hearing aids you will not have feedback once the hearing aid is completely in your ear. You will not have to continually adjust the volume control because the hearing aid will automatically reduce the loud noises for you.
We have found that it even helps those who have Tinnitus "ringing ears".

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Glen Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. Bash Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bowser, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kamp and children, Neil and Angela, Mrs. Tom Jachlitter and children, Brian and Melody, Patrick Hurley, Pam Wiland, Bob Perlew, and Mary Kamp.

Extension Service Will Test Pressure Canner Gauges

As in previous years, the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service, 202 S. Third Street, Oakland, Md. (301-334-1990) will test the dial gauges of pressure canners for accuracy.

To take advantage of the free service, persons must bring the pressure canner lid with the gauge attached to the Extension Office.

If personnel is available, the test can be completed in ten minutes. A call ahead to the Extension Office is advised.

The Extension Service Home Economics Department also has free canning fact sheets on a variety of fruits and vegetables available.

In Memory Of Kermit D. Beitzel

The years have gone so quickly by Still the tears are in our eyes
The things you said, the things you've done
They still remain, each and every one
We still ask why you had to go
The answer we'll never know
Your memory we hold on to
It's not enough, but it has to do
We love Kermit, we always will
But once again, we'll be still
And thank God for the years we had with you
The good ones, and the bad ones too
The years will go on passing by
But our love for you will never die

Loved and missed by Mom, Brothers and Sister
...and all who loved him.

LOCAL STUDENTS ATTEND CONVENTION -- April was designated "Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention Month" in Maryland. A number of prevention activities occurred statewide including the seventh annual Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention Conference, held at the Baltimore Convention Center on April 11 and 12. Students from Northern and Southern high schools attended the conference which was entitled "Prevention Empowerment in Maryland... A Blueprint for Action." It stressed the importance of community involvement in wiping out drug and alcohol abuse. Pictured standing in front is Don Swogger, local coordinator for alcohol/drug prevention programs; and in the front row, left to right, are Linda Youmans, Becky Alken, Angie Friend, Rachel Morton, Andy Layman, Melissa Miller and Julia Maus; second row, same order, are Dan'l Seib, Sarah Bosley, Paula Sines, Natalie Wolf, Tammy Fadely, Renee Starks, Jo Mitchum, Gina Collins, Tawny Collins, Amy Giotfelty, Cindy Graham, and Ann Kendall.

FINZEL LEARNING PROGRAM HELD

Mrs. Dorothy Minick, kindergarten teacher at Route 40 School, and Mrs. Betty Burdock, teacher assistant, presented a program at Eastern Garrett County Community Building recently entitled "Helping Prepare Your Child For Kindergarten/Learning Can

Thirteen mothers, fathers, and grandparents were in attendance. Parents were given handout material and learning games to work with their children.

Mrs. Minick showed the parents various selections of books available to purchase for the children during the school year. A question and answer session followed the program.

Lori Minick and Jennifer Burdock had Story Time, reading books and crafts for the children while the program was being held. Fourteen children were present. The program was coordinated by Mary Margaret Ward, and sponsored by Finzel Community branch of the Ruth Enlow Library.

SCHOOL NEWS
The children at Route 40 School made book markers for the 40th Anniversary open house held recently at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland.

Winners were: Samantha Austin, David Puckett, Trisha Kamp, Eric Durst, Brook Shaffer, Michael Fletcher, Jessica Cagle, Bryan

Brown, Michelle Miller, Adam Kittis, Teri Beal, and Jimmy Warnick.

LIBRARY NEWS
A new selection of paperbacks is now available at the library. A new arrival of non-fiction will be arriving the beginning of June.

A new collection of "Easy Readers" along with books and tapes is available for the summer. Books and tape sets may be checked out for one week.

The summer reading theme is "Clowns."

SCCP PLANS
The SCC Program, Recreation and Crafts, will be held at the Finzel Park June 24-28, July 8-12, July 15-19, July 22-26, and July 29-31.

The bookmobile will make weekly stops on Wednesday at 9:45 a.m. Persons interested in taking advantage of the bookmobile are encouraged to use the services offered. A list of activities and programs will be available at a later date.

The Finzel Park is located on Rt. 546.

State Regent Guest Of Local D.A.R. Chapter

Ladies and spouses of the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met in the Sitzmark Room of the Will O' the Wisp, May 19, for their annual dinner.

Mrs. John Reckner, regent, introduced the chapter officers and guests, who were Mrs. Roger Wren Carroll, retiring state regent, Mrs. Reece V. Henschley, current state regent, Mrs. Charles Garman, current chapter regent, her husband, Charles, and Major Charee Reckner Puliti, recently returned from the Persian Gulf Theatre.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Reckner introduced the speaker, Mrs. Roger Wren Carroll, who read a list of resolutions adopted at the 100th National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Continental Congress held April 15-19. Then, in a unique manner, she brought the pageantry of the opening session of the Congress to the present moment. Twenty-one vice-president generals of the NSDAR were in attendance. Medallions for outstanding service were presented to Sandra Day O'Connor, Supreme Court Justice, Jeanne Kirkpatrick, former ambassador to the United Nations, and Elizabeth P. Campbell, originator of Public Broadcasting. The new logo for NSDAR is "Guard that Which is Committed to Thy Trust."

Mrs. Carroll announced that this is the last year that the "short form" applications can be used for membership into NSDAR and that October 11 will be the closing date. She praised Ann Hunter for her book A Century of Service which tells the story of the Daughters of the American Revolution during the last 100 years.

Mrs. Carroll is a candidate for the office of NSDAR Curator General at the 101st Continental Congress in April 1992.

Mrs. Reece Henschley was introduced and spoke briefly of her plans for work as the POSTER CONTEST WINNERS -- The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad recently conducted a poster and essay contest for the students in grades kindergarten through fifth grade in schools in the southern end of the county. The theme of the contest was "The Team That Cares." The first and second place winners for the fourth grade essays are students from Swan Meadow School. Jerry Yoder received a $50 savings bond from First United National Bank and Trust. Ezra Peachy received the second place award -- a $15 gift certificate from the Book Market. Pictured left to right are Samuel Moon, Southern Garrett Rescue Squad; Jerry Yoder, Ezra Peachy, and Mary Clark, Swan Meadow School.

State Regent during the next two years.

Mrs. Charles Garman was introduced as the present Chapter Regent and spoke to the chapter concerning the Kachina or Indian "spirit dolls" which she and her husband make and sell at their shop on the Nazelrod Road in the Bethlehem community.

The name of Mrs. Willis Blackburn was presented as a transfer member from the Fort Severn Chapter, Severna Park, and she was unanimously voted to membership in the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter.

Mrs. Reckner announced that the Executive Board Members' Workshop will be held Thursday, June 13, at 1:30 p.m. at her home in McHenry.

The regular meeting of the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, D.A.R., will convene the third Monday of September at St. Paul's United Methodist Church.

ACC To Host U.S. Air Force Woodwind Quintet

The U.S. Air Force Tactical Air Command Woodwind Quintet returns to Allegany Community College, Cumberland, Tuesday, June 18, for a free concert that starts at 8 p.m.

The quintet, which performed at ACC a year ago, spans 250 years of musical tradition with a repertoire that includes a wide variety of chamber works, as well as popular and patriotic pieces.

The group's leader and obitist, Master Sgt. Robin Forrester Meadows, attributes the quintet's versatility to its members' educational backgrounds and experience.

The musicians have studied with members of such major orchestras as the London Symphony, Royal Philharmonic, NBC Symphony, New York Philharmonic, Virginia Symphony, and National Symphony.

In addition, the five have attended some of the leading music schools in the country: Michigan State, the Juilliard School, the University of Illinois, James Madison University, and the University of Arizona.

Composed of flute, oboe, clarinet, horn and bassoon, the quintet is part of the Tactical Air Command Band, a 45-member group based at Langley Air Force Base in Virginia.

Tickets are available at the door prior to the concert, which will be held in the ACC Theatre, located in the College Center.

Bishop Eastman To Visit Local Episcopal Church

The Rt. Rev. Theodore Eastman, Diocesan Bishop of the Episcopal Church of the State of Maryland, will make his annual visit to Garrett County this Sunday, June 16.

One service of worship only will be held at St. John's Church in Deer Park. The Log Church will be open, but no services will be held there this week.

The Bishop will receive one person into full membership and accept the reaffirmation of faith of two others. He will also commission four others -- Gladys Virts, Darrell Wotring, Arthur Lake, and Sally Marc -- as lay eucharistic ministers.

These four will join three others already commissioned and serve the Holy Communion on Sundays, assisting the priest.

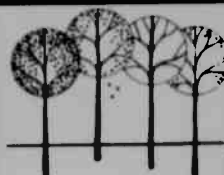

During his time of visit, he will be meeting with the Advisory Board to discuss the future mission and ministry of GCEM and will meet with the parishioners for a discussion and teaching session. He will also examine the church register and service books.

Mrs. Sarah Eastman, his wife, will accompany him and present the newest organization, "Friends of the Cathedral Gardens," and bring cards for membership. R. Lee Custer, the Vicar's spouse, will be her escort and luncheon companion while business of the parish is conducted.

Later that afternoon, Bishop Eastman will meet with all ordained Episcopal clergy in Garrett County --

"The Amazon Adventure"

What kid wouldn't want to visit a jungle?

With this in mind, the Pleasant View Baptist Church, located two miles south of Oakland on Rt. 219, is planning its 1991 VBS program around the theme of the Amazon jungle. This unforgettable theme will involve your children in a fascinating jungle adventure during the week.

This exciting VBS program begins Monday, June 17, and ends Friday, June 21. Each new adventure session will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. and is open to all ages, 3 through adult.

Students will enjoy a challenging time of Bible lessons, singing, craft projects, Scripture memorization, recreation, contests, puppets, and much more.

There is no charge for this VBS program.

For further information, call the church at 334-8515. Marty Herron, pastor of Pleasant View Baptist Church, cordially invites all to The Amazon Adventure.

ROTARY CLUB
The Rotary Club met June 3, and had as guests, Rotary Governor of District 737, Donald Carn, Altoona, Pa.; and Edd Neff, Selinsgrove, Pa.

The club had a picnic dinner on June 10, at Bill Slagle's home. Bill gave a short tour of his farm: ginseng, garden, black walnut, and mushroom growing.

April Slagle played the national anthem on her violin. Visiting were Owen F. and Carol Frantz, Bill Gindlesburger, Danny Margroff, Mrs. Leslie Savage. All Rotaryans were present. Bill Slagle's mother, Inez Slagle, played the accordion and told several stories. Also, Don and Ann Mary's Daughter and granddaughter were guests. Harry Savage has the program on June 17.

CONTATA FOR COMMUNITY
"This Is America," a patriotic cantata by Michael Parks, will be presented at the Friendsville Elementary School on Tuesday, July 2, at 7:30 p.m. It will be sung by the Garrett County Community Chorus, whose members come from Grantsville, Accident, Friendsville, and Garrett Community College. The Friendsville performance is sponsored by area churches and local service organizations. Admission is free; everyone is invited. There is also a decorating contest being held with two $50.00 savings bonds as prizes.

LUTHERAN
Worship service will be at 10 a.m., June 16, at Grace Lutheran Church.

BAKE & YARD SALE
A bake and yard sale will be held to benefit the building fund of Grace Lutheran Church. Lutheran Brotherhood Branch 8483 and Grace Lutheran Church Women are the sponsors. Lutheran Brotherhood will have matching funds up to $450.00. The sale will start at 9:30 a.m. at the church on Saturday, June 29.

LAUREL RUN VBS
Vacation Bible School will be held at Laurel Run Church of God, White Rock Road, Monday through Friday, June 24-28, from 9 to 11:30 a.m., daily. Anyone wishing to enroll a child in kindergarten through youth, should call 746-5319. A program will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m.

RUSH BAPTIST CHURCH
Approximately 30 attended the Father's Day covered dish dinner on Sunday after worship service at Rush Baptist Church. Registration for Bible School will be Friday, June 14, at 6:30 p.m., at the church. Bible School will be held June 24-28, daily, from 7 to 9 p.m.

ASHER GLADE BRETHREN
Vacation Bible School will be held June 17-24, each evening from 7 to 8:30 p.m., at the Brethren Church. Topic for each evening will be "Camp Can-Do."

The father-son covered dish dinner held at the church on Sunday and prepared by wives and daughters was well attended. Prizes were given to each father, and eight special prizes were presented. Three members of the congregation presented with Bibles for their graduation were: Regina Umbel, Uniontown Area Sr. High School; Brian Friend, Allegany Community College, Cumberland; and Brian Evans, Potomac State College, Keyser, W. Va.

METHODIST
Greeters for the service at Selbysport United Methodist Church for the service at 10 a.m., Sunday, June 18, will be Joanne Robinson and Alan Guard.

Mrs. Dorothy Lowdermilk entertained eight members of the Selbysport U.M.W. on Tuesday at her home. Mrs. Olive Grove, president, presided at the meeting. Plans were made to serve Brotherhood on Tuesday, July 9, at 7 p.m., at the church, with ladies as guests. Betty Vitez gave the program. The July 2 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Faye Humberson, at 7 p.m.

A Father's Day program will be presented by the congregation of Blooming Rose United Methodist Church on Sunday, June 16, at 9 a.m. Sunday School is at 10 a.m.

Southern High School Students Of The Month Selected

Garth Glatfelter, and Angie Teagarden. Also pictured is Lowell Leitzel, teacher and assistant Student County advisor.

Jennifer Reeves, a junior, received the English Student of the Month Award. The daughter of Arden and Loretta Reeves of Mtn. Lake Park, she is a member of the Southern softball team, the National Honor Society, Winterguard, and is vice president of the Student Council. She is also a member of VICA and was one of the 12 gold medal winners selected to travel to Louisville, Kentucky, for the national competition. In addition to these school activities, Jennifer is also president of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club, a coach for the Garrett Gymnastics Club, and attends St. Peter's Catholic Church. A previous English Student of the Month winner, she plans to attend college and major in foreign language education.

Angie Teagarden, a senior, received the Home Economics Student of the Month Award. The daughter of Glenn and Linda Teagarden, Oakland, she is a member of the National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, Yearbook, and Student Council. She has received the Ray A. Kroc Award, Minds in Motion Award, and School for Success Award. She was the president of her class in her junior year, and was a cast member of the junior class play. She is also a member of her church's youth group. She plans to attend Garrett Community College next year and major in mathematics and secondary education.

The Math Student of the Month Award was received by Michael Stauffer, a senior, son of Paul and Betty Stauffer, Mtn. Lake Park. He has received five previous Student of the Month awards, a Rotary Student of the Semester award, a commendation from the National Merit Scholarship program, the Outstanding Chemistry Student award for 1989-1990, and was a Maryland Distinguished Scholar finalist. His activities include VICA, the Church of the Brethren Youth Fellowship, and the National Honor Society. After graduation, he will be attending Bridgewater College in Virginia to major in math or physics.

Garth Glatfelter received the Electronics Student of the Month Award. He is the son of George and Mary Glatfelter and is a junior at Southern. He is a member of VICA, the National Honor Society, the varsity football and baseball teams, and is an honor roll student. He attends Crellin Assembly of God Church. He plans to attend college after graduation and go into the electronics field.

Jeremy Groves, a junior, received the Science Student of the Month Award. The son of Steve and Debra Cowgill, Mtn. Lake Park, he is a member of the National Honor Society, VICA, and is an honor roll student. His plans for after graduation are undecided.

The Social Studies Student of the Month was received by Billie Jo Corby, a junior. The daughter of Marion and Alysia Bowman of Swanton, she was a previous Math Student of the Month award winner, has received physical fitness awards, and has been on the honor roll. Billie Jo would like to continue her education to become an accountant.

Tourism Office Offers Summer Travel Guide

To assist Maryland visitors during the 1991 summer travel season, the Maryland Office of Tourism Development has announced the availability of the Maryland Travel Kit featuring the latest editions of the Maryland Travel and Outdoor Guide and the summer Calendar of Events. The kit is free to the public.

George Williams, director of the Office of Tourism Development, part of the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, said, "Based on suggestions received from recent visitors, we made some improvements in the Travel and Outdoor Guide and Calendar of Events. We're pleased with the results and believe that the new Maryland Travel Kit provides an in-depth look at all Maryland has to offer in an easy-to-use format."

The Travel and Outdoor Guide is an 18-month edition. Expanded from 88 pages to 104, the guide lists attractions, accommodations and restaurants by county under the heading of each region. Listed in the guide are 231 marinas, campgrounds and the new spectator sports section listing favorite Maryland pastimes.

The summer/fall edition of the Calendar of Events covers June through December of this year. The 40-page listing includes an index, by month, of all entries in alphabetical order, making it easier to find a specific event.

To receive a free copy of the Maryland Travel Kit, the public may call 1-800-543-1036.

Respite Care Available At Truesdell Home

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging is now offering respite care services at its Truesdell Assisted Living Home located in Deer Park. Respite care is a 24-hour supervised care provided to elderly persons (62+ years of age) who are ambulatory. The care includes all meals, laundry services, and assistance with personal care activities, as well as recreational activities.

The service is offered to families caring for an elderly relative who may wish to plan a vacation or just "take a breather" from the demands of care giving. The cost for respite care is $250 per week.

Availability of rooms is minimal; therefore, individuals seeking the service are urged to contact the home to schedule bed space as soon as possible. Further information is available upon request by contacting Alice Bell, coordinator, at the Truesdell Home, 334-8409.

Allegany County Stroke Club To Meet June 21

Terry Wolff, chairman, Allegany County Stroke Club, has announced that the next meeting will be on Friday, June 21, at 1 p.m. in the clubroom of the Kensington-Algonquin Senior Apartment, 1 Baltimore Street, Cumberland. The clubroom is accessible for wheelchairs and canes. By popular request, the speaker for the meeting will be Dr. Sandra Howard. Since Dr. Howard is an emergency room physician at both Sacred Heart and Frostburg Community hospitals, her topic will be, "Emergency Treatment of the Stroke Patient."

A question and answer period will follow Dr. Howard's talk. Refreshments will be served. The Nominating Committee will present a slate of officers at the June meeting for the election to be held on Friday, July 19. Nominations will be accepted from the floor. It is important that all members attend both meetings.

Additional information on the Allegany County Stroke Club may be obtained by contacting Terry Wolff at 301-729-1640 or the American Heart Association at 301-724-4011.

Membership in the club is open to anyone in the tri-state area, and all meetings are open to the public. Anyone who wishes to be visited at a hospital or in the home may contact Chairman Wolff at the above number or 304-298-3741 (Mineral County); 301-746-8269 (Garrett County); or 814-634-0335 (Somerset County).

Math Test Results Show Maryland Students Are At National Average

State School Superintendent Joseph L. Shilling has released results of a national mathematics test that, he said, supports the need to "move ahead at full speed" with Maryland's public education reform initiative, Schools for Success.

Results of the National Assessment of Education Progress (NAEP) mathematics test released by the National Center for Educational Statistics (NCES) show Maryland eighth grade students scoring at the national average on the test. On a 500-point scale, Maryland students scored 260 compared with a national average of 261 for students across the nation.

Maryland was one of 37 states, and the territories of the District of Columbia, Virgin Islands, and Guam to volunteer as a participant in this trial state test given in February 1990. The test was the first time NAEP has administered tests that yield state-by-state academic performance information. In Maryland, a representative sample of 2,794 randomly selected students from 105 public schools across the state took the test.

The NAEP mathematics test included multiple choice and open ended questions in numbers and operations, measurements, geometry, data analysis and statistics, and algebra.

"The NAEP assessment reinforces our commitment to improve mathematics education across the board in Maryland," Superintendent Shilling said. "We need to move ahead at full speed with the Maryland School Performance Program and with the Schools for Success strategies that relate to mathematics."

State criterion-referenced tests administered to students in grades 3, 5, and 8 for the first time last month represent an important step in identifying areas where instruction in mathematics needs to be improved, Shilling said. The state tests are part of the Maryland School Performance Program, a major effort to improve students' school participation and achievement.

The Eisenhower Mathematics and Science Program is in each local school system in Maryland that provides teacher training in mathematics and science.

The Superintendent has recommended that the State Board of Education raise high school graduation requirements by requiring all students to take courses in algebraic and geometric concepts. The board will take up the issue at its next meeting on June 25-26. "One basic principle of proposed new graduation requirements is to eliminate the general track and require all students to take more academic courses," Shilling said.

The State Board of Education began a new round of discussions of improving mathematics instruction in March when it received a report of a task force on mathematics, science, and technology.

The task force recommended upgrading programs in mathematics, science, and technology, including:

- *establishing the three areas as education priorities;
- *raising standards for teacher preparation;
- *increasing resources directed at improving mathematics, science and technology education.

The Superintendent also cited other activities that focus on improving mathematics achievement. These included Governor's Academy that will continue to upgrade teacher's skills in mathematics, science and technology.

Outcome Based Public Education that reports what students know in academic areas. The outcomes are assessed with a new Criterion-Referenced Test (CRT), administered in grades 3, 5, 8, and 11. The focus of an outcomes approach is to improve students' school participation and achievement.

The Eisenhower Mathematics and Science Program is in each local school system in Maryland that provides teacher training in mathematics and science.

Technology for students is being increased so more students will have access to appropriate technology mathematics teaching at all levels.

"Results of the NAEP test, together with more detailed information from the state's performance tests, will give us the information we need to develop a mathematics program in Maryland that will in fact allow us to rank in the top five states in the nation," Superintendent Shilling said.

Almost as many people live in New York City as in Chicago, Los Angeles and Philadelphia combined.

Century 21

THE CENTURY 21 OPEN HOUSE WEEKEND

MAKE SURE YOU'RE ON THE RIGHT TRAIL DURING HOUSE HUNTING SEASON

Come see these affordable vacation homes located in SKY VALLEY. For your convenience, an agent will be on stand-by at the office to personally escort you to these fabulous buys! A place on the lake is not a dream anymore! Stop by or call ahead to arrange a convenient time for your preview.

Special "Open House" price of $61,000. makes this a truly great bargain! Stop by for your personal tour and meet with your representative to receive some free financing information that could possibly help you afford this quality and comfortable 3 bedroom home. DIRECTIONS: Route 219 South toward Red House, first house on left before "Piddles Griddle."

It's time to get your dream back on track to buy a home! While you are previewing this 3 bedroom home overlooking the valley, ask your hostess Patty to do a financial analysis for you, no obligation, to see if you can call this home "yours."

DIRECTIONS: Route 669, Springs Road in Grantsville. Take Rt. 40 West to Route 669. Home is approximately 1 1/2 miles on right.

SUNPLACE #33 -- Located on the waterfront side of the Sunplace development, stop by to see the gorgeous decor! An indoor pool, community building, and a direct lakefront dock are among the amenities which you'll enjoy. Consult with your host to find your best financial package for you to purchase this spectacular unit!

DIRECTIONS: Located on Deep Creek Drive just outside of McHenry. Unit is on waterfront side, look for balloons.

"Open Houses" are generally meant for prospective purchasers, but we at Century 21, Country Time Realty invite potential sellers to also stop by at any of our open houses to find out how the Century 21 system can work for you. We will be available to explain to the seller our unique marketing capabilities and some free tips to selling your home.

So join us this weekend or call the office at 387-9500 to set up a convenient time for a no obligation consultation.

May 17 was the date of Parent/Member Banquets held by both of Garrett County's FFA chapters — North Garrett Chapter at Northern High School in Accident, and Oakland Chapter at Southern High School in Oakland. At both banquets, members were recognized for outstanding achievements, and awards were presented for participation and leadership.

The North Garrett membership was called to order by President Jeff Lowdermilk, and Principal Mildred Wucik welcomed those attending. The awards were presented by visiting state FFA officers, alumni members and Advisor Larry Deal.

The closing ceremony was preceded by a video presentation featuring the year's activities.

The Oakland FFA Chapter's welcome to those attending was given by President Dave Tracey, with award presentations made by state FFA officers and Advisor Steve Kisner. A video presentation, "1990-91 Year In Review," was followed by the distribution of door prizes and the closing ceremony.

Tonya Broadwater Is 1991-92 Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess

Garrett and Allegany counties have a 1991-92 Dairy Princess. Committee Chairperson Nancy Savage announced this week that the new Dairy Princess is Tonya Broadwater.

Tonya is the 17-year-old daughter of Gary and Virginia Broadwater, who own and operate a 25-acre dairy farm in the Accident area. Among her farm responsibilities, Tonya helps milk the family's herd of Holsteins. She feeds cows and calves, helps make hay and harvest the crops on the farm.

Tonya will be a senior this fall at Northern High School, and is treasurer of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA), treasurer of the Crafts Club, and a previous member of Students Helping Other People (SHOP).

The new Dairy Princess is busy preparing for participation in the state Dairy Princess Contest, and will represent area dairy farmers at store promotions, in parades, and at organizational meetings during her reign.

Maryland Farmers Could Benefit From Freer Trade With Mexico

Could easing of trade restrictions between the United States and Mexico have significance for Maryland farmers?

Yes, says Dr. Ramon E. Lopez, professor of agricultural and resource economics at the University of Maryland in College Park. Dr. Lopez spoke during a live session at the Maryland Department of Agriculture building in Annapolis on June 4, following a teleconference on world trade.

Grain farmers and broiler producers are most apt to be affected, Lopez said. The effect would be bullish for grain farmers and slightly bearish for the poultry industry.

Assuming that Mexico eliminates its trade barriers, U.S. grain exports to that nation could expand greatly in the next 10 years, Lopez said.

This would lower feed costs for Mexican broiler producers as much as 50 percent. Since they already have lower labor, rental and installation costs than their Maryland counterparts, Mexican broilers could become very competitive in the U.S. market.

Lopez admitted that Newcastle disease could be a major food safety concern regarding Mexican broilers shipped into the U.S. But he thinks that can be overcome when consumers are educated to the fact that the disease is transmitted only through live birds — not processed chickens. He noted that Mexico already ships processed chickens to Japan.

Martin R. Brill, international sales director for B. Green and Company of Baltimore, also spoke following the teleconference at the MDA building in Annapolis. His topic was "GATT — Seizing the Opportunity."

Brill noted that his company is Maryland's largest wholesale grocery operation. It has 11 warehouses and handles 15,000 different products.

He commented that the U.S. has been as guilty as many other countries when it comes to trade barriers. "Tariffs are not only too high," he declared,

"they're confusing. Labeling requirements are not uniform among countries in the European Community, and there are no uniform standards for food additives."

Lack Of Rain

Becomes Concern

By June 9, crops in some areas are showing signs of drought stress. An average of 6.1 days was suitable for fieldwork during this past week, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Across the state, 32 percent of the topsoil was very short of moisture, 54 percent was short, 14 percent was adequate and none was surplus. Subsoil moisture ended the week as follows: 9 percent was very short, 64 percent was short, 27 percent was adequate, and none was surplus. All the small grains were in good condition across the state. Hay supplies were adequate. Lack of rain has deteriorated pastures from good to fair condition. Peaches and apples were in good condition and the fruit set was above average.

Maryland's progress for the week ending June 9 was as follows, listing the item, the percentage this year, last year's percentage, and the percentage for the five-year average.

Crops Planted: Soybeans, 63, 52, 50; Sorghum, 92, N/A, N/A; Sweet Corn, 84, 87, 87; Snap Beans, 84, 68, 78.

Crop Stage: Winter Wheat Turning, 92, 34, 39; Rye Turning, 78, 69, 63; Oats Headed, 60, 41, 48; Oats Turning, 14, 7, 5.

Crops Harvested: Barley, 50, 0, 7; Rye, 15, 18, 9; Green Peas, 73, 45, 41; Strawberries, 89, 68, 63; Other Hay 1st Cutting, 98, 80, 84; Alfalfa 1st Cutting, 98, 80, 84; Alfalfa 2nd Cutting, 10, 2, 3. N/A — Not Available this week.

Weather

Maryland weather for the week ending June 7 was warm with varying amounts of precipitation. Precipitation averaged 0.58 inch ranging from zero at Cumberland and Bel Air to 1.59 inch at Patuxent NAS. Western and North Central Maryland averaged 0.18 and 0.22 inch, respectively. Southern Maryland west of the Bay and the Eastern Shore averaged 0.84 and 1.01 inch, respectively. Temperatures averaged 71.3 degrees, 2.2 degrees above the normal of 69.1 degrees for the June 1-7 period. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the high 40s to low 50s except in extreme Western Maryland where minimum temperatures were in the mid 30s to mid 40s. Maximum temperatures were in the low to mid 90s except in the low 80s in extreme Western Maryland.

Thunder Storms

The annual number of thunderstorm days ranges from 30 in Eastern Maryland and Delaware to 40 in the western mountains. For comparison, the range for the contiguous United States is from one day in two or three years on the islands off the California Coast to 100 days in Central Florida. Thunderstorms may occur at anytime in the year; however, about 80 percent occur during the five month period, May through September: June, July and August have the greatest frequency of occurrence. According to the National Weather Service Station at Baltimore-Washington International Airport, the most days having thunderstorms in one month during the 37-year period from 1951-1987 was 13 in August 1974. The greatest number annually was 36 in 1952 and 1959, while the least was 14 in 1964. In a three year period there were 36 in 1952, 34 in 1953, and 35 in 1954.

Farming would have been a lot more frustrating the last 10 days if it wouldn't have been for my neighbors. On Thursday before Memorial Day, with 25 acres of hay mowed and ready to chop, the main bearing in our harvester went out.

After a couple phone calls, I knew the harvester could not be fixed for several days. That afternoon, Kevin Blamble brought his harvester over and did the hay that was ready that day. The next day, Dan Yoder chopped 4 loads.

He then came back the following day and did 5 more. On Tuesday, thinking our harvester would be repaired the next day, I mowed hay all day. That is, until the last 3 rounds, when a sealed bearing went out on the power shaft of the mower.

It was time to milk so we didn't get the bearing fixed that day. Wednesday, Pete Beachy and his son, Lloyd, were working to repair the harvester when Bobby Schmidt stopped by for a chat. Seeing I was in a stew, he volunteered to put the bearing back in the haybine.

Knowing we were going to have another long day, I sent my son to Joe Zook to borrow another forage wagon. Tobie Kinsinger would be doing the chopping that day, and I didn't want to keep him waiting. The following day, our chopper was repaired and I thought things would get back to normal again.

Boy was I wrong! After getting a good start -- 15 loads in, 5 to go -- the clutch went out of the big tractor. Back to the phone to see if I could find a tractor with a 1,000 RPM shaft so we could finish the first crop.

This time Andy Schrock let us borrow his tractor to finish those last 5 loads. Finally, on the last day of May, 77 loads of first crop were in and we could have Saturday to do something we had been looking forward to doing (going 4 wheel racing at Buckhannon, W.Va.).

P.S. During that time two other neighbors Calvin Nissley and Henry Kinsinger had brought cattle buyers to our farm so we were able to sell enough registered heifers to help pay all the repair bills.

Thanks Neighbors & May God Bless You

Study Shows Dairy Foods Enjoy Positive Consumer Perception

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley, Jr. announced the problems experienced with viral encephalitis in horses, also known as sleeping sickness, are likely to recur this year unless proper preventive measures are taken.

In 1989, over 50 cases of viral encephalitis were diagnosed in equines on the Delmarva Peninsula through the combined efforts of practitioners and Maryland Department of Agriculture veterinarians.

"While only five cases were diagnosed in Maryland in 1990, experience shows that predicting the viral attack rate is not precise. So, 1991 could be a problem year for viral encephalitis in Maryland, but spread of the disease is dependent on mosquito populations and weather conditions such as rainfall and temperature," Cawley said.

Viral encephalitis often occurs during the last summer and early fall until the first few frosts kill the mosquitoes. The encephalitis virus circulates in a bird-mosquito-bird cycle with viral "spill over" into horses and people. Although horses and people are victims of this viral disease, they are not involved in the spread of the disease. Captive wild birds such as those on game farms are often affected with the eastern viral type.

There are three types of viral and cooperating counties will intensify field spraying to kill mosquitoes during disease cycles.

2. Persons should use repellants to protect themselves from mosquitoes, especially people who are outside a great deal of the time such as farmers, fishermen, hunters and golfers.

3. Horses and other equines should be vaccinated in the late spring, and those vaccinated in April should be revaccinated in August.

Maryland Program Will Certify Organic Produce

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley, Jr. announced that Maryland is now accepting applications from producers, processors, distributors, and retailers to become eligible to use the Maryland organic logos.

There will be two levels of certification for growers:

"Certified Organic" and "Organic Certification Pending." To be "Certified Organic," all growing areas must be free of inorganic substances for at least three years.

Current Maryland regulations permit the grandparenting of growers who can demonstrate the required three-year history of approved practices on their fields during 1991 and 1992 only. After 1991, all growers who wish to enter this program must enter as "Organic Certification Pending" and complete the three-year operating period under this program. Any grower who has maintained his/her farm (or a portion of it) as organic, and has the records required by Maryland regulations to prove it, should apply as soon as possible to: Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA), Organic Certification Program, Marketing Services, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD, 21401. The areas to be certified will also have to pass an inspection and testing program.

"This new program will be beneficial to all segments of the organic industry and to the consumer, who now has assurance the standards are in place and will be enforced," Cawley said.

Processors and retailers are being sought to handle the Maryland organic products. MDA's Marketing Services section will be providing marketing services and point-of-purchase material to participating retailers. For additional information, contact Suzie Harrison at (301) 841-5770.

USDA Recommends Nonfat Solids Pricing Plan For Federal Orders

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is recommending a formula using nonfat milk solids content as one of the basis for pricing milk used in the Middle Atlantic federal milk marketing order area which includes Del., eastern Md., southern N.J., eastern Penn., and northern Va.

Daniel D. Haley, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, said the recommended pricing plan, officially termed "multiple component pricing," resembles pricing in effect since April 1988 in the Great Basin federal milk marketing order. The Great Basin milk order, covering milk marketed in Utah, Nevada, and southern Idaho, pioneered multiple component pricing in the 41 federal milk marketing orders, and is the only federal milk order employing it currently.

Multiple component pricing reflects a falling demand for butterfat and a rising demand for nonfat milk solids, Haley said.

USDA's recommendation for the Middle Atlantic order is based on a public hearing held in Philadelphia, Penn., July 17 and 18, 1990. A federation of four cooperative associations representing dairy farmers who supply milk for the marketing area requested that hearing. Haley said the recommended pricing plan will reflect more closely the value of milk used in dairy products manufactured in the Middle Atlantic area.

Details of the proposed pricing plan will appear as a recommended decision in the May 31 Federal Register. Copies and additional information are available from Rex Lothrop, market administrator, 333 North Fairfax Street, suite 300, Alexandria, Va. 22314, telephone (703) 549-7000, or USDA/AMS/Dairy Division, rm. 2968-S, P.O. Box 96456, Washington, D.C. 20090-6456.

telephone (202) 447-4392.

Comments on the recommended decision, in five copies and postmarked no later than June 17, should be sent to the Hearing Clerk, USDA, rm. 1081-S, Washington, D.C. 21250.

Alfalfa Potato Leafhopper is very active in the area. The development is well ahead of the normal pattern of population buildup. Make sure you check your new seedlings.

European Corn Borer activity has been very light. I found very few plants infested. Late planted fields may be a higher risk for second generation corn borer injury.

There were a few fields infested with the cutworm. This insect will soon have completed its first generation of larval feeding. I don't expect much of a problem.

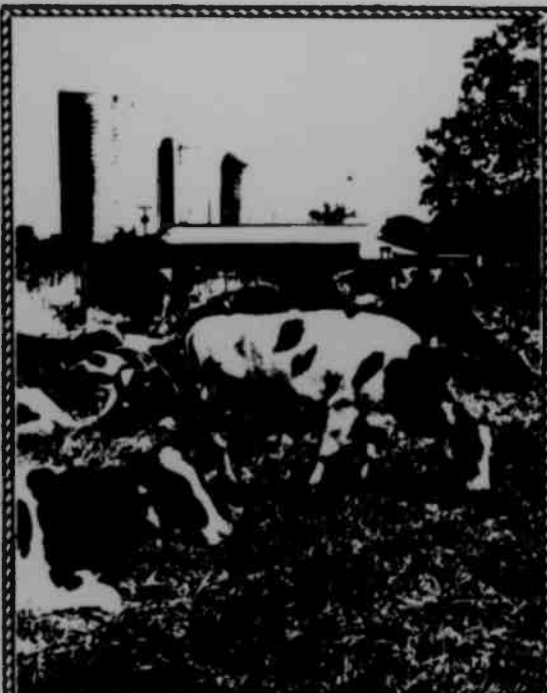

Armyworms are still active. They should be reaching maturity soon. Check down in the whorl of the plants.

Yellow Nutsedge is a major weed problem in a lot of corn fields this year. It can be controlled post-emergence with Basagran, at .75 to 1 qt. per acre plus 1 qt. of crop oil concentrate. You need to spray when nutsedge is approximately 6" tall. Sometimes a second application may be needed. Cultivation within 10 to 14 days will improve control.

We found more Johnsongrass in the county. The plants were in a corn field in the northern part of the county. Check your fields. In most cases it can be sprayed by hand with Roundup.

(Child Labor Laws)

Starting this summer labor period you will be using more youth laborers, and you should be aware that the U.S. Congress and the Department of Labor are increasingly concerned about violation of and enforcement of Child Labor Laws. There are many regulations by age for certain hazardous jobs, and the regulations of most concern and most often violated are on "Permissible Hours of Employment" per day and week. There is too much material for me to relate to you now; therefore, if you need the laws on child labor, call my office and I will send you the material (334-1990).

Salute to Dairymen

As our nation's dairy industry continues to maintain the very highest standards and freshest products, contributing to the nutritional and economical needs of this community, we happily express appreciation and support for the important work they do!

Yogurt Roll-Ups Next New Snack?

Yogurt roll-ups may offer the dairy industry a new product line for snack foods, plus provide a marketable item that can be made during the flush time of milk production and potentially stored for months at room temperature for later sale.

Ohio State University food scientist Dave Dzurec has introduced a prototype of the yogurt roll-up that he describes as a "semisoft, partially dehydrated, fruit-flavored yogurt food."

Although the roll-up is only in its preliminary research state, it could be a nutritious snack containing all the calcium, carbohydrates, protein and other nutrients of yogurt, with only its water removed. The product is dried at 120 degrees F to a moisture level that doesn't allow the growth of harmful microorganisms, yet allows helpful bacteria to be viable. After drying, it can then be rolled and shaped for packaging.

About 100 lbs. of milk would be needed to make about 400 lbs. of the yogurt product, depending upon the flavors and sweeteners needed for a flavored product.

Also, people with lactose intolerance can digest the yogurt roll-up, even if they have difficulty digesting other milk products. Because the yogurt's live cultures are maintained, the amount of lactose is decreased and the roll-up provides beneficial bacteria for the digestive system.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
NO. 2290 CIVIL ACTION
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY, MARYLAND
Wayne Broadwater
7457 Dorset Ct.
Manassas, Virginia 22110
Plaintiff
vs.
Troy G. Hawkins
585 Southhampton Drive
Silver Spring, Maryland 20903
and
Robert S. Hawkins, his wife
565 Southhampton Drive
Silver Spring, Maryland 20903
and
All other parties having or claiming to have any interest in the parcel of land known and designated as Lot 1-A on the Plat of "The Glades Subdivision," containing 5.11885 acres, more or less, situate in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, and being the same as described in deed from Donald R. Giottefly and Kathryn L. Giottefly, his wife, to Troy G. Hawkins and Robert S. Hawkins, his wife, dated November 1, 1971, and recorded in Liber No. 317, folio 532, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property, situate in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and State of Maryland to Wayne Broadwater:

All that lot, piece or parcel of land situate in Election District No. 6, known and designated as Lot 1-A on the Plat of "The Glades Subdivision," containing 5.11885 acres, more or less, described in deed from Donald R. Giottefly and Kathryn L. Giottefly, his wife, and Edwin L. Everhart and Betty L. Everhart, his wife, to Troy G. Hawkins and Robert S. Hawkins, his wife, dated November 1, 1971, and recorded in Liber No. 317, folio 532, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Complaint states, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than six months and one day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, THIS 5th day of June, 1991, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of the Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for three successive weeks before the 28th day of June, 1991, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in the Court by the 5th day of August, 1991, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a Judgment will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the claims within two months from the mailing or other delivery of the notice. A claim not presented or filed on or before that date, or any extension provided by law, is unenforceable thereafter. Claim forms may be obtained from the Register of Wills.

Deer Park Man Charged With Animal Cruelty

A Deer Park man was arrested and charged Monday with beating a pet kitten to death on Main Street in Grantsville.

Reports from Maryland State Police, McHenry Detachment, indicated that charges were brought against Gary Dale Hardesty, 35, Monday after he allegedly "beat the kitten on the roadway," resulting in the pet's death.

According to investigating officer, Cpl. Robert Farrell, Hardesty was intoxicated at the time of the 1 p.m. incident. Hardesty reportedly camp upon three children carrying a kitten in their way to a hardware store in Grantsville. He asked if he could hold the kitten while the children went into the store.

The report indicated that the children went into the store and returned a few minutes later to see the man thrusting the kitten onto the surface of the road a number of times.

State police also indicated that Hardesty sustained bites and scratches to his hand as a result of the incident. The kitten will reportedly be checked for rabies.

Following the incident, Hardesty was transported to Sacred Heart Hospital for treatment of intoxication. The man was arrested and charged with cruelty to animals, destruction of property and disorderly conduct following his release from the hospital. He was released on his own recognizance Monday evening.

Oakland Man Hurt By Charging Bull

An Oakland man was seriously injured last Friday when he was attacked by a charging bull at his farm on the Pleasant Valley Road. He had been flown to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by Medevac and was initially listed in "guarded" condition, but he has since been released, according to a hospital spokesman.

Lawrence Bernard, 46, was injured when he was in a field with a bull that had been "irritable" for several days before the attack. The bull reportedly kept butting Bernard with his head and drove Bernard about 150 feet before he was able to get to a large tree and dodge the bull's repeated attacks.

Bernard reportedly finally made it to his house when relatives alerted 911 for emergency assistance.

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad and Oakland firefighters were also dispatched to the 8:30 a.m. mishap by Garrett County Emergency Management.

A BOY, A BIKE, AND A BIRD -- What better combination to start the summer vacation? The boy is Bobby Gray out riding his bike with his pet bird celebrating the end of the school year and beginning of summer vacation. Motorists are reminded to be even more cautious this time of year with all the kiddies out and about. Children should also be reminded to follow the rules of the road whether riding their bikes or walking to the playground.

Bloodmobile To Be In Oakland On June 28

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross will have the bloodmobile in Oakland on Friday, June 28, at the Oakland National Guard Armory from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The goal set for Friday's bloodmobile has been set at 175 pints, however, according to Cindy Kutchman, executive of the local Red Cross Chapter, efforts will be made to exceed the limit.

"A shortage of blood in the Johnstown region (which supplies Garrett County Memorial Hospital) has been detected in the past month," Kutchman said. "The types of blood especially needed are B positive, O negative, and A negative, so persons with those types are urged to donate Friday. But we'll take all types, of course. We need all we can get because there will be an increased usage soon. There are more accidents during the summer months, so there is more need during that time," Kutchman explained.

Someone needs blood in this country every 17 seconds, according to Kutchman. People often give blood after they hear about a friend or relative in an accident, but the realization is usually too late.

"Blood has to be on the shelves before an accident occurs. If it's not on the shelves, the victim may not be able to receive the treatment he needs to live," Kutchman said.

While the procedure of donating blood takes 45 minutes to an hour, Kutchman said the action is easy and virtually pain-free.

"Once you register at the bloodmobile, you'll progress through our 'belt-line' physical which includes blood pressure, temperature, and iron content. Then you will be asked to answer a few questions about your health history. This procedure is to protect both the donor and the prospective recipient."

The next step is the actual donation process, which takes about six to ten minutes. After the donation, donors are escorted to the canteen for refreshments.

According to Red Cross officials, a prospective donor should be at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds, and be in generally good health. Healthy persons can donate blood once every 56 days, up to six times, in a 12-month period.

Persons who wish to receive more information about donating blood may contact the American Red Cross at 1-800-54BLOOD.

$23,000 Theft Being Probed By Oakland P.D.

A $23,000 theft is currently under investigation by the Oakland City Police Department, according to Pfc. Shawn Groves.

A.D. Naylor and Company, Oakland, reported that a brown 1980 Ford dump truck (license #813276) with an attached trailer (license #010544G), carrying a John Deere 750 tractor with a loader attachment was stolen sometime June 13.

The truck was parked at a lot at 27 East Liberty Street, Oakland.

There are no suspects in the case and Chief John K. Sines, who is heading the investigation, is asking that persons with any information call Crime Solvers at 334-1975.

Right Student, Wrong Parents

It was reported in last week's issue of The Republican that Heather Hamilton, salutatorian of the 1991 graduating class of Southern High School, was the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Russell Hamilton. It should have stated that Miss Hamilton is the daughter of Tom and Katie Kierstead, Swanton, and of William Hamilton, Ventura, Calif.

We regret the error.

Black And White Is Theme For Gala Benefit

Guests attending Saturday's "Black and White" gala benefit for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, which gets underway at 6:30 p.m. at Wisp Resort's McHenry House, may dress in black and white in keeping with the event's theme, benefit committee members noted this week as final preparations were being made.

In past years, benefit committee members dressed in costume to enhance a variety of gala themes from the roaring twenties to circus clowns. "But in selecting this year's black and white theme, we wanted to encourage everyone, not necessarily to come in costume or black tie, but to dress in anything that's black and white," said gala co-chair

Education Board Meets; Discusses Budget Cuts, Elementary School Study

The Garrett County Board of Education met last week and discussed several topics, including Superintendent Jerome Ryscavage's suggestions on budget cuts, the southern elementary school district study, a computer offering from Potomac Edison, and new student attendance requirements.

Budget Cuts

Ryscavage informed the board members that the budget now has to be cut by $1,518,208, which is the 14% the Garrett County Commissioners directed the education board to delete from the budget proposal. Ryscavage then added approximately $200,000 to that figure. The added amount stems from the recent discovery of more asbestos at Southern High School, which must be removed. Ryscavage has contacted both Congresswoman Beverly Byron and Senator Mikulski about getting more funding from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), but has not yet received any assurance that any help will be given.

This addition makes the total amount to be cut $1,718,208. Ryscavage then discussed the prioritized cuts that the board had presented to the commissioners when first proposing the budget. These cuts include the reduction of the three percent raise for education employees to a one and one half percent raise, and the deletion of the following: driver simulator at SHS, paving at Accident School, Camp Hickory food service, the activity bus for the northern end of the county, $1,000 VICA funding, connecting corridor at SHS, special education summer camp, the SHS furnishings, floor tile, paving, physical education storage area; the bleachers at Northern High, one elementary teacher, one elementary guidance counselor, reading texts, and a reduction in instructional supplies.

The total savings from these deletions will be $1,172,763, leaving $565,000 yet to be pared down. Ryscavage went on to suggest more deletions, including programs such as the elementary gifted and talented program, the career education program, and a reduction in CPA staffing. Other deletions he suggested included the eliminations of computer purchases and video equipment, any field trip allotments, a reduction in custodial supplies, and elimination of summer work crews. He also suggested the non-replacement of a possible secondary school retiree and the non-replacement of a full-time custodian and/or maintenance person.

Ryscavage noted in a memorandum to the board members that whatever the members choose to do will reduce their ability to serve students, and that there is no way one can say that the educational programs will not be seriously impacted. He also noted that he felt confident that he and the board would keep the 5100 students uppermost in their minds as they go about the budget task.

The board members made little comment to the suggested cuts, but will vote on the new budget in early July.

School Study

The recent southern elementary school district study was discussed by the board members, and several citizens attended the meeting to stress their opinions about the proposed option of eliminating five small schools and consolidating them into two large schools. The elementary schools in question are Loch Lynn, Red House, Bloomington, Kitzmiller, and Crellin.

Ryscavage proposed the formation of an advisory committee to study the situation. The committee will

Crawford To Be Speaker At July 4th Event

Susan Crawford, Falls Church, Va., and part-time resident of Garrett County, will be the guest speaker at the Fourth of July celebration to honor all war veterans, sponsored by the Garrett County Operation Desert Storm Support Group. Special recognition will be given to the Desert Storm troops at that time.

Ms. Crawford was recently appointed to a 15-year term on the United States Court of Military Appeals, after having been nominated by President George Bush. She is the first woman to serve in that capacity. Since 1989, she has served as inspector general for the U.S. Department of Defense in Washington, D.C. Prior to that appointment, Crawford served as general counsel for the Department of the Army, office of the Secretary of the Army, from 1983-89, and as principal deputy general counsel, from 1981-83.

SEA CHANTERS TO OPEN GLAF SEASON -- The fifth summer season for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival will open Sunday evening, June 23, at 7 p.m., on the Garrett Community College green when the U.S. Navy Sea Chanters perform in an outdoor free concert. The Sea Chanters, who have appeared frequently at the White House and at the Kennedy Center, perform a variety of music, ranging from the traditional sea chanties to pop and jazz favorites and Broadway musicals. Persons attending are encouraged to bring lawn chairs or blankets for the concert. Refreshments will also be sold and, in the event of rain, the concert will be held in the college gymnasium. The Sea Chanters concert is being sponsored by the Mtn. Top Chamber of Commerce.

VICTORY FLAG COMPLETED -- After much planning and hard work, a seven and a half foot long by five foot wide victory flag in honor of area Desert Storm soldiers has been completed and hangs in the St. Paul's United Methodist Church. The flag idea was born when an antique banner was found that displayed stars in the formation of the letter "V" and some notation dating it to the time of World War II. Alma Johnson, above right, began the endeavor, and was aided by several citizens in completing two flags, one for Garrett County soldiers, and one for Preston County. The stars, which are blue, are individually embroidered with the names of each local soldier. They are against a white background, and the white place is on a larger red background. Teresa Feather, above left, of Personally Yours Monogramming completed the embroidery on the flag, and the lettering was done by Shannon Haltzman. Materials and construction were provided by Alma and Robert Johnson, and several persons contributed financially to the effort. Jim and Sandy Zimmerman aided in the design of the flag, and the dowel rods were provided by Beachy Lumber Co. and Sue and Wayne Williams. The Garrett County flag is now on display at St. Paul's church, and persons are welcome to stop in to see it, according to the Johnsons, who also wished to thank all who supported and encouraged the endeavor. Eventually the flag will be donated to the local museum.

Separate Mishaps Send Two To Local Hospital

Two persons were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, by the Southern Rescue Squad in two separate accidents this past week, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police.

The first accident occurred Sunday on the North Hill Road near the Upperman Road when Jarrod White, 17, Oakland, was attempting to negotiate a right-hand turn on loose gravel and lost control of the 1986 Toyota he was operating. The vehicle skidded across the road and struck a tree.

Jarrod was reportedly admitted to the local hospital where he remains listed in "stable" condition.

No citations were issued by Tfc. P.R. Brown who investigated the 12:10 a.m. mishap for state police.

The second accident occurred Tuesday when Tina B. Thomas, 20, Oakland, was operating a 1988 Ford Bronco II on U.S. Route 219 south near the Blue Ribbon Road.

Thomas told police she felt ill, fainted, and ran off the right side of the road and into a ditch. She was treated and released from the local hospital, according to an emergency room spokesman.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney investigated the 4:30 p.m. mishap and filed no charges.

HUMANITARIAN AWARD PRESENTED — Miss Tammy Hollar, Oakland, (center) was recently presented the Dr. Scott A. Giotfally 4-H Humanitarian Award by Mrs. Ruth DiPaolo, (left), mother of the late Dr. Giotfally. Also present was Alicia Havnar, (left), 4-H extension director. The award was previously announced at the annual 4-H Recognition Dinner, but Miss Hollar was unable to attend the function. The award is given in memory of the late Dr. Scott A. Giotfally by his mother, Ruth DiPaolo, and the Giotfally family. It is designed to recognize a 4-H member for his or her humanitarian efforts — not only skills, but the use of those skills as they relate to helping others in their club and community. A six-year member of the Red House 4-H Club, Miss Hollar's interests and community contributions have centered around her involvement within the 4-H agricultural projects and in helping others with their projects. She is also involved in her church youth group, highway clean-up projects, and assisting the sick and elderly. The late Dr. Giotfally was a 4-H member in Garrett County for 12 years, a graduate of the University of Maryland, and the Maryland/Virginia Veterinary School. Upon graduation from veterinary school, Dr. Giotfally received the David M. Bogaugh Memorial Award for humanitarian services. At the time of his death, he was serving as a member of the Peace Corps in Togo, Africa. "Scott devoted his life to improving the quality of life for both his fellow man and his animal friends. Many areas of his life contributed to instilling this feeling of responsibility for others, with 4-H being one of the major influences of his growing years. 4-H offered him an opportunity to learn responsibility and compassion in caring for animals, growth in expressing himself in both written and spoken words, and offered him some of his first adventures into the world outside Garrett County, with both its wonders and needs," said a 4-H spokesman. The award will be presented each year to a senior-level 4-H member. Leaders of each 4-H Club in the county will be asked to nominate a candidate for the award each year. A committee which will include one representative from the Giotfally family, one from the Extension Service, and one from the community will make the final selection.

Randy K. Duckworth, 36, Farmington, W. Va., was charged with DWI on Friday by Tfc. P.R. Brown.

Voters' League Discusses Growth Issues With Planning Commission

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County met recently with the Garrett County Planning Commission to inform the commission that the league would be willing to play a role in disseminating information to the public regarding the state's plans for growth control and the county's possible need for a county-wide zoning ordinance.

During the meeting, Connie Margison, league president, requested information concerning the county's master development and growth plan, developed in 1974.

Garrett County Planning and Zoning Director John Nelson responded to that request by stating that the Planning Commission, in 1986, had undertaken an extensive eight-month review of the county master plan. The conclusion of the commission upon completion of that review process, he stated, was that "the basic concepts of the plan were still valid."

Nelson added that the Garrett County Commissioners were informed by the Planning Commission in 1987 of the conclusions but the commissioners have never responded.

A review of the plan at the present time, he said, would not be feasible because the planning office lacks the necessary time and staff for such a project and because hiring an outside firm would be too costly in the current "budget bind."

Nelson told the members of the league present at the meeting that he felt "an educational campaign is one of the most important roles the league can play" regarding the need to keep the public informed and up to date concerning any move to develop zoning or growth laws at the state or local level.

Besides members of the league who said they would support county-wide zoning, Ed King, representing the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners' Association, was also present at the meeting and told the commission that he was in favor of "some degree of zoning," although he felt it should be "softer" in the rural areas of the county.

King added that the Garrett County tourist of 30 to 40 years ago was less "sophisticated" than the tourist of today, stating, "People expect some discipline and structure" in zoning.

Representatives from the Maryland Office of Planning were also on hand at the meeting and offered help from the office in updating the current master plan.

Nelson assured the group that the information and the offer of help would be relayed to the county commissioners.

Chairman of the Planning Commission, Charles "Bus" Bender then stated, "In reality, we are just waiting for some direction from our commissioners." He added that he felt the citizens of Garrett County were not yet "ready" for county-wide zoning.

MSP Probing Run Of Thefts In Lake Area

The Maryland State Police, McHenry Detachment, are currently investigating a run of thefts reported in the Deep Creek Lake area.

Sometime between June 8 and 10, unknown persons removed copper fittings, electrical supplies, faucets, and a crow bar from a house under construction on Lake Shore Drive.

In the early morning hours of June 12 someone stole an air compressor, pneumatic tools, a gas-powered saw, and a battery-powered drill from a residence on Sandy Beach Lane.

Numerous power tools were also taken between June 11 and 12 in the Carmel Cove sub-division at the lake.

Persons with any information regarding the thefts are asked to call the state police at 387-5511.

GED Instructor Recognized For Success Rate

The Western Maryland Consortium recently recognized GED Instructor Harry T. Hogue for his success rate.

Hogue joined WMC in 1985, and during his five-year tenure, has seen 106 of his students pass the GED examination. Students who pass the GED are eligible to receive a Maryland High School Diploma issued by the Maryland Department of Education.

Although the passing score on the GED is 225 points, some of his students have surpassed that score by over 100 points. Even the addition of a 200-word essay and increases in the amount of algebra, geometry, and critical analysis on the test have not put achieving it out of the reach of his students, according to a Consortium spokesman.

Hogue says his main concern is, simply, to help his students succeed. "The purpose of education is to prepare or help the student to lead a successful adult life," he says. "If a person has to have a high school diploma just to get a job pumping gas, then getting that diploma means being able to support oneself, take care of one's family, and contribute to society as a whole. It also replaces the low self-esteem of having failed in school or employment with a bright outlook for the future."

His students have a high regard for him and the greatest compliment is: He makes learning fun.

Sheriff's Office Notes Arrests

Members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office made several arrests this week on charges including driving while intoxicated (DWI), violation of probation, and failure to appear in court. The office is also investigating the theft of a $3,320 mine belt.

David E. White, 45, Deer Park, was arrested in the early hours of June 16 and charged with DWI. White was apparently observed crossing the center line of Rt. 135 four times. Dep. J. Green then stopped the defendant and charged him with the violation.

Daniel E. Lambka, 18, Corinth, W. Va., was charged with DWI on Saturday by Cpl. R. Sines. He was stopped near the Oakland Town Parking Lot, according to the report, and Sines detected the odor of alcohol and effected the arrest.

A warrant was issued from the Garrett County Circuit Court for Robert H. Mayles, 22, Swanton. Mayles is charged with violation of probation, according to the report, and was served with the warrant on Monday.

Rhonda R. Carr, 24, McHenry, was arrested on the strength of a warrant issued from circuit court.

A body attachment was issued for Kenny R. Termini, 38, Mtn. Lake Park, for failure to obey a subpoena. Termini was served with the attachment on June 14.

Lincoln L. Pickett, 23, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failure to appear in Garrett County District Court. Pickett was scheduled to face the charge of driving with a revoked license. Bail was pre-set at $2,000, according to the report.

Deborah L. King, 27, Loch Lynn, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant issued from district court. King was charged with failure to appear in court.

Theft

Steven P. Tressler of the Garrett Mine Service reported the theft of a $3,320 mine belt last week. The item was apparently stolen from the back of Tressler's truck sometime between June 12 at 10 p.m. and June 13 at 7 a.m.

The belt was strapped into the back of the truck, and the culprit or culprits apparently cut the straps to remove it. The belt was described as four-ply, 42 inches wide, and 360 feet long.

YET ANOTHER ACTIVITY IS AVAILABLE at Wisp Raort this summer. While it may look like this couple forgot a few things -- like skis, or what season it is -- they are actually shown taking advantage of the latest addition to the offerings of Wisp Raort. On Saturdays and Sundays, from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m., the chairlift is in operation, and visitors may ride it to the top of Marsh Mountain. The spectacular view can be taken in by sight-seers, who may then ride back down the mountain on the chair. Another option is to take a mountain bike to the top and ride down the trails. Roller blades are also welcome at the resort, where a special area has been marked off for those who enjoy that sport. More information about the chair ride and roller blade activities may be obtained by calling the resort at 387-4911.

Library Beautification Project By Garden Club Now In Third Year

This growing season marks the third year for the community planting and beautification project (the results of which need only be seen to be appreciated) at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. The project is being conducted by members of the Mountain Laurel Garden Club, whose project committee has invited citizens to participate by donating funds for the purchase of plants or by just visiting the library to see the accomplishments of the group.

According to Diane Thayer, chairperson of the library beautification committee, the first planting occurred two years ago at the front of the library, with a mixed bed of annuals and perennials. This summer, the group will be removing diseased plants and begin major foundation plantings, as part of the six-phase project. During the entire project, routine maintenance of the plants will also be performed in addition to the plantings. Local professional nurseryman Arthur Coddington drew up the landscape plans for the project and has also donated annuals for the plantings. The local Business and Professional Women's Club also donated two plants toward the effort.

Thayer has stated that persons interested in contributing may do so by donating funds toward the purchase of a plant or plants. More information about donations may be obtained by contacting Michelle Duda, member of the library beautification committee, at the Ruth Enlow Library. A diagram of the scheduled plantings is available at the front desk of the library.

Thayer added, "If everyone puts a little into the project, then everyone will benefit more from it."

Other members of the library beautification committee include Arthur Coddington, Charity Janasen, Linda Lancellotta and Kiyo Dolan.

On completion of the six-phase project, a list in recognition of the contributors will be placed in the library

Archer To Speak At AMI Meeting

Dr. Rex Archer, Garrett County Health Officer, will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Alliance for the Mentally Ill of Garrett County (AMI) to discuss the future plans of Light-house, a community rehabilitation program for the long-term mentally ill. The meeting will be held Sunday, June 30, at 2 p.m., at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland.

The main purpose of the AMI group is to improve services and the quality of life of long-term mentally ill persons and to provide support for their families and friends. The newly formed Garrett County chapter has recently become an affiliate of both the state and national organizations.

AMI also seeks to educate the public about mental illness and to build public support and understanding for the mentally ill. It cooperates with providers of services to the mentally ill and identifies professionals willing to work with families as allies.

The group also supports improved hospital and treatment facilities and promotes research into the physiological, neurological, biochemical and genetic aspects of chronic mental illness that could point to causes, treatment and prevention.

More information about the group and its meetings may be obtained by contacting Barb at 387-5030 or Mary Ann at 895-5366.

Since many collisions occur on state and county roads, vehicle occupants should buckle up each time they ride in their car.

THANK YOU

All the members of Garrett Bassers would like to thank the following businesses for their support of our Kids Fishing Rodeo, held at Broad Ford Lake, June 15, 1991. Their generosity made the Rodeo a success and put smiles on many little faces.

Local Carvers Win Honors At World Event

Gary Yoder and Dennis Ruane, both of Grantsville, and Sam E. Butt, Oakland, were recent winners at the 21st Ward World Championship Wildfowl Carving Competition. Sponsored by the Ward Foundation and held each year in Ocean City, Md., the Ward World Championship is the largest competition of its kind in the world.

Yoder received first place in Category, Open Level Decorative Lifesize Wildfowl, Songbirds, and first place in Division, Open Level Decorative Lifesize Wildfowl.

Ruane received honorable mention in Category, Open Level Interpretive Wood Sculpture.

Butt received honorable mention in Category, Intermediate Level, Decorative Lifesize Wildfowl, Songbirds.

This year, almost 1,000 carvers from around the world competed for $85,000 in prizes in five divisions of competition, including lifesize birds, delicate miniature carvings, floating decoys and interpretive sculpture. Each division is broken down into levels of skill -- Youth, Novice Intermediate, Open, and World.

The Ward Foundation, a private, non-profit organization, was founded in 1968 to promote and perpetuate the art of wildfowl carving. Currently underway is the building of the largest and finest wildfowl art museum in the world in Salisbury, Md. It is scheduled to open in the spring of 1992.

John Starnes To Perform In Concert

The Christian Faith Fellowship will host John Starnes, along with Thomas Sloan, in concert on Saturday, June 29, at 3 p.m., and Sunday, June 30, also at 3 p.m.

The concert will take place at the Northern High School gymnasium. Admission to the concert is free, and an offering will be taken.

Dynamite Found In Abandoned Coal Mine

The discovery of dynamite in an abandoned coal mine Sunday began a six-hour procedure to dispose of the explosive, according to a report from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. The old mine is located on Ashby Cemetery Road in Crellin, and the dynamite was discovered in the late afternoon by three young men who had been exploring the area.

Sheriff Dep. Randy Shaffer responded to the scene and found the dynamite sticks in a plastic bag, which was inside a metal can. The officer cleared the area and notified the State Fire Marshal's office.

The Bomb Disposal Unit from the Baltimore/Washington International Airport then responded to the call, and Ted Meminger and Jack Waldner of the unit were flown to the scene.

After inspecting the explosives, the officers decided to burn the sticks at the Crellin site, and alerted six members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department to serve as a stand-by unit.

Straw was spread over the dynamite sticks and the officers doused the sticks with kerosene. The mound was then ignited, and burned slowly and safely, according to the report.

The firemen and the bomb disposal unit left the scene at approximately 10 p.m. The Sheriff's Office is currently investigating reasons why the explosives were in the mine.

CANTATA TO BE PRESENTED

"This Is America," a patriotic cantata by Michael Parks, will be presented at the Friendsville Elementary School on July 2, at 7:30 p.m., by the Garrett County Community Chorus, with members from Grantsville, Accident, Friendsville, and Garrett Community College. The cantata features excerpts of patriotic and religious selections and commentary on the nation's history. At least eight scenes will be pantomimed by various organizations in the three communities. A new section of songs of various wars will be included.

This program will also be presented during Grantsville Days, and the Accident Fourth of July celebration. At Friendsville, the Mountaintop Brass Quintet, under the direction of George McDowell, coordinator of music at GCC, will also perform.

McDowell is also chorus conductor. Lucile Sines is pianist. Other Friendsville participants are Sherry Fike, Pauline Fucett, Candy Strawser, and a great number of behind-the-scenes workers.

The Friendsville performance is sponsored by area churches and local service organizations. Admission is free and everyone is invited.

FELIX SIMON AWARD -- Northern Middle School's Student Council was presented with the Felix Simon award on May 31 by Dr. Susan Travatto, executive director of The Maryland Association of Student Councils (MASC). The award was given following NMS's participation in the MASC achievement program. The activity was not a competition among student councils, but rather a set of criteria for any and all schools to use. The program has two purposes: 1. For student councils and their advisors to evaluate themselves against a common use of criteria; and 2. for student councils to be recognized for their effectiveness. The entire student council, officers, representatives, and administrators were all present for the special event for Northern Middle School. The committee which compiled all necessary information for the award application was made up of Amy Giotfally, student council president; Sarah Bosley, vice president; and Amia McKenzia, secretary; under the direction of Carol Shaulia, advisor. There were only two other schools in the state of Maryland that received the award. Pictured left to right are Carol Shaulia, Amy Giotfally, and Sarah Bosley, proudly displaying their award.

Education Brd.

const of the superintendent, the PTA president and a faculty member of each school involved, the directors of elementary education, transportation, and pupil services, and a representative of the education board.

The advisory committee will study the options and will address school policy. From September through October, the committee will conduct a thorough study of the schools, and will report their findings to the board on October 15. A public hearing will be held at that time as well.

The board members will make and announce their final decision in December, and will present the proposal to the commissioners. Ryscavage said the county fiscal authority will have to make the final decision, based on funding.

A citizen of Kitzmiller, Melissa Lucas, attended the meeting to voice her opposition of the destruction of the Kitzmiller school. The building is a landmark of the town, according to Ms. Lucas, and the townspeople are interested in renovation but not demolition.

Ms. Lucas asked the board members if a renovation estimate had been prepared for the Kitzmiller school, and Ryscavage said that it had not. Ms. Lucas stated that she and others felt that the estimate given by the architect could not be fair if renovation had not even been considered.

She then produced a petition to the board with over 200 signatures, requesting that a renovation estimate be done in order to have a fair comparison of costs.

Two individuals from the Bloomington area voiced their opposition to the consolidation as well, stressing their concerns about the travel that would be involved for Bloomington students to attend a Swanton school. Dr. Ronel Williams told the board that he felt the safety of his daughter far outweighed any financial savings the consolidation may provide.

A woman from Bloomington, however, stated that she was concerned about the fact that the sixth through eighth graders at Bloomington are not receiving the same amount of educational opportunities as children who attend middle schools. She explained that the students suffer from the lack of opportunities, and asked if there was any way to remedy the problem immediately while waiting for the possible consolidation. She stated that she knew the travel would be a problem, but that she was more concerned about the education opportunities currently not afforded the Bloomington sixth-eighth graders.

PE Chrysalis Program
David Kline of Potomac Edison (PE) attended the meeting and offered a computer system to the education board. Kline explained that PE is impressed with the use of computers in the business office and that the county as a model to other areas.

Kline told the board members that the latest offer to the county from PE is a new 1200 megabyte school network server. The network would be used in the teaching of science technology with a program entitled "Chrysalis." Kline explained that textbooks in the science field are almost always out of date because of the ongoing discoveries and changes. He stated that a book may have the copyright of 1990, but will actually have been written in 1987.

Kline cited global warming as an example, stating that the latest science text available has one small mention of the phenomenon even though the subject is quite prevalent in the science world today. He explained that the new system would provide access to all the latest science information at the touch of a button, and this would aid science teachers much more than any text.

Books would no longer be needed in the science room because the latest information could be obtained through the server.

The cost of the server would be split between PE and the school board. Kline stated that PE would provide $13,000 of the cost, and that the cost for the board, which could be paid over two years, would be $10-13,000.

per school.

Luther Parrack, director of elementary and middle school education, stated that the "time is right" for the Chrysalis program, and that it "matches perfectly" with what the education system is attempting to do with the Maryland State Performance Program.

Ryscavage stated that the budget had to be considered in this situation, but noted that some monies may be obtained in the area of instructional supplies.

Attendance Requirements

A committee was formed several months ago to readjust the attendance requirements in the school system. Robert Quick, teacher at Southern High, headed up the committee and reported their findings and recommendations to the board.

The new guidelines set by the committee are as follows: 20 days for high school students, 23 days for middle school students, and 25 days will be allowed for elementary children. Childhood illnesses were cited as the reason for the additional days for elementary and middle school pupils.

The board voted to accept the new guidelines.

Paul Wampler Jr. Named To LYE's "Captive Free"

Paul "Womp" Wampler Jr., Oakland, son of Paul Sr. and Doris Wampler, Oakland, has been selected to be part of the Lutheran Youth Encounter's (LYE) musical ministry team, Captive Free, for 1991-92. During the coming year, Captive Free will be performing at various churches, youth congresses, synod functions, and other programs for congregations.

Wampler, as a member of the Captive Free Team, will be performing with one of six teams that will tour the United States.

He has been active in St. Mark's Lutheran Church Youth Group, various church activities, and has been to the LYE Virginia Beach Congress for the past five years. He also attended Toledo Junior High Congress, Camp Luther, and Virginia Beach Congress in a leadership capacity for the past two years.

Wampler has played percussion for 11 years and has dreamed of being on the LYE team for the past three years.

Since his application was accepted, Paul is responsible to raise $400 a month for his financial support during his tour with Captive Free. He is in need of 34 people to sponsor him for $12 each month or a total of $168 over a 14-month period, thus raising the required amount of $6,000.

Persons pledging their support are encouraged to pray for Wampler on an assigned day, thereby becoming an integral part of the ministry he has undertaken while he attempts to reach his goal. Interested persons may pledge more or less than the suggested $12 a month or make a one-time contribution gift.

Persons desiring to pledge or wanting more information about the program may call Dave Terlizzi at 334-9398 or Wampler at 334-9112.

Wampler expressed his appreciation in advance to those contributing in any way to his upcoming ministry.

Mtn. Lake Park Camp Meeting To Begin June 28

The Mtn. Lake Park Camp Meeting will hold its annual camp June 28-July 7 at Mtn. Lake Park.

Rod Barnett, an approved evangelist of the United Methodist Church, West Virginia Conference, will be one of the speakers. He is vice president of the national Association of United Methodist Evangelists and is completing his doctoral studies. He possesses both a pastoral concern and evangelistic zeal, according to a camp spokesman.

The second speaker will be J. Paul Hill, an evangelist of the Wesleyan Church. The spokesman noted that he has been a successful pastor and church planter and has ministered in crusades, revivals, and camp meetings across the country.

Harry Stewart will lead the camp music program and be the soloist. He and his wife will also lead the youth program. The Rev. Stewart is presently minister of music First Church of the Nazarene in Huntington, Ind.

A missionary service will be held on July 5 at 7:30 p.m. and be led by the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Barker. The Rev. Barker is a United Methodist minister who has served with the World Gospel Mission in Japan. He is presently in charge of the World Gospel Mission Student Center, Wilmore, Ky.

Morning Bible studies at 11 a.m. daily will be led by the Rev. Barnett and the Rev. Hill. Preaching services will be held each evening at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday afternoons at 2:30 p.m. Pre-praise services from 7:30 p.m. are being planned. The Handbell Choir of Wesley United Methodist Church, Kingwood, W.Va., will play on Monday evening, July 1.

Heather Golden Earns Scholarship

Recipients of the 1991-92 Wensel Faherty Scholarships have been announced by the Frostburg State University Scholarship Committee. The Garrett County recipient is Heather Golden.

Ms. Golden, a June graduate of Northern High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Golden, Grantsville. She was a member of the school band, tennis team, cheerleading squad, and student council. Throughout her high school career she maintained a 3.76 grade point average (GPA).

The Wensel-Faherty Scholarship is awarded annually to one Garrett County and one Allegany County incoming freshman. Recipients must have a 3.0 GPA, and the award favors individuals who have participated in school, community, social and athletic activities.

DNR Offices To Be Closed To Relocate

The following offices of the Department of Natural Resources, located at Failing's Complex, Naves Crossroads, Cumberland, will be closed on June 27 and 28. Capital Programs, Fisheries Division, Forestry Division, Licensing and Watercraft Services, State Forests and Parks Division, and the Wildlife Division.

These offices will be relocating to 3 Pershing Street, Cumberland, and will be open to the public on Monday, July 1.

YOUR TAX DOLLARS WASTED

Again On Bradley Manor Housing Project!

Proposed renovation plan will cost taxpayers $2.2 million.

Subsidized rents will rob taxpayers of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

While standing, the units have deteriorated to the point that foundations are crumbling and ceilings soaked from severe leaking are falling down. Sarubin admits that he has had more trouble with Bradley Manor than with any of his other projects -- Cumberland Times-News, "Bradley Manor -- No Place To Live."

The Bradley Manor Ruins -- 1991

In 1982, the proposed renovation plan cost $5.8 million. In 1991, general partner of Oakland Associates Morton Sarubin contends Bradley Manor can be renovated for $2.2 million.

DOES THIS MAKE SENSE TO YOU?

"From the very beginning, Bradley Manor has been unfit for human occupancy." -- Del. DeCorsey E. Bolden, Aug. 19, 1981.

When fully occupied, police, fire, and rescue departments were overwhelmed with calls to Bradley Manor, many of which were false alarms.

GRANTSVILLE

The Woodmen of the World met at 7:30 p.m. on June 11 to take some pictures for Lodge No. 41, before the regular meeting with Alice Younkin, president, presiding.

The pledge of allegiance was given, roll call of officers made, and the minutes read and approved. The sick were remembered by sending cards. A letter was read from Ronald Ford, state manager, about the Fraternal Congress meeting and about camp which will be held in August. A donation was given to the cemetery fund.

Walter Younkin won the door prize. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held on June 24, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Esther Durat and Lulu Brown are in Ocean City attending the Firemen's Auxiliary meeting.

CLASS REUNIONS

The graduation classes of 1930 and 1931 met at the Caselman Restaurant, Grantsville, for their reunions. Merle Wilburn and Merle McClintock were in charge, with Mr. Wilburn serving as master of ceremonies. There were 11 members of the 1931 class present. Some 30 persons attended the reunion.

Plans were made for the next reunion, to be held in 1993 at the same place.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Miller, Frederick, attended the 1930 class reunion, and visited his relatives in the area.

Mrs. Verna (Miller) Henline visited her father, Loy Miller, for some time before returning to her home in Silver Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Walker, Gaithersburg, visited their parents on Thursday.

The Woodmen of the World Ranger Lodge No. 128, is planning a trip to Kenneywood Park on Sunday, July 7. The bus will leave the Woodmen Building at 9:30 a.m.

GNB RECOGNIZES STUDENTS -- The Garrett National Bank, in its continued efforts to work with and encourage students in the Garrett County school system toward higher academic achievement, has recognized 28 students for their academic achievement. The students, 14 from Northern Middle School and 14 from Southern Middle School, were presented a certificate of recognition and a pen and pencil set for achieving straight A's. Several of the students had straight A's for all five grading periods. Milford E. Beckman, president of Garrett National Bank, stated, "We are very proud to honor students in Garrett County for their hard work. These are the kinds of people we'll be looking to employ. Those who work hard, have good attendance habits, communicate well both verbally and by written word, and are able to get along with co-workers, supervisors, and customers." Pictured above are the Southern Middle School students honored, left to right, first row: Joy Sialer, Janice Plouyer, Tammy Butt, Mandi Stampie, Mary Ann Wolfe, and Nicole Bosley; second row, same order: Wayne Johnson, compliance and training officer at GNB; Carrie Clever, Nannette Stahl, Kara Rhodaa, Kellie White, Rich Bhatnager, Joe Tuomisto, and Randy Sharpless Jr. Shown below from Northern Middle School are, left to right, first row: Nancy Willson, Stephanie Goanell, Kim Bittlinger, and Zach Levenenz; second row, same order: Marlene Welmer, Roxanna Niner, Teresa Knox, Ellida Schofield, and Wrenny Smith. Not present for the photo were Amber Cloae, Jennifer McKenzie, Kerri Sialer, Stacey Anderson, and Shad Wachter.

tion of Student Councils at 1991-92 secretary of Northern High's Student Council. Her mother, Mrs. Carol Shaulis, who is advisor of Northern Middle School Student Council and Garrett County Association of Student Councils will also be attending this conference.

NASC is sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), a 43,000 member professional educational association based in Reston, Virginia, just outside the nation's capital.

Stephanie Shaulis Attending NASC Nat'l Conference

Stephanie Shaulis, a sophomore at Northern High School, is one of the 1700 Student Council leaders attending the 55th National Association of Student Council Conference (NASC) June 21-25, in Conway, S.C.

With a theme "Ride the Wave of Leadership," the conference program will present workshop sessions on leadership skills, effective student government projects, and developing student activity programs. Delegates representing 50 states, the District of Columbia, Bermuda, Canada, and Puerto Rico will discuss social, educational, and political issues and will take part in an exchange of ideas.

"In order to graduate from high school with a complete education, students must learn how to communicate, lead, work together, and compromise," said Dale Hawley, director of student activities, National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP). "That's why we need high-quality student activity programs in our schools. Students attending this NASC conference will help run those programs in their schools next fall."

Stephanie is the daughter of David and Carol Shaulis, Grantsville. While at Northern, she has been student council representative and is vice president of the Garrett County Association of Student Councils.

Changes To Alcohol Awareness Training Requirement Noted

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced two changes relating to a 1989 state law that requires the licensee or an employee of an establishment that serves alcoholic beverages for on-site consumption to complete an approved alcohol awareness training course.

According to a new law, effective July 1, 1991, training program providers are required to notify the respective county liquor boards of the name and address of individuals they have certified, along with the certification date and the name and address of the licensed establishment the person represents.

"In addition, we have approved four more training programs, bringing the total to 21," Goldstein said. The comptroller noted that if the program providers fail to send the required information to local liquor boards within five days of sending the certificate of completion, the program can be decertified.

"Local liquor boards are also monitoring the alcohol awareness training requirements as part of their routine liquor dealer inspections," Goldstein said.

The programs provide training on the physiology of alcohol, on serving alcohol in a way that minimizes intoxication, and on stopping service before the customer is intoxicated.

Penalties for non-compliance include a first offense fine of $100.00. Subsequent offenses carry a $500 fine and/or suspension of liquor licenses. Off-premise licensees are exempt under the law. Licensees or employees who have completed any of the approved courses since July 1, 1991, have met the requirement.

The comptroller has approved various courses of training. Interested persons may contact Goldstein at 1-301-974-3801 regarding course locations.

Paul "Womp" Wampler Jr., Oakland, son of Paul Sr. and Doris Wampler, Oakland, has been selected to be part of the Lutheran Youth Encounter's (LYE) musical ministry team, Captive Free, for 1991-92.

During the coming year, Captive Free will be performing at various churches, youth congresses, and other programs for congregations.

Wampler, as a member of the Captive Free Team, will be performing with one of six teams that will tour the United States.

He has been active in St. Mark's Lutheran Church Youth Group, various church activities, and has been to the LYE Virginia Beach Congress for the past five years.

He also attended Toledo Junior High Conference Camp Luther, and Virginia Beach's Congress, a leadership camp for the past two years.

Wampler has played percussion for 11 years, and has dreamed of being in the LYE team for the past three years.

Since his application was accepted, Paul is responsible to raise $400 a month for his financial support during his tour with Captive Free. He is in need of 34 people to sponsor him for $12 each month or a total of $168 over a 14-month period, thus raising the required amount of $5,000.

Persons pledging their support are encouraged to pray for Wampler on an assigned day, thereby becoming an integral part of the ministry he has undertaken while he attempts to reach his goal. Interested persons may pledge more money than the suggested $12 a month or make a one-time contribution gift.

Persons desiring to pledge or wanting more information about the program may call Dave Toranzo at 331-0112 or Wendy at 331-0112.

Wampler expressed his appreciation in advance to those contributing in any way to his upcoming ministry.

Mtn. Lake Park Camp Meeting To Begin June 28

The Mtn. Lake Park Camp Meeting will hold its annual camp June 28-July 7 at Mtn. Lake Park.

Rod Barnett, an approved evangelist of the United Methodist Church, West Virginia Conference, will be one of the speakers. He is vice president of the national Association of United Methodist Evangelists and is completing his doctoral studies. He possesses both a pastoral concern and evangelistic zeal, according to a camp spokesman.

The second speaker will be J. Paul Hill, an evangelist of the Wesleyan Church. The spokesman noted that he has been a successful pastor and church planter and has ministered in crusades, revivals, and camp meetings across the country.

Harry Stewart will lead the camp music program and be the soloist. He and his wife will also lead the youth program. The Rev. Stewart is presently minister of music First Church of the Nazarene in Huntington, Ind.

A missionary service will be held on July 5 at 7:30 p.m. and be led by the Rev. and Mrs. Richard Barker. The Rev. Barker is a United Methodist minister who has served with the World Gospel Mission in Japan. He is presently in charge of the World Gospel Mission Student Center, Wilmore, Ky.

Morning Bible studies at 11 a.m. daily will be led by the Rev. Barnett and the Rev. Hill. Preaching services will be held each evening at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday afternoons at 2:30.

Pre-praise services from 7-7:30 p.m. are being planned. The Handbell Choir of Wesley United Methodist Church, Kingwood, W.Va., will play on Monday evening, July 1.

CPR Course Offered By Red Cross

The Garrett County Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold a CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) course on Saturday, June 29, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the assembly room at Garrett Memorial Hospital.

The course, entitled "American Red Cross Community CPR," is four to six hours long and costs $20 per person.

Community CPR teaches persons how to deal with an emergency, what to do when an infant, child, or adult stops breathing or is choking, how to give CPR, and more.

When CPR is combined with quick delivery of medical care, studies show that approximately 40% of cardiac victims can be saved, according to Cindy Kutchman, executive of the local Red Cross chapter.

Pre-registration is required for the course. More information may be obtained by contacting the Garrett County Red Cross Chapter at 334-3916.

GRANTSVILLE

The Woodmen of the World met at 7:30 p.m. on June 11 to take some pictures for Lodge No. 41, before the regular meeting with Alice Younkin, president, presiding.

The pledge of allegiance was given, roll call of officers made, and the minutes read and approved. The sick were remembered by sending cards. A letter was read from Ronald Ford, state manager, about the Fraternal Congress meeting and about camp which will be held in August. A donation was given to the cemetery fund.

Walter Younkin won the door prize. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held on June 24, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Esther Durst and Lulu Brown are in Ocean City attending the Firemen's Auxiliary meeting.

CLASS REUNIONS

The graduation classes of 1930 and 1931 met at the Casselman Restaurant, Grantsville, for their reunions. Merle Wilburn and Merle McClintock were in charge, with Mr. Wilburn serving as master of ceremonies. There were 11 members of the 1931 class present. Some 30 persons attended the reunion.

Plans were made for the next reunion, to be held in 1993 at the same place.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Miller, Frederick, attended the 1930 class reunion, and visited his relatives in the area. Mrs. Verna (Miller) Henline visited her father, Loy Miller, for some time before returning to her home in Silver Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Walker, Gaithersburg, visited their parents on Thursday.

The Woodmen of the World Ranger Lodge No. 128, is planning a trip to Kennywood Park on Sunday, July 7. The bus will leave the Woodmen Building at 9:30 a.m.

GNB RECOGNIZES STUDENTS -- The Garrett National Bank, in its continued effort to work with and encourage students in the Garrett County school system toward higher academic achievement, has recognized 28 students for their academic achievement. The students, 14 from Northern Middle School and 14 from Southern Middle School, were presented a certificate of recognition and a pen and pencil set for achieving straight A's. Several of the students had straight A's for all five grading periods. Milford E. Backman, president of Garrett National Bank, stated, "We are very proud to honor students in Garrett County for their hard work. These are the kinds of people we'll be looking to employ. Those who work hard, have good attendance habits, communicate well both verbally and by written word, and are able to get along with coworkers, supervisors, and customers." Pictured above are the Southern Middle School students honored, left to right, first row: Joy Sielar, Janica Plouyar, Tammy Butt, Mandi Stampia, Mary Ann Wolfe, and Nicola Boslay; second row, same order: Wayne Johnson, compliance and training officer at GNB; Carla Clavar, Nannetta Stahl, Kala Rhodes, Kallia White, Rich Bhafnagar, Joa Tuomisto, and Randy Sharpless Jr. Shown below from Northern Middle School are, left to right, first row: Nancy Willaon, Stephanie Goanall, Kim Bittinger, and Zach Lavaranz; second row, same order: Mariana Walmar, Roxanna Ninar, Tarasa Knox, Elida Scholfield, and Wrenny Smith. Not present for the photo were Amber Cloas, Jannifer McKenzia, Kerri Sielar, Stacey Anderson, and Shad Wachter.

tion of Student Councils at 1991-92 secretary of Northern High's Student Council. Her mother, Mrs. Carol Shaulis, who is advisor of Northern Middle School Student Council and Garrett County Association of Student Councils will also be attending this conference.

NASC is sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), a 43,000 member professional educational association based in Reston, Virginia, just outside the nation's capital.

Stephanie Shaulis Attending NASC Nat'l Conference

Stephanie Shaulis, a sophomore at Northern High School, is one of the 1700 Student Council leaders attending the 55th National Association of Student Council Conference (NASC) June 21-25, in Conway, S.C.

With a theme "Ride the Wave of Leadership," the conference program will present workshop sessions on leadership skills, effective student government projects, and developing student activity programs. Delegates representing 50 states, the District of Columbia, Bermuda, Canada, and Puerto Rico will discuss social, educational, and political issues and will take part in an exchange of ideas.

"In order to graduate from high school with a complete education, students must learn how to communicate, lead, work together, and compromise," said Dale Hawley, director of student activities, National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP). "That's why we need high-quality student activity programs in our schools. Students attending this NASC conference will help run those programs in their schools next fall."

Stephanie is the daughter of David and Carol Shaulis, Grantsville. While at Northern, she has been student council representative and is vice president of the Garrett County Association of Student Councils.

In Loving Memory of our Dad RAY DOERR

Who passed away June 25, 1982

If we could have a lifetime wish, one dream that would come true, we would pray to God, with all our hearts, for yesterday and you. A thousand words can't bring you back, we know because we tried, and neither will a million tears, we know because we cried. You left behind our broken hearts, a sorrow too great to be told, but to us who loved and lost you, your memory will never grow old.

Changes To Alcohol Awareness Training Requirement Noted

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced two changes relating to a 1989 state law that requires the licensee or an employee of an establishment that serves alcoholic beverages for on-site consumption to complete an approved alcohol awareness training course.

According to a new law, effective July 1, 1991, training program providers are required to notify the respective county liquor boards of the name and address of individuals they have certified, along with the certification date and the name and address of the licensed establishment the person represents. "In addition, we have approved four more training programs, bringing the total to 21," Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that if the program providers fail to send the required information to local liquor boards within five days of sending the certificate of completion, the program can be decertified.

"Local liquor boards are also monitoring the alcohol awareness training requirements as part of their routine liquor dealer inspections," Goldstein said.

The programs provide training on the physiology of alcohol, on serving alcohol in a way that minimizes intoxication, and on stopping service before the customer is intoxicated.

Penalties for non-compliance include a first offense fine of $100.00. Subsequent offenses carry a $500 fine and/or suspension of liquor license. Off-premise licensees are exempt under the law. Licensees or employees who have completed any of the approved courses since July 1, 1984, have met the requirement.

The comptroller has approved various courses of training. Interested persons may contact Goldstein at 1-301-974-3801 regarding course locations.

SHS Student Council Officers Recently Elected

The student body of Southern High School recently elected officers for the 1991-92 Student Council. Those capturing the positions were Erin Dabney, president; Alayna Beahm, vice-president; Amy Rice, secretary; and Tiffany Powers, treasurer.

Miss Dabney is the daughter of Thomas and Dayle Dabney, Mountain Lake Park. She has played on the girls' basketball team for two years and has been a member of the tennis and cross-country teams. The senior is a member of the Environmental Club, the Girls' Athletic Association, the mock trial team, and the Southern Garrett Marching Band.

The new president participated in the 1989 German exchange, both in traveling to Germany and hosting a German student. Her awards include Who's Who Among American High School Students, the National Merit Award in science and student council, selection to the 1990 Hugh O'Brien Leadership Seminar, and election to the National Honor Society. Miss Dabney's previous experience in student council includes two years as a class representative and one year as secretary. She plans to attend a four-year college and pursue a career in international business.

Senior Alayna Beahm, vice-president, is the daughter of Rev. Ray and Rebecca Beahm, Oakland. She is a trumpet player in the concert, stage, and marching bands, and also plays on the softball team, for which she was chosen the most improved player. She also received the student of the month award for math.

Miss Beahm served as vice-president of her junior class and served for two years as a class representative on student council. Beyond her school activities, she is an active member and leader of the youth group at the Crellin Assembly of God Church. She plans to attend college following high school graduation.

Amy Rice is a junior and the daughter of Jay and Dianne Rice, Oakland. She has been the recipient of several awards, including selection into the 1991 Hugh O'Brien Leadership Seminar, the U.S. Achievement Academy, the United States Student Council Award, the National Science Merit Award, and the straight-A honor roll.

During her first two years at Southern, Miss Rice has been a cheerleader, a member of the track team, and a member of the Girls' Athletic Association. She has served as president of her freshman and sophomore classes and will be president of next year's junior class, and has served for two years as a class representative on student council. A member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, she hopes to pursue a career oriented to math or science, possibly engineering.

Tiffany Powers, a junior, is the daughter of Tom Powers, Oakland, and the late Pat Powers. She is a member of the marching and concert bands, and of the winter guard. She has been chosen as top musician in her class for both her freshman and sophomore years.

Awards earned by Miss Powers include Who's Who Among American High School Students, the U.S. Achievement Academy, the U.S. National Band Award, and the U.S. Student Council Award.

Rev. Perkins To Speak at Baptist Church Revival

Pastor Don Wilson of the Deep Creek Baptist Church invites the public to share in Church Revival Days, beginning Sunday, June 23, through Wednesday, June 26. "The meetings will be blessed with the ministry of the Rev. David H. Perkins and his wife, Maryellen, of Deltona, Fla.," stated Wilson.

The Rev. Perkins is a graduate of Bob Jones University and Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has held the position of director of missions for The Western Association of Southern Baptists. The Perkinses have served as missionaries in Plattsburg, N.Y.; Harrisburg and Philadelphia, Pa.; and most recently the Leeward Islands of the Caribbean.

During their stay in the Islands, the Perkinses served as chaplains on the U.S. Navy base. They have two children. Their son, David, participated in Operation Desert Storm as an armed forces surgeon.

The Rev. Perkins has had a wide and varied experience in both teaching and counseling. "Their insights and challenge may be most beneficial to our community," said Wilson.

Perkins will be speaking at the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday services, and Monday through Wednesday services at 7 p.m. The Deep Creek Baptist Church is located on U.S. Route 219, about seven miles north of Oakland. Sunday night will be a special "personal experience" challenge, accompanied by missionary pictures of the Perkins' 25-year missionary service.

Garrett Legion Loses One, Wins One This Week

After suffering a 7-2 defeat at the hands of Frostburg Farrady Post 24 last Thursday, the Garrett County American Legion baseball team enjoyed a comeback victory Wednesday against Victory Post of Westernport with a score of 20-5.

Garrett Legion (2-1) was defeated by Farrady Post when Shannon McKenzie worked out of a fifth-inning, bases-loaded jam in relief and then doubled home a run in the eighth.

With Farrady leading 2-1 in the fifth, McKenzie came into the game to relieve Rick Burley and emerged from the inning without further damage. He struck out eight hitters, walked one, and gave up three hits. His double in the eighth resulted in a 3-2 lead by Farrady and marked a four-run inning.

Scott DeHaven had four singles for Farrady and John Cutter had three singles to knock three home runs. Burley singled twice and Bryan Lewis also had an RBI double.

Bill Free singled twice for Garrett and Randall Ours, the losing pitcher, added an RBI single.

In the 20-5 win over Victory Post, Garrett's Richie Baldwin blasted a home run, doubled, and singled twice.

Brett Rice
Gonder Insurance
Player of the Week to drive in four runs in Wednesday's game.

Brett Rice pitched shut-out ball for the first six innings and allowed only three hits before giving way to Randall Ours in the seventh inning in taking the victory over Buck Lough.

Garth Glatfelter added four singles to Garrett's 23-hit assault on five Victory Post pitchers and also scored four times. Ryan Harman logged three singles, while Charlie Plauger and Kevin Green each had a double and a single. Dave Kurtz and Shawn Ryan both singled twice.

Rodney Mangold slugged a grand slam home run as Victory Post scored all five of its runs in the eighth inning. He also doubled and singled. Darrin Matlick added two singles and Greg Whiteman a triple.

This past weekend, Garrett Legion participated in the Elkins Legion Tournament, finishing 1-3.

In a game with Severn, Garrett fell with a score of 4-2. Coach Ed Wildesen said Garrett left 13 runners on base with eight in scoring position in that game.

In the second game, Jacksonville, Fla. took Garrett with a score of 9-3. In that game, a crucial walk and a mental mistake at third with two outs led to a Jacksonville grand slam. Garrett again left seven runners on base.

Although Garrett had beaten Morgantown twice, the third game saw Morgantown beating Garrett by a score of 7-6 in extra innings.

"We could easily have been at least 3-1 in the tournament," said Wildesen, "but with these tough losses, we took out our frustrations on Brilliant, Ohio, beating them 12-2 in five innings."

Garrett is 12-8 in non-District games.

Brett Rice was named Gonder Insurance "Player of the Week."

"He was chosen not necessarily for this past week's performance, but for his overall performance in all our games," stated Wildesen. "Rice has picked up where he left off in high school. He is pitching, hitting, and playing outfield with so much authority - more so than with his first two years of Legion ball."

Wildesen also commended several other players for having a "nice start" this season.

He said Dave Kurtz is showing a decent bat and has proved he can throw out base runners with consistency.

RUNNING FOR THE LAW - Area law enforcement officers recently took part in the annual Law Enforcement Torch Run to benefit the Maryland Special Olympics. The Western Maryland run was coordinated by Hagerstown and began at the Pennsylvania/Maryland state line in Garrett County and progressed to Cumberland, Hancock, and through Carroll County into Frederick County. Runners for the area team are pictured above, first row, left to right, Jay Sowers, Garrett County Sheriff's Department; Shawn Grovas, Oakland City Police Department; Rick Lawie and Steve Hamilton, both of the Department of Natural Resources; and Joe Leacy, no department given; and second row, same order, Tim Farrall and Tim Sliv, both of the Maryland State Police; Eric Derham, no department given; Chris Emerick, Jack McCauley, Kirk McTaggart, Shawn Slater, and Leon Fearnow, all of the Maryland State Police; Chuck Thomas and John McNamara, both from the Department of Natural Resources; and Chist John K. Sines of the Oakland City Police Department. Below Jay Sowers passes the torch to Rick Lawie.

Video Connection had three more wins; Madigans, 4th place; Bethlehem, 3rd; and one over Holler's, 11-3. Holler's was not to lose again for they beat Video Connection, 14-6 in the championship game and had taken the 1st place trophy. Video Connection had 2nd place.

Thanks to all the teams that entered and good luck to all the rest of the year.

Ron Savage, chairman of the event at 387-6686.

Jets Alumni Picnic "Rain Or Shine"

Head Jets Youth Football League Coach Vic Compitello noted that the alumni picnic will be held Sunday, June 23, beginning at 3 p.m. "rain or shine," at Swallow Falls State Park.

Compitello explained that the group has the use of the pavilion in the event of rain. All former Jets coaches interested in attending the picnic are asked to call Compitello at 334-3192 for passes to the park and or for further information.

Those attending are asked to bring two covered dishes and table service. Drinks and hamburgers will be provided. The meal will be served at 3 p.m. with numerous activities following.

All current and new players and cheerleaders attending should contact Compitello if they have not received their passes for the picnic.

"We encourage all former Jets coaches to attend the picnic for some good fun and sharing of memories," a Jets team spokesman stated.

The Jets players and cheerleaders have already begun fundraisers for new safety equipment and uniforms for the upcoming season which begins the end of August.

Old Timers Tourney Results Announced

For the first time in four years, the Oldtimers Mid-Season Tourney was completed. A total of nine of the thirteen league teams were entered.

Three of the nine were eliminated on Saturday with any one of the six able to take the first place trophy. Madigans defeated Hometown and Video Connection defeated D&L Coal. Two were left in the winner bracket with Holler's Wholesale Tree & Shrub defeating Bethlehem O.T.

THANK YOU!

We would like to express our gratitude for the devoted care of our mother L. Viola Pitts. A special thanks of appreciation to Dr. Schwalm, Dr. Porcaro and the nurses of Garrett Memorial Hospital 3rd floor, Rev. William Withers, Brenda Shreve, Elk Garden Rescue Squad & Boal Warnick Funeral Home. A special thanks to Anna Jane Sharpless for her special love and care of our mother. It was comforting to know friends and relatives care by sending cards and food. Also for phone calls and visits.

Four Ways to Lower Blood Cholesterol

In the past ten years, we have read and heard various reports regarding the negative effects of cholesterol on the body. High blood levels of cholesterol have been associated with coronary heart disease (one of the leading causes of death), stroke, angina pectoris, and leg pain caused by impaired blood circulation.

The negative effects of cholesterol are generally associated with LDL (low density lipoprotein) cholesterol, the type of cholesterol that is capable of being trapped in smaller blood vessels. There are four ways of lowering LDL blood cholesterol:

1. Diet: Reduce the amount of cholesterol in the diet by eating less eggs, butterfat, ice cream and organ meats such as liver and kidney. Focus on foods that are high in fiber. Prepare foods by broiling, poaching, steaming, or stir-frying in vegetable oil.
2. Medicines: Prescription medicines are available if dietary measures do not adequately lower blood cholesterol levels.
3. Weight Control: Losing weight (if obese) can lower blood cholesterol levels.
4. Exercise: Vigorous exercise can lower LDL cholesterol and help strengthen the heart.

Simpson's Auto Nips Grantsville In Wild Game

Simpson's Auto took Grantsville in a wild 9-8 game in Bi-State Pony League action Friday evening at the South End Sports Complex as two pitcher errors from sacrifice bunts allowed two runs to score in the seventh inning.

In a back-and-forth game, the score was tied 7-7 going into the seventh inning. Grantsville, with a 3-3 record, took the lead from Jeremy Hoover's double, scoring Mike Yoder, who had reached on an error.

In the bottom of the inning, Simpson's Scott Barnhouse executed a sacrifice bunt which the pitcher misplayed, allowing Corey Shoemaker to score the game-tying run. A repeat sacrifice bunt by Brad Smith and another pitcher error permitted Barnhouse to score the game-winning run.

With a home run and two singles, Bobby Fritz was the big hitter for Grantsville. Alan Sebold doubled and singled, while Brian Bolcher had two singles. Andy Patterson led all Simpson's hitters with two doubles, and Corey Glass had two singles for four runs batted in.

Grantsville rallied Monday after Friday's loss to Simpson's Auto when Josh Kutler slammed a three-run home run to defeat Hyndman in an 8-5 win over Hyndman.

Kutler broke a 4-4 tie in the bottom of the sixth inning after Hyndman tied the score in the top of the inning.

Jerry Hoover added a solo home run in the sixth and Alan Sebold hit a homer in the fifth. Paul Edwards allowed seven hits and struck out seven as he earned the victory for Grantsville.

Bobby Fritz and Todd Smith each had two singles for the winning team. Shane Bingham drove in two runs with a double and Mike Sisk had two singles.

1991 Spring Gobbler Harvest Sets Records

Maryland's Department of Natural Resources (DNR) announced this week that hunters harvested a record number of wild turkeys in Maryland this spring. Check stations in the 12 counties open to hunting during the four-week spring gobbler season, which ended May 16, reported a harvest of 1,145 turkeys, 24 more birds than last year's record. Garrett County led the state with 379 birds harvested.

Assistant Secretary Donald E. MacLauchlan commented, "The harvest was above expectations in the new counties open for the first time on the Eastern Shore. We anticipated a moderate harvest of approximately 40 birds in the newly opened counties. The interest by local hunters has been excellent and their efficiency in mastering the art of spring turkey hunting was a pleasant surprise."

Josh Sandt, supervisor of forest wildlife for DNR's Wildlife Division, noted that the new areas opened for spring turkey hunting are a direct result of the trap and transplant of wild birds. "We now have established populations in all but one county in Maryland. By this time next year we will have established populations in all counties. The birds have adapted well and are expanding at a faster rate than expected as the harvest in the new counties indicates," Sandt said.

The 1991 county harvest compared to 1990 harvest in parentheses is as follows: Garrett 379 (356), Allegany

274 (310), Washington 210 (228), Frederick 89 (100), Montgomery 39 (49), Howard 0, Calvert 68 (66), Kent 3, Queen Anne's 18, Dorchester 20, Worcester 25 (12), and Somerset 1. (*open for first time in 1991)

the Southern High School Band and Color Guard, including members of the alumni team.

Emcees for the event will be Susan Hawthorne and Steve William of WXIE radio station.

The celebration will begin at 10 a.m. at the Southern High School football field, featuring the presentation of the specially designed "Desert Storm" jackets, to be given to each of the participating troops. Two U.S. Savings Bonds will also be awarded.

Each of the veterans will receive an American Flag and a certificate of appreciation. Veterans attending are requested to be at the football field no later than 9:15 a.m. Veterans also need to register in order to reserve a seat for the entertainment. A registration box is located in the lobby of the First United National Bank and Trust, Oakland.

The event is free to the public and, in case of rain, will be held in the National Guard Armory on Eighth Street in Oakland.

In the Kitchen A PARTY

block party basics

- Decide on a specific date and time. Use a holiday theme, or pick a non-holiday weekend to avoid vacations.
- Call the local police for permission to block off the street. It may be an effective time to promote a neighborhood watch program.
- Send out flyers with the information. Request participation with the plans, food and fun.
- Let non-cooks bring and heat up the grills, move picnic tables, bring paper goods, buns or a chilled watermelon, or take empty cans to the recycling depository.
- Involve all ages. Take instant pictures. If this is an annual event, show snapshots and videos from other years.
- Hold a parade. Kids can decorate bikes, tricycles and scooters and dress up to ride them.
- Ask the fire department to bring a hook-and-ladder to see and touch.
- Plan an obstacle course for "big wheels."
- For the grown-ups, set up a volleyball net. Offer a game of horseshoes away from the children's events.
- Offer small prizes—with enough for everyone to win—in a children's art show.

Savory Beef Marinade

- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon Ac'cent Flavor Enhancer
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon basil

In a small bowl, combine all ingredients; mix well. Pour marinade over your favorite steak, cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Grill or broil as desired.

Makes 1/2 cup marinade.

Zebra Brownies

- 1 package brownie mix (approximately 20 to 24 ounces)
- 1 cup evaporated milk, divided usage
- 1/4 cup oil
- 2 eggs
- 2 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 4 ounces white chocolate, grated, about 1 1/2 cups, divided usage

Preheat oven to 350°F. Grease a 13x9x2-inch baking pan. In a large bowl, combine brownie mix, 1/4 cup evaporated milk, oil and eggs; mix well. Pour into prepared pan. In a small bowl, heat cream cheese, sugar and remaining 1/4 cup evaporated milk until light and fluffy; heat in 1 cup grated white chocolate. Drop cream cheese mixture by the spoonful on top of the brownie mixture. Using a knife, swirl cream cheese mixture into brownies, going all the way to the bottom of the pan and to the edges. Bake 35 to 38 minutes. Remove from oven, let cool 15 minutes then sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup white chocolate. Cool completely.

Makes 24 brownies.

Sweet 'n Sour Beans and Franks

- 2 jars (18 ounces each) or 2 cans (16 ounces each) B&M Brick Oven Baked Beans
- 1 can (20 ounces) pineapple chunks, well drained
- 1/2 pound turkey franks, sliced
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 2 tablespoons coarsely chopped green pepper
- 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce

Preheat oven to 350°F. In a 2-quart casserole, combine all ingredients, mix well. Bake uncovered 1 hour. Allow to stand 20 minutes before serving.

Makes 10 servings.

Confetti Bean Salad

- 1 jar (18 ounces) or 1 can (16 ounces) B&M Brick Oven Baked Beans
- 1 can (17 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
- 1 small onion, thinly sliced
- 1 medium tomato, cubed
- 1 can (2 1/4 ounces) sliced California Ripe Olives, drained
- 2 tablespoons white wine vinegar

In a large bowl, combine all ingredients. Cover and refrigerate 2 to 4 hours.

Makes 5 cups.

"Honey Roasted" Chicken Marinade

- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/2 cup smooth peanut butter
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon Ac'cent Flavor Enhancer

In a small saucepan, combine all ingredients. Cook and stir over low heat until peanut butter is melted. Pour marinade over chicken, cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Grill or broil as desired, brushing on marinade during cooking.

Makes 1 1/2 cups.

An invitation to party on the street is the best way for a neighborhood to renew old friendships and meet new members of the block. When people are too busy to do more than wave as they pass by in the car, a block party offers the chance to meet with neighbors of all ages, swap crabgrass tales and share local history.

The block party can be as programmed as the planners decide. If there is a neighborhood organization, a structure and location already may be set. A first attempt may begin simply as a potluck meal and a game of croquet, but once the seed has been sown, plenty of colorful ideas will sprout to match neighbors' interests. Variety and plenty are in style for the food, and dishes made with convenience foods make it easy to fill the tables. Remember: Always keep hot foods hot and cold foods icy cold right up to serving time. Leaving perishable food open several hours for nibbling is not a safe practice.

Have a general idea of the time range of the meal and offer a little something for all age groups.

Dishes made with convenience foods make it easy to fill the tables.

For appetizers, Devilish Eggs made with Underwood Deviled Ham offer variety with old-fashioned appeal by the dozen. Kids will go for something more prehistoric like Dinosaur Dip. The ham spread and cheese figure will be on the verge of "extinction" once the California Ripe Olives disappear from down his back. Raw veggies crisply complete the dish, while more ripe olives are handy for instant nibbling.

Baked beans and a cool bean salad satisfy appetites that grow with the fun of getting together. B&M Brick Oven Baked Beans fill this double requirement as they are served warm in Sweet 'n Sour Beans and Franks or chilled in a picturesque Confetti Bean Salad. Heat up the grills for a variety of meats. All-natural Ac'cent Flavor Enhancer brightens the flavor of both "Honey-Roasted" Chicken and Savory Beef marinades. Brownies—inspired by zebras and baked the easy way with a swirl of cream cheese—are a delicious way to appease a sweet tooth at the end of the day. This meal will make everyone eager to come back to party on the street next year.

Devilish Eggs

- 12 hard cooked eggs
- 1 can (4 1/4 ounces) Underwood Deviled Ham
- 3 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons stone ground mustard
- 1 tablespoon horseradish

Cut eggs in half lengthwise; remove the yolks and mash with a fork. In a small bowl, combine egg yolks, deviled ham, mayonnaise, mustard and horseradish; mix until smooth and creamy. Spoon into egg whites; cover and chill until ready to serve.

Makes 24 deviled eggs.

Dinosaur Dip

- 2 cans (4 1/4 ounces each) Underwood Deviled Ham
- 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped green onion
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 6 drops hot pepper sauce
- 24 pitted California Ripe Olives, divided usage
- carrot sticks
- green and red bell pepper strips
- cucumber slices

In a medium bowl, combine first seven ingredients; chill for a few hours so mixture is easily handled. If desired, form mixture into a dinosaur. Decorate with 12 ripe olives down back and ripe olive pieces for eyes. Serve with a relish tray containing carrot sticks, green and red pepper strips, remaining ripe olives and cucumber slices for dipping.

Makes 1 cheese ball.

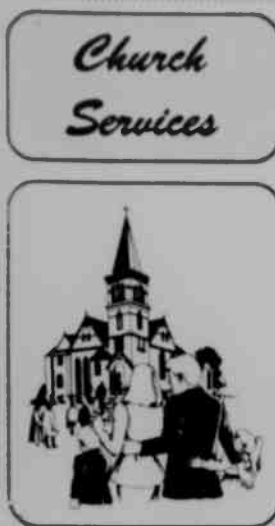

Note: Mixture may be formed into a ball and served.

Metamorphosis

Mom, there's an old, creepy, crawly caterpillar on our porch!

Mom knows that when the metamorphosis is complete that creepy crawly caterpillar will have evolved into a beautiful butterfly, bursting with brilliant colors, no longer crawling, but sailing through the air on gossamer wings.

At times we may feel like that caterpillar, moving slowly, with doubtful direction. Yet, if God has given such caring consideration to the caterpillar, will He not also care for us and guide us?

Have faith in God. Be patient. Allow Him to work in your life as He wills. Though life on earth might, at times, not be as beautiful as we would hope, our lives will glow with serenity and faith, and eternal life with our Heavenly Father will be even more beautiful than we can possibly imagine.

This week, worship our Creator as you come with humility, praise, and prayer. Though our metamorphosis is not yet complete, our Maker has promised that we can become a beautiful "new creature" as we finally emerge an eternal child of God.

Background Scripture: Ezra 7.
Devotional Reading: Psalms 119: 162-176.

Many of the people who come to me for counseling seem to share one common conviction: somehow, they were "behind the door when the goodies were passed out." Some of these people are quite certain that little good has ever come their way. Opportunities, good fortune, the grace of God—all seem to have passed by on the other side. Usually, then, one of my attempts as a counselor is to lead them to discover that often the poverty of their lives is not because God has shortchanged them, but that they have failed to recognize the gifts of God and grasp them when offered. Just as beauty is in the eye of the beholder, so is bounty.

As poet Edward Rowland Sill put it, "We must do the best we can with what we have." His own life was proof of that. His parents died when he was young. He tried the ministry and gave that up. Then he tried journalism and that didn't suit him. He became a teacher, but failing health forced him to quit. Lots of people would have given up at this point, whining, "What's the use?" But, as someone put it, Sill "believed in making good, not in making excuses." In one of his poems, Opportunity, he tells of a king's son who picks up a broken sword discarded by another. "And saved a great cause that heroic day."

Ezra seems to me the kind of person who was ready to seize the opportunity when it came. He would have understood Horace's great exhortation: Carpe diem!, which translated from the Latin is: "Grasp the sleeve of the day!" When, after years and years of dashed hopes and false starts, Ariarxes, the King of Persia, decided to send Ezra to Jerusalem with a contingent of fellow Jews, Ezra grasped "the sleeve" of this opportunity.

No one knows why Ariarxes made such an astounding decision. He was not a Jew. We know of no visions or heavenly voices that influenced him. All we know is that the King of Persia decided to send Ezra back to Jerusalem with a virtual blank check—whatever he needed there, he would be given. Ezra himself voices the appropriate reaction: "Blessed be the Lord, the God of our fathers, who put such a thing as this into the heart of the king, to beautify the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem" (7:27,28).

That kind of thing can happen in our own time. Today, I understand the Soviet Union and other Iron Curtain countries are not only tolerating the resurgence of Christianity, but in some cases welcoming it. Four years ago we would not have thought such a thing to be possible, but now that the opportunity is upon us, we need to be able to say Carpe diem!—to seize the opportunity we now have and say with Ezra: "Blessed be the Lord...who put such a thing as this into the heart" of these leaders.

I love these lines of Shakespeare in Julius Caesar. There is a tide in the affairs of men. Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune. Omitted, all the voyage of their life is bound in shallows and miseries. On such a full sea we are now afloat. And we must take the current when it serves, Or lose our ventures.

STORY'Quantum Leap' keeps Dean Stockwell hopping

BY LYNN HOOGENBOOM

Dean Stockwell has always had an unusual screen persona — from "The Boy With Green Hair" (1948), which he did as a child, to "Compulsion" (1959), which he did as a young man, to the more recent "Blue

Dean Stockwell

Velvet" (1986) and "Married to the Mob" (1988).

But even for Stockwell, "Quantum Leap" is a little outside the norm. For one thing, it's his first TV series.

"I can see that one series could be very different from another, but I definitely like this one," he says. "I enjoy the heck out of it. I'd like to do it for the full five or six years."

For another, his character is a hologram. "I stand up all the time. I never lean on anything," he says.

The NBC series regularly airs Wednesdays, but this week, dubbed "Quantum Leap Week," it will air Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday as well.

One of the reasons Stockwell is so enthusiastic about "Quantum Leap" is his co-star, Scott Bakula.

"In the first season, when I began to realize how well we were working together and how much I liked him, I would think to myself, 'Jeez, what if it had gone the other way and I'd signed on for a series and I found out I hated the guy, or he hated me?'" Stockwell says. "It would be awful."

The series features Bakula as a young scientist who is trapped in the past. Every episode, Sam temporarily "leaps" into the body of a new person living sometime in the past 35 years, frequently so he can avert an oncoming tragedy. His only guidance comes from the sometimes unreliable Albert (Stockwell), who lives in the present, has a strong regard for the opposite sex, and appears to Sam as a hologram.

There's only one period that Stockwell, who has lived through all the years covered in "Quantum Leap," feels the show doesn't do well.

"The toughest era is the '60s with the hippies and flower children," he says. "Whenever that's involved, it doesn't seem right. Even though you dress them and put Afros on the black guys and put signs in their hands, the life or the magic is missing."

This past season ended with an unusual cliffhanger. After Sam "leaped," both he and Albert landed in the '40s (before Sam was born). As the show concluded, it became apparent that it is Albert who has landed in that period, and Sam is now a hologram. That opens up some intriguing possibilities. Might the role reversal last an entire season?

"I don't know about an entire season," says Stockwell. "I think two episodes at most. But we've established a precedent that this could happen. So at any given moment ..."

MONDAY

On a rebroadcast episode of CBS's "Murphy Brown," Miles (Grant Shaud) tries to solidify the team spirit of "F.Y.I." by forcing the squabbling correspondents to participate in a retreat. The team refuses to get with the program — until they meet an obnoxious group of bankers. It airs Monday, June 24.

TUESDAY

CBS rebroadcasts the 1990 fact-based miniseries "The Queen of Mean" on Tuesday, June 25. Suzanne Pleshette stars as New York City real-estate kingpin and self-styled "hotel queen" Leona Helmsley, and Lloyd Bridges portrays her husband Harry. Joe Regalbutto and Bruce Weitz also star.

WEDNESDAY

In "The Wonder Years," Fred Savage (r.) stars as Kevin Arnold, and Josh Saviano portrays Paul Pfeiffer, his best friend. Together, they face the mysteries of school, sports, family and the opposite sex as they grow up in a suburban neighborhood in the early '70s. It airs Wednesday, June 26.

TV DIALOGUE

BY TONI REINHOLD

O'HARA HINT — Please tell me the names of some of the films in which Maureen O'Hara starred with John Wayne so I can look for them at the video store. — B.L. Shoals, Ind.

O'Hara in "Only the Lonely"

O'Hara and Wayne starred in "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon" (1949), "Rio Grande" (1950), "The Quiet Man" (1952), "The Wings of Eagles" (1957), "McLintock" (1963) and "Big Jake" (1971). All but "McLintock" are available on video.

In a related question, K.C. of Toronto writes to ask what has become of O'Hara. She has emerged from 18 years of retirement in the current feature film "Only the Lonely," which also stars John Candy and Ally Sheedy. It took filmmaker Chris Columbus four weeks to locate O'Hara, who is now 70, by checking her homes in Los Angeles, New York, the Virgin Islands and Ireland.

RUSTY HAMER — What became of Rusty from "Make Room for Daddy"? — H.N., Pearl City, Hawaii

Born in 1947, Rusty Hamer was cast by Danny Thomas as son Rusty Williams for Thomas series after an open audition in 1952. "Make Room for Daddy" (later retitled "The Danny Thomas Show") ran from 1952-64. Hamer left Hollywood in 1968 and held a succession of jobs. He struggled against alcoholism and depression, but last year he committed suicide.

'LONGSTREET' MEMORY — This question has been driving me crazy for months. There used to be a TV show about a blind detective who had a German shepherd seeing-eye dog. Can you tell me the names of the show and its star? — M.C.T., Freeport, Ill.

The 1971-72 drama "Longstreet" starred James Franciscus as a New Orleans insurance-company investigator who was blinded on a case. His guide dog's name was Pax.

IT'S A DATE — Is what year was Richard Dean Anderson of "MacGyver" born? I know the day is Jan. 23. — A.R., Dan-dee, Ill.

Anderson was born in 1950.

WORLD' ADDRESS — Where can I write to the producers of "Another World"? — M.R., Hazleton, Pa.

Write in care of "Another World," NBC-TV, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10112.

Send your letters to Toni Reinhold, United Feature Syndicate, 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Due to the large volume of mail, personal replies cannot be given.

THURSDAY

Bob Barker ("The Price Is Right") hosts "The 18th Annual Daytime Emmy Awards," airing Thursday, June 27, on CBS. The ceremony airs for the first time in prime time. Barker is himself a five-time Daytime Emmy winner and is a nominee again this year as Outstanding Game Show Host.

IN FOCUS

In "Death Dreams," Christopher Reeve and Marg Helgenberger star as George and Crista Westfield, an affluent couple who live with Jennie (Taylor Fry), Crista's daughter from a previous marriage. Their seemingly ideal life is destroyed when Jennie drowns. But a year after the tragedy, Jennie's spirit returns to communicate with Crista and to bring some very surprising news. It premieres Tuesday, June 25, on Lifetime.

IN FOCUS

McCabe (William Conrad) and Jake (Joe Penny, pictured) unravel a web of blackmail and conspiracy while helping to convict a burglar of murdering an art collector on the episode of "Jake and the Fatman" airing Wednesday, June 26, on CBS. The two also discover that further investigation paints a different picture of one of fraud and adultery. Charles Frank and Erin Gray guest-star. (Rebroadcast.)

ON THE CABLE

Sammi Davis stars as veiled threat on USA

BY KIRK NICEWONGER

Most brides-to-be keep checklists of things to do before the Big Day: hire the band, rent the hall, pick up the little baskets to put the Jordan almonds in. That sort of thing. You hardly ever run into a list that includes "Kill the caterer, kill the minister, kill the ex-fiancee, kill the groom."

It must be time for a wedding, USA Network-style. The (Linden Ashby), an affable palooka. Stephanie thoroughly charms Ted's family, but Ted's sister Laura (Kelly Preston) smells something piscine. (Laura is a woman of remarkable intuition; later in the movie she positively ID's the body of a woman she has never seen before.)

As preparations proceed, a caterer recognizes Stephanie as her former client in San Diego, and Stephanie hits the potassium again to turn the caterer colder than the last Swedish meatball on a reception steam table.

During a counseling session with Rev. Wells (Jered Barclay), Stephanie erupts in a rage when Ted confesses up to a previous relationship. The alarmed minister suggests that the wedding be postponed, and soon Stephanie has the reverend being measured for wings by the seraphim.

Suspicious Laura, meanwhile, has gotten in touch with Darlene (Ceryl Aruti), a former fiancée of the groom-to-be Stephanie killed in San Diego, and arranges for Darlene to visit. But Stephanie learns of the plan, disguises herself as Laura and meets Darlene at the airport. Darlene is then booked permanently into the bridal suite of the Halo Hotel.

Things come to a head just before the wedding, when Stephanie believes Ted was unfaithful to her at his bachelor party. Uh-oh, Ted.

"The Perfect Bride" is a perfect hoot, especially in its acting, which only occasionally rises to the level of competence found in a kindergarten pageant on The Wonderful World of Vegetables.

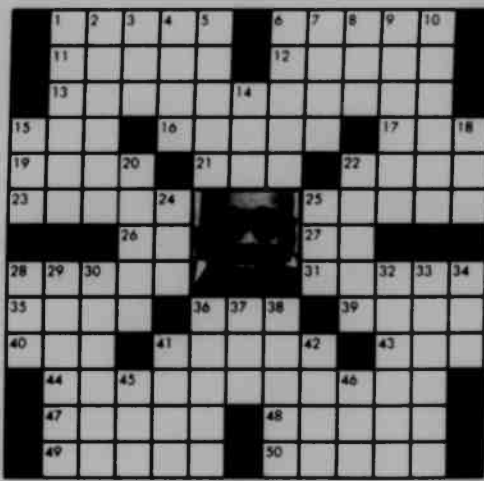

Sammi Davis

Perfect Bride premieres Wednesday, June 26.

Sammi Davis stars as Stephanie, a nurse whose sugary charm is a thin, thin candy shell over a jealous streak that makes Othello look like an open-marriage advocate. In San Diego, she suspects her intended of flirting with his former girlfriend, so, the night before their wedding, she injects him with a lethal dose of potassium. Gee, thanks, hon, but I really could have just eaten a banana.

Stephanie finds the courage to begin anew elsewhere, and before you know it, she's engaged again, this time to Ted Don't let the title fool you. "Scott Ross: The Battle of the Sexes" airing Saturday, June 23 on The Family Channel is not a celebrity fight or a quiz show. Instead, Ross asks a lot of ordinary Americans and a few experts some basic questions about how men and women feel about sex and communicate with each other. You won't agree with every comment. However, but a few are an expected perspective and thought-provoking.

GCC Offering EMT Course

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College in cooperation with the Maryland Fire & Rescue Institute (MFRI), will offer an Emergency Medical Technician course at the McHenry Campus of the college. Sessions will be held each Monday and Wednesday from 7 to 10:15 p.m. 17 weeks, beginning August 17.

The course requires a minimum enrollment of 15 participants. Priority will be given to those individuals who are affiliated with rescue squads, fire departments, and other emergency medical services. Those wishing to attend the EMT course must register at the college and also must contact the MFRI office to determine their eligibility.

This course is designed for the individual who wishes to gain expertise in providing emergency medical care and is being conducted in an effort to generate support for the Northern and Southern Garrett County rescue squads. Both county squads, as well as other regional rescue services, have particular need for volunteers, especially for day time coverage. Upon completion of the course, the student should be able to successfully challenge a test administered in conjunction with Maryland Emergency Medical Services.

WINNING CLOWNS - Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) President Jack Jones congratulates Amy Bittlinger, bachelorette from Vogue Beauty Salon, who won the GOBA-sponsored clown contest. In conjunction with Roberts Brothers Circus, one of GOBA's annual fundraisers, Bittlinger was named the honorary clown for the evening performance of the circus held June 5. The clown hopefuls were judged by Bernice Burns, clown with the All Ghan Shirts. Billy Schmidt, Rad House, was named the honorary ringmaster for the circus.

Students will not be charged a fee for this course. For more information, persons may contact the Office of Continuing Education at 387-6666, ext. 169 or the MFRI office at 1-800-339-6374 as soon as possible.

Phone Directories Being Delivered

The new C&P Telephone directories are arriving in Garrett County. The delivery period began on June 19 and will continue through June 22. Most customers will receive the directories through the mail. Customers receiving large numbers of directories will receive them by freight.

The Garrett County Directory includes listings for Accident, Bittlinger, Deep Creek Lake, Friendsville, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, Oakland and Terra Alta, as well as nearby Bayard, Blaine, Elk Garden, Gorman and Mt. Storm in West Virginia, and Yellow Pages listings for Garrett County.

More information may be obtained by calling Virginia Stemple, at 334-4389, or Judy Wilt, at 334-9200.

Western Maryland, a typical Maryland scene of a horse and rider in action, and one of the sandy beaches on the Eastern Shore. The photographers are Steven Sortino and Greg Pease.

The Directory will be supplemented by an Error Correction List for any incorrect listings which are reported to C&P. Customers have until July 23 to contact C&P's Business Office to report an incorrect or incomplete listing in either the White and Yellow Pages. A list of corrected names and numbers will be printed and sent to all area customers.

Mastectomy Group To Become Cancer Support Group

The Mastectomy Support Group of Garrett County is now re-organizing to include all interested cancer patients. The new group will be known as the Support Group.

The Cancer Support Group meetings will begin with a picnic in section I of Broadford Lake Park, Tuesday, June 25 at 6 p.m.

All interested persons are asked to bring a covered dish and join the Cancer Support Group.

In case of rain, the group will meet in the board room at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

More information may be obtained by calling Virginia Stemple, at 334-4389, or Judy Wilt, at 334-9200.

DCL Property Owners' Assoc. Meeting Set

The Property Owners' Association of Deep Creek Lake will be holding its first summer general membership meeting on Saturday, June 29, at 10 a.m. in Room 307, at Garrett Community College.

Topics on the agenda will include lake regulations, the Maryland Bureau of Mines wetlands program, and general discussion of the aims and activities of the association.

All members and prospective members are invited to attend.

Refreshments will be available at 9:30 a.m.

Hymn Sing Slated At Gorman Church

A hymn sing will be held at the Gorman Church of God on Saturday, June 22, at 7 p.m.

Interested persons are welcome to bring their own music. Those attending will also have the opportunity to meet the new pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Horstick.

Local Churches Plan Vacation Church School

St. Paul's United Methodist, St. Peter's Roman Catholic, St. Matthew's Episcopal, and St. Mark's Lutheran Churches are now preparing for the annual Vacation Church School. The school will be held at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, July 29 to August 2, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. each day.

All children who will be 4 years old by December 31, 1991, up to an including ninth grade, are welcome to attend.

Registration forms are available at any of the four participating churches. This year all children must be pre-enrolled before Monday June 25, because of limited space and ordering of materials.

"Sonward Ho!" is the theme of the program. Emphasis is also on fellowship and fun, according to director Kathy Shaffer.

The Vacation Church School accepts offerings and canned goods. Offerings will be donated to the Big Brothers and Big Sisters Organization, and canned goods will be presented to the House of Hope.

There are some parent-volunteer openings. Persons interested in helping are asked to contact Mrs. Shaffer at 334-9032.

Lake Management Office Investigates Buoy Vandalism

The park ranger staff at the Lake Management Office places and maintains over 70 safety and regulatory buoys on Deep Creek Lake each summer.

In recent weeks, there has been a noticeable rise in instances of buoy vandalism. "We are particularly concerned that what would appear to be a harmless prank could result in serious injury to a boater when buoys are stolen, damaged, or moved," stated Paul Durham, Deep Creek Lake manager.

"In addition, the costs of buoy purchase and maintenance continues to rise. In these tight budgetary times, this is certainly an expense that we do not want," he said.

Durham is requesting that all lake users take particular care when boating near the regulatory buoys, particularly at night. In addition, any citizens with information on individuals who might be involved in buoy vandalism are urged to contact the Lake Management Office so that it may be investigated. Park Rangers will keep all information received in strictest confidence.

The Lake Management Office is located at Deep Creek Lake State Park, and may be reached by calling 301-387-4111.

CAFETERIA WORKER HONORED - Regina Sanders, person in charge of the cafeteria at Crellin Elementary School, was presented with a certificate last week from the Maryland Department of Education, in recognition of her outstanding accomplishments during School Breakfast Week in Maryland which was held March 3-9. Pictured is Asa McCain, principal at Crellin, congratulating Regina Sanders, while the students enjoy their breakfast.

Northern GOP Women To Meet

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club will meet Tuesday, June

25, at 7:30 p.m. at Hill Top Inn, Grantsville.

Guest speakers will be Senator John Hafer and Delegate George C. Edwards.

All interested Republicans are welcome to attend.

First United Is One Of Top Performing Banks

"First United National Bank & Trust was recently listed as the thirty-fourth largest bank or savings and loan in the State of Maryland," stated Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the board and president of the bank. "Of those financial institutions, First United posted the third highest return on assets in 1990. In other words, relative to our size we earned the third highest net income. We are very pleased with these results, considering the challenging year that we just completed."

The 1990 asset size and

net income for the 35 largest banks and savings and loans were printed in the April 22 issue of the Baltimore Sun. The data, made available from Sheshunoff Information Services, was part of a corporate profile section. Also highlighted were major employers and the largest public companies in Maryland.

For the last two years, the national bank rating companies have consistently listed First United among their top performing banks. The IDC Financial Publishing Company has rated First United as Superior, their highest rating, for eight consecutive quarters. Sheshunoff Information Services has rated First United as "A+", their highest rating, for seven consecutive quarters. And Southern Banker, a popular banking periodical, has listed First United among the top 100 banks in the Southeast for two years. These organizations base their rating primarily on a company's capital strength, earnings, quality of assets and management.

In commenting on First United's 1990 performance, Stanton recently told shareholders, "Our key measurements of financial performance remain impressive. This past year compares favorably with the banner year we had in 1989. Looking at it another way, 1990 was the second highest earning year in the history of the Corporation. And, our primary capital at year-end was 10.04%, a record high for the company." He concluded, "We stick religiously to our knitting, and we have a tightly knit culture. One that has helped to keep First United competitive, safe and sound."

First United National Bank & Trust is the lead bank of First United Corporation, headquartered in Oakland. The Maryland subsidiary of the corporation has 15 offices located throughout Garrett and Allegany counties. The bank posted assets of $322 million as of year-end 1990.

Fifty Mettiki Workers Become Certified EMTs

Mettiki Coal Corporation's commitment to safety has gone well beyond the Federal Mine Health and Safety Standards, regarding first aid training requirements for coal miners, according to a spokesman for the company.

During the past two years, Mettiki has sponsored emergency medical technician (EMT) training for all employees who wish to take the training. This training has been performed and co-sponsored under the direction of the Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute, University of Maryland, and Garrett Community College. At the end of the course, the Maryland EMT examination is given by the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems.

Mettiki Coal Corporation currently has 50 employees who are certified EMTs. This program is being continued until all hourly employees who wish to take the course, have had a chance to do so, and also until all supervisory employees are certified EMTs.

"Mettiki recognizes that even the best trained emergency personnel are limited by the equipment with which they are provided," the spokesman said. All current standard miners' first aid stations on the property are being upgraded to EMT standards. Personal EMT basic kits are also being provided to each certified EMT to carry in their personal vehicles for their own emergency use.

"At a cost of over $50,000 this commitment to safety, both on and off the job site, is a wise investment by our company," the spokesman said.

Gospel Sing Set At Auditorium

There will be a gospel sing Sunday, June 23, at 2:30 p.m. at the Mtn. Lake Park Camp meeting Auditorium. Local singers from area churches will be participating.

The auditorium is located at the corner of Route 135 and G Street in Mtn. Lake Park. The public is invited to attend. A free-will offering will be taken.

Strider Attends AAL Conference

John Strider, Accident, recently attended a national sales conference sponsored by Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL), a fraternal benefit society based in Appleton, Wisconsin. Strider attended AAL's Executive Conference: East, May 28-June 2, in Traverse City, Mich.

Strider qualified to attend the conference based on outstanding sales and service to AAL members during 1990. He also was honored for achieving excellence in fraternal service and attended special volunteer recognition events at the conference. Since joining AAL's field staff in 1989, Strider has attended a national sales conference two times. He is an associate of the Jerome Mac Donald Agency of AAL, Centerville, Va. There are 2,042 AAL representatives nationwide.

AAL provides Lutherans and their families with life, health, and disability income insurance, and retirement products. Mutual funds are offered to members by AAL's subsidiary, AAL Capital Management Corporation. Other financial services are available to members from the AAL Member Credit Union. AAL members also benefit from a variety of self-help programs and volunteer opportunities to help others.

AAL is the nation's largest fraternal benefit society in terms of assets ($8.3 billion) and ordinary life insurance in force ($57.9 billion).

HEARING AIDS

DO YOU HAVE FEEDBACK OR WHISTLING
WITH YOUR HEARING AID?
ARE YOU CONTINUALLY ADJUSTING THE VOLUME?

This is a common complaint that we hear from many hearing aid users. With the new Clearone hearing aids you will not have feedback once the hearing aid is completely in your ear. You will not have to continually adjust the volume control because the hearing aid will automatically reduce the loud noises for you.

We have found that it even helps those who have Tinnitus (ringing ears).

Come in today for a no cost hearing evaluation and demonstration of the hearing aid!

SCHOOL SIGN DEDICATED -- A dedication ceremony for the new school sign of Dennett Road Elementary School was held last week with the aim of publicly acknowledging all those who had generously contributed to the construction of the school's new sign. Pictured seated at the new sign, left to right, are Ernie Metz, Mike Kozier, John Forman, and Jim Allen, all members of the Garrett County Forestry Board; Sharon Schwalm, parent volunteer and member of the Arboretum Committee; Clark Sharpless, school principal; Barb Schick and Carol Tuomisto, Arboretum Committee co-chairpersons; and Linda Fleming, Chapter 1 resource teacher and member of the Arboretum Committee.

member, June and Ronald Riley, parent volunteers; and all fourth and fifth grade classes and their teachers and assistants.

Special guests from the Garrett County Forestry Board were Ernie Metz, Michael Kozier, John Forman (also representing Wood Products, Inc.), and Jim Allen. Carl Fike also attended a portion of the ceremony.

Mr. Sharpless gave the welcome address and Mrs. Schick and Mrs. Tuomisto presented an overview of the arboretum's development to date, citing the many trees and shrubs that have been donated this year by the Garrett County Forestry Board and by Dave Taylor of Green Acres Garden Center. The program is part of the Chesapeake Bay School Reforestation Project.

On behalf of the school and the committee, Mrs. Schick expressed gratitude to the following people and businesses for their contributions toward the construction of the school sign, which was designed and built by Barry Domenick: Frank Matras and Island Creek Coal Company, Carl Fike and Beachy Lumber Company, Dr. Karl and Sharon Schwalm, and Dave Taylor and Green Acres Garden Center.

Schick also thanked Ernie Metz and the Forestry Board, John Forman and Wood Products, Inc., Butch Glatfely and Glatfely Lumber, Carl and Kayla Cathell, and Dave Baker of Deep Creek Lake State Park Services.

Finally, Mrs. Schick thanked the Arboretum Committee, parent volunteers, and Denver Bittering, school custodian, for tending to the arboretum.

The second half of the ceremony was devoted to the fourth- and fifth-grade classes for their volunteer work.

Mrs. Tuomisto described for the students the committee's plans for the development of a bird vista within the arboretum. She noted that the school had recently been awarded one of two $500 mini-grants offered through the Maryland Environmental Trust Program for the creation of an area that will attract numerous varieties of birds. She explained that this will be the next project for the committee.

Tuomisto encouraged teachers to include the arboretum in related science lessons and to use the Arboretum Committee as a resource for information. She then thanked the fifth-grade class for its recent donation for the purchase of a gift to the arboretum in their name. The money will be used to buy a large trash can and the materials for the construction of a storage bin.

"While these may not seem to be glamorous items, they are nonetheless quite necessary to the maintenance of the arboretum," she stated.

The ceremony ended with the passing of the gold shovel and bucket from the fifth-grade caretakers to the fourth-grade caretakers. Representatives of the fifth-grade class were Brian

Brown, Aaron Mountain, Danny Riley, Steven Shiflett, Sara Sincell, and Shelly Winters.

Fourth-grade speakers were Stephanie Ballard, Carrie Hoyer, John Peterson, James Reed, Ashley Reese, and Kane Wenger. Through the ceremony, the incoming fifth-grade class pledged to take responsibility for the general upkeep of the arboretum; to protect the plantings and animals that make their homes there; to report any signs of disease or vandalism to teachers or the principal; to serve as a resource for younger students who may have questions about the arboretum, and to encourage members of the community to visit the arboretum.

GCC Offering EMT Course

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College in cooperation with the Maryland Fire & Rescue Institute (MFRI), will offer an Emergency Medical Technician course at the McHenry Campus of the college. Sessions will be held each Monday and Wednesday from 7 to 10:15 p.m. 17 weeks, beginning August 17.

The course requires a minimum enrollment of 15 participants. Priority will be given to those individuals who are affiliated with rescue squads, fire departments, and other emergency medical services. Those wishing to attend the EMT course must register at the college and also must contact the MFRI office to determine their eligibility.

This course is designed for the individual who wishes to gain expertise in providing emergency medical care and is being conducted in an effort to generate support for the Northern and Southern Garrett County rescue squads. Both county squads, as well as other regional rescue services, have particular need for volunteers, especially for day time coverage. Upon completion of the course, the student should be able to successfully challenge a test administered in conjunction with Maryland Emergency Medical Services.

WINNING CLOWNS -- Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) President Jack Jones congratulates Amy Bittling, a beautician from Vogue Beauty Salon, who won the GOBA-sponsored clown contest, in conjunction with the Robert's Brotherhood Circus, one of GOBA's annual fundraisers. Bittling was the honorary clown for the evening performance of the circus held June 5. The clown hopafala was judged by Barnie Burns, clown with the All Ghan Shrine. Billy Schmidt, Rad House, was named the honorary ringmaster for the circus.

The Directory will be supplemented by an Error Correction List for any incorrect listings which are reported to C&P. Customers have until July 23 to contact C&P's Business Office to report an incorrect or incomplete listing in either the White and Yellow Pages. A list of corrected names and numbers will be printed and sent to all area customers.

Mastectomy Group To Become Cancer Support Group

The Mastectomy Support Group of Garrett County is now re-organizing to include all interested cancer patients. The new group will be known as the Support Group.

The Cancer Support Group meetings will begin with a picnic in section 1 of Broadford Lake Park, Tuesday, June 25 at 6 p.m.

All interested persons are asked to bring a covered dish and join the Cancer Support Group.

In case of rain, the group will meet in the board room at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

More information may be obtained by calling Virginia Stemple, at 334-4389, or Judy Wilt, at 334-9200.

DCL Property Owners' Assoc. Meeting Set

The Property Owners' Association of Deep Creek Lake will be holding its first summer general membership meeting on Saturday, June 29, at 10 a.m. in Room 307, at Garrett Community College.

Topics on the agenda will include lake regulations, the Maryland Bureau of Mines wetlands program, and general discussion of the aims and activities of the association.

All members and prospective members are invited to attend.

Refreshments will be available at 9:30 a.m.

Hymn Sing Slated At Gorman Church

A hymn sing will be held at the Gorman Church of God on Saturday, June 22, at 7 p.m.

Interested persons are welcome to bring his/her own music. Those attending will also have the opportunity to meet the new pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Horstick.

Local Churches Plan Vacation Church School

St. Paul's United Methodist, St. Peter's Roman Catholic, St. Matthew's Episcopal, and St. Mark's Lutheran Churches are now preparing for the annual Vacation Church School. The school will be held at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, July 29 to August 2, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. each day.

All children who will be 4 years old by December 31, 1991, up to an including ninth grade, are welcome to attend.

Registration forms are available at any of the four participating churches. This year all children must be pre-enrolled before Monday June 25, because of limited space and ordering of materials.

"Sonward Ho!" is the theme of the program. Emphasis is also on fellowship and fun, according to director Kathy Shaffer.

The Vacation Church School accepts offerings and canned goods. Offerings will be donated to the Big Brothers and Big Sisters Organization, and canned goods will be presented to the House of Hope.

There are some parent-volunteer openings. Persons interested in helping are asked to contact Mrs. Shaffer at 334-9032.

Lake Management Office Investigates Buoy Vandalism

The park ranger staff at the Lake Management Office places and maintains over 70 safety and regulatory buoys on Deep Creek Lake each summer.

In recent weeks, there has been a noticeable rise in instances of buoy vandalism. "We are particularly concerned that what would appear to be a harmless prank could result in serious injury to a boater when buoys are stolen, damaged, or moved," stated Paul Durham, Deep Creek Lake manager.

"In addition, the costs of buoy purchase and maintenance continues to rise. In these tight budgetary times, this is certainly an expense that we do not want," he said.

Durham is requesting that all lake users take particular care when boating near the regulatory buoys, particularly at night. In addition, any citizens with information on individuals who might be involved in buoy vandalism are urged to contact the Lake Management Office so that it may be investigated. Park Rangers will keep all information received in strictest confidence.

The Lake Management Office is located at Deep Creek Lake State Park, and may be reached by calling 301-387-4111.

CAFETERIA WORKER HONORED -- Regina Sanders, person in charge of the cafeteria at Crallin Elementary School, was presented with a certificate last week from the Maryland Department of Education, in recognition of her outstanding accomplishments during School Breakfast Week in Maryland which was held March 3-9. Pictured is Asa McCain, principal at Crallin, congratulating Regina Sanders, while the students enjoy their breakfast.

Northern GOP Women To Meet

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club will meet Tuesday, June

25, at 7:30 p.m. at Hill Top Inn, Grantsville.

Guest speakers will be Senator John Hafer and Delegate George C. Edwards. All interested Republicans are welcome to attend.

First United Is One Of Top Performing Banks

"First United National Bank & Trust was recently listed as the thirty-fourth largest bank or savings and loan in the State of Maryland," stated Richard G. Stanton, chairman of the board and president of the bank. "Of those financial institutions, First United posted the third highest return on assets in 1990. In other words, relative to our size we earned the third highest net income. We are very pleased with these results, considering the challenging year that we just completed."

The 1990 asset size and

net income for the 35 largest banks and savings and loans were printed in the April 22 issue of the Baltimore Sun. The data, made available from Sheshunoff Information Services, was part of a corporate profile section. Also highlighted were major employers and the largest public companies in Maryland.

For the last two years, the national bank rating companies have consistently listed First United among their top performing banks. The IDC Financial Publishing Company has rated First United as Superior, their highest rating, for eight consecutive quarters. Sheshunoff Information Services has rated First United as "A+", their highest rating, for seven consecutive quarters. And Southern Banker, a popular banking periodical, has listed First United among the top 100 banks in the Southeast for two years. These organizations base their rating primarily on a company's capital strength, earnings, quality of assets and management.

In commenting on First United's 1990 performance, Stanton recently told shareholders, "Our key measurements of financial performance remain impressive. This past year compares favorably with the banner year we had in 1989. Looking at it another way, 1990 was the second highest earning year in the history of the Corporation. And, our primary capital at year-end was 10.04%, a record high for the company." He concluded, "We stick religiously to our knitting, and we have a tightly knit culture. One that has helped to keep First United competitive, safe and sound."

First United National Bank & Trust is the lead bank of First United Corporation, headquartered in Oakland. The Maryland subsidiary of the corporation has 15 offices located throughout Garrett and Allegany counties. The bank posted assets of $322 million as of year-end 1990.

Fifty Mettiki Workers Become Certified EMTs

Mettiki Coal Corporation's commitment to safety has gone well beyond the Federal Mine Health and Safety Standards, regarding first aid training requirements for coal miners, according to a spokesman for the company.

During the past two years, Mettiki has sponsored emergency medical technician (EMT) training for all employees who wish to take the training. This training has been performed and co-sponsored under the direction of the Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute, University of Maryland, and Garrett Community College. At the end of the course, the Maryland EMT examination is given by the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems.

Mettiki Coal Corporation currently has 50 employees who are certified EMTs. This program is being continued until all hourly employees who wish to take the course, have had a chance to do so, and also until all supervisory employees are certified EMTs.

"Mettiki recognizes that even the best trained emergency personnel are limited by the equipment with which they are provided," the spokesman said. All current standard miners' first aid stations on the property are being upgraded to EMT standards. Personal EMT basic kits are also being provided to each certified EMT to carry in their personal vehicles for their own emergency use.

"At a cost of over $50,000 this commitment to safety, both on and off the jobsite, is a wise investment by our company," the spokesman said.

Gospel Sing Set At Auditorium

There will be a gospel singing Sunday, June 23, at 2:30 p.m. at the Mtn. Lake Park Camp meeting Auditorium. Local singers from area churches will be participating.

The auditorium is located at the corner of Route 135 and G Street in Mtn. Lake Park. The public is invited to attend. A free-will offering will be taken.

Strider Attends AAL Conference

John Strider, Accident, recently attended a national sales conference sponsored by Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL), a fraternal benefit society based in Appleton, Wisconsin. Strider attended AAL's Executive Conference East, May 28-June 2, in Traverse City, Mich.

Strider qualified to attend the conference based on outstanding sales and service to AAL members during 1990. He also was honored for achieving excellence in fraternal service and attended special volunteer recognition events at the conference. Since joining AAL's field staff in 1989, Strider has attended a national sales conference two times. He is an associate of the Jerome Mac Donald Agency of AAL, Centerville, Va. There are 2,042 AAL representatives nationwide.

AAL provides Lutherans and their families with life, health, and disability income insurance, and retirement products. Mutual funds are offered to members by AAL's subsidiary, AAL Capital Management Corporation. Other financial services are available to members from the AAL Member Credit Union. AAL members also benefit from a variety of self-help programs and volunteer opportunities to help others.

AAL is the nation's largest fraternal benefit society in terms of assets ($8.3 billion) and ordinary life insurance in force ($57.9 billion).

HEARING AIDS

DO YOU HAVE FEEDBACK OR WHISTLING WITH YOUR HEARING AID? ARE YOU CONTINUALLY ADJUSTING THE VOLUME?

This is a common complaint that we hear from many hearing aid users. With the new Clearline hearing aids you will not have feedback once the hearing aid is completely in your ear. You will not have to continually adjust the volume control, because the hearing aid will automatically reduce the loud noises for you. We have found that it even helps those who have Tinnitus (ringing ears).

Come in today for a no cost hearing evaluation and demonstration of the hearing aid!

SCHOOL SIGN DEDICATED -- A dedication ceremony for the new school sign of Dennett Road Elementary School was held last week with the aim of publicly acknowledging all those who had generously contributed to the construction of the school's new sign. Pictured seated at the new sign, left to right, are Ernie Metz, Mike Kozler, John Forman, and Jim Allen, all members of the Garrett County Forestry Board; Sharon Schwalm, parent volunteer and member of the Arboretum Committee; Clark Sharpless, school principal; Barb Schick and Carol Tuomisto, Arboretum Committee co-chairpersons; and Linda Fleming, Chapter 1 resource teacher and member of the Arboretum Committee.

member, June and Ronald Riley, parent volunteers; and all fourth and fifth grade classes and their teachers and assistants.

Special guests from the Garrett County Forestry Board were Ernie Metz, Michael Kozier, John Forman (also representing Wood Products, Inc.), and Jim Allen. Carl Fike also attended a portion of the ceremony.

Mr. Sharpless gave the welcome address and Mrs. Schick and Mrs. Tuomisto presented an overview of the arboretum's development to date, citing the many trees and shrubs that have been donated this year by the Garrett County Forestry Board and by Dave Taylor of Green Acres Garden Center. The program is part of the Chesapeake Bay School Restoration Project.

On behalf of the school and the committee, Mrs. Schick expressed gratitude to the following people and businesses for their contributions toward the construction of the school sign, which was designed and built by Barry Domenick: Frank Matras and Island Creek Coal Company, Carl Fike and Beachy Lumber Company, Dr. Karl and Sharon Schwalm, and Dave Taylor and Green Acres Garden Center.

Schick also thanked Ernie Metz and the Forestry Board, John Forman and Wood Products, Inc., Butch Glatfelter and Glatfelter Lumber, Carl and Kayla Cathell, and Dave Baker of Deep Creek Lake State Park Services.

Finally, Mrs. Schick thanked the Arboretum Committee, parent volunteers, and Denver Bittinger, school custodian, for tending to the arboretum.

The second half of the ceremony was devoted to the fourth- and fifth-grade classes for their volunteer work.

Mrs. Tuomisto described for the students the committee's plans for the development of a bird vista within the arboretum. She noted that the school had recently been awarded one of two $500 mini-grants offered through the Maryland Environmental Trust Program for the creation of an area that will attract numerous varieties of birds. She explained that this will be the next project for the committee.

Tuomisto encouraged teachers to include the arboretum in related science lessons and to use the Arboretum Committee as a resource for information. She then thanked the fifth-grade class for its recent donation for the purchase of a gift to the arboretum in their name. The money will be used to buy a large trash can and the materials for the construction of a storage bin. "While these may not seem to be glamorous items, they are nonetheless quite necessary to the maintenance of the arboretum," she stated.

The ceremony ended with the passing of the gold shovel and bucket from the fifth-grade caretakers to the fourth-grade caretakers. Representatives of the fifth-grade class were Brian

Brown, Aaron Mountain, Danny Riley, Steven Shiflett, Sara Sincell, and Shelly Winters.

Fourth-grade speakers were Stephanie Ballard, Carrie Hoyer, John Peterson, James Reed, Ashley Reese, and Kane Wengert. Through the ceremony, the incoming fifth-grade class pledged to take responsibility for the general upkeep of the arboretum; to protect the plantings and animals that make their homes there; to report any signs of disease or vandalism to teachers or the principal; to serve as a resource for younger students who may have questions about the arboretum; and to encourage members of the community to visit the arboretum.

County Extension Agent Attends Aging Workshop

Garrett County Extension Agent, Irmingard R. Koscielnik, recently attended the Summer Extension Institute on Aging, a workshop held at the University of Missouri at Columbia, where she learned techniques for helping senior citizens in rural communities.

Major themes emphasized at the workshop included the implications of the aging process for society, nutrition, physical and mental health issues and solutions; caregiving and intergenerational programs; public policy -- the aging network and extension program development processes; and a national review of extension gerontological resource work.

As part of the workshop, Koscielnik received a computerized database of over 1,000 national resources and training in how to use it. Each participant also developed a written plan for conducting action-oriented or educational programs on aging topics locally.

The institute was co-sponsored by the Farm Foundation, the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and the University Extension, University of Missouri.

"EMBRACING THE HEALING ARTS" was the title of a workshop on Thursday evening, June 6, and Friday evening, June 7. It was attended by nurses, physicians, clergy, and hospice volunteers. The workshop was conducted by Miriam Custer, R.N., M.S.N., and focused on psycho-social and spiritual needs of persons with cancer and their families. Custer attended the University of Maryland, where she obtained a master's degree in nursing. She also obtained a master's degree in pastoral counseling from Loyola College. She is presently an adjunct faculty member for Penn State University.

Md. Bar Seeks Public Opinion On Advertising

In the last few years, lawyer advertising has increased among Maryland attorneys, and this has stirred heated debate from legislators, judicial officials and members of the Bar. The Maryland State Bar Association is in the process of conducting a "public opinion" study to determine the impact of lawyer advertising on Maryland citizens.

Specifically, the Bar seeks the public's opinion as to the value of lawyer advertising, in all forms (yellow pages, newspaper, radio and television):

*Is it beneficial when selecting an attorney?

*Would lawyer advertising encourage you to seek an attorney?

*What impression do you have of lawyers who advertise?

*Do you find lawyer advertising helpful? Harmful? Offensive?

*Does Lawyer advertising influence your opinion of our court system?

There is currently a movement in Maryland, reflected in unsuccessful legislative proposals before the 1991 Maryland General Assembly, to restrict lawyer advertising in Maryland. The U.S. Supreme Court has interpreted that the First Amendment forbids states to impose blanket restrictions on the form and content of lawyer advertising, and the state of Maryland currently has rules governing acceptable standards of lawyer advertising. What is now being proposed are more stringent and tighter lawyer advertising regulations in Maryland.

The Court of Appeals of Maryland is in the process of weighing this decision, and the public's opinion on lawyer advertising and its impact on the state's citizens will likely be the deciding factor. The Maryland State Bar Association is conducting this public opinion study and will present the findings to the Court's Rules Committee for examination.

Persons may forward their written views on lawyer advertising, and any samples they may wish to include, to: Maryland State Bar Association, Post Office Box 49, Annapolis, MD 21404.

The Maryland State Bar Association is a professional, non-profit, voluntary membership association comprised of nearly 15,000 attorneys across the state of Maryland, which monitors judicial and legislative issues in the state, offers legal education opportunities and promotes leadership within the legal profession.

Legal Aid Bureau Announces July Outreach Schedule

Staff members of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., will be available to discuss legal problems with persons during the month of July in Oakland on July 2 and July 16.

The Legal Aid Bureau representative will be available from 10 a.m. until noon on the above-mentioned dates at the National Guard Armory in Oakland.

The Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., provides legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland Office of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., is located at 110 Greene Street in Cumberland, Md. The office can be reached in Allegany County by calling 777-7474, in Garrett County by calling 334-8832, and in the Hancock area by calling collect to 777-7474.

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for the Outreach location or for an appointment at the Cumberland office.

Ault Receives Doctorate In Medicine

Michael Lynn Ault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ault, Oakland, was graduated on May 24 from the University of Maryland School of Medicine in Baltimore with the degree of doctor of medicine. He is also a graduate of the Family Care Track Program and has served as secretary of his junior and senior medical school classes.

A graduate of Southern High School, Ault attended the University of Maryland at College Park where he received a bachelor of science degree in microbiology with a citation in general honors. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa Leadership Honor Society, Sigma Alpha Omicron Microbiology Honor Society, Phi Sigma Biological Sciences Honor Society, and is listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Dr. Ault is serving a one-year internship in internal medicine at Mercy Medical Center, Baltimore, to be followed by a three-year residency in anesthesiology at North Western University

DEDICATION OF NEW FLAG AND POLE -- Members of Woodmen of the World, Lodge 41, Grantsville, recently held a dedication service in appreciation of all veterans, especially the Desert Storm troops, on the occasion of their new U.S. flag and pole. A dedication speech was given by Walter Younkin. Members are shown above saluting the flag at their lodge hall. Left to right in the front row are Walter Younkin, Alice Younkin, Patay Pope, Harry Pope, and Phyllis Bender. In the back row, same order, are Janis Pope, Tom Bender, Lillian Guthrie, Scott Pope and Janus Guthrie.

Oakland Student Honored Recently At Lipscomb U.

A student from Oakland has been honored at David Lipscomb University for academic achievement during the spring semester.

Tara Lynn Wildesen has been placed on the honor roll for earning a grade point average between 3.5 and 3.99 during the semester, said Dr. James T. Arnett, vice president for academic affairs and dean of the faculty.

Wildesen, an elementary education major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wildesen, Oakland.

Wildesen is a graduate of Southern High School. Students at Lipscomb University earn bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees in nearly 100 major programs of study. Two master of arts degrees are offered in Bible studies, and an Adult Studies Program now offers courses at night.

Lipscomb is affiliated with the churches of Christ.

GRANTSVILLE CLUB by Lisa Hutzler, reporter

The June meeting was brought to order by Jamie Porterfield, president. Pledges were led by Sharon Conlee. Secretary's report was read by Jackie Weimer and approved.

Grantsville 4-H will participate in the Grantsville Days parade. Our theme for this year's float is "4-H Supports Our World." We will meet at Debbie Green's house at 6 p.m. on June 26 and 27 to help put the float together. All members should attend to decorate the float. The float will be assembled on Friday, June 28, at Maranatha parking lot.

will be made next month for a trip to Casa Railroad sometime after the fair. Next meeting will be July 10 at 7 p.m. at the 4-H Building.

NORTH STAR by Beverly Selbold, reporter

The North Star 4-H Club held their monthly meeting on June 11. Fifteen members and two new members attended.

Plans were made to work on the 4-H Float for this year's parades. A theme was decided by the group and the float committee arranged and organized a work day for everyone to help.

The club will have a food booth at the fairgrounds during the District 4-H/FFA Spring Show on June 22. Demonstrations for the evening were by Becky Klotz and Morgan Rodeheaver.

The next club meeting will be held on July 9 at 7 p.m. at the Accident Town Park.

Local Women To Attend Lutheran Missionary Event

Carolyn Lindner, and Beulah Thomas, of St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, "The Cove" and Peggy Close and Helen Harman, of Zion Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, both of Accident, will join with approximately 10,000 convention delegates and guests attending the 50th Anniversary Convention of the International Lutheran Women's Missionary League, June 27-30 in Cleveland, Ohio.

Lindner, one of the three delegates elected from the Pittsburgh Zone, currently serves as the secretary of her local LWML Society, and is the church secretary of St. John's "The Cove." Beulah Thomas is the church organist and Sunday school teacher at St. John's, and past president of the LWML Society of St. John's. Peggy Close is the president of Zion's Lutheran Church's LWML Society, a member of the choir and served as the congregation's financial secretary. Helen Harman, of Zion Lutheran Church is a past president of the LWML Society and Sunday school teacher.

The convention theme is "Celebrate the Jubilee! Glorify His Name!" Highlights include the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League as a part of the ministry of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, selection of mission projects, Bible study, featured speakers, "Reach Out" sessions, displays and tours.

A Historic Pageant Thursday evening will guide conventioners to "Remember" their history as they

A&A BANQUET -- The annual Sales Awards and Recognition Banquet for A&A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens was held recently at McClive's Restaurant, McHenry, with more than 60 agents and guests in attendance. Special guest and speaker for the evening was Miss Kimberly Grimm, Miss Maryland. "We have been so proud of Kim all year long, that it just seemed right for her to assist us in the presentation of our awards and to share with us some of her experiences over the past year," said Karen F. Spiker, president/broker of A&A. "You know, we received a kind of celebrity status by having Kim employed when she was selected to represent our state in the national pageant." Top honorees for the evening included Bill Weisgarber Jr., who was presented the overall top Sales Award and Top Listing Award for 1990. His sales and listing volume totalled over $7,000,000. Recipients of the 1990 President's Club Award included Bill Weisgarber Jr., Kevin Liller, Ed King, Lisa Goodfellow, Sandra Reason, Tom DeBerry, Tim Josephs, and Donna Sites. Special sales awards were also presented to Steve Ritchie, the B.E.A.R. Award; Don Moreland, Transfer Agent of the Year; Danias Sanders, Rookie of the Year; Carolyn Savaga, Top Grantavilla Listing Agent; and Carol Frazas, Top Friendavilla Listing Agent. The outstanding award for Customer and Public Relations was presented to Donna Jo Brannaman. Receiving certificates from the National Better Homes and Gardens Madallion Club included the following: Over $7,000,000, Bill Weisgarber Jr.; Over $4,000,000, Kevin Liller; Over $3,000,000, Ed King and Lisa Goodfellow; Over $1,000,000, Tom DeBerry, Tim Josephs, Sandra Reason, and Donna Sites. Special presentations were also made to T.R. Janas and Sherry Skipper from the law firm or Burnett, Elawert, Janas, Conger, and Green, P.A., for their assistance and outstanding service during the year. Pictured left to right are Miss Kimberly Grimm, Miss Maryland; Bill Weisgarber Jr.; and Karen Spiker, president/broker of A&A Realty.

celebrate today. Missionaries from all around the world have returned to the United States to share in the historic occasion.

For the delegates, a convention highlight will be the setting of a mission goal and selection of the mission projects for the biennium from the 23 proposed projects totaling $1,380,000. Friday a special Thank offering will be gathered in celebration of the 50th anniversary. The delegates will determine the special mission recipients of the Thank offering.

The International Lutheran Women's Missionary League has over 200,000 members in the United States and Canada. From the beginning of the League, the emphasis has been to encourage and equip members to reach out in love, to provide opportunities for mission service and to gather funds for mission projects all over the world including the United States and Canada.

Featured speakers include Dr. Ralph A. Bohlmann, president of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod and Dr. Glenn O'Shoney, executive director of the LCMS Board for Missions who will inform the conventioners about the mission work of the church and challenge them to become more involved in the mission thrust to the world.

Leading the daily Bible study will be Dr. Dale Meyer, "The Lutheran Hour" speaker. Six special "Reach Out" sessions Saturday afternoon will feature visiting foreign missionaries, family life, evangelism, women and the church, and mission work in the church.

A Festival Service with Communion will close the convention, on Sunday, June 30. Dr. Oswald Hoffmann, former Lutheran Hour speaker, will be the preacher for the service and banners from each of the 45 United States and Canadian districts will be displayed.

ZION'S WOMEN MEET
Zion's Women of the ELCA held their monthly meeting in the church on June 11, with Pastor Louise Knotts and five members attending.

The topic "Gifted to Listen" was introduced by Leota Baker. The endeavors of the program were to hear a Biblical example of how Jesus listened, to explore listening as a tool for continuous growth in faith, and to reflect on and practice connecting the Gospel to real life situations. Mrs. Alta Broadwater led the group in singing "This is my Father's World," which emphasized the theme of the program. A brief skit "How do we listen?" was presented by Louise Blumeyer and Judy and Lucette Stanton.

Pastor Knotts led a Bible study, "Lazarus Come Out," based on the 11th chapter of John which highlighted the variety of ways of listening used by the various persons in the Bible story.

Judy Stanton, vice president, presided over the business meeting. Announcement was made of the W.Va.-West Md. Synodical Convention of Women of the ELCA which will convene on July 19-20 at West Liberty College, West Liberty, W.Va. Each unit is requested to send a love offering which will be divided for use for the Synod youth, the Florence Crittenton Home, and Wheeling Area Training Center for the Handicapped.

A special offering was received from Judy Stanton and Shirley Yommer as a tribute to the memory of their father, Paul Reish, on Father's Day. This gift will be forwarded to Women of the ELCA Churchwide, designated for the center for Lay Ministry Development in Appalachia.

A gift offering was received from Viola Meyers, a former member of Zion's unit. Birthday offerings were received from Alta Broadwater and Leota Baker.

The next meeting is scheduled for July 2, with the topic being "Gifted with Friendship." Each member is asked to design a nine-inch square of cloth with a picture or verse pertaining to friendship and bring it to the meeting.

Senate Passes Private Property Rights Amendment

The first victory on private property rights legislation came last week in the Senate. Sens. Steve Symms (R-Idaho) and David Boren (D-Okla.) offered the private property rights amendment as an attachment to the highway reauthorization act. Sen. George Mitchell (D-Maine) moved to table the amendment, but the Senate voted 14-55 against tabling and later approved the amendment in a voice vote.

"While we have a long way to go, the Senate vote was a key first test. This issue is a priority for Farm Bureau," said John Datt, executive director of American Farm Bureau Federation's Washington office.

The private property rights amendment would require federal agencies to consider the impact of their rules and regulations on private property under the Fifth Amendment "takings" clause of the U.S. Constitution. The Bush administration and the Environmental Protection Agency support the amendment.

This bill will help protect the nation's farmers and ranchers from "takings," including wetlands restrictions, endangered species regulations and condemnation of private land," AFBF President Dean Kleckner said. "It will give citizens a chance to be heard in court if they believe federal agencies have not properly followed procedures to ensure the government does not take private property without just compensation."

The Farm Bureau president said subordination of the rights of private property owners to what some people perceive to be the "public good" violates a constitutional guarantee that private property will not be taken for public use without just compensation.

The future of the property rights amendment is currently tied to the highway bill, which was being debated at press time. A final vote is expected this week.

Looking For Calcium-Rich Foods? Milk Offers More For Less

In today's tight economic environment, consumers are apt to put their frivolous ways in check and rejoin the search for old-fashioned bargains.

Shoppers will find that when comparing prices and nutritive values, dairy products offer a lot of bang for the buck, as well as great taste and variety for the whole family to enjoy.

Milk in particular has much to offer smart shoppers. Rich in calcium, riboflavin, vitamins A and D, and other essential nutrients, this staple remains a top value. And only three glasses of milk daily provide adults with their recommended dietary allowance for calcium.

Here are some results from a fact-finding mission through three Chicago area food stores posting milk prices against those of other calcium-rich foods. Based on an average price per gallon among the different varieties of milk, one eight-ounce glass of milk, considered one serving, costs 13 cents and provides 300 mg of calcium.

To equal that amount of calcium, a person would have to eat about five ounces of canned salmon — complete with bones — at $1.58. The person would spend $1.71 for about nine ounces of baked perch if they wanted the same amount of calcium provided by that one glass of milk. And they would eat considerably more than the three ounce average serving of fish. For 300 mg of calcium, they would have to fork out $2 for four ounces of dried, unblanched almonds.

Looking at calcium-rich vegetables, broccoli is seasonally inexpensive at 18 cents for three ounces, but a person would have to eat two cups of broccoli to equal the calcium of one, 13-cent serving of milk. You would spend 80 cents on one and a half cups of fresh spinach to get 305 mg of calcium. Two cups of frozen okra provide 308 mg of calcium — and cost $1.12.

"So here's to your health!" One glass of milk packs a calcium punch and still is gentle on the wallet. Look for special dairy promotions in local stores during June Dairy Month.

EPA Releases Endangered Species Report

The Environmental Protection Agency has released to Congress a draft report detailing its endangered species protection program regarding pesticide use.

Amendments to the Endangered Species Act require that EPA work with USDA and the Interior Department to implement a program that would protect listed species from pesticides while allowing food and fiber commodity production to continue.

In contrast to a program EPA proposed in 1988, the new pro-

President Bush Urged To Put Hold On Wetlands Enforcement

President Bush has been urged by the American Farm Bureau Federation to put on hold all federal wetlands regulatory activities until Congress decides what is and what is not a wetland.

In a letter to President Bush, AFBF President Dean Kleckner reaffirmed Farm Bureau's support of the Hayes-Ridge bill (H.R. 1330), which would clarify national wetlands policy. Kleckner also urged the president to support the legislation.

Current wetlands enforcement is being driven by Bush's "no net loss" of wetlands campaign pledge, said Kleckner. He told Bush that pledge has handed enthusiastic federal bureaucrats "an excuse for bigger, more intrusive government."

The AFBF leader urged Bush to use his leadership ability to strike a balance between the conservation of true, environmentally valuable wetlands and farmers' abilities to produce efficiently for the global marketplace.

"It is now apparent that four agencies in your administration are determined to regulate private property, manage economic activity and stifle our ability to compete in a world wide a generic statement on the label, instructing compliance with limitations. The limitations will be described in a bulletin for the county where the pesticide may be applied.

EPA, FWS, USDA and the affected state will develop bulletins that include county maps showing the location of listed species' habitats along with the list of pesticides and their use limitations.

The report said that states have the option of developing their own recommendations for listed species protection through state-initiated plans, if EPA approves the state's proposal.

EPA acknowledged that "limitations on pesticide use may impose some burden on registrants because of relabeling costs and on pesticide users." Economic impact analyses are being conducted to deal with the impact of the full program and on generic vs. county-specific labeling.

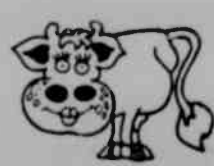

The three options regarding use limitations to be analyzed by EPA are out-right prohibition of affected pesticides in currently occupied endangered species habitat and buffer zones; continued use of affected pesticides below certain threshold rates of application; and use of affected pesticides when species are not present such as when they are migrating.

An EPA spokesman said the report will be published in the "Federal Register" and that the final program is still being developed.

gram uses a system of county bulletins to alert pesticide users, rather than labeling the pesticides with the list of counties where endangered species are threatened. EPA said its first goal in the labeling program is to "promote the conservation of endangered species," and the second goal is to "minimize impact of the program on persons engaged in agricultural food and fiber commodity production and other pesticide users."

EPA initially will focus on the listed species that are the most vulnerable to pesticide threats, then, along with the Fish and Wildlife Service, will identify the counties in which these species are located. With the assistance of USDA the agencies will determine the agricultural crops and other pesticide uses that may occur in the vicinity of the species.

After determining the crops, they will identify and evaluate the pesticides registered for use on these sites. If the pesticide products are found to pose a threat to listed species, registrants will be required to pro-

Pesticide Council Seeks Public Input

Governor William Donald Schaefer's Pesticide Council is seeking public participation and direct input during its monthly meeting on July 24 in Annapolis.

The Governor's Pesticide Council was formed to provide a mechanism by which a variety of people could have input into evaluation and development of state pesticide management plans relating to pesticide use. The Council will advise the governor on actions necessary to produce healthy agricultural products and to allow proper pest control while ensuring the health and safety of Maryland citizens and the environment. The Council's 14 members represent pesticide manufacturers, regulators, scientists, pesticide users, environmental organizations and the public.

"We want the public to be part of our decision making process and we are encouraging people or groups to give an oral presentation to the Council on specific issues relating to pesticides," said Dr. Christine Eccles, chairperson of the Council.

The Council generally meets on the fourth Wednesday of each month. Specific meetings will be held during the year at which the public may present their questions, issues or support.

The Council has formed two subcommittees to focus on specific issues. The Regulatory Subcommittee is addressing pesticide use, storage, and disposal regulations. The Education Subcommittee is considering pesticide education programs for farmers, commercial pesticide applicators and the general public. These subcommittees will make recommendations through the Council to the governor in June.

The July 24 meeting will be the second in a series of scheduled meetings available for public comment.

Farm Bureau Offers Guidelines For Dairy Bill

The American Farm Bureau Federation has outlined the guidelines it believes Congress should follow in enacting emergency dairy legislation. The announcement followed a meeting of the organization's board of directors held last week.

"The dairy situation remains serious," said Dean Kleckner, AFBF president. "Dairymen are receiving the same price today that they were paid 13 years ago — that is unacceptable. In addition, retail dairy prices have not followed the falling farm price."

"Farm Bureau is committed to working with Congress and the rest of the dairy industry to deal with the problems in a timely manner."

In outlining its criteria, the farm organization said the final legislative package should improve income for all dairy producers without consigning the industry to permanent base allotments or quotas.

"Farm Bureau will continue to oppose mandatory bases or quotas, and any measure that is prohibited by international trade agreements," Kleckner said.

The Agriculture Department will present its final recommendations for dairy relief measures by June 15. Congressional hearings to consider legislation are scheduled for later this month.

Farm Bureau is urging the enactment of legislation that will minimize the impact of excess supply on dairy farmers, while assuring an adequate supply of milk. The farm organization wants Congress to devise a program that will involve a producer board in the conduct of the program.

"These are critical times for the dairy industry. We must be sure, however, the actions we take provide good short- and long-term solutions to the problems," Kleckner added.

Most Link Dairy Foods With Health

The healthful attributes of dairy products play a key role in consumer awareness of the products' importance in a well-balanced diet, according to results of a national Attitudes and Usage Trend Study recently released by the United Dairy Industry Association (UDIA).

Mailed to 3,500 consumers, the study found that 90 percent of its 3,487 respondents view milk as a healthful food. Of other dairy items considered healthful, 64 percent consider cheese, 60 percent cite yogurt in a similarly positive light, UDIA reports.

UDIA says. About 70 percent of those surveyed agree that "if you believe everything you heard, there would be nothing left to eat," and 63 percent think the number of health claims that have surfaced make it difficult to form solid opinions about what to eat.

Respondents also considered dairy foods' high calcium content as a specific attribute for: milk, 89 percent; cheese, 70 percent; and yogurt, 40 percent.

"While consumers are more knowledgeable of health concerns and their relationship to food, there still is confusion," UDIA says. About 70 percent of those surveyed agree that "if you believe everything you heard, there would be nothing left to eat," and 63 percent think the number of health claims that have surfaced make it difficult to form solid opinions about what to eat.

Milk is one of the "reliables." We can depend on a supply of good fresh milk for calcium and other nutrients the body needs because dairy farm families are on the job every day all year long.

Thanks, Dairy Farmers!

Salute to Daitymen

As our nation's dairy industry continues to maintain the very highest standards and freshest products, contributing to the nutritional and economical needs of this community, we happily express appreciation and support for the important work they do!

Tonya Broadwater Begins Reign As 1991 Dairy Princess

Tonya Jean Broadwater, Garrett/Allegheny 1991 Dairy Princess, is a girl with a life-time of dairy background and a vast interest in the dairy industry.

Tonya is the 17-year-old daughter of Gary and Virginia Broadwater. On the family's 25-acre farm, they have 135 Holstein cows, and Tonya pitches in to help milk, feed and make the crops. With plans to attend college and be a registered nurse, this Northern High School senior is active in the VICA, Crafts and SHOP clubs.

As part of Tonya's Dairy Princess application, she submitted four of her favorite recipes using dairy products. The following are the favorite recipes of Tonya Broadwater, 1991 Garrett/Allegheny Dairy Princess.

Cocktail Dip

8oz. cream cheese
2T. milk
5oz. jar chipped beef, drained
2T. diced onion
2T. chopped green pepper
1/4tsp. pepper
1/2cup sour cream chopped pecans

Mix together all ingredients except pecans. Sprinkle pecans over top. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Can be frozen.

Cream Puff Cake

1 cup water
1/4lb. butter
1 cup flour
3 eggs
3-4 oz. packages vanilla instant pudding
4 cups milk
1 8oz. package cream cheese
1 8oz. package whip topping
2 oz. chocolate syrup

Bring water and butter to a boil, add flour and mix into a ball, let cool. Add eggs one at a time, unbeaten. Spread mixture on bottom and sides of greased 9x13 cake pan. Bake 30 minutes at 375 degrees. Let cool.

Beat vanilla instant pudding and milk into thick mixture. Add cream cheese. Spread mixture over crust, cover with whip topping and drizzle with chocolate syrup.

Sausage Bake

1 lb. sausage
1 cup onion, chopped
1 cup celery, chopped
1/2lb. spaghetti, cooked and well-drained
1 can (No. 1) cream of mushroom soup
2/3 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups cheddar cheese, shredded
3/4 cup bread crumbs
2T. butter, melted

1. Cook sausage in a large skillet until it begins to brown, stirring to break up larger pieces.

2. Add onion and celery; saute until tender.
3. Remove sausage and vegetables with a slotted spoon to a well-greased large flat baking pan.
4. Top with spaghetti.
5. Combine soup and milk; add eggs and cheese, pour mixture evenly over spaghetti.
6. Combine bread crumbs and butter. Sprinkle evenly over casserole.
7. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until crumbs are crisp and toasted.

Milkshake

2 cups ice cream milk

1 egg orange juice (concentrate)

Put ice cream in blender and add as much milk as needed for thickness. Then add 1 raw egg and add orange juice concentrate to taste. Drink!

Ideally, milk and milk products should be stored between 30 and 40 degrees F.

Turn the carton down when you store sour cream. This keeps air from entering the carton and will make the sour cream last longer. Cheddar is the most popular cheese in the United States, accounting for 70 percent of all cheese sold.

A section is 640 acres, which is also a square mile.
